Preface

The State Corporation Commission is vested with regulatory authority over many business and economic interests in Virginia. These interests are as varied as the SCC's powers, which are delineated by the state constitution and state law. Its authority ranges from setting rates charged by large investor-owned utilities to serving as the central filing agency for corporations in Virginia.

Initially established to oversee the railroad and telephone and telegraph industries in Virginia, the SCC's jurisdiction now includes many businesses which directly impact Virginia consumers. The SCC's authority encompasses utilities, insurance, state-chartered financial institutions, securities, retail franchising, the Virginia Pilots' Association, and railroads. It is the state's central filing office for corporations, limited partnerships, limited liability companies, and Uniform Commercial Code liens.

The SCC's structure is unique. No other state has charged one agency with such a broad array of regulatory responsibility. The SCC is organized as a fourth branch of government with its own legislative, administrative, and judicial powers. SCC decisions can only be appealed to the Virginia Supreme Court.

STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION
RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

PART I.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

5 VAC 5-20-10. Applicability.

The State Corporation Commission Rules of Practice and Procedure are promulgated pursuant to the authority of § 12.1-25 of the Code of Virginia and are applicable to the regulatory and adjudicatory proceedings of the State Corporation Commission except where superseded by more specific rules for particular types of cases or proceedings. When necessary to serve the ends of justice in a particular case, the commission may grant, upon motion or its own initiative, a waiver or modification of any of the provisions of the rules, except 5 VAC 5-20-220, under terms and conditions and to the extent it deems appropriate. These rules do not apply to the internal administration or organization of the commission in matters such as the procurement of goods and services, personnel actions, and similar issues, nor to matters that are being handled administratively by a division or bureau of the commission.

5 VAC 5-20-20. Good faith pleading and practice; sanctions.

Every pleading, written motion, or other paper presented for filing by a party represented by an attorney shall be signed by at least one attorney of record in the attorney's individual name, and the attorney's mailing address and telephone number, and where available, telefax number and email address, shall be stated. An individual not represented by an attorney shall sign the individual's pleading, motion, or other paper, and shall state the individual's mailing address and telephone number. A partnership not represented by an attorney shall have a partner sign the partnership's pleading, motion, or other paper, and shall state the partnership's mailing address and telephone number. A non-lawyer may only represent the interests of another before the commission in the presentation of facts, figures, or factual conclusions, as distinguished from legal arguments or conclusions. In the case of an individual or entity not represented by counsel, each signature shall be that of a qualified officer or agent. The pleadings need not be under oath unless so required by statute. The Commission may provide, by order, a manner for acceptance of electronic signatures in particular cases.

The signature of an attorney or party constitutes a certification that: (i) the attorney or party has read the pleading, motion, or other paper; (ii) to the best of the attorney's or party's knowledge, information, and belief formed after reasonable inquiry, it is well grounded in fact and is warranted by existing law or a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law; and (iii) it is not interposed for any improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needless increase in the cost of litigation. A pleading, written motion, or other paper will not be accepted for filing by the Clerk of the Commission if not signed.

An oral motion made by an attorney or party in a commission proceeding constitutes a representation that the motion: (i) is well grounded in fact and is warranted by existing law or a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law; and (ii) is not interposed for any improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needless increase in the cost of litigation.

5 VAC 5-20-30. Counsel.

Except as otherwise provided in 5 VAC 5-20-20, no person other than a properly licensed attorney at law shall file pleadings or papers or appear at a hearing to represent the interests of another person or entity before the commission. An attorney admitted to practice in another jurisdiction, but not licensed in Virginia, may be permitted to appear in a particular proceeding pending before the commission in association with a member of the Virginia State Bar. The Virginia State Bar member will be counsel of record for every purpose related to the conduct and disposition of the proceeding.

In all appropriate proceedings before the Commission, the Division of Consumer Counsel, Office of the Attorney General, may appear and represent and be heard on behalf of consumers' interests, and investigate matters relating to such appearance, and otherwise may participate to the extent reasonably necessary to discharge its statutory duties.

5 VAC 5-20-40. Photographs and broadcasting of proceedings.

Electronic media and still photography coverage of commission hearings will be allowed at the discretion of the commission.

5 VAC 5-20-50. Consultation by parties with Commissioners and Hearing Examiners.

No commissioner or hearing examiner shall consult with any party or any person acting on behalf of any party with respect to a pending formal proceeding without giving adequate notice and opportunity for all parties to participate.

5 VAC 5-20-60. Commission staff.

The commissioners and hearing examiners shall be free at all times to confer with any member of the commission staff. However, no facts nor legal arguments likely to influence a pending formal proceeding and not of record in that proceeding shall be furnished ex parte to any commissioner or hearing examiner by any member of the commission staff.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

5 VAC 5-20-70. Informal complaints.

All correspondence and informal complaints shall be referred to the appropriate division or bureau of the commission. The head of the division or bureau receiving this correspondence or complaint shall attempt to resolve the matter presented. Matters not resolved to the satisfaction of all participating parties by the informal process may be reviewed by the full commission upon the proper filing of a formal proceeding in accordance with the rules by any party to the informal process.

PART II.COMMENCEMENT OF FORMAL PROCEEDINGS.5 VAC 5-20-80. Regulatory proceedings.*

A. Application. Except where otherwise provided by statute, rule or commission order, a person or entity seeking to engage in an industry or business subject to the commission's regulatory control, or to make changes in any previously authorized service, rate, facility, or other aspect of such industry or business that, by statute or rule, must be approved by the Commission, shall file an application requesting authority to do so. The application shall contain: (i) a specific statement of the action sought; (ii) a statement of the facts that the applicant is prepared to prove that would warrant the action sought; (iii) a statement of the legal basis for such action; and (iv) any other information required by law or regulation. Any person or entity filing an application shall be a party to that proceeding.

B. Participation as a respondent. A notice of participation as a respondent is the proper initial response to an application. A notice of participation shall be filed within the time prescribed by the commission and shall contain: (i) a precise statement of the interest of the respondent; (ii) a statement of the specific action sought to the extent then known; and (iii) the factual and legal basis for the action. Any person or entity filing a notice of participation as a respondent shall be a party to that proceeding.

C. Public witnesses. Any person or entity not participating in a matter pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-80 A or 5 VAC 5-20-80 B may make known their position in any regulatory proceeding by filing written comments in advance of the hearing if provided for by commission order or by attending the hearing, noting an appearance in the manner prescribed by the commission, and giving oral testimony. Public witnesses may not otherwise participate in the proceeding, be included in the service list, or be considered a party to the proceeding.

D. Commission staff. The commission staff may appear and participate in any proceeding in order to see that pertinent issues on behalf of the general public interest are clearly presented to the commission. The staff may, inter alia, conduct investigations and discovery, evaluate the issues raised, testify and offer exhibits, file briefs and make argument, and be subject to cross-examination when testifying. Neither the commission staff collectively nor any individual member of the commission staff shall be considered a party to the case for any purpose by virtue of participation in a proceeding.

5 VAC 5-20-90. Adjudicatory proceedings.

A. Initiation of proceedings. Investigative, disciplinary, penal, and other adjudicatory proceedings may be initiated by motion of the commission staff or upon the commission's own motion. Further proceedings shall be controlled by the issuance of a rule to show cause, which shall give notice to the defendant, state the allegations against the defendant, provide for a response from the defendant and, where appropriate, set the matter for hearing. A rule to show cause shall be served in the manner provided by § 12.1-19.1 or § 12.1-29 of the Code of Virginia. The commission staff shall prove the case by clear and convincing evidence.

B. Answer. An answer is the proper initial responsive pleading to a rule to show cause. An answer shall be filed within 21 days of service of the rule to show cause, unless the commission shall order otherwise. The answer shall state, in narrative form, each defendant's responses to the allegations in the rule to show cause and any affirmative defenses asserted by the defendant. Failure to file a timely answer may result in the entry of judgment by default against the party failing to respond.

5 VAC 5-20-100. Other proceedings.

A. Promulgation of general orders, rules, or regulations. Before promulgating a general order, rule, or regulation, the commission shall, by order upon an application or upon its own motion, require reasonable notice of the contents of the proposed general order, rule, or regulation, including publication in the Virginia Register of Regulations, and afford interested persons an opportunity to comment, present evidence, and be heard. A copy of each general order, rule, and regulation adopted in final form by the commission shall be filed with the Registrar of Regulations for publication in the Virginia Register of Regulations.

B. Petitions in other matters. Persons having a cause before the commission, whether by statute, rule, regulation, or otherwise, against a defendant, including the commission, a commission bureau, or a commission division, shall proceed by filing a written petition containing: (i) the identity of the parties; (ii) a statement of the action sought and the legal basis for the commission's jurisdiction to take the action sought; (iii) a statement of the facts, proof of which would warrant the action sought; (iv) a statement of the legal basis for the action; and (v) a certificate showing service upon the defendant.

Within 21 days of service of a petition under this rule, the defendant shall file an answer containing, in narrative form, (i) a response to each allegation of the petition and (ii) a statement of each affirmative defense asserted by the defendant. Failure to file a timely answer may result in entry of judgment by default against the defendant failing to respond. Upon order of the commission, the commission staff may participate in any proceeding under this rule in which it is not a defendant to the same extent as permitted by 5 VAC 5-20-80-D.

C. Declaratory judgments. Persons having no other adequate remedy may petition the commission for a declaratory judgment. The petition shall meet the requirements of 5 VAC 5-20-100 B and, in addition, contain a statement of the basis for concluding that an actual controversy exists. In the proceeding, the commission shall by order provide for the necessary notice, responsive pleadings, and participation by interested parties.

PART III.PROCEDURES IN FORMAL PROCEEDINGS.

5 VAC 5-20-110. Motions. Motions may be filed for the same purposes recognized by the courts of record in the Commonwealth. Unless otherwise ordered by the commission, any response to a motion must be filed within 14 days of the filing of the motion, and any reply by the moving party must be filed within ten days of the filing of the response.

5 VAC 5-20-120. Procedure before Hearing Examiners.

A. Assignment. The commission may, by order, assign a matter pending before it to a hearing examiner. Unless otherwise ordered, the hearing examiner shall conduct all further proceedings in the matter on behalf of the commission in accordance with the rules. In the discharge of his or her duties, the hearing examiner shall exercise all the adjudicatory powers possessed by the commission including, inter alia, the power to administer oaths; require the attendance of witnesses and parties; require the production of documents; schedule and conduct pre-hearing conferences; admit or exclude evidence; grant or deny continuances; and rule on motions, matters of law, and procedural questions. The hearing examiner shall, upon conclusion of all assigned duties, issue a written final report and recommendation to the commission.

B. Objections and certification of issues. An objection to a ruling by the hearing examiner shall be stated with the reasons therefore at the time of the ruling, and the objection may be argued to the commission as part of a response to the hearing examiner's report. A ruling by the hearing examiner that denies further participation by a party in interest or the commission staff in a proceeding that has not been concluded may be immediately appealed to the commission by filing a written motion with the commission for review. Upon the motion of any party or the staff, or upon the hearing examiner's own initiative, the hearing examiner may certify any other material issue to the commission for its consideration and resolution. Pending resolution by the commission of a ruling appealed or certified, the hearing examiner shall retain procedural control of the proceeding.

C. Responses to hearing examiner reports. Unless otherwise ordered by the hearing examiner, responses supporting or objecting to the hearing examiner's final report must be filed within 21 days of the issuance of the report. A reply to a response to the hearing examiner's report may only be filed with leave of the commission. The commission may accept, modify, or reject the hearing examiner's recommendations in any manner consistent with law and the evidence, notwithstanding an absence of objections to the hearing examiner's report.

5 VAC 5-20-130. Amendment of pleadings.

No amendment shall be made to any formal pleading after it is filed except by leave of the commission, which leave shall be liberally granted in the furtherance of justice. The commission shall make such provision for notice and for opportunity to respond to the amended pleadings as it may deem necessary and proper.

5 VAC 5-20-140. Filing and service.

A formal pleading or other related document shall be considered filed with the commission upon receipt of the original and required copies by the Clerk of the Commission no later than the time established for the closing of business of the clerk's office on the day the item is due. The original and copies shall be stamped by the Clerk to show the time and date of receipt. The commission may by order make provision for electronic filing of documents, including facsimile.

When a filing would otherwise be due on a day when the Clerk's office is not open for public business, the filing will be timely if made on the next regular business day when the office is open to the public. When a period of fifteen days or fewer is permitted to make a filing or take other action pursuant to commission rule or order, intervening weekends or holidays shall not be counted in determining the due date.

Service of a formal pleading, brief, or other document filed with the commission required to be served on the parties to a proceeding or upon the commission staff, shall be effected by delivery of a true copy to the party or staff, or by deposit of a true copy into the United States mail properly addressed and stamped, on or before the date of filing. Service on a party may be made by service on the party's counsel. At the foot of a formal pleading, brief, or other document required to be served, the party making service shall append a certificate of counsel of record that copies were mailed or delivered as required. The commission may, by order, provide for electronic service of documents, including facsimile. Notices, findings of fact, opinions, decisions, orders, or other paper to be served by the commission may be served by United States mail. However, all writs, processes, and orders of the commission, when acting in conformity with § 12.1-27 of the Code of Virginia, shall be attested and served in compliance with § 12.1-19.1 or § 12.1-29 of the Code of Virginia.

5 VAC 5-20-150. Copies and format.

Applications, petitions, responsive pleadings, briefs, and other documents must be filed in an original and 15 copies. One copy of each responsive pleading or brief must be served on each party and the commission staff counsel assigned to the matter, or, if no counsel has been assigned, on the General Counsel. Each document must be filed on standard size white opaque paper, 8 ½ by 11 inches in dimension, and must be capable of being reproduced in copies of archival quality. Pleadings shall be bound or attached on the left side and contain adequate margins. Each page following the first page must be numbered. If necessary, a document may be filed in consecutively numbered volumes, each of which may not exceed three inches in thickness. Pleadings containing more than one exhibit should have dividers separating each exhibit and should contain an index. Exhibits such as maps, plats, and photographs not easily reduced to standard size may be filed in a different size, as necessary. All filed documents shall be fully collated and assembled into complete and proper sets ready for distribution and use, without the need for further assembly, sorting, or rearrangement. The Clerk of the Commission may reject the filing of any document not conforming to the requirements of this rule.

5 VAC 5-20-160. Memorandum of completeness.

With respect to the filing of a rate application or an application seeking actions that by statute or rule must be completed within a certain number of days, a memorandum shall be filed by an appropriate member of the commission staff within ten days of the filing of the application stating whether all necessary requirements imposed by statute or rule for filing the application have been met and all required information has been filed. If the requirements have not been met, the memorandum shall state with specificity the remaining items to be filed. The Clerk of the Commission immediately shall serve a copy of the memorandum on the filing party. The first day of the period within which action on the application must be concluded shall be set forth in the memorandum and shall be the initial date of filing of applications that are found to be complete upon filing. Applications found to require supplementation shall be complete upon the date of filing of the last item identified in the Staff memorandum. Applications shall be deemed complete upon filing if the memorandum of completeness is not timely filed.

5 VAC 5-20-170. Confidential information.

A person who proposes in a formal proceeding that information to be filed with or submitted to the commission be withheld from public disclosure on the ground that it contains trade secrets, privileged, or confidential commercial or financial information shall file this information under seal with the Clerk of the Commission, or otherwise submit the information under seal to the commission staff as may be required. One copy of all such information also shall be submitted under seal to the commission staff counsel assigned to the matter, or, where no counsel has been assigned, to the general counsel who, until ordered otherwise by the commission, shall disclose the information only to the members of the commission staff directly assigned to the matter as necessary in the discharge of their duties. Staff counsel and all members of the commission staff, until otherwise ordered by the commission, shall maintain the information in strict confidence and shall not disclose its contents to members of the public, or to other staff members not assigned to the matter. The commission staff or any party may object to the proposed withholding of the information.

Upon challenge, the filing party shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the commission that the information should be withheld from public disclosure. If the commission determines that the information should be withheld from public disclosure, it may nevertheless require the information to be disclosed to parties to a proceeding under appropriate protective order.

Whenever a document is filed with the clerk under seal, an expurgated or redacted version of the document deemed by the filing party or determined by the commission to be confidential shall be filed with the clerk for use and review by the public.

When the information at issue is not required to be filed or made a part of the record, a party who wishes to withhold confidential information from filing or production may move the commission for a protective order without filing the materials. In considering such a motion, the commission may require production of the confidential materials for inspection in camera, if necessary.

5 VAC 5-20-180. Official transcript of hearing.

The official transcript of a hearing before the commission or a hearing examiner shall be that prepared by the court reporters retained by the commission and certified by the court reporter as a true and correct transcript of the proceeding. Transcripts of proceedings shall not be prepared except in cases assigned to a hearing examiner, when directed by the commission, or when requested by a party desiring to purchase a copy. Parties desiring to purchase copies of the transcript shall make arrangement for purchase with the court reporter. When a transcript is prepared, a copy thereof shall be made available for public inspection in the Clerk of the Commission's office. By agreement of the parties, or as the commission may by order provide, corrections may be made to the transcript.

5 VAC 5-20-190. Rules of evidence.

In proceedings under 5 VAC 5-20-90, and all other proceedings in which the commission shall be called upon to decide or render judgment only in its capacity as a court of record, the common law and statutory rules of evidence shall be as observed and administered by the courts of record of the Commonwealth. In other proceedings, evidentiary rules shall not be unreasonably used to prevent the receipt of evidence having substantial probative effect.

5 VAC 5-20-200. Briefs.

Written briefs may be authorized at the discretion of the commission, except in proceedings under 5 VAC 5-20-100 A, where briefs may be filed by right. The time for filing briefs and reply briefs, if authorized, shall be set at the time they are authorized. The commission may limit the length of a brief. The commission may by order provide for the electronic filing or service of briefs.

5 VAC 5-20-210. Oral argument.

The commission may authorize oral argument, limited as the commission may direct, on any pertinent matter at any time during the course of the proceeding.

5 VAC 5-20-220. Petition for rehearing or reconsideration.

Final judgments, orders, and decrees of the commission, except judgments prescribed by § 12.1-36 of the Code of Virginia, and except as provided in §§ 13.1-614 and 13.1-813 of the Code of Virginia, shall remain under the control of the commission and subject to modification or vacation for 21 days after the date of entry. Except for good cause shown, a petition for rehearing or reconsideration must be filed not later than 20 days after the date of entry of the judgment, order, or decree. The filing of a petition will not suspend the execution of the judgment, order, or decree, nor extend the time for taking an appeal, unless the commission, within the 21 day period following entry of the final judgment, order or decree, shall provide for a suspension in an order or decree granting the petition. A petition for rehearing or reconsideration must be served on all parties and delivered to commission staff counsel on or before the day on which it is filed. The commission will not entertain responses to, or requests for oral argument on, a petition. An order granting a rehearing or reconsideration will be served on all parties and commission staff counsel by the Clerk of the Commission.

5 VAC 5-20-230. Extension of time.

The commission may, at its discretion, grant a continuance, postponement, or extension of time for the filing of a document or the taking of an action required or permitted by these rules, except for petitions for rehearing or reconsideration filed pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-220. Except for good cause shown, motions for extensions shall be made in writing, served on all parties and commission staff counsel, and filed with the commission at least three days prior to the date the action sought to be extended is due.

PART IV.

DISCOVERY AND HEARING PREPARATION PROCEDURES.

5 VAC 5-20-240. Prepared testimony and exhibits.

Following the filing of an application dependent upon complicated or technical proof, the commission may direct the applicant to prepare and file the testimony and exhibits by which the applicant expects to establish its case. In all proceedings in which an applicant is required to file testimony, respondents shall be permitted and may be directed by the commission or hearing examiner to file, on or before a date certain, testimony and exhibits by which they expect to establish their case. Any respondent that chooses not to file testimony and exhibits by that date may not thereafter present testimony or exhibits except by leave of the commission, but may fully participate in the proceeding and engage in cross-examination of the testimony and exhibits of commission staff and other parties. The commission staff also shall file testimony and exhibits when directed to do so by the commission. Failure to comply with the directions of the commission, without good cause shown, may result in rejection of the testimony and exhibits by the commission. With leave of the commission and unless a timely objection is made, the commission staff or a party may correct or supplement any prepared testimony and exhibits before or during the hearing. In all proceedings, all evidence must be verified by the witness before introduction into the record, and the admissibility of the evidence shall be subject to the same standards as if the testimony were offered orally at hearing, unless, with the consent of the commission, the staff and all parties stipulate the introduction of testimony without need for verification. An original and 15 copies of prepared testimony and exhibits shall be filed unless otherwise specified in the commission's scheduling order and public notice. Documents of unusual bulk or weight and physical exhibits other than documents need not be filed in advance, but shall be described and made available for pretrial examination.

5 VAC 5-20-250. Process, witnesses, and production of documents and things.

A. Subpoenas. Commission staff and a party to a proceeding shall be entitled to process, to convene parties, to compel the attendance of witnesses, and to compel the production of books, papers, documents, or things provided in this rule.

B. Commission issuance and enforcement of other regulatory agency subpoenas. Upon motion by commission staff counsel, the commission may issue and enforce subpoenas at the request of a regulatory agency of another jurisdiction if the activity for which the information is sought by the other agency, if occurring in the Commonwealth, would be a violation of the laws of the Commonwealth that are administered by the commission.

A motion requesting the issuance of a commission subpoena shall include:

1. A copy of the original subpoena issued by the regulatory agency to the named defendant;
2. An affidavit of the requesting agency administrator stating the basis for the issuance of the subpoena under that state's laws; and
3. A memorandum from the commission's corresponding division director providing the basis for the issuance of the commission subpoena.

C. Documents. In a pending case, at the request of commission staff or any party, the Clerk of the Commission shall issue a subpoena. When a matter is under investigation by commission staff, before a formal proceeding has been established, whenever it appears to the commission by affidavit filed with the Clerk of the Commission by the commission staff or an individual, that a book, writing, document, or thing sufficiently described in the affidavit, is in the possession, or under the control, of an identified person and is material and proper to be produced, the commission may order the Clerk of the Commission to issue a subpoena and to have the subpoena duly served, together with an attested copy of the commission's order compelling production at a reasonable place and time as described in the commission's order.

D. Witnesses. In a pending case, at the request of commission staff or any party, the Clerk of the Commission shall issue a subpoena.

5 VAC 5-20-260. Interrogatories to parties or requests for production of documents and things.

The commission staff and a party in a formal proceeding before the commission, other than a proceeding under 5 VAC 5-20-100 A and C, may serve written interrogatories or requests for production of documents upon a party, to be answered by the party served, or if the party served is an entity, by an officer or agent of the entity, who shall furnish to the requesting party information as is known. Interrogatories or requests for production of documents that cannot be timely answered before the scheduled hearing date may be served only with leave of the commission for good cause shown and upon such conditions as the commission may prescribe. No interrogatories or requests for production of documents may be served upon a member of the commission staff, except to discover factual information that supports the workpapers submitted by the staff to the Clerk of the Commission pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-270. All interrogatories and requests for production of documents shall be filed with the Clerk of the Commission.

The response to each interrogatory or document request shall identify by name the person making the response. Objections, if any, to specified questions shall be stated with specificity, citing appropriate legal authority, and served with the list of responses. Responses and objections to interrogatories or requests for production of documents shall be served within 14 days of receipt, unless otherwise ordered by the commission. Upon motion promptly made and accompanied by a copy of the interrogatory or document request and the response or objection that is subject to the motion, the commission will rule upon the validity of the objection; the objection otherwise will be considered sustained.

Interrogatories or requests for production of documents may relate to any matter not privileged, which is relevant to the subject matter involved, including the existence, description, nature, custody, condition, and location of any books, documents, or other tangible things, and the identity and location of persons having knowledge of evidentiary value. It is not grounds for objection that the information sought will be inadmissible at the hearing if the information appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Where the response to an interrogatory or document request may only be derived or ascertained from the business records of the party questioned, from an examination, audit, or inspection of business records, or from a compilation, abstract, or summary of business records, and the burden of deriving or ascertaining the response is substantially the same for one entity as for the other, a response is sufficient if it: (i) identifies by name and location all records from which the response may be derived or ascertained; and (ii) tenders to the inquiring party reasonable opportunity to examine, audit, or inspect the records subject to objection as to their proprietary or confidential nature. The inquiring party bears the expense of making copies, compilations, abstracts, or summaries.

5 VAC 5-20-270. Hearing preparation.

In a formal proceeding, a party or the commission staff may serve on a party a request to examine the workpapers supporting the testimony or exhibits of a witness whose prepared testimony has been filed in accordance with 5 VAC 5-20-240. The movant may request abstracts or summaries of the workpapers, and may request copies of the workpapers upon payment of the reasonable cost of duplication or reproduction. Copies requested by the commission staff shall be furnished without payment of copying costs. In actions pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-80 A, the commission staff, upon the filing of its testimony, exhibits, or report, will compile and file with the Clerk of the Commission three copies of any workpapers that support the recommendations made in its testimony or report. The Clerk of the Commission shall make the workpapers available for public inspection and copying during regular business hours.

5 VAC 5-20-280. Discovery in 5 VAC 5-20-90 proceedings.

The following applies only to proceedings in which a defendant is subject to monetary or injunctive penalties, or revocation, cancellation, or curtailment of a license, certificate of authority, registration, or similar authority previously issued by the commission to the defendant.

A. Discovery of material in possession of the Commission staff. Upon written motion of the defendant, the commission shall permit the defendant to inspect and, at the defendant's expense, copy or photograph any relevant written or recorded statements, the existence of which is known, after reasonable inquiry, by the commission staff counsel assigned to the matter to be within the custody, possession, or control of commission staff, made by the defendant, or representatives, or agents of the defendant if the defendant is other than an individual, to a commission staff member or law enforcement officer.

A motion by the defendant under this rule shall be filed and served at least 10 days before the hearing date. The motion shall include all relief sought. A subsequent motion may be made only upon a showing of cause as to why the motion would be in the interests of justice. An order granting relief under 5 VAC 5-20-280 shall specify the time, place, and manner of making discovery and inspection permitted, and may prescribe such terms and conditions as the commission may determine.

Nothing in this rule shall require the disclosure of any information, the disclosure of which is prohibited by statute. The disclosure of the results of a commission staff investigation or work product of commission staff counsel shall not be required.

B. Depositions. After commencement of an action to which this rules applies, the commission staff or a party may take the testimony of a party or another person or entity, other than a member of the commission staff, by deposition on oral examination or by written questions. Depositions may be used for any purpose for which they may be used in the courts of record of the Commonwealth. Except where the commission or hearing examiner finds that an emergency exists, no deposition may be taken later than 10 days in advance of the formal hearing. The attendance of witnesses at depositions may be compelled by subpoena. Examination and cross-examination of the witness shall be as at hearing. Depositions may be taken in the City of Richmond or in the town, city, or county in which the deposed party resides, is employed, or does business. The parties and the commission staff, by agreement, may designate another place for the taking of the deposition. Reasonable notice of the intent to take a deposition must be given in writing to the commission staff counsel and to each party to the action, stating the time and place where the deposition is to be taken. A deposition may be taken before any person (the "officer") authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the jurisdiction in which the deposition is to be taken. The officer shall certify his or her authorization in writing, administer the oath to the deponent, record or cause to be recorded the testimony given, and note any objections raised. In lieu of participating in the oral examination, a party or the commission staff may deliver sealed written questions to the officer, who shall propound the questions to the witness. The officer may terminate the deposition if convinced that the examination is being conducted in bad faith or in an unreasonable manner. Costs of the deposition shall be borne by the party noticing the deposition, unless otherwise ordered by the commission.

C. Requests for admissions. The commission staff or a party to the proceeding may serve upon a party written requests for admission. Each matter on which an admission is requested shall be stated separately. A matter shall be deemed admitted unless within 21 days of the service of the request, or some other period the commission may designate, the party to whom the request is directed serves upon the requesting party a written answer addressing or objecting to the request. The response shall set forth in specific terms a denial of the matter set forth or an explanation as to the reasons the responding party cannot truthfully admit or deny the matter set forth. Requests for admission shall be filed with the Clerk of the Commission and simultaneously served on commission staff counsel and on all parties to the matter.

MAY 9, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Ex Parte: In re: proposed regulation relating to bank acquisitions of real estate brokerage subsidiaries

DISMISSAL ORDER

On February 25, 2003, the Virginia Bankers Association ("VBA") and Virginia Association of Realtors ("VAR") requested that the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") cancel the hearing scheduled for March 4, 2003, in anticipation of the enactment of legislation that addresses the issues involved in this case. The VBA and VAR further requested that the Commission suspend action on the proposed regulation to allow such legislation to become effective on July 1, 2003, at which time this matter should be closed with no further action. Staff does not object.

On February 28, 2003, the Commission entered an Order in this case to cancel the hearing and continue the case generally pending further order of the Commission. Thereafter, the 2003 General Assembly enacted Chapters 536 and 558, which authorize state-chartered banks to own controlled subsidiary corporations that engage in the real estate brokerage business subject to application and approval by the Commission and various other conditions. This legislation will become effective on July 1, 2003.

Having considered Chapters 536 and 558 of the 2003 Acts of Assembly, and the joint request made by the VBA and VAR, the Commission finds that the General Assembly has addressed the issues involved in this case and that no further action should be taken in this matter. The Commission further finds that no purpose is served by keeping this matter pending on the active docket until the legislation becomes effective on July 1, 2003.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Beginning July 1, 2003, applications submitted by state-chartered banks to acquire controlled subsidiary corporations that engage in the real estate brokerage business will be reviewed by the Commission in accordance with § 6.1-58.3 of the Code of Virginia.
- (2) This case is dismissed.
- (3) The papers herein shall be placed in the file for ended causes.

CASE NO. BFI-2002-00015
MARCH 12, 2003

PETITION OF
VIRGINIA BANKERS ASSOCIATION

ORDER

On January 18, 2002, DuPont Community Credit Union ("DuPont") filed an application ("Application") with the Bureau of Financial Institutions ("BFI") for an expanded field of membership. DuPont seeks to expand its field of membership to include persons who live, work, worship, or attend school in, and businesses and other legal entities located in, the counties of Augusta, Bath, Highland, Rockbridge, and Rockingham, and the independent cities of Buena Vista, Harrisonburg, Lexington, Staunton, and Waynesboro. DuPont supplemented the Application on April 19, 2002. The BFI approved the Application on May 16, 2002. On June 7, 2002, the Virginia Bankers Association ("VBA" or "Petitioner") filed a petition ("Petition") with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") in which the VBA contends that the BFI incorrectly approved the Application. Specifically, the VBA argues that the BFI failed to adhere to the requirements of § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code of Virginia ("Code") by approving the Application. The VBA asserts that the Virginia Credit Union Act, §§ 6.1-225.1 et seq. (Chapter 4.01 of Title 6.1) of the Code does not permit DuPont's common bond to be based on the aforementioned five counties and five cities, and the VBA seeks a Commission order to that effect.

On October 25, 2002, the Commission entered an Order in which it, inter alia, directed all parties to this case to file briefs and specify whether a hearing is necessary by November 15, 2002. The Commission requested briefing on the following issues:

- (1) Whether the VBA has standing to bring the present complaint;
- (2) What information should be considered by the Commission in making its decision in this case; and
- (3) What weight should be given to the National Credit Union Administration's ("NCUA") definition of a "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district" and any interpretations by the NCUA of that term.¹

DuPont, the BFI, the VBA, and the Virginia Credit Union League ("VCUL") filed briefs in this case.

DuPont contends that the VBA lacks standing to bring this complaint. DuPont further asserts that the Commission should consider, inter alia, §§ 6.1-225.23 B 3 and 6.1-225.3:1 of the Code.²

DuPont requests that the Commission also consider the entirety of the Application, the roles of the Central Shenandoah Planning District Commission ("CSPDC") and the Shenandoah Valley Partnership ("SVP"), the approval by the NCUA of credit unions encompassing multiple jurisdictions,³ the effect on state chartered credit unions if the Commission interprets § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code differently from how the NCUA interprets its relevant rules, and the reasons DuPont wishes to expand its field of membership, including: (i) to serve its members where they work and where they reside within the community; (ii) to offer residents the choice of a competitive, member-owned financial cooperative; (iii) to expand its financial services; and (iv) to ensure its long term viability.

DuPont urges the Commission to generally consider facts and features that the NCUA focuses on when it reviews an application for an expanded field of membership and to give the NCUA's definition of a "well-defined local community, neighborhood or rural district" considerable weight.⁴ DuPont observes that the language of § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code pertaining to the Commission's consideration of the NCUA's definition is mandatory and concludes that the Commission should therefore give credible weight to the NCUA's definition. DuPont concludes that the VBA's Petition should be dismissed, and the Commission should affirm the BFI's approval of the Application.⁵

The VBA argues that it has standing to bring its Petition based on the Commission's policy of encouraging participation by those affected by important cases and prior Commission precedent. The VBA specifically asserts that it represents the interests of commercial banks and savings institutions doing business in the Commonwealth of Virginia and that one of the VBA's core purposes is to protect the interests of commercial banks and savings institutions before state government. According to the VBA, members of the VBA have a very direct and very material interest in seeing to it that their tax advantaged competitors [credit unions] are required to live within the "common bond" requirement of the Virginia Credit Union Act, §§ 6.1-225.1 et seq. (Chapter 4.01 of Title 6.1) of the Code, and that the "common bond" requirement is enforced by the BFI. The VBA also refers to the Commission's website as indicating the Commission's willingness to "encourage broad participation in SCC cases to ensure that everyone's concerns are considered."⁶ The VBA also cites a previous decision in support of its assertion that it has standing to challenge the BFI's approval of the Application.⁷

The VBA also contends that DuPont's field of membership does not constitute a "well-defined local community, neighborhood or rural district" under the plain meaning of § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code. The VBA asserts that, while the Commission is required to consider the NCUA's definition of a "well-defined local community, neighborhood or rural district," the Commission is not required to blindly follow the NCUA's lead. The VBA further contends that given the significant size in terms of geography, population, and number of governmental jurisdictions involved, DuPont's proposed community does not satisfy the plain meaning of § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code. The VBA also argues that community credit unions in Virginia are subject to more restrictive common bond requirements than they were prior to 1999 because the General Assembly amended the Virginia Credit Union Act, §§ 6.1-

Section 6.1-225.3:1 of the Code provides, inter alia, that "[t]he Commission is authorized to adopt such regulations as may be necessary to permit state chartered credit unions to have powers comparable with those of federally chartered credit unions regardless of any then existing statute, regulation or court decision limiting or denying such powers to state chartered credit unions."

225.1 et seq. (Chapter 4.01 of Title 6.1) of the Code that year and added the word "local" to further restrict the ability of credit unions to expand outside their local community.⁸

The VBA contends that the Application also fails to meet the NCUA's definition of "well-defined local community, neighborhood or rural district." The VBA claims that the residents of the ten jurisdictions⁹ do not interact or have common interests, citing the lack of shared governmental or civic facilities, the lack of a common trade area, the lack of a shared regional hospital, and the multiple newspapers and colleges that exist within the same proposed area. The existence of the CSPDC and the SVP does not provide evidence that the residents have "common interests" or "interact" under the community common bond requirements.

According to the VBA, the NCUA's approvals of federal community common bonds should be given no weight by the Commission because § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code references the NCUA's definition of "well-defined local community, neighborhood or rural district," not its approvals thereunder.¹⁰ The VBA emphasizes that the Commission need only consider the NCUA's definition and that the Commission should not abdicate to the NCUA the issue of what constitutes a permissible community common bond for Virginia credit unions.¹¹

Finally, the VBA asserts that DuPont's proposed expansion runs counter to § 6.1-225.23:1¹² because it reduces the demand for smaller credit unions. The VBA further alludes to the potential for safety and soundness concerns if the Commission approves the Application.¹³ The VBA concludes by requesting the entry of a Commission order finding that DuPont's proposed community is not a "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district" under § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code.¹⁴

The BFI asserts that its approval of the Application is fully supported by the facts and applicable law. The BFI maintains that the VBA does not have standing to bring this action as it has failed to demonstrate that the VBA, or one or more of its members, is suffering immediate or threatened injury as a result of the Commission's decision.¹⁵ The BFI argues that the NCUA's Interpretative Ruling and Policy Statement ("IRPS") 99-1, as well as the lack of any action by Congress to limit the IRPS, does not support the VBA's argument that the addition of the word "local" was intended to restrict the NCUA's approval of community credit unions. The BFI further claims that the General Assembly did not limit the Commission's discretion in amending § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code but rather explicitly gave the Commission the authority to make the requisite determinations "in its discretion." According to the BFI, this broad grant of authority to the Commission when evaluating proposed fields of membership cannot be interpreted as intending to restrict the Commission's authority.

The BFI notes that IRPS 99-1 is sufficiently broad to allow for large community credit unions and that the NCUA has approved community credit unions with populations far greater than DuPont's Application.¹⁶ The BFI asserts that it is significant that the Application's proposed field of membership also constitutes a planning district represented by the CSPDC. The BFI also directs our attention to portions of the Application pertaining to shared medical facilities, newspapers, colleges and universities, interscholastic sport competitions, and community fairs and festivals as demonstrating the cohesiveness of the proposed field of membership. Finally, the BFI provides an alternative ground for approval of the Application by arguing that the proposed field of membership might also constitute a "well-defined rural district," pursuant to § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code.¹⁷ The BFI requests that the VBA's Petition be dismissed.¹⁸

The VCUL urges the Commission to dismiss the VBA's Petition and affirm the BFI's approval of DuPont's Application. The VCUL first asserts that the VBA lacks standing to pursue its complaint. According to the VCUL, the VBA has made insufficient allegations of individualized harm to satisfy

the standing requirements of 5 VAC 5-20-100 B.¹⁹ The VCUL claims that the VBA has shown no injury in fact, let alone an injury fairly traceable to the conduct of the BFI or DuPont.²⁰

The VCUL also maintains that the BFI appropriately exercised its administrative discretion in approving DuPont's Application. The VCUL claims that the facts show a common community of interest as evidenced by the political subdivisions that have organized the CSPDC and the SVP. The VCUL also asserts that, in the proposed expanded field of membership, there is a single trade area as well as shared governmental and civic facilities. Finally, the VCUL argues that the NCUA has approved five multiple community credit unions, three of which have a greater population than DuPont's proposed expanded field, since the amendment to the federal law.²¹ All parties agree that no hearing is necessary in this case.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the applicable law, including the NCUA's definition of the term "well-defined local community, neighborhood or rural district" as required by § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code, as well as the pleadings and briefs and the arguments of the parties, including the VBA, contained therein, finds that the BFI's approval of DuPont's Application is fully supported by the facts and the applicable law.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The BFI's approval of DuPont's Application is Affirmed;
- (2) The Petition of the VBA is Dismissed; and
- (3) The case is placed in the file for ended causes.

JUNE 20, 2003

PETITION OF

On January 18, 2002, DuPont Community Credit Union ("DuPont") filed an application with the Bureau of Financial Institutions ("Bureau") for an expanded field of membership. Specifically, DuPont requested permission to amend its bylaws in order to serve those persons who live, work, worship, or attend school in, and businesses and other legal entities located in, the counties of Augusta, Bath, Highland, Rockbridge, and Rockingham, and the independent cities of Buena Vista, Harrisonburg, Lexington, Staunton, and Waynesboro. This area is commonly known as the Central Shenandoah Valley Region ("CSVV"). DuPont supplemented its application on April 19, 2002, and the Bureau subsequently approved it on May 16, 2002. Shortly thereafter, on June 7, 2002, the Virginia Bankers Association ("VBA") filed a petition ("Petition") with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-100 B in which the VBA sought Commission review of the Bureau's approval decision. We requested and received briefs from all interested parties, and by Order dated March 12, 2003, reciting the contentions of all the parties, we affirmed the Bureau's approval of DuPont's application. Although the material facts in this case are not in dispute, the factually specific nature of this matter warrants a review of the factors we considered and evaluated in reaching our final decision.¹

The gravamen of the VBA's Petition is that the Bureau failed to adhere to the requirements of § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Virginia Credit Union Act, § 6.1-225.1 et seq. of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), in approving DuPont's application. Specifically, the VBA argues that DuPont's proposed field of membership is not comprised of "[t]hose persons or organizations within a well-defined local community, neighborhood or rural district." Thus, the determinative issue presented in this case is whether the proposed field of membership constitutes a "well-defined local community, neighborhood or rural district." Although the statute itself contains no guidance as to the meaning of this phrase, the Commission is instructed to "give consideration to the definition of the term that has been adopted by the National Credit Union Administration ["NCUA"] and become legally effective."² However, the General Assembly left the Commission unconstrained by federal law and provided in no uncertain terms that "[t]he Commission shall in its discretion determine whether such a proposed field of membership constitutes a 'well-defined local community, neighborhood or rural district'" (emphasis added).³ We agree with the VBA's statement that the Commission is not required to follow the NCUA's lead in approving fields of membership; however, we reject the VBA's narrow view of the facts supporting DuPont's application.

In accordance with the statutory directive found in 12 U.S.C. § 1759(g) of the Federal Credit Union Act, the NCUA has established by regulation certain criteria for determining the meaning of "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district." These criteria, which are embodied in the NCUA's Interpretative Ruling Policy Statement 99-1, as amended ("IRPS"), require the following in order to approve a community charter application:

(1) the geographic area's boundaries must be clearly defined; (2) the charter must establish that the area is a "well-defined, local community, neighborhood, or rural district;" and (3) the residents must have common interests or interact (IRPS, at 2-46). The IRPS further provides that "[t]he meaning of local community, neighborhood, or rural district includes a variety of factors. Most prominent is the requirement that the residents of the proposed community area interact or have common interests." Id. In this regard, the IRPS furnishes examples of factors that the NCUA views as indicative of community interaction and/or common interests, including a single major trade area, shared facilities (for example, educational, medical, etc.), organizations and clubs within the community, and area newspapers (Id. at 2-48).

Before we consider the common interests and interactions among residents of the CSVR, it is appropriate for us to assess the geographical scope of the proposed community, as well as the number of persons residing within its borders. According to year 2000 census figures contained in DuPont's application, the estimated population of the CSVR was 258,789 people, which represents less than three percent (3%) of the total population of the Commonwealth of Virginia. In fact, the CSVR's total population is comparable to several single counties and cities in Virginia.⁴ Information provided in Exhibit N of the Bureau's brief reveals that this population is spread out among approximately 3,430 square miles. The five counties and five cities comprising the CSVR are contiguous and form clearly defined boundaries. Moreover, approximately 98% of the CSVR has an average population of only 48 people per square mile. Although we are not aware of any recognized numerical definition for the term "rural," we find that the CSVR is a predominantly rural area.

According to the NCUA, the size of a proposed community can create a per se "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district." Pursuant to the IRPS, "[i]n most cases, the 'well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district' requirement will be met if . . . (2) the area to be served is in multiple contiguous political jurisdictions, i.e. a county or its political equivalent or any political subdivisions contained therein and if the population of the requested well-defined area does not exceed 200,000. If the proposed area meets [this] criteria, the credit union must only submit a letter describing how the area meets the standards for community interaction or common interests."⁵ Obviously, the population of the CSVR exceeds 200,000 people. Nevertheless, we regard this figure as a mere benchmark when evaluating the nature and quantum of evidence needed in order for a proposed field of membership to qualify as a "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district."

In applying the standards used by the NCUA in connection with community charter applications, we do not believe that any one particular fact or factor is determinative or controlling. Rather, we think it is appropriate to consider the totality of circumstances that, when viewed together, depict an area characterized by common interests and interactions. Although we find DuPont's comprehensive application to be replete with evidence of such common interests and interaction, we believe it is useful to highlight those portions of the submission that we view as the most significant.

The counties and cities comprising DuPont's proposed field of membership do not appear to have been arbitrarily chosen by DuPont because of their contiguity. Rather, the area to be served constitutes a planning district represented by the Central Shenandoah Planning District Commission ("CSPDC"), which was chartered in 1969 under the Virginia Area Development Act, now the Regional Cooperation Act, § 15.2-4200 et seq. of the Code. Commissions such as the CSPDC are formed by agreement of a substantial part of the population within their districts acting through their elected representatives. According to the CSPDC, planning district commissions "[provide] assistance to local governments and their citizens with issues including land use planning and regulation, transportation, solid waste management, water and waste water utilities, housing, economic development, water resource management, flood mitigation and human services. Cooperative, cost-saving solutions to problems are addressed at the [planning district commissions] through their regional efforts."⁶ We agree with the Bureau's assertion that the mere existence of the CSPDC and its longevity are cogent proof of a common commitment in the CSVR to joint community development. Our examination of the record indicates that the CSPDC has supported and promoted a host of initiatives and programs that facilitate regional collaboration and coordination throughout the area. Furthermore, we find it notable that the NCUA has already recognized such planning districts as providing the analytical template to foster joint development and interaction.⁷ Thus, it is our view that the CSPDC, a body politic under § 15.2-4205 of the Code, constitutes a form of shared/common facilities that fosters cohesiveness, common interests, and interaction among CSVR residents.

In addition to the CSPDC, the CSVR is also directly served and supported by the Shenandoah Valley Partnership ("SVP"), a public-private regional economic development and marketing organization covering the same geographic area as the CSPDC. As stated in DuPont's application, the SVP's primary function is to market the CSVR as a business location, and membership in the SVP is required for each of the five counties and five municipalities that comprise the CSVR. We note that DuPont's application furnishes a considerable amount of material from the SVP's internet site as evidence of the SVP's role within the CSVR. According to the SVP's website, the SVP brings together business, government, and education leaders to promote new investment, strengthen existing business, and guide labor force development to ensure a healthy economic future for the CSVR region.⁸ Based on the record, we are satisfied that the SVP works in tandem with the CSPDC to cultivate common interests and interaction through the coordination of economic and community projects and initiatives that unify and jointly benefit the residents of the CSVR. While we acknowledge the VBA's argument that the counties and municipalities comprising the CSVR have distinct local governments and maintain their own school districts, police, and fire protection units, we also note that the IRPS does not deem the existence of separate political jurisdictions to be fatal or even a substantial impediment to a community charter application. Rather, the IRPS views multiple political jurisdictions as just one factor that tends to diminish the local character of an area, thereby necessitating countervailing evidence of common interests and interaction. In this particular case, DuPont's application supplies such evidence. Moreover, in considering the CSVR's shared/common facilities, we concur with the Bureau's contention that the VBA fails to appreciate the significant quasi-governmental roles played by the CSPDC and SVP in demonstrating that the area is a "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district."

In support of its Petition, the VBA further avers that the CSVR is comprised of multiple trade areas. Specifically, the VBA alleges that each of the proposed counties has its own trade area insofar as CSVR residents shop and do business at or near where they live. Although this may be true to a certain extent, the VBA did not introduce any evidence to support such a claim. More importantly, we are persuaded by DuPont's application that area residents also travel to other parts of the CSVR to conduct their shopping. Two large enclosed malls located in the area attract residents from throughout the CSVR; namely, Colonial Mall in Staunton and Valley Mall in Harrisonburg. These malls are conveniently located near major interstates and offer residents several large department stores, as well as a wide array of national chain and local specialty retail shops, some of which are unavailable elsewhere in the CSVR. The VBA advances the argument that two large malls in the region do not show the kind of "common interests" or "interaction" contemplated by the NCUA rule. We disagree with this assertion. To the contrary, the IRPS specifically states that "major trade areas (shopping patterns and traffic flows)" are examples of acceptable documentation (IRPS, pg. 2-48). While we observe that there may not be only one trade center, as the VBA would require, we find that the CSVR maintains two conveniently located focal points for residents to interact and share common interests by shopping together at dozens of stores under one roof. Since both malls tend to draw residents from throughout the CSVR and promote the type of cohesion contemplated by the IRPS, we believe that these dual trade centers play a role in bonding area residents. As such, it is our view that they jointly bolster the contention that the CSVR is a "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district."

Another factor referred to in the IRPS as demonstrating common interests and interaction is the presence of shared medical facilities. In support of their position, the VBA points out that there are separate hospitals located in the jurisdictions comprising the CSVR and apparently would require that there be only one regional hospital for the entire area in order for it to qualify as a "local community, neighborhood, or rural district." Notwithstanding the obvious negative health consequences of having only one hospital for an area of approximately 3,430 square miles, we do not think the IRPS requires it. Although "shared medical facilities" is not defined in the IRPS, we think the term encompasses the various illustrations of medical interaction within the CSVR that are highlighted in DuPont's application. In addition to having joined together to form a shared medical service corporation many years ago, we find it noteworthy that the three major hospitals in the area also coordinate services and share advanced medical equipment and specialist staff in order to increase the quality of medical care to all residents of the CSVR at a reduced cost. Other regional medical organizations and projects found in the area include the Central Shenandoah Health District, the Blue Ridge Area Health Education Center Health & Human Services Directory, and Grief Support Services. In short, we find more than enough evidence in the record demonstrating that these medical arrangements and initiatives promote community interaction and unity among those who live and work in the CSVR.

In reviewing a community charter application, the NCUA also considers the existence of newspapers or other periodicals published for and about the proposed field of membership. The VBA contends that there are at least five newspapers published in the area and claims that each one only "serves" a portion of the CSVR. While there are several newspapers published in the region, DuPont's application reports that a Staunton newspaper, The News Leader, claims to serve the entire CSVR. In fact, our review of the record shows that The News Leader publishes ads for jobs located throughout the region, which we believe buttresses their circulation claim by showing that residents throughout the CSVR read this same newspaper. In their brief, the VBA declares that one newspaper serving the proposed community would tend to show "common interests" or "interaction." We agree. Based on DuPont's application, we also think it is telling that the coverage maps for several radio stations reportedly match up perfectly with the boundaries of the CSVR, which indicates that these stations are reaching out to the same population and many CSVR residents are listening to the same radio stations. Indeed, these findings lead us to conclude that the common interests and interactions of CSVR residents are further reinforced by shared media outlets.

Another factor considered by the NCUA when reviewing community charter applications is the presence of common educational facilities. The VBA argues by implication that the several colleges and universities in the region are attended only by residents of the individual localities in which each is located. However, DuPont's application contains several examples of educational facilities that bring together residents from throughout the CSVR. In particular, we observe that the Dabney S. Lancaster Community College purportedly furnishes educational services to all five counties located in the CSVR. Moreover, the record cites numerous institutions of higher learning that attract students from throughout the area with their wide range of academic and technical training programs. For instance, we note that Blue Ridge Community College, conveniently located between Harrisonburg and Staunton along the I-81 corridor, has served residents of the CSVR with a comprehensive program of instruction since 1967. We concur with the Bureau's contention that it is more likely that these institutions place no limitations on their enrollments but lure students from the entire CSVR with their educational offerings. Accordingly, we conclude that area residents routinely interact at one or more educational facilities located in the CSVR as they pursue common training and scholastic interests.

In addition to the foregoing, DuPont's application contains significant additional documentation that amply demonstrates that the CSVR is an area where individuals share common interests and interact with each other. For example, the application describes and details interscholastic competitions in various sports between local schools situated in the CSVR. Although the VBA argues that such material does not demonstrate common interests or interaction, we are persuaded that these sporting events, particularly at the high school level, promote considerable interaction and cohesion among residents. In addition to bringing together the athletes from the various school districts in the region, area teams enjoy strong community support and draw attendance from parents, students, and other residents, thereby promoting socialization and common interests. Interaction within the region is also advanced by the congregation and commingling of area residents throughout the year during a variety of fairs, festivals, and special events, notably including the Virginia Horse Festival and the "Summer Extravaganza," a two-day event that draws the vast majority of its attendees from the CSVR. Of course, all of the interaction in the region is made possible by the strong transportation network that allows area residents to readily travel throughout the CSVR in order to go to work, to school, to shop, and to engage in recreational activities. Modern interstate highways such as I-81 and I-64 provide the primary road access, connecting all of the metropolitan areas within the CSVR. In order to travel greater distances, residents of the CSVR assemble at the Shenandoah Valley Regional Airport, the area's only regional commercial airport. According to DuPont's application, over 90% of the passengers using this state-of-the-art transportation hub are residents of the CSVR, thereby establishing the airport as another shared facility within the region that brings together area residents and further promotes community interaction.

In sum, based upon the voluminous documentation contained in DuPont's application and the definition of the term "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district" adopted by the NCUA, we find that the CSVR is characterized by clearly defined boundaries, substantial interaction among residents, an abundance of common interests, a shared feeling of cohesion, and a thriving sense of community. While we believe that this finding affords us a sufficient basis for concluding that DuPont's proposed field of membership comprises a "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district" for purposes of § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code, we think it is judicious to weigh additional factors. To begin, we note that the record contains evidence of numerous federal credit union community charter application decisions made by the NCUA pursuant to the IRPS. To the extent that these decisions shed some light on the IRPS and the meaning ascribed to the term "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district," we believe it is reasonable to review them. In recognition perhaps of the broad grant of legal authority given to the Commission under § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code, the VBA simply maintains that it is inappropriate for us to consider federal credit union approvals by the NCUA. While we acknowledge the VBA's position, it appears to be based, at least in part, on the VBA's contention that the NCUA has erroneously approved numerous federal credit union applications encompassing large fields of membership. Although we are unquestionably required to consider the NCUA's definition of the term "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district," all of the parties in this case agree that we are not bound by the four corners of the IRPS in determining whether an application satisfies § 6.1-225.23 B of the Code. In this regard, we think that the discretion provided for in § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code gives us sufficient latitude to consider how the NCUA itself responded to similar community charter applications that were submitted under the IRPS. In reviewing the NCUA's actions, we are cognizant of the VBA's admonition that the Commission should not blindly follow the NCUA or abdicate to the NCUA the determination of whether a proposed field of membership satisfies the requirements of the Virginia Credit Union Act. In exercising the discretion and responsibility entrusted to us by the General Assembly, we have no intention of substituting the NCUA's judgment for our own.

In its brief, the VBA advances the position that "such a large geographic area, with a significant population, and ten separate political jurisdictions, simply does not constitute a 'well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district' under the plain meaning of [§ 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code]." In light of the fact that the NCUA adopted its regulations in order to implement an identically worded standard under the Federal Credit Union Act, we find it both instructive and telling that pursuant to the IRPS, the NCUA has approved numerous community credit union applications with fields of membership of equal or greater size than we approve here.

For example, the record reveals that in 2001, the NCUA approved an application by General Electric Rome Employees Federal Credit Union to serve 511,142 people in ten Georgia counties that comprise the Coosa Valley Region ("CVR"), a "service delivery region" analogous to a Virginia planning district. Like the CSVR, the CVR occupies a large area and is predominantly rural (approximately 83% of residents reside in rural areas). Another example in the record is Robins Federal Credit Union, which the NCUA approved in 2000 to serve 431,679 people in eleven Georgia counties. The boundaries of the area conformed to the Middle Georgia Service Delivery Region. Like the CSVR and CVR, the region sought to be served by Robins Federal Credit Union was mostly rural. Other noteworthy examples in the record include the 2001 approvals of MidSouth Federal Credit Union (11 counties in Georgia; 428,580 people); Columbia Teachers Federal Credit Union (4 counties in South Carolina; 573,209 people); Pioneer Federal Credit Union (5 counties in Idaho; 452,000 people); SAC Federal Credit Union (4 counties in Nebraska and Iowa; 700,000 people); and School Employees of Central New York Federal Credit Union (4 counties in New York; 732,920 people). Significant approvals from 2002 include GHS Federal Credit Union (3 counties in New York; 303,721 people); Sunmark Federal Credit Union (4 counties in New York; 794,293 people); and Mobiloil Federal Credit Union (4 counties in Texas; 385,090 people). We believe it is quite evident from these approvals that proposed fields of membership consisting of multiple jurisdictions and hundreds of thousands of people can meet the NCUA's definition of a "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district." Based on our reading of the IRPS and the NCUA's approval of these and other large community fields of membership, we agree with the Bureau's contention that "[c]onsiderations of square mileage, number of political jurisdictions and size of population are not dispositive in this case or like cases." Notwithstanding, we do not subscribe to the VBA's rejoinder that such an interpretation means that such considerations "[do] not matter" or that the entire Commonwealth of Virginia or southeastern United States could qualify as a "well-defined community, neighborhood, or rural district."

Contrary to what the VBA suggests, we have considered factors such as square mileage, number of political jurisdictions, and population size. As we noted earlier, the CSVR contains approximately 258,789 residents spread out among 3,430 square miles, which equates to 75.4 persons per square mile. The five counties in the CSVR, which comprise 98% of the area, have an average population of only 48 people per square mile. In recognition of the wide dispersion of residents living and working in this area, the Bureau points out in its brief that § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code authorizes Commission approval of three types of "community" credit unions; namely, those whose membership consists of persons or organizations within a well-defined (1) local community, (2) neighborhood, or (3) rural district. Basing this reading on the rule of statutory construction that provides that in construing a statute, each word must be given effect,⁹ the Bureau submits that the CSVR constitutes a well-defined "rural district" within the meaning of § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code. Although the NCUA has not assigned a distinct meaning to the term "rural district," the Bureau cites to the American Heritage Collegiate Dictionary as evidence for the proposition that a "rural district" generally means "a country area." Considering the overwhelmingly rural nature of the CSVR and the fact that it has already been designated as a "planning district," as defined in § 15.2-4202 of the Code, we find it reasonable to conclude that the area also qualifies as a "rural district" for purposes of § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code. We concur with the Bureau's proposition that given the significant likelihood that the CSVR enjoys a high degree of employment crossover between counties and adjacent cities, it makes little sense to exclude residents of cities surrounded by counties from rural district credit union fields of membership when, as in this case, counties comprise almost all of the physical area occupied by the proposed field of membership. Even if we had rejected the "rural district" interpretation espoused by the Bureau, we remain of the view that it is appropriate to take into account the geographical size of the CSVR and the density of its residents when evaluating the nature and extent of interests and interaction. Under either construction of § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code, we believe the record contains abundant support for our opinion that DuPont's proposed field of membership represents a "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district."

In its Petition, the VBA raises several secondary arguments in support of its claim that DuPont's application should be denied. None of these contentions has merit. The VBA first alleges that the approval of DuPont's proposal runs counter to § 6.1-225.23:1 of the Code, which requires the Commission to encourage the formation of separately chartered credit unions rather than authorizing the addition of a new group to an existing credit union. According to its application, DuPont is a multiple common bond credit union (§ 6.1-225.23 B 2 of the Code) seeking to convert to a community field of membership (§ 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code). From (1) the simultaneous repeated use of the term "group" in § 6.1-225.23:1, § 6.1-225.23 B 1, and § 6.1-225.23 B 2 of the Code, as contrasted with the absence of this term in § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Code, which subsection in 1999 first established the permissibility under Virginia law of credit union membership based primarily upon geographical location, and (2) the disjunctive use of the words "group" and "community" in the revised definition of "member" in § 6.1-225.2 of the Code that was simultaneously enacted in 1999 (Acts of Assembly, c. 63), we conclude that § 6.1-225.23:1 of the Code is inapplicable to proposed community-based credit unions. The VBA's next contention is that DuPont's proposal raises safety and soundness concerns insofar as it will inevitably lead to aggressive competition between credit unions and the ultimate demise of smaller credit unions. We find this speculative concern unsupported by any evidence in the record. Lastly, the VBA asserts that credit unions receive certain government subsidies and benefits, including a tax exempt status, and that DuPont is engaging in unfair competition and exploiting such subsidies and benefits. In our opinion, public policy arguments such as these should be directed to our federal and state legislatures. We do not consider them to be pertinent to the legal issues raised in this case.

Accordingly, having considered the foregoing, as well as the Virginia Credit Union Act, the definition of the term "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district" adopted by the NCUA, and all of the pleadings, briefs, and arguments made in this matter, we conclude and find that the Bureau's approval of DuPont's field of membership application is fully supported by the facts and applicable law. In our judgment, the cities and counties that comprise the CSVR and DuPont's proposed field of membership constitute a "well-defined local community, neighborhood, or rural district" under § 6.1-225.23 B 3 of the Virginia Credit Union Act.

NOVEMBER 4, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.

v.

HOUSEHOLD INTERNATIONAL, INC., a Delaware Corporation,
Defendant

ORDER AMENDING SETTLEMENT ORDER

On December 19, 2002, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered a Settlement Order in this case which provided, among other things, that the Commission retain jurisdiction to enforce its terms and conditions and that it could be modified by further Commission order. Now the Commissioner of Financial Institutions and Household International, Inc. ("Household"), seek to amend the Settlement Order retroactive to April 1, 2003, for the purposes of realizing their mutual intent of maximizing the amount of restitution that may be distributed to eligible consumers, net of taxes on the Restitution Funds, and of making ministerial changes to the language of the borrower releases. Upon consideration thereof,

IT IS ORDERED THAT the December 19, 2002, Settlement Order is amended retroactive to April 1, 2003, as follows:

1. After the heading "Restitution", before paragraph 4, the following language is added:

As and for restitution to Borrowers who had Covered Transactions, Household shall establish a fund ("the Restitution Fund") which shall consist of two segregated sub-funds: the Settlement Fund, which is defined as a qualified settlement fund within the meaning of Treasury Regulation Section 1.468B-1, or any corresponding successor provision, pursuant to Paragraph 4(G) hereof, and the Administrative Fund, as hereinafter provided. The Restitution Fund, including monies held in both the Settlement Fund and the Administrative Fund, is also intended to be a qualified settlement fund within the meaning of Treasury Regulation Section 1.468B-1 or any corresponding successor provision.

2. Paragraph 4(B) is amended to provide as follows:

B. Household shall pay into the Settlement Fund the amount of $16,703,228 as provided in Exhibit A. The Commonwealth shall use the Settlement Fund solely to provide restitution to Borrowers or to pay those administrative costs not paid by the Administrative Fund, as set forth in the Settlement Administration section below. The Commonwealth shall have sole discretion to determine the manner in which it will provide restitution for the Lending Practices to Borrowers who had Covered Transactions, including criteria for choosing which Borrowers shall receive any restitution and the amount to distribute to each. The Commonwealth will determine its own criteria for allocating restitution and other relief to a broad number of Borrowers. The restitution awarded under the terms of this Settlement Order is not and shall not be considered as forgiven debt. Should there be residual funds remaining after initial distribution to Borrowers and payment of all administrative costs and expenses, such funds shall be distributed to Borrowers and shall not revert to the Commonwealth, except that the Commonwealth shall determine how to use any funds that are associated with un-negotiated settlement checks in accordance with state law.

3. Paragraph 4(E) is amended to provide as follows:

E. The Settlement Fund is intended for restitution to Borrowers affected by the Lending Practices for the Covered Transactions and for payment or reimbursement of administrative expenses that are not paid by the Administrative Fund under Paragraph 28 of this Settlement Order and does not include any monies for fines, penalties, or punitive damages.

4. Paragraph 4(G) is amended to provide as follows:

As part of the Restitution Fund, the Settlement Fund will continue to be characterized as a qualified settlement fund within the meaning of Treasury Regulation Section 1.468B-1 or any corresponding successor provision.

5. Paragraph 28(A) is amended to provide as follows:

A. Household shall choose and retain an administrator ("the Administrator") to administer the process of providing restitution to Borrowers and of paying the administrative expenses incurred. For the purpose of protecting the proprietary and customer information to be provided to it by Household, the Administrator shall be solely an agent of Household. The identity and contract of the Administrator and any successor administrator shall be subject to the approval of two-thirds(2/3) of the number of Settling States. Household shall select the Administrator in a prompt manner in cooperation with the Settling States.

6. Paragraph 28(C) is amended to provide as follows:

C. Following the Effective Date and as herein provided, Household shall establish and fund a separate administrative fund or sub-fund ("the Administrative Fund") for payment of the Administrator's administrative fees and expenses. In no event will Household be required to contribute to the Administrative Fund, cumulatively, an amount which exceeds the contribution defined in this paragraph 28(c). The amount of Household's contribution to the Administrative Fund shall be calculated on a per state basis in an amount equal to the greater of 2% of each Settling State's pro rata share of the Settlement Fund or $20,000. The Commonwealth's share of the Administrative Fund is $334,065. Any fees or expenses of the Administrator in excess of the amount held in the Administrative Fund and allocable to the Commonwealth under this Settlement Order shall be paid from the Commonwealth's share of the Settlement Fund and shall not be a separate debt of the Commonwealth. In addition, Household shall be responsible for any costs of the Administrator, including attorneys' fees and costs of litigation, related to maintaining the confidentiality of customer and proprietary information against third-party requests.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

7. Paragraph 28(D) is amended to provide as follows:

D. Upon selection of the Administrator and establishment of the Administrative Fund, the Administrator shall receive an initial payment from the Administrative Fund in an amount to be agreed upon with the Settling States. Thereafter, the Administrator will be paid from the Administrative Fund as provided in the Administrator's agreement with Household and will send copies of all bills to the Commonwealth.

8. Paragraph 28(E)(6)(b) is amended to provide as follows:

b. A full and complete quarterly accounting of all charges and fees allocated to and charged against the Commonwealth's designated share of the Administrative Fund.

9. A new Paragraph 28(H) is added as follows:

H. Income taxes on income earned by the Administrative Fund, if any, shall be paid out of the income earned by the Administrative Fund. Monies remaining in the Administrative Fund following termination of the settlement administration and payment of all administrative expenses shall revert to Household.

10. A new Paragraph 28(I) shall be added which will provide as follows:

I. Income taxes on income earned by the Settlement Fund, if any, shall be paid out of the income earned by the Settlement Fund.

11. Paragraph 32 shall be amended to provide as follows:

32. Releases from Borrowers. Each Borrower who receives a payment from the Settlement Fund shall first execute the following general release of Household: "In consideration for the restitution received, I/we hereby release Household from all civil claims and causes of action which I/we may have as of the date of this release agreement, in contract, in tort (including, but not limited to, personal injury and emotional distress), in statute, regulation or common law, and whether in an administrative or judicial proceeding, whether known or unknown, threatened or unasserted, that arise from or are related to the restitution received or the following lending practices by Household in connection with the above referenced account numbers for my real estate secured loans originated by Household's retail branches from January 1, 1999, through September 30, 2002: Household's conduct with respect to multiple real estate secured loans that are made at or near the same date to the same Borrower (i.e., "split loans"), loan points and origination fees, interest rates, monthly payment amounts, single premium credit and other insurance products, prepayment penalties, loans offered through a negotiable check (i.e., "live checks"), home equity lines of credit, loan billing practices relating to simple interest calculations, balloon payments, payoff information, non English language documentation, and net tangible benefit in loan refinancing. Notwithstanding this release, I/we may affirmatively or defensively assert any claim or defense that I/we have with respect to my loan with Household in response to a judicial or threatened non-judicial foreclosure, including those related to the lending practices listed in this release. However, I/we agree that the otherwise released claims cannot form the basis for an affirmative monetary recovery to me against Household. For purposes of this release, "Household" means Household International, Inc., Household Finance Corporation, Beneficial Corporation, and their direct and indirect subsidiaries, affiliates, officers, directors, employees, agents, related entities, successors, and assigns." The release shall be written in both English and Spanish.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that provisions of the December 19, 2002, Settlement Order not amended hereby remain the same and in full force and effect, and that this Order shall not be interpreted as amending such provisions.

JANUARY 31, 2003

IN THE MATTER OF
THE PORTSMOUTH POST OFFICE CREDIT UNION, INCORPORATED Merger into
NORTHERN STAR CREDIT UNION, INCORPORATED

ORDER AMENDING BYLAWS AND APPROVING THE MERGER

The Staff of the Bureau of Financial Institutions ("Bureau") has reported and represented to the State Corporation Commission ("Commission"):

(1) The Portsmouth Post Office Credit Union, Incorporated ("TPPOCU"), a Virginia-chartered credit union, has some $1.9 million in assets and approximately 784 members. The December 2002 financial statement of TPPOCU discloses it to be insolvent with a negative net worth of $70,358.

(2) TPPOCU has been experiencing ongoing financial difficulties, including numerous accounting and loan underwriting problems, as well as the identification of insider and potentially fraudulent loans. On September 27, 2002, a Letter of Understanding and Agreement ("LUA") was executed between the Bureau, TPPOCU, and the National Credit Union Administration. To date, TPPOCU has been unable to meet all of the requirements of the LUA. These trends have reached a point where TPPOCU is no longer viable as a separate entity. The trends are confirmed in a Bureau memorandum dated January 16, 2003, and attached exhibits.

(3) An emergency exists, and it is in the best interests of the members of TPPOCU to have TPPOCU immediately merged into Northern Star Credit Union, Incorporated ("NSCU"), also a Virginia-chartered credit union.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

(4) In order for TPPOCU to be merged into NSCU under § 6.1-225.10 of the Code of Virginia, the board of directors of both corporations must approve a plan of merger. The board of directors of NSCU has approved a plan of merger that provides, among other things, that the remaining members of TPPOCU will become members of NSCU.

(5) According to Article V, Section 1 of TPPOCU's bylaws, TPPOCU's board of directors shall consist of nine (9) members. Article V, Section 7 provides that a majority of the board of directors constitutes a quorum for the transaction of business. Insofar as TPPOCU has only two remaining members on its board of directors, its board of directors is unable to achieve the quorum necessary to vote on the plan of merger with NSCU.

(6) To enable TPPOCU's board of directors to vote on the plan of merger, TPPOCU's bylaws should be amended by the Commission pursuant to § 6.1-225.17 of the Code of Virginia. The Bureau has provided TPPOCU with notice of the proposed amendments, and TPPOCU has waived its right to a hearing.

(7) NSCU's member accounts are insured by the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund.

Having considered the report and the above representations of the Bureau, the Commission finds as follows: (i) TPPOCU is insolvent; (ii) an emergency exists; (iii) the board of directors of NSCU has approved a merger of TPPOCU into NSCU; (iv) the merger is in the best interests of the members of TPPOCU; (v) TPPOCU's bylaws should be amended by the Commission so that its board of directors may vote on the plan of merger; and (vi) TPPOCU has been notified of the proposed amendments and waived its right to a hearing.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Pursuant to § 6.1-225.17 of the Code of Virginia, Article V, Section 1 of TPPOCU's bylaws be amended to read as follows: "The Board of Directors shall consist of five (5) members, who shall be members of this credit union. The Board of Directors shall consist of an odd number of directors, at least five (5) in number."

(2) In addition, Article V, Section 7 of TPPOCU's bylaws be amended to read as follows: "For purposes of voting on a merger with Northern Star Credit Union, Incorporated, two (2) directors shall constitute a quorum. For all other purposes, a majority of the number of directors specified in these Bylaws shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting thereof but fewer than a quorum may adjourn from time to time until a quorum is in attendance. Written notice of an adjourned meeting need not be given."

(3) Subject to approval of the plan of merger by TPPOCU's board of directors and the receipt of evidence thereof by the Commission, the merger of TPPOCU into NSCU is hereby approved pursuant to § 6.1-225.10 of the Code of Virginia.

(4) Pursuant to § 6.1-225.10 of the Code of Virginia, this Order of Approval shall take the place of the usual approval of the merger by the members of both credit unions. TPPOCU shall promptly provide its members of record with notice of TPPOCU's insolvency and its merger into NSCU for the purpose of providing such members an opportunity to challenge the finding that TPPOCU is insolvent. TPPOCU shall also preserve and make available to its members the relevant books and records for a period of thirty (30) days after such notice is sent.

On April 25, 2003, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") issued a Rule to Show Cause in this case ("the Rule") against the Defendant. The Rule contained allegations by the Bureau of Financial Institutions ("the Bureau") that the Defendant violated various laws and regulations applicable the conduct of its business as a licensee under Chapter 16 of Title 6.1 of the Code of Virginia. The Rule did not allege that the Defendant committed any act of fraud, misrepresentation, or deceit. The Defendant filed a pleading in response to the Rule and stated its intention to appear at the hearing in the case. Thereafter, the Defendant proposed to settle the case, without admitting or denying the allegations contained in the Rule or making any declaration against interest, by payment of the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) and abiding by the provisions of this Order. The Commissioner of Financial Institutions recommended that the Commission accept Defendant's offer of settlement pursuant to authority granted under § 12.1-15 of the Code of Virginia.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (3) Defendant, during the period of five (5) years from the date of entry of this Order, shall not violate any provision of Chapter 16 of Title 6.1 of the Code of Virginia or any regulation promulgated thereunder.
- (4) If, during the aforesaid five (5) year period, the Defendant fails to comply with the provisions of paragraph 3, or the Bureau finds by examination or otherwise that the Defendant (a) has acted or failed to act in a fashion constituting a ground for revocation of its license under § 6.1-425 of the Code of Virginia or (b) has committed such violations of laws or regulations as warrant, in the Bureau's judgment, revocation of the Defendant's license, the Defendant shall within fourteen (14) days of the mailing of written notice to it by the Bureau surrendered its mortgage lender and broker license to the Bureau in writing.
- (5) If the Defendant fails to comply with the surrend requirement imposed under the preceding paragraph, the Commission shall enter an order revoking the Defendant's license without notice or hearing.
- (6) Defendant shall file an acceptable written response with the Bureau to its 1999 Report of Examination within 45 days of the date of this order.
- (7) Acts or failures to act alleged in the Rule or cited in the Defendant's 1999 or 2001 Report of Examination shall not, per se, provide a basis for Bureau issuance of a surrender notice under paragraph 4 of this order.

- (2) APCU has been experiencing ongoing financial difficulties, including numerous accounting and loan underwriting problems, as well as the identification of insider and potentially fraudulent loans. These trends have reached a point where APCU is no longer viable as a separate entity. The trends are confirmed in a Bureau memorandum dated March 28, 2003, and attached exhibits.
- (3) An emergency exists, and it is in the best interests of the members of APCU to have APCU immediately merged into CommonwealthOne FCU ("COFCU"), a federally chartered credit union.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

(4) In order for APCU to be merged into COFCU under § 6.1-225.10 of the Code of Virginia, the board of directors of both corporations must approve a plan of merger. The board of directors of the credit unions have approved a plan of merger that provides, among other things, that the remaining members of APCU will become members of COFCU.

(5) COFCU's member accounts are insured by the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund.

Having considered the report and the above representations of the Bureau, the Commission finds that APCU is insolvent, an emergency exists, the board of directors of the credit unions have approved the merger, and that the merger is in the best interests of the members of APCU.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The merger of APCU into COFCU is hereby approved pursuant to § 6.1-225.10 of the Code of Virginia.

(2) Pursuant to § 6.1-225.10 of the Code of Virginia, this Order of Approval shall take the place of the usual approval of the merger by the members of both credit unions. APCU shall promptly provide its members of record with notice of APCU's insolvency and its merger into COFCU for the purpose of providing such members an opportunity to challenge the finding that APCU is insolvent. APCU shall also preserve and make available to its members the relevant books and records for a period of thirty (30) days after such notice is sent.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Ex Parte: In re annual fees for licensed payday lenders

ORDER ADOPTING A REGULATION

By Order herein dated August 6, 2003, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") directed that notice be given of a proposed regulation numbered 10 VAC 5-200-90 entitled "Schedule of Annual Fees for the Examination, Supervision, and Regulation of Payday Lenders." Notice of the proposed regulation was published in the Virginia Register on August 25, 2003, and was also given to all licensees under Chapter 18 of Title 6.1 of the Code of Virginia. Interested parties were afforded an opportunity to comment on the proposal, and written comments were filed with the Clerk of the Commission by and on behalf of certain payday lender licensees.

The proposed regulation sets an annual fee schedule for licensed payday lenders based upon short-year data presently available to the Commission. Having considered the Staff proposal and written comments received in this case, the Commission concludes that the proposed regulation fulfills the purposes of § 6.1-457 of the Code of Virginia. Accordingly, the Commission is of the opinion that the regulation, with certain technical corrections suggested by the Registrar of Regulations and a technical amendment to the text of the regulation as published in the Virginia Register, should be adopted.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Amended regulation 10 VAC 5-200-90 attached hereto is adopted effective immediately.

(2) Inasmuch as the fee schedule is based upon partial-year data reported by licensees for calendar year 2002, the Staff is directed to reexamine all relevant factors when calendar year 2003 data is available and make a report to the Commission so that it can be determined if a modification of the fee schedule is warranted.

(3) Copies of the amended regulation shall be sent by the Bureau of Financial Institutions to all licensees and current applicants for licenses under Chapter 18 of Title 6.1 of the Code of Virginia.

(4) The amended regulation shall be posted on the Commission's website at <http://www.state.va.us/scc/caseinfo.htm>.

OCTOBER 17, 2003

PETITION OF
FAITHWAY CHURCH OF JESUS OF THE APOSTOLIC FAITH, INC., Petitioner
v.
ERNEST R. SUTTON,
Respondent

ORDER

On February 20, 2003, Faithway Church of Jesus of the Apostolic Faith, Inc. ("Faithway Church" or "Petitioner"), a non-profit North Carolina corporation, by counsel, filed a Petition for Rule to Show Cause and for Rescission of Certificate of Authority ("Petition") with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission").¹ Therein, among other things, Petitioner² seeks to have the Commission hold Ernest R. Sutton³ ("Sutton" or "Respondent") in contempt pursuant to § 13.1-811 of the Code of Virginia⁴ for signing false documents⁵ and to rescind the certificate of authority issued by the Commission to Faithway Church.⁶ Petitioner alleges that Sutton signed the Application as president of Faithway Church knowing that Stokley, as bishop, was the president of the church.

On March 17, 2003, the Commission entered an Order Establishing a Proceeding and Requiring Responsive Pleading which established this matter as a formal proceeding, ordered the Respondent to file an Answer admitting or denying the allegations contained in the Petition, assigned this matter to a Hearing Examiner to conduct all further proceedings, and scheduled a hearing for April 21, 2003.

On April 1, 2003, Respondent filed an Answer in which he declared, inter alia, that he is the duly elected president of Faithway Church and had the authority to file an Application for a Certificate of Authority.

The hearing convened on April 21, 2003. SuAnne Hardee Bryant, Esquire, appeared as counsel for Petitioner and M. Seth Ginter, Esquire, appeared as counsel for Respondent. Ten witnesses testified at the hearing and nineteen exhibits were accepted into the record.

After reviewing the filings and testimony submitted in the case and the applicable law, the Hearing Examiner, in a report ("Hearing Examiner's Report") issued on July 9, 2003, made, among other things, the following findings and recommendations:

- (1) The material issue in this case is whether or not Ernest Sutton signed an Application for Certificate of Authority to Transact Business in Virginia knowing it was false in any material respect.
- (2) In 2002, Mr. Sutton was elected interim pastor and general overseer by the Virginia and North Carolina branches of Faithway Church.⁷
- (3) At a special meeting held April 6, 2003, members from both congregations ratified actions taken on August 21, 2002, in electing Ernest Sutton as pastor, president and general overseer of Faithway Church.⁸
- (4) The documents and testimony in this case indicate that Ernest Sutton believed he was acting in his capacity as president of the church.⁹

² Timothy L. Stokley ("Stokley") claims to be president, bishop and general overseer of Faithway Church and initiated this matter on behalf of Faithway Church.

³ Ernest R. Sutton claims to be president, bishop and general overseer of Faithway Church.

⁴ § 13.1-811. Penalty for signing false documents. It shall be unlawful for any person to sign a document which he knows is false in any material respect with the intent that the document be delivered to the Commission for filing. Any person who violates the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.

⁵ Exhibit 5. Ernest R. Sutton filed an Application for a Certificate of Authority to Transact Business in Virginia ("Application") dated December 26, 2002, as president of Faithway Church, with the Commission.

⁶ On January 2, 2003, the Commission approved the Application and granted Faithway Church a Certificate of Authority to Transact Business in Virginia ("Certificate") effective December 31, 2002.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

- (5) The Certificate of Authority to Transact Business in Virginia was properly obtained and should not be revoked.
- (6) That the Commission should enter an Order dismissing the petition with prejudice and passing the papers herein to the file for ended causes.

Petitioner and Respondent filed comments to the Hearing Examiner's Report. Petitioner averred, among other things, that the recommendation of the Hearing Examiner is not supported by applicable law. Respondent agreed fully and completely with the findings of the Hearing Examiner.

Upon consideration of the filings and testimony submitted, the Report of the Hearing Examiner, and the Comments submitted thereto, the Commission is of the opinion, and so finds, that the findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner should be adopted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petition of Faithway Church be, and the same is hereby, DISMISSED with prejudice; and
- (2) The papers herein are passed to the file for ended causes.

CASE NO. INS-2001-00062

PETITION OF
ROBERT WEINGARTEN,
GERRY R. GINSBERG,
and
LEONARD GUBAR,

For Payment of Interest

FINAL ORDER

On May 13, 1991, the Circuit Court for the City of Richmond entered an order placing Fidelity Bankers Life Insurance Company ("Fidelity Bankers")¹ into receivership and appointing the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") as receiver. Thereafter, the Commission entered an order appointing Steven Foster, then Commissioner of Insurance for the Commonwealth of Virginia, to serve as the Deputy Receiver for Fidelity Bankers ("Deputy Receiver"). Alfred Gross succeeded Mr. Foster as Commissioner of Insurance and was substituted as Deputy Receiver for Fidelity Bankers.

On October 28, 2002, Robert Weingarten, Gerry R. Ginsberg, and Leonard Gubar ("Petitioners") filed a petition ("Petition") seeking payment of interest on their administrative claim. The Petitioners seek an order from the Commission requiring the Deputy Receiver to pay the sum of $263,913.25 in interest on the $3.5 million stipulated judgment entered by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia on January 19, 2001. The Petitioners are former directors of Fidelity Bankers.

After extensive federal litigation, the Petitioners and the Deputy Receiver agreed to settle the Petitioners' claim for indemnification by the entry of a "Stipulated Judgment" in the Petitioners' favor in the amount of $3.5 million. The Stipulated Judgment was entered by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia on January 19, 2001. A provision of the Stipulated Judgment provided that the payment of $3.5 million to Petitioners was "subject to the determination of the Virginia State Corporation Commission as to the priority to be accorded this judgment among the claims against, and liability of, the Receivership Estate."

After further litigation at the Commission and the Supreme Court of Virginia,² it was established that the $3.5 million judgment in favor of the Petitioners is entitled to be paid as an expense of the administration of the estate pursuant to § 38.2-1509 of the Code of Virginia. This Petition, seeking payment of interest from January 19, 2001, to August 7, 2002,³ followed.

Petitioners claim that they are due interest on the Stipulated Judgment because the Stipulated Judgment Order does not exclude the accrual of post-judgment interest. Accordingly, Petitioners maintain that 28 U.S.C. § 1961 requires that interest be paid on the Stipulated Judgment.

The Deputy Receiver filed a Motion to Dismiss and Answer to Petition for Payment of Interest, as well as an accompanying memorandum in support thereof, on November 15, 2002. The Deputy Receiver denies that any interest is due to be paid to the Petitioners. The Deputy Receiver further asserts that the Petition should be dismissed because (i) as a matter of law, the Petitioners are not entitled to payment of post-judgment interest on the Stipulated Judgment; (ii) the Petition is untimely and was filed with the Commission in violation of the requirements set forth in the Receivership Appeal Procedure ("RAP"); (iii) the Petitioners have waived their rights to any post-judgment interest on the Stipulated Judgment; and (iv) § 12.1-36 of the Code of Virginia only permits payment of interest on Commission judgments when specifically allowed by the Commission. Since the Commission Order of July 31, 2002, directed payment only of the $3.5 million, the Deputy Receiver argues, no interest is due or permitted under Virginia law.

The Petitioners filed a memorandum in opposition to the Deputy Receiver's Motion to Dismiss on December 2, 2002.⁴ Therein, the Petitioners renew their contention that they are owed interest in the amount of $263,913.25 from the Deputy Receiver. The Petitioners again assert that payment of interest on a judgment entered by a federal court is mandatory, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1961. The Petitioners further assert that the RAP is not applicable to the current Petition, primarily because the Commission previously ruled that the Petitioners' claim for payment of the $3.5 million itself was not subject to the RAP.⁵ The Petitioners further assert that they have not waived their right to interest on the Stipulated Judgment as the Petitioners claim that they acted promptly to demand interest once the issue of priority was determined. The Petitioners also claim that they received no consideration from the Deputy Receiver in exchange for waiving their right to interest. The Petitioners also reject the Deputy Receiver's contention that interest could not have accrued until July 31, 2002.

The Deputy Receiver filed a Reply in Support of Motion to Dismiss Petition for Payment of Interest on December 16, 2002. The Deputy Receiver argues again that, as a matter of law, post-judgment interest does not accrue on the Stipulated Judgment. The Deputy Receiver further contends that the Petitioners have waived any right that they may have had to interest on the Stipulated Judgment, that Virginia law does not provide for payment of interest on judgments of the Commission unless expressly allowed by the Commission, and that the Petitioners failed to comply with the RAP, rendering their Petition untimely.

Pursuant to the agreement reached between the Petitioners and the Deputy Receiver, Judge Williams of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia ordered "[t]hat [Petitioners] recover of [the Deputy Receiver], the sum of $3.5 million, representing certain of the fees and costs incurred by [Petitioners] in the present action, such recovery to be made only from the assets of the Fidelity Bankers Life Insurance Company Receivership Estate and subject to the determination of the Virginia State Corporation Commission as to the priority to be accorded this judgment among the claims against, and liability of, the Receivership Estate." The Stipulated Judgment clearly contemplated additional action by the Petitioners and the Deputy Receiver before payment of the $3.5 million. The Stipulated Judgment required the Commission to determine the priority to be accorded the $3.5 million as a condition precedent to payment by the Deputy Receiver. The Commission directed payment of the $3.5 million as an expense of the administration of the estate under § 38.2-1509 of the Code of Virginia together with the costs taxed to the Deputy Receiver in an Order entered on July 31, 2002.⁶ No provision for interest was made in the Order.

In accordance with our previous ruling in this case,⁷ we find that the RAP is inapplicable to the present proceeding. We have reviewed the pertinent cases cited by both parties. Because of our determination that the Petitioners are not entitled to interest under either Virginia or federal law, we do not address the Deputy Receiver's contention that the Petitioners have waived their right to assert a claim to interest on the Stipulated Judgment.

Neither the Commission's Order entered on August 8, 2001,⁸ nor the Commission's Order entered on July 31, 2002,⁹ addressed the issue of whether interest was to be paid on the Stipulated Judgment. Nor did the Petitioners seek interest in those proceedings. Section 12.1-36 of the Code of Virginia provides that "[t]he judgments of the Commission for fines or penalties, or for the recovery of money, shall take effect as of the date thereof, and when allowed by the Commission, the judgment shall bear interest from that date." (Emphasis added.) The Commission is without authority to reopen its July 31, 2002, Order and award interest in this case.¹⁰ We note also that 28 U.S.C. § 1961 provides, in pertinent part that "[e]xecution [for the interest] may be levied by the marshal, in any case where, by the law of the State in which such court is held, execution may be levied for interest on judgments recovered in the courts of the State." Since the Commission did not allow interest on the judgment referenced in its Order dated July 31, 2002, no execution may be levied for any interest on that judgment. Even if § 12.1-36 of the Code of Virginia is not applicable, the Petitioners are not entitled to interest on the Stipulated Judgment under federal law.

Assuming, as both the Petitioners and the Deputy Receiver have in this case, that federal law rather than state law governs the Stipulated Judgment, the payment of interest is still not warranted. Section 1961 of Title 28 of the United States Code provides, inter alia, that "[i]nterest shall be allowed on any money judgment in a civil case recovered in a district court." We do not believe that the money in this case was "recovered in a district court." First, while the Stipulated Judgment was filed and entered in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, the money was recovered at the Commission, following litigation over the priority to which the $3.5 million was entitled to be paid. The Stipulated Judgment itself specifically included the provision that the Commission must first determine the priority to be accorded the judgment before it would be paid. Moreover, we find that the cases submitted by the parties do not support the Petitioners' contention that the $3.5 million was "recovered in a district court" even if the Stipulated Judgment is interpreted according to federal law.

Kincade v. General Tire & Rubber Co.¹¹ involved a class action alleging plantwide racial discrimination at a tire and rubber plant in Waco, Texas. A proposed settlement agreement was filed with the court. After subsequent appeals by disaffected class members were resolved, the plaintiffs filed their request for interest on the court-approved settlement agreement. The Court noted that "the plaintiffs [had] failed to cite a single case in which § 1961 has been applied to a court order or judgment which merely approves a settlement agreement arrived at by the parties to a lawsuit."¹² After determining that the question was one of first impression, the Court held that "§ 1961 is intended to allow postjudgment interest on money awarded by a judge or jury after litigation. Thus, the Court holds that § 1961 was not intended to apply and will not be interpreted to extend to court-approved settlement agreements."¹³ Similarly, in the instant case, the Petitioners and the Deputy Receiver have agreed to a Stipulated Judgment.

Subsequent cases have cited Kincade with approval and have reached the same result. In Isaiah v. City of New York,¹⁴ a stipulated settlement was ordered by the Court, by which the plaintiff was to receive a certain amount of money. The plaintiff later sought interest on that amount. The Court held that 28 U.S.C. § 1961 only applies to "money judgments" that are "recovered in a district court" and found that in the case of a court-approved settlement agreement, the amount of money to be paid is not "recovered in a district court."¹⁵

Similarly, Doyle v. Turner¹⁶ involved litigation between former officers of a labor union and the union. Certain portions of the dispute were resolved by a Stipulated Order of Dismissal. A subsequent claim for interest was denied by the Court, which found that 28 U.S.C. § 1961 does not apply to amounts owing under a stipulation of settlement or consent judgment.¹⁷ We find the reasoning of Kincade, Isaiah, and Doyle to be persuasive.¹⁸ The Petitioners and the Deputy Receiver reached a compromise on the Petitioners' counterclaims in the federal litigation, and their agreement was enshrined in the Stipulated Judgment. We find that the $3.5 million was not "recovered in a district court" as that term is used in 28 U.S.C. § 1961 based on the foregoing cases.

While Petitioners cite Waggoner v. R. McGray, Inc.¹⁹ in support of their position, we are not persuaded by the decision in that case. It is true that Waggoner involved a stipulated judgment, and the Ninth Circuit held that, under 28 U.S.C. § 1961, interest is paid on a judgment (stipulated or not) regardless of whether the judgment expressly includes it.²⁰ Waggoner relied on two cases in support of its decision, neither of which stands for the proposition ultimately reached by the Ninth Circuit.

Blair v. Durham²¹ is one of the cases cited by the Ninth Circuit in Waggoner. Blair does not support the Waggoner decision because the Blair case involved a jury verdict, not a stipulated judgment or settlement agreement approved by the court. The Sixth Circuit had no occasion to address the question of whether the successful litigants would be entitled to interest on a judgment if it had been reached by agreement, rather than awarded by a jury.

Schumacher v. Leterman²² also involved a controversy over whether the defendants were required to pay interest on an amount owed to the plaintiff. The initial case was resolved by agreement but contained a provision for subsequent action if the defendants failed to make payments in accordance with the earlier agreement. The plaintiff obtained a judgment after the defendants failed to make a payment and the plaintiff filed a motion for an order declaring the defendants in default. The case is therefore distinguishable. In any event, the Southern District of New York no longer follows Schumacher, as evidenced by the decisions in Doyle and Isaiah. We believe that Waggoner is not supported by the decisions in Blair and Schumacher. Moreover, we find the reasoning of Kincade, Isaiah, and Doyle to be more convincing, especially given the procedural posture of this case.

The parties expressly reserved to this Commission the determination of the priority to be accorded the $3.5 million payment. If the Commission's determination that the Petitioners were entitled only to the status of unsecured creditors had been affirmed by the Supreme Court of Virginia, the Petitioners might not have received payment for years, until all others with priority to the assets of the estate had been satisfied. We do not believe that the $3.5 million Stipulated Judgment would be accruing interest until such time as the other creditors had been satisfied. The Petitioners' position would have dictated just such a result. We hold, therefore, that the Petitioners are not entitled to any interest on the $3.5 million Stipulated Judgment.

ACCORDINGLY, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petitioners' request for $263,913.25 be, and the same is hereby, DENIED.
- (2) The papers herein shall be placed in the file for ended causes.

PENN TREATY NETWORK AMERICA INSURANCE COMPANY,
Defendant

FINAL ORDER

Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company, a foreign corporation domiciled in the State of Pennsylvania ("Defendant"), initially was licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia on April 30, 1958.

Section 38.2-1028 of the Code of Virginia requires that insurers licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia are required to maintain minimum capital of $1,000,000 and minimum surplus of $3,000,000.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

By Consent Order entered herein April 17, 2001, Defendant consented to and was ordered by the Commission not to issue any new contracts or policies of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia until further order of the Commission. The Consent Order was based on Defendant's voluntary consent thereto due to Defendant's treatment of a reserve credit on its December 31, 2000 Annual Statement, which caused Defendant's failure to comply with such minimum surplus requirement.

The Annual Statement of Defendant dated December 31, 2002, and filed with the Bureau of Insurance (the "Bureau"), reflects that Defendant's reserves are in compliance with Virginia statutes and that Defendant is in compliance with Virginia's minimum capital and surplus requirements as set forth in § 38.2-1028.

The Bureau has recommended that the Consent Order entered by the Commission be vacated and this case be closed.

THE COMMISSION, having considered the record herein and the recommendation of the Bureau, is of the opinion that the Consent Order entered by the Commission should be vacated.

AMERICAN NETWORK INSURANCE COMPANY,
Defendant

FINAL ORDER

American Network Insurance Company, a foreign corporation domiciled in the State of Pennsylvania ("Defendant"), initially was licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia on November 29, 1972.

Section 38.2-1028 of the Code of Virginia requires that insurers licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia are required to maintain minimum capital of $1,000,000 and minimum surplus of $3,000,000.

By Consent Order entered herein April 17, 2001, Defendant consented to and was ordered by the Commission not to issue any new contracts or policies of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia until further order of the Commission. The Consent Order was based on Defendant's voluntary consent thereto due to Defendant's treatment of an investment in the common stock of its parent corporation, Penn Treaty American Corporation, on its December 31, 2000 Annual Statement, which caused Defendant's failure to comply with such minimum surplus requirement.

The Annual Statement of Defendant dated December 31, 2002, and filed with the Bureau of Insurance (the "Bureau"), reflects that Defendant is in compliance with Virginia's minimum capital and surplus requirements as set forth in § 38.2-1028.

The Bureau has recommended that the Consent Order entered by the Commission be vacated and this case be closed.

THE COMMISSION, having considered the record herein and the recommendation of the Bureau, is of the opinion that the Consent Order entered by the Commission should be vacated.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

PETITION OF
CENTENNIAL HOMES, INC., d/b/a TRENDMAKER HOMES

For review of HOW Insurance Company, Home Warranty Corporation and Home Owners Warranty Corporation Deputy Receiver's Determination of Appeal

ORDER

On October 14, 1994, the Circuit Court of the City of Richmond, Virginia, entered an order ("Receivership Order") appointing the Virginia State Corporation Commission ("Commission") the Receiver of the HOW Insurance Company ("HOWIC"), Home Warranty Corporation ("HWC"), and Home Owners Warranty Corporation ("HOW") (collectively, "HOW Companies" or "HOW"). The Receivership Order granted the Commission the authority to proceed with the rehabilitation or liquidation of the HOW Companies and established a receivership appeal procedure ("RAP") to govern appeals and challenges to decisions rendered by the receiver or the receiver's duly authorized representatives.

On April 13, 2001, Centennial Homes, Inc. d/b/a Trendmaker Homes¹ ("Petitioner" or "Trendmaker") filed a Petition for Review ("Petition") with the Commission contesting the Deputy Receivers Determination of Appeal in Claim No. 3590206.² Trendmaker's Petition was assigned Case No. INS-2001-00081.

On April 18, 2001, Petitioner filed a Petition with the Commission contesting the Deputy Receiver's Determination of Appeal in Claim No. 3386722.³ Trendmaker's Petition was assigned Case No. INS-2001-00082.

The Commission docketed the cases,⁴ assigned the matters to a hearing examiner ("Examiner" or "Hearing Examiner"), and directed the Deputy Receiver to file an answer or other responsive pleading to the Petitions.

On May 10, 2001, the Hearing Examiner consolidated Case Nos. INS-2001-00081 and INS-2001-00082 for hearing by Hearing Examiner Ruling of May 10, 2001.⁵

On May 25, 2001, the Deputy Receiver filed a Consolidated Motion to Dismiss. Therein, the Deputy Receiver claimed, among other things, that: (i) Trendmaker's Petitions were premature, and (ii) Trendmaker lacked standing to bring the Petitions.

In response, Trendmaker declared, among other things, that: (i) the Petitions were not premature because there is an actual controversy between the Deputy Receiver and Receiver over the processing of claims regarding an MSD, and (ii) Petitioner has standing to bring this action since any decision of the Deputy Receiver that affects a financial interest, contract rights, or legal entitlement constitutes an appealable decision under Rule A2(b) of the Receivership Appeal Procedures.

By Hearing Examiner Ruling entered on August 1, 2001, the Deputy Receiver's Consolidated Motion to Dismiss was denied.

On September 6, 2001, the Deputy Receiver filed a Joint Motion for Continuance. Therein, the Deputy Receiver stated that the parties were attempting to reach an amicable disposition of the two claims. By ruling dated September 11, 2001, the Examiner continued the matter generally.

On November 21, 2001, Trendmaker filed a Petition with the Commission contesting a determination made by the Deputy Receiver in Claim No. 3883104 A.⁶ Trendmaker's Petition was assigned Case No. INS-2002-00040.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

On March 28, 2002, the Deputy Receiver filed a Motion to Consolidate Case No. INS-2002-00040 with the earlier consolidated cases. By Ruling dated April 23, 2002, the Motion to Consolidate was granted and set for hearing on July 11, 2002.

The hearing was convened on July 11, 2002. Trendmaker appeared by its counsel Brendan D. Cook, Esquire. The Deputy Receiver appeared by its counsel Joseph H. West, Esquire, and Susan E. Salch, Esquire.

On June 27, 2003, the Hearing Examiner issued his Report, in which he made the following findings and recommendations:

- (1) Virginia substantive law should control in this case to avoid exposing the receivership estate to a myriad of possible conflicting state laws, to provide for the equitable payment of claims and distribution of the assets of the estate among creditors of the same class no matter where the creditors of the HOW Companies may reside, and to provide for the orderly administration and wind down of the estate;
- (2) The Kilpatricks filed a timely claim for MSD coverage under their HOW insurance/warranty documents;
- (3) The Bogerts filed a timely claim for MSD coverage under their HOW insurance/warranty documents;
- (4) The Bogerts filed a valid claim against the receivership estate;
- (5) The Deputy Receiver lacks authority to delegate his responsibility to adjudicate HOW claims to some other entity, modify the procedural due process scheme established by the RAP, or otherwise use the Agreement Regarding Claims ("ARC")⁷ for adjudication of homeowners' claims filed against the HOW Companies;
- (6) Inconsistencies between the RAP and the ARC must be resolved in favor of the RAP to avoid violating the Receivership Order;
- (7) The RAP requires the Deputy Receiver to issue the Kilpatricks a Notice of Claim Determination ("NCD") on their specific claim, which was filed timely with the HOW Companies;
- (8) The Kilpatricks' claim was pending with the Deputy Receiver until such time as he issued his NCD;
- (9) The phrase "unsafe, unsanitary, or otherwise unlivable" in the HOW insurance/warranty documents is ambiguous;
- (10) The Kilpatricks' home had an MSD as defined in the HOW insurance/warranty documents;
- (11) The Bogerts' home had an MSD as defined in the HOW insurance/warranty documents;
- (12) The Kiefers' home had an MSD as defined in the HOW insurance/warranty documents;
- (13) The reasonable costs to repair the additional portions of the homes damaged as a result of the MSD in the foundations are direct damages, not consequential damages, and are covered under the HOW insurance/warranty documents;
- (14) The Deputy Receiver's award of secondary damages in the subject cases was supported by the evidence and the HOW insurance/warranty documents;
- (15) Trendmaker failed to meet its evidentiary burden that Exclusion D⁸ applies in any of the subject cases;
- (16) Trendmaker failed to establish that Exclusion H⁹ applies in any of the subject claims; and
- (17) The Commission should enter an order adopting the finding in the Report; affirming the Deputy Receiver's Determination of Appeal in the subject cases; and dismissing Trendmaker's Petition for Appeal in the subject cases, with prejudice.

On July 16, 2003, Trendmaker filed Comments and Objections to the Report. Therein, among other things, it objected to findings and recommendations numbers 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14 of the Report.¹⁰

⁸ The Limited Warranty shall not extend to or include or be acceptable to: any damage to the extent it is caused or made worse by negligence, improper maintenance, or improper operation by anyone other than the Builder, its employees, agents, or subcontractors. Exclusion D1, HOW insurance/warranty documents at p. 4.

¹⁰ Centennial Homes, Inc. d/b/a Trendmaker Homes' Comments and Objections to the Hearing Examiner's Report at pp. 2 and 3.

On July 18, 2003, the Deputy Receiver filed Comments to the Report. Therein, among other things, he requested that the findings relating to the relationship between the RAP and the ARC, as set forth in findings and recommendations numbers 5 and 6 of the Report, be rejected,¹¹ but that all other findings and recommendations be adopted.

Upon consideration of the filings and testimony submitted, the Report of the Hearing Examiner and the Comments and Objections submitted thereto, the Commission is of the opinion and so finds that the findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner should be adopted except for findings and recommendations numbers 5 and 6 of the Report, which relate to the relationship between the ARC and RAP in HOW claim resolution.

In findings 5 and 6 of the Report, the Examiner found that the Deputy Receiver violated the Receivership Order by: (i) delegating his responsibility to adjudicate HOW claims to some other entity; (ii) modifying the procedural due process scheme established by the RAP; and (iii) using the ARC for adjudication of homeowners' claims filed against the HOW Companies. The Examiner further found that inconsistencies between the RAP and the ARC must be resolved in favor of the RAP to avoid violating the Receivership Order.

We disagree with the conclusion reached by the Hearing Examiner that the Deputy Receiver's use of the ARC violated the Receivership Order. The ARC is an arrangement between HOW's National Account Builders and the Deputy Receiver which, among other things, outlines claim handling procedures between the Account Builders and the Deputy Receiver. There is nothing in either the record or in the ARC itself to suggest that the ARC does anything more than provide an alternative procedural mechanism for facilitating settlement of a pending claim of a homeowner.

Such an arrangement is clearly authorized by the Receivership Order. The Receivership Order permits the Deputy Receiver to delegate authority in resolution of claims against the receivership and allows the Deputy Receiver to take any and all actions that it deems advisable in connection with the liquidation or rehabilitation of the receivership.¹² Furthermore, the Receivership Order provides for the Deputy Receiver to enter into such contracts as are necessary to carry out the terms of the Receivership Order.¹³

Nor does the use of the ARC modify the procedural due process established by the RAP or violate the claim adjudication process established in the Receivership Order. The ARC spells out the process by which homeowners might resolve their claims with the builder, or alternatively, could proceed to have HOW resolve the claim. The RAP does not apply and does not impact the rights or obligations of the parties until a final decision is reached with respect to a particular claim.¹⁴ This decision is usually manifested by the issuance of a Notice of Claim Determination by the Receiver, Deputy Receiver, or duly authorized representative of the Receiver.¹⁵ In these cases, once the NCDs were issued, the appeal process was triggered.¹⁶

There are no inconsistencies between the ARC and the RAP which affect the procedural due process established by the Receivership Order. Both are used to resolve claims against the receivership at different times: the ARC prior to issuance of an NCD and the RAP, after issuance of an NCD.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petitions for Review of Centennial Homes, Inc. d/b/a Trendmaker Homes be, and the same are hereby, DENIED;
- (2) The Determinations of Appeal issued respectively by the Deputy Receiver to the Kiefers, Kilpatricks, and the Bogerts be, and the same are hereby, AFFIRMED;
- (3) These cases are dismissed, and the papers herein are passed to the file for ended causes.

¹² Receivership Order at ¶ 3. at pp. 5-6.

¹⁴ The Receivers Appeal Procedure governs appeals and challenges of any decision made by the Receiver of HOW Insurance Company, Home Warranty Corporation, and Home Owners Warranty Corporation. Receivership Order at p. 6.

¹⁶ The first avenue of appeal under the RAP is the appeal to the Deputy Receiver. Once the Deputy Receiver concludes his review of a specific claim, the claimant will be sent a Notice of Claim Determination advising him or her on the disposition of the claim. Thereafter, the claimant has thirty days to file its appeal with the Deputy Receiver. Receivership Order at ¶ B, p.7.

DONALD AND SUSAN WILLY

ORDER

On October 14, 1994, the Circuit Court of the City of Richmond, Virginia, entered an order appointing the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") the receiver ("Receivership Order") of the HOW Insurance Company ("HOWIC"), Home Warranty Corporation ("HWC"), and Home Owners Warranty Corporation ("HOW")¹ (collectively, "HOW Companies" or "HOW"). The Receivership Order granted the Commission the authority to proceed with the rehabilitation or liquidation of the HOW Companies and established a receivership appeal procedure to govern appeals and challenges to decisions rendered by the receiver or the receiver's duly authorized representatives.

On September 20, 2001, Donald and Susan Willy ("Petitioners") filed a Petition for Review ("Petition") with the Commission contesting the Deputy Receiver's Determination of Appeal issued in Claim No. 3693858 on August 24, 2001, whereby the Deputy Receiver denied Petitioners' claims for builder limited warranty and major structural defect coverage on Petitioners' residence located 51 Burwick Street, Sugarland, Texas 77479.

This matter comes now before the Commission based on an extended history. Petitioners' home was enrolled in the HOW Program in August 1990.² By letter dated May 4, 1992, Petitioners notified HOW that Perry Homes, Inc. ("Perry Homes" or "Builder") had failed to correct fifteen defects brought to the attention of the Builder.³ On July 22, 1992, a non-binding arbitration hearing was held among Petitioners, Perry Homes, and HOW regarding the alleged defects, and the arbitrator ruled in favor of Perry Homes.⁴ Petitioners then sued Perry Homes and HOW in Texas District Court.⁵ When HOW was placed in receivership, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia enjoined all actions against HOW.⁶ Accordingly, the Texas court severed Petitioners' suit against Perry Homes from Petitioners' suit against HOW, and stayed the case against HOW.⁷ On February 25, 1997, a jury trial in the Texas District Court found in favor of Perry Homes.⁸ By letter dated May 17, 1999, Petitioners sought HOW coverage relative to the fifteen defects included in its 1992 complaint as well as ten additional defects.⁹

By Order dated October 9, 2001, the Commission docketed the case, assigned the matter to a Hearing Examiner, and directed the Deputy Receiver to file an Answer or other responsive pleading to the Petition on or before November 2, 2001.

On November 2, 2001, the Deputy Receiver, by counsel, filed a Motion to Dismiss and Answer to Petition for Review, and Memorandum in Support of Motion to Dismiss ("Motion"). The Deputy Receiver asserted therein, among other things, that: (i) Petitioners' claims are untimely by the express contractual provisions of the HOW Program; (ii) most of the defects alleged by Petitioners related to the HOW Program Builder's Limited Warranty, and since these defects were subject to an arbitration and state court proceedings between Petitioners and Perry Homes in which the Builder prevailed, Petitioners are not entitled to compensation; and (iii) Petitioners assertions are insufficient to support a claim for Major Structural Defect coverage under the HOW Program.

On December 26, 2001, Petitioners filed a response to the Motion. They contended therein, among other things, that the Deputy Receiver's Motion should be denied since it failed: (i) to demonstrate that the Commission lacks jurisdiction; (ii) to state that the Petition did not state a cause of action; or (iii) to state that the Petition is legally insufficient.

By Hearing Examiner Ruling dated February 6, 2002, the Deputy Receiver's Motion was granted in part. The Hearing Examiner found that HOW Program Builder's Liability coverage¹⁰ limited HOW's exposure to the Builder's liability, and without a finding of Builder liability in the arbitration and state court proceedings, there could be no Builder Default coverage. Consequently, the Hearing Examiner granted the Deputy Receiver's Motion to Dismiss relative to HOW's Builder Default coverage. Since Petitioners claimed defects that could have been covered under HOW's Major Structural Defect coverage, and there were factual disputes concerning those defects, the Motion was denied as to defects claimed under Major Structural Defect coverage.¹¹

In a ruling by the Hearing Examiner dated February 20, 2002, based upon an agreement between the parties, the procedural schedule and hearing date was suspended, and the matter continued generally.

On April 4, 2002, Petitioners filed a Motion to Remand ("Remand Motion") requesting the Commission to order the Deputy Receiver to take the steps necessary to remand this matter to the 240th District Court of Fort Bend County, Texas, for a jury trial to determine liability and damages. In its Remand Motion, Petitioners claimed, among other things, that: (i) the Receiver's authority does not legally include a determination of liability or damages, since this is normally determined by a jury where the parties do not consent; (ii) a determination of these issues by the Receiver without jury trial is a denial of due process; and (iii) conflict of laws rules require this matter be determined by a Texas jury.

On May 3, 2002, the Deputy Receiver filed a Response in Opposition to Petitioners' Motion to Remand. The Deputy Receiver averred therein, among other things, that: (i) the Commission has exclusive in rem jurisdiction over the affairs and the estate of HOW as granted by the Receivership Order pursuant to Title 38.2, Chapter 15 of the Code of Virginia; (ii) the Receivership Order and the Permanent Injunction issued by the United State District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia are entitled to full faith and credit by the courts in the state of Texas; (iii) requiring Petitioners to pursue their claims with the Commission is not a violation of due process; and (iv) Virginia law controls the issues in this case.

¹¹ Major Structural Defect is the actual physical damage to any of the designated load-bearing portions of the home caused by the failure of such load-bearing portions which affects their load-bearing functions to the extent that the home becomes unsafe, unsanitary or otherwise unlivable. Coverage for Major Structural Defects is provided during years three through ten. HOW Insurance/Warranty Document, Exhibit J to the Deputy Receiver's Memorandum in Support of Motion to Dismiss at 6 and 20.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

On May 28, 2002, Petitioners filed their Reply to the Deputy Receiver's Opposition to Motion to Remand. They contended therein, among other things, that: (i) the Commission should remand the claim to another forum for a liquidation of liability in order to insure due process; and (ii) the Hearing Examiner's Ruling of February 6, 2002, fails to address the fraud and consumer protection claims and fails to correctly apply Texas or Virginia res judicata law. Additionally, Petitioners decided not to pursue a Major Structural Defect claim against HOW and requested a final determination of the Remand Motion.

After reviewing the pleadings submitted in the case and the applicable law, the Hearing Examiner issued his Report on February 10, 2003, in which the Hearing Examiner made the following findings and recommendations:

- (1) HOW's liability under limited warranty coverage rests on the builder's liability resulting from the builder's failure to perform.
- (2) Without a finding of builder liability or obligation, there can be no Builder Default coverage.
- (3) Since the Texas jury found no liability as to Perry Homes, summary judgment should be granted in favor of the Deputy Receiver relative to the fifteen defects reported in May 1992.
- (4) The ten additional defects first reported to HOW by letter dated May 17, 1999, are untimely as to Limited Warranty coverage.
- (5) However, the ten additional defects first reported to HOW by letter dated May 17, 1999, are timely as to Major Structural Defect coverage and whether or not they fall within such coverage is a disputed factual issue.
- (6) Therefore, the Deputy Receiver's Motion to Dismiss was denied in regards to the ten defects reported in May 1999.
- (7) Petitioners subsequently decided not to pursue the Major Structural Defect claim against HOW and requested a final determination of their Motion to Remand.
- (8) Section 38.2-1508 of the Code of Virginia establishes a single regulatory scheme for the comprehensive and efficient resolution of claims against an insolvent insurer.
- (9) Section 38.2-1508 and the Receivership Order inaugurated the Commission as the single forum in which claims against HOW could be asserted.
- (10) Petitioners' claim for HOW warranty coverage can be seen only as a claim against the assets now under the control and ownership of the Commission.
- (11) Petitioners have failed to make their case for a trial by jury.
- (12) Petitioners' Motion for Remand should be denied.
- (13) The Commission should enter an order adopting the finding of the Hearing Examiner, affirming the Deputy Receiver's denial of Claim No. 3693858, and dismissing this case from the docket of active matters.

On February 28, 2003, Petitioners filed Comments and Exceptions to the Hearing Examiner Report. The Petitioners contended therein, among other things, that: (i) Major Structural Defects are HOW's responsibility; (ii) prior adjudications do not collaterally estop the HOW claims; (iii) conflict of law rules do not support the Hearing Examiner's Ruling; and (iv) the Hearing Examiner's Ruling denied due process.

Upon consideration of the filings submitted, the Report of Hearing Examiner, and the Comments thereto, the Commission is of the opinion and so finds that the findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner should be adopted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Petitioners' Motion for Remand be, and the same is hereby, DENIED.
- (2) Petitioners' Petition for Review be, and the same is hereby, DENIED.
- (3) The Determination of Appeal in Claim No. 3693858 issued by the Deputy Receiver on August 24, 2001, be and the same is hereby, AFFIRMED.
- (4) The case is dismissed, and the papers herein are passed to the file for ended causes.

IMPAIRMENT ORDER

The General Continuance Order entered herein November 14, 2002, ordered that the Rule to Show Cause previously scheduled for hearing on November 18, 2002, was continued until further order by the Commission, and that the provisions of the Judgment Order entered herein June 19, 2002, were to continue in full force and effect until further order by the Commission. The Judgment Order directed the Bureau of Insurance to continue to monitor Defendant's financial condition and to notify the Commission immediately in the event that Defendant's financial condition deteriorated further and threatened to become hazardous under the standards of 14 VAC 5-290-30.

Section 38.2-1028 of the Code of Virginia requires Defendant, as a foreign insurer licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia, to maintain minimum capital of $1,000,000 and minimum surplus of $3,000,000.

Section 38.2-1036 of the Code of Virginia provides, inter alia, that if the Commission finds an impairment of the required minimum surplus of any foreign insurer, the Commission may order the insurer to eliminate the impairment and restore the minimum surplus to the amount required by law and may prohibit the insurer from issuing any new policies in the Commonwealth of Virginia while the impairment of its surplus exists.

The 2002 Annual Audited Financial Statement of Defendant, dated as of December 31, 2002, and filed with the Commission's Bureau of Insurance on June 2, 2003, as required by 14 VAC 5-270-40 and 14 VAC 5-270-50, indicates capital of $3,000,000, and surplus of negative $2,106,000.

The Quarterly Financial Statement of Defendant, dated March 31, 2003, and the Monthly Financial Statement of Defendant dated April 30, 2003, both unaudited, indicate that Defendant is in compliance with the minimum capital and surplus requirements set forth in § 38.2-1028; however, the Florida Department of Insurance, Defendant's domiciliary regulator, has adjusted Defendant's surplus as of March 31, 2003, and April 30, 2003, in accordance with Chapter 625 of Title XXXVII of the Florida Statutes, which governs investments.

Section 38.2-1400 of the Code of Virginia provides, inter alia, that a foreign insurer may not invest its funds and assets in any investments that are not permitted by the laws of its state of domicile. Therefore, pursuant to § 38.2-1400, Defendant's reported surplus, adjusted in accordance with Florida law, is $705,261 as of March 31, 2003, and $1,518,244 as of April 30, 2003, both of which are below the minimum surplus requirement set forth in § 38.2-1028.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT, on or before September 10, 2003, Defendant eliminate the impairment in its surplus and restore the same to at least $3,000,000 and advise the Commission of the accomplishment thereof by affidavit of Defendant's president or other authorized officer, accompanied by a balance sheet dated on or after the date the current impairment is cured and audited by an independent certified public accounting firm.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED THAT Defendant shall issue no new contracts or policies of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia while the impairment of Defendant's surplus exists and until further order of the Commission.

ORDER DENYING PETITION FOR RECONSIDERATION

On July 10, 2003, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") issued an Impairment Order directing Superior Insurance Company ("Superior" or "Company") on or before September 10, 2003, to: (i) eliminate the impairment of its surplus and restore the same to at least $3,000,000; (ii) advise the Commission of the elimination of the impairment by affidavit from the Company's president or other authorized officer; (iii) provide the Commission with a balance sheet dated on or after the current impairment is cured audited by an independent certified public accounting firm; and (iv) issue no new contract or policies of insurance in Virginia while the impairment of surplus exists and until further notice of the Commission.

On July 17, 2003, Superior, by counsel, filed a Petition for Reconsideration ("Petition") with the Clerk of the Commission. Therein, Superior requested that the Impairment Order be stayed or amended to allow it to continue conducting business in Virginia pending receipt by the Commission of statutory audited financial statements for the Company. In the alternative, Superior requested an immediate hearing to present evidence that no impairment exists.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the Petition, is of the opinion that it should be denied.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

ACCORDINGLY, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petition for Reconsideration filed on behalf of Superior Insurance Company, be and the same is hereby, DENIED.
- (2) The Impairment Order and the directives therein issued by the Commission in this matter on July 10, 2003, remains in full force and effect.
- (3) This matter is continued generally pending further order of the Commission.

ORDER TO TAKE NOTICE

By an Impairment Order entered herein July 10, 2003, Defendant was ordered to eliminate the impairment in its surplus, restore the same to at least $3,000,000, and advise the Commission of the accomplishment thereof by affidavit of Defendant's president or other authorized officer on or before September 10, 2003.

The Impairment Order prohibited Defendant from issuing any new contracts or policies of insurance in this Commonwealth while the impairment existed in Defendant's surplus.

Defendant failed to cure the impairment in its surplus on or before September 10, 2003.

By an Extension Order entered herein October 1, 2003, the terms of the Impairment Order were extended until further order of the Commission to allow the Florida Department of Financial Services, which, on August 29, 2003, had been appointed Receiver of Defendant, time to assess Defendant's financial situation.

On November 3, 2003, the Florida Department of Financial Service issued its Report of Examination as of December 31, 2002, of Defendant, which states that as of December 31, 2002, Defendant's surplus as regards policyholders was negative $16,058,071; Defendant had reported this figure to be $10,389,442 in its December 31, 2002 Annual Statement filed with the Bureau of Insurance.

The Report of Examination concluded by stating that the foregoing deficit in Defendant's surplus as regards to policyholders fails to meet the minimum surplus requirements set forth in 624.408 of the Florida Statutes and places Defendant in an insolvent position.

Section 38.2-1040 of the Code of Virginia provides, inter alia, that the Commission may suspend or revoke the license of any insurance company to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia whenever the Commission finds that the company is insolvent, or is in a condition that any further transaction of business in this Commonwealth is hazardous to its policyholders, creditors, and public in this Commonwealth.

The Bureau of Insurance has recommended that, based on the material impairment in Defendant's surplus of $22,058,071 (negative $16,058,071 less the reported capital of $3,000,000 and less Virginia's minimum surplus requirement of $3,000,000) and the statutory insolvency, the license of Defendant to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia be suspended and that Defendant be prohibited from renewing any contracts or policies of insurance in this Commonwealth and from issuing any new contracts or policies of insurance in this Commonwealth until further order of the Commission.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED that Defendant TAKE NOTICE that the Commission shall enter an order subsequent to December 15, 2003, suspending the license of Defendant to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia unless on or before December 15, 2003, Defendant files with the Clerk of the Commission, Document Control Center, P . O. Box 2118, Richmond, Virginia 23218, a request for a hearing before the Commission with respect to the proposed suspension of Defendant's license.

ORDER SUSPENDING LICENSE

In an order entered herein December 10, 2003, Defendant was ordered to take notice that the Commission would enter an order subsequent to December 15, 2003, suspending the license of Defendant to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia unless on or before December 15, 2003, Defendant filed with the Clerk of the Commission a request for a hearing before the Commission to contest the proposed suspension of Defendant's license.

As of the date of this Order, Defendant has not filed a request to be heard before the Commission with respect to the proposed suspension of Defendant's license.

In addition, the Quarterly Financial Statement of Defendant, dated September 30, 2003, and filed with the Commission's Bureau of Insurance on December 19, 2003, indicates surplus as regards policyholders of negative $11,185,142.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Pursuant to § 38.2-1040 of the Code of Virginia, the license of Defendant to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia be, and it is hereby, SUSPENDED;

(2) Defendant shall issue no new contracts or policies of insurance or renew any contracts or policies of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia until further order of the Commission;

(3) The appointments of Defendant's agents to act on behalf of Defendant in the Commonwealth of Virginia be, and they are hereby, SUSPENDED;

(4) Defendant's agents shall transact no new insurance business or any renewal insurance business on behalf of Defendant in the Commonwealth of Virginia until further order of the Commission;

(5) The Bureau of Insurance shall cause an attested copy of this Order to be sent to each of Defendant's agents appointed to act on behalf of Defendant in the Commonwealth of Virginia as notice of the suspension of such agent's appointment; and

(6) The Bureau of Insurance shall cause notice of the suspension of Defendant's license to be published in the manner set forth in § 38.2-1043 of the Code of Virginia.

NEW YORK LIFE AND HEALTH INSURANCE COMPANY,

FINAL ORDER

New York Life and Health Insurance Company, a foreign corporation domiciled in the State of Delaware ("Defendant"), initially was licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia on August 2, 1983.

Section 38.2-1028 of the Code of Virginia requires that insurers licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia are required to maintain minimum capital of $1,000,000 and minimum surplus of $3,000,000.

By order entered herein April 16, 2002, Defendant's license to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia was suspended due to Defendant's failure to comply with such minimum surplus requirement.

Subsequently, Defendant filed its 2002 Annual Statement with the Bureau evidencing compliance with Virginia's minimum capital and surplus requirements as set forth in § 38.2-1028.

The Bureau of Insurance has recommended that the Order Suspending License entered by the Commission be vacated and this case be closed.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

THE COMMISSION, having considered the record herein and the recommendation of the Bureau of Insurance, is of the opinion that the Order Suspending License entered by the Commission should be vacated.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Order Suspending License entered by the Commission should be, and it is hereby, VACATED;
- (2) This case be, and it is hereby, DISMISSED; and
- (3) The papers herein be placed in the file for ended causes.

Ex Parte: In the matter of Adopting Revisions to the Rules Governing Long-Term Care Insurance

ORDER ADOPTING REVISIONS TO RULES

By Order Granting, in Part, the Petition for Reconsideration (the "Order") entered herein December 16, 2002, the Commission suspended the Order Canceling Hearing and Adopting Revisions to Rules entered herein November 26, 2002. The Commission further directed the Bureau of Insurance (the "Bureau") to consider the comments filed by the American Council of Life Insurers (the "ACLI") to the proposed revisions to the Rules Governing Long-term Care Insurance and to file a response thereto on or before January 15, 2003.

The Order was issued in response to a Petition for Reconsideration (the "Petition") filed by the ACLI with the Clerk of the Commission on December 9, 2002. In the Petition the ACLI stated that although its comments to the proposed revisions were not received by the Clerk of the Commission until November 25, 2002, they had been mailed on November 21, 2002. The Order to Take Notice had required all comments to the proposed revisions to be filed on or before November 22, 2002.

The Petition requested that the Commission vacate the Order Canceling Hearing and Adopting Revisions to Rules, require the Bureau to consider the ACLI's comments, and allow for a hearing prior to adopting the proposed revisions.

The ACLI's comments stated a general objection to any provision in the proposed revisions that is not found in the model long-term care insurance regulation (the "Model") developed by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (the "NAIC"). Specifically, the ACLI voiced several complaints about 14 VAC 5-200-77 B. First, the ACLI contended that the language of 14 VAC 5-200-77 B 2 b(i), which reads "the comparison of premium rates filed containing the moderately adverse experience and the premium rates that would apply without the margin," requires every company making an initial rate filing to produce information that will not be required in other states where the product may be filed.

In its response filed with the Clerk of the Commission on January 15, 2003, the Bureau agreed that the cited language may be interpreted to require companies making an initial rate filing to file two sets of rates and that not all companies develop rates in such a manner. The Bureau noted that it was not the Bureau's intent to require companies to develop rates in this manner and proposed that the following language be substituted as (i): "a description of the margin for moderately adverse experience that is included in the premium rates."

The ACLI stated that the methodology set forth in 14 VAC 5-200-77 B will delay speed to market and uniformity. The Bureau responded that forms would be approved far more quickly using the proposed methodology than that contained in the NAIC Model.

The ACLI expressed concern that under the requirements of 14 VAC 5-200-77 B 2 b(i) proprietary information filed with the Bureau could be disclosed. The Bureau responded that it can protect such information if a company requests that the information be kept confidential pursuant to § 38.2-221.1 of the Code of Virginia.

The ACLI noted that the proposed revisions were intended to reduce regulatory scrutiny of initial rate filings and that the information required by 14 VAC 5-200-77 B 2 b(ii) places the emphasis on the review of initial rate filings, not rate increases. The Bureau responded that under the proposed methodology initial rate filings that are complete will be filed at the Bureau without additional review, and the majority of filings should be reviewed more quickly that is now the case.

The Bureau did not recommend any amendment to the language of the proposed revisions in response to the ACLI's comments other than the change in the language of 14 VAC 5-200-77 B 2 b(i) as set forth above.

The Commission, having considered the proposed revisions, the filed comments, and the Bureau's responses to and recommendations regarding the filed comments, is of the opinion that the attached revisions to the rules, which reflect the recommendations of the Bureau, should be adopted.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The revisions to the "Rules Governing Long-Term Care Insurance," which amend the rules at 14 VAC 5-200-20, 14 VAC 5-200-30, 14 VAC 5-200-40, 14 VAC 5-200-60, 14 VAC 5-200-75, 14 VAC 5-200-150, and 14 VAC 5-200-200, and propose new rules to be designated as 14 VAC 5-200-77 and 14 VAC 5-200-153, and which are attached hereto and made a part hereof, should be, and they are hereby, ADOPTED to be effective April 1, 2003.

(2) AN ATTESTED COPY hereof, together with a copy of the attached revisions, shall be sent by the Clerk of the Commission to the Bureau of Insurance in care of Deputy Commissioner Gerald A. Milsky, who forthwith shall give further notice of the adoption of the revisions to the rules by mailing a copy of this Order, together with a clean copy of the revised rules, to all insurers licensed by the Commission to write long-term care insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia and interested parties designated by the Bureau of Insurance.

(3) The Commission's Division of Information Resources forthwith shall cause a copy of this Order, together with the attached revisions, to be forwarded to the Virginia Registrar of Regulations for appropriate publication in the Virginia Register of Regulations.

(4) On or before January 31, 2003, the Commission's Division of Information Resources shall make available this Order and the attached revisions on the Commission's website, <http://www.state.va.us/scc/caseinfo/orders.htm>.

(5) The Bureau of Insurance shall file with the Clerk of the Commission an affidavit of compliance with the notice requirements of paragraph (2) above.

NOTE: A copy of Attachment A entitled "Rules Governing Long-Term Care Insurance" is on file and may be examined at the State Corporation Commission, Clerk's Office, Document Control Center, Tyler Building, First Floor, 1300 East Main Street, Richmond, Virginia.

JULY 29, 2003

PETITION OF
JAVIER AND VERONICA LOREDO

For review of HOW Insurance Company, Home Warranty Corporation and Home Owners Warranty Corporation Deputy Receiver's Determination of Appeal

ORDER

On October 14, 1994, the Circuit Court of the City of Richmond, Virginia, entered an order appointing the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") the Receiver of the HOW Insurance Company ("HOWIC"), Home Warranty Corporation ("HWC") and Home Owners Warranty Corporation ("HOW") (collectively "HOW Companies" or "HOW"). The receivership order granted the Commission the authority to proceed with the rehabilitation or liquidation of the HOW Companies and established a receivership appeal procedure to govern appeals and challenges to decisions rendered by the receiver or the receiver's duly authorized representatives.

On February 28, 2002, Javier and Veronica Loreda ("Petitioners" or "Loredos") filed a Petition for Review ("Petition") with the Clerk of the Commission. The Petition contests a Determination of Appeal issued in Claim No. 3842586 on February 1, 2002, whereby the Deputy Receiver denied Petitioners' claim for major structural defect coverage¹ under their homeowner warranty insurance policy on their residence located at 12610 Thornwell Court, Houston, Texas 77070.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

By order dated July 18, 2002, the Commission docketed the Petition, assigned the matter to a Hearing Examiner, and directed the Deputy Receiver to file an answer or other responsive pleading to the Petition on or before August 16, 2002.

On August 16, 2002, the Deputy Receiver, by counsel, filed a Motion to Dismiss and Answer to Petition for Review, and Memorandum in Support of the Motion to Dismiss ("Motion"). In its Motion, the Deputy Receiver contends, among other things, that the damage alleged by Petitioners does not constitute a major structural defect.

By Hearing Examiner Ruling ("Ruling") of September 23, 2002, Petitioners were provided an opportunity to file a response to the Motion. The Loredos filed a response in which they maintained that the current damage to the foundation and the upstairs walls and flooring system, of their home meets the definition of major structural defect as defined by the HOW Insurance/Warranty Documents.

By Ruling dated November 21, 2002, the Hearing Examiner denied the Deputy Receiver's Motion to Dismiss after determining that Petitioners' Petition was legally sufficient and was based upon question of facts that were in dispute. Consequently, it was necessary to receive evidence relative to the circumstances surrounding the claim, and the Hearing Examiner therefore set the case for hearing.

On February 20, 2003, a telephonic hearing was scheduled for receiving evidence on the Petition. The Loredos appeared pro se. Susan E. Salch, Esquire, represented the Deputy Receiver.

After reviewing the filings submitted and the applicable law the Hearing Examiner issued his Report on May 21, 2003. Therein, the Hearing Examiner made the following findings and recommendations:

- (1) Petitioners' home was enrolled in the HOW Program on April 26, 1991.
- (2) Petitioners' claim was filed in the tenth year of coverage and only major structural defect coverage is available.
- (3) The Special Deputy Receiver has found the terms "unsafe, unsanitary or otherwise unlivable" to be ambiguous, and so the Deputy Receiver has eliminated them as criteria in processing claims for a major structural defect.
- (4) Petitioners filed only photographs of damage to the bottom corners of the rear of their home as evidence in support of damage to the foundation.
- (5) Deputy Receiver witness Parker provided a reasonable explanation of the cause of the damage to the bottom corners of the rear of their home and why this damage failed to evidence a failure of the foundation system.
- (6) There is no major structural defect to Petitioners' home as to the foundation.
- (7) There is a loss of load-bearing function of the walls and flooring systems under the upstairs master bedroom and bathroom which witness Parker categorized as a "local framing issue."
- (8) The Loredos should be awarded $750.00 in major structural defect coverage from HOW for "a localized framing issue."
- (9) The Commission should enter an order adopting his findings; reversing the Deputy Receiver's denial of Claim No. 3842586; and dismissing this case from the docket of active matters.

No comments were filed to the Report of the Hearing Examiner.

Upon consideration of the filings, the testimony and evidence presented, and the Report of the Hearing Examiner, the Commission is of the opinion and so finds that the findings and the recommendations of the Hearing Examiner should be adopted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petition of Appeal of Javier and Veronica Loredos be, and the same is hereby, GRANTED;
- (2) The Determination of Appeal in Claim No. 3842586 issued by the Deputy Receiver on February 1, 2002, be and the same is hereby, REVERSED;
- (3) Petitioners are awarded the amount of $750 as a direct claim which shall be paid in accordance with current receivership payment procedure.
- (4) The case is dismissed, and the papers herein shall be passed to the file for ended causes.

PETITION OF
BOK SUN CORTEZ

For review of HOW Insurance Company, Home Warranty Corporation and Home Owners Warranty Corporation Deputy Receiver's Determination of Appeal

ORDER

On October 14, 1994, the Circuit Court of the City of Richmond, Virginia, entered an order appointing the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") the Receiver of the HOW Insurance Company ("HOWIC"), Home Warranty Corporation ("HWC"), and Home Owners Warranty Corporation ("HOW") (collectively "HOW Companies" or "HOW"). The receivership order granted the Commission the authority to proceed with the rehabilitation or liquidation of the HOW Companies and established a receivership appeal procedure to govern appeals and challenges to decisions rendered by the receiver or the receiver's duly authorized representatives.

On March 4, 2002, Bok Sun Cortez ("Petitioner") filed a Petition for Review ("Petition") with the Deputy Receiver of the HOW Companies via the HOW Claims Department, which was subsequently forwarded to the Commission on July 9, 2002. The Petition contested a Determination of Appeal issued in Claim No. 3768158 on February 1, 2002, whereby the Deputy Receiver denied Petitioner's claim for major structural defect coverage under its warranty insurance policy insuring Petitioner's residence located at 7701 Sumac Road, Irving, Texas 75063.

By Order dated July 18, 2002, the Commission docketed the Petition, assigned the matter to a Hearing Examiner, and directed the Deputy Receiver to file an answer or other responsive pleading to the Petition on or before August 9, 2002.

On August 8, 2002, the Deputy Receiver, by counsel, filed a Motion to Dismiss and Answer to Petition for Review, and Memorandum in Support of Motion to Dismiss ("Motion"). In its Motion, the Deputy Receiver contends, among other things, that Petitioner's claim is untimely pursuant to the express terms of the HOW Insurance/Warranty document.

By Hearing Examiner Ruling ("Ruling") dated August 16, 2002, Petitioner was provided an opportunity to file a response to the Motion. On September 4, 2002, Petitioner, by Jin Lee¹, filed a response to the Motion outlining, among other things, the history of communications between Petitioner and the Deputy Receiver.

By Ruling dated September 20, 2002, the Hearing Examiner denied the Deputy Receiver's Motion to Dismiss because it was unclear whether Petitioner failed to give timely notice of her claim to HOW. As a result, the Hearing Examiner set the case for hearing on December 10, 2002. By Ruling dated October 21, 2002, the hearing was rescheduled for January 7, 2003.

On the hearing date, Petitioner appeared pro se with Jin Lee as her translator. Susan E. Salch, Esquire, represented the Deputy Receiver.

After reviewing the filings and testimony submitted in the case and the applicable law, the Hearing Examiner issued his Report on January 30, 2003. Therein, the Hearing Examiner made the followings findings and recommendations:

- (1) Petitioner's home was enrolled in the HOW Program on February 26, 1991.
- (2) Petitioner's initial claim was received by INSpire Insurance Solutions, a third-party administrator of the HOW Receivership Estate, on November 4, 1999.
- (3) On November 12, 1999, the HOW Companies sent Petitioner a letter acknowledging receipt of the claim and informing her that additional information regarding the claim was needed to determine whether the defect was covered by the policy.
- (4) At that time, Petitioner did not provide additional information on the claim to the HOW Companies.
- (5) By correspondence dated December 6, 1999 and January 6, 2000, respectively, HOW again requested Petitioner to provide additional information on her claim.
- (6) By letter dated May 8, 2000, HOW informed Petitioner that her claim was being suspended pending receipt of the requested additional information, but it would be evaluated if she submitted the necessary information at any time prior to the expiration of her policy.
- (7) Petitioner testified that she received no correspondence from HOW after her initial claim was filed in November of 1999.
- (8) Donald Coleman, a HOW claims examiner involved in this case, testified that claim status letters were sent to the Petitioner by regular mail and were not returned by the postal service to the HOW Companies.
- (9) By letter to HOW dated November 29, 2002, Petitioner requested that her case be re-opened.
- (10) HOW informed the Petitioner that her policy had expired on February 26, 2001, and that her claim could not be considered because her policy coverage had expired.

¹ Jin Lee holds a power of attorney from Ms. Cortez and has assisted Ms. Cortez in pursuing her claim.

(11) The HOW Insurance/Warranty documents state that notice fully describing the defect must be received by HOW no later than thirty days after the expiration of the coverage.²

(12) Petitioner filed a claim with HOW within the coverage period, but did not provide additional information requested until well after the expiration of the policy coverage.³

(13) The requirements of filing a claim are clearly set out in the HOW documents and Petitioner failed to meet these requirements in a timely manner.

(14) The Deputy Receiver's denial of Petitioner's claim must be upheld.

(15) The Commission should enter an order dismissing the Petition of Appeal and affirming the Deputy Receiver's Determination of Appeal in Claim No. 3768158.

No comments were filed to the Report of the Hearing Examiner.

Upon consideration of the filings and testimony submitted and the Report of the Hearing Examiner, the Commission is of the opinion and so finds that the findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner should be adopted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The Petition of Appeal of Bok Sun Cortez be, and the same is hereby, DENIED;

(2) The Determination of Appeal in Claim No. 3768158 issued by the Deputy Receiver on February 1, 2002 be, and the same is hereby, AFFIRMED; and

(3) The case is dismissed, and the papers herein are passed to the file for ended causes.

² Deputy Receiver's pre-filed testimony and exhibits. Exhibit 3, Tab K at 20.

³ Donald Coleman testified that the requested information was received by HOW in November of 2001. (Transcript at 33).

ORDER TO TAKE NOTICE

Pursuant to § 38.2-6002 G of the Code of Virginia, the Commission may revoke the license of any viatical settlement provider to transact the business of viatical settlements in the Commonwealth of Virginia whenever the Commission finds that the licensee has been subject to a final administrative action or has otherwise been shown to be untrustworthy or incompetent to act as a viatical settlement provider or has been convicted of a felony or any misdemeanor involving fraud or moral turpitude.

Kelco Viatical Services, Inc. ("Defendant"), licensed by the Commission on January 1, 1998, to transact the business of a viatical settlement provider in the Commonwealth of Virginia, is a viatical settlement provider domiciled in the State of Kentucky in the name Kelco, Incorporated ("Kelco").

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

By order entered herein November 26, 2002, Defendant's license to transact the business of a viatical settlement provider in the Commonwealth of Virginia was suspended due to the issuance of an Order Suspending License by the Kentucky Department of Insurance based on an indictment filed in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Kentucky (the "Indictment"), whereby a federal grand jury charged Kelco and Stephen L. Keller, its owner, President and Chief Executive Officer ("Keller"), and two other Kelco officers with forty-seven (47) counts of mail fraud, wire fraud, and money laundering, and conspiracy to defraud and commit money laundering.

On March 14, 2003, in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Kentucky, Kelco, Keller, and the two other Kelco officers, were convicted of forty-six (46) counts of mail fraud, wire fraud, and money laundering, and conspiracy to defraud and commit money laundering.

On August 13, 2003, judgments were entered against Kelco, Keller and the two other Kelco officers, and each of the individuals was sentenced to fourteen (14) years in prison, and Defendant and each individual were ordered jointly and severally to pay restitution in the amount of $661,292.

In light of the foregoing, the Bureau of Insurance has recommended that Defendant's license to transact the business of a viatical settlement provider in the Commonwealth of Virginia be revoked.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Defendant TAKE NOTICE that the Commission shall enter an order subsequent to November 6, 2003, revoking the license of Defendant to transact the business of a viatical settlement provider in the Commonwealth of Virginia unless on or before November 6, 2003, Defendant files with the Clerk of the Commission, Document Control Center, P.O. NONPROFITS INSURANCE COMPANY,

FINAL ORDER

Nonprofits Insurance Company, a foreign corporation domiciled in the State of Minnesota ("Defendant"), initially was licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia on December 7, 1994.

Section 38.2-1028 of the Code of Virginia requires that insurers licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia to maintain minimum capital of $1,000,000 and minimum surplus of $3,000,000.

By Order Suspending License entered herein November 21, 2002, Defendant's license to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia was suspended due to Defendant's failure to comply with such minimum surplus requirement.

By affidavit of Michael T. Elsenpeter, Defendant's Treasurer, dated August 27, 2003, and letter of Lori Oleson dated September 12, 2003, and filed with the Clerk on September 26, 2003, and September 30, 2003, respectively, the Commission was advised that on August 15, 2003, Defendant received a capital contribution in the amount of $10,000,000 from Berkley Insurance Company, a Delaware corporation and Defendant's immediate parent company, and as a result is in compliance with Virginia's minimum capital and surplus requirements as set forth in § 38.2-1028. Defendant also requested that the Commission remove the suspension from and reinstate its license.

The Bureau of Insurance has recommended that the Order Suspending License entered by the Commission be vacated and this case be closed.

THE COMMISSION, having considered the record herein and the recommendation of the Bureau of Insurance, is of the opinion that the Order Suspending License entered by the Commission should be vacated.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Order Suspending License entered by the Commission should be, and it is hereby, VACATED;
- (2) This case be, and it is hereby, DISMISSED; and
- (3) The papers herein be placed in the file for ended causes.

JAMES F. LAPINSKI, et al.

For review of the Bureau of Insurance's approval of certain rate increases filed by Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company

FINAL ORDER

On November 20, 2002, James F. Lapinski filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") a Petition contesting the Bureau of Insurance's ("Bureau") approval, on March 25, 2002, of an increase in the rates filed by Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company ("Penn Treaty") for certain of its long-term care insurance policies. The Petition requested that the Bureau limit the overall increase in the rates to fifteen percent (15%) above what is currently on file for policy forms PF2600(VA) and FPF2600(VA). Other individuals subsequently joined the Petition.

On January 23, 2003, the Bureau filed an Answer to Petition, Motion to Dismiss, and Response to Motion to Suspend Rate Increase. Also on that date, Penn Treaty filed an Answer and Response to Petitioners' Motion for Suspension of Rates and a Motion to Dismiss. Both the Bureau and Penn Treaty argued that the requested rate increase satisfies the minimum sixty percent (60%) loss ratio required pursuant to the Commission's Rules Governing Long-Term Care Insurance. They also argued that the Commission lacks the authority to grant the sole relief requested by Petitioners, which is to limit the overall rate increase to fifteen percent (15%). For these reasons, both the Bureau and Penn Treaty requested that the Petition be dismissed.

On February 12, 2003, the Hearing Examiner issued his Report, in which he made the following findings and recommendations:

- (1) The Commission has adopted Rules Governing Long-Term Care Insurance [14 VAC 5-200] pursuant to the authority granted it by §§ 38.2-223 and 38.2-5200 through 38.2-5208 of the Code of Virginia.
- (2) Section 14 VAC 5-200-150 A states in relevant part that benefits under individual long-term care insurance policies shall be deemed reasonable in relation to premiums provided the expected loss ratio is at least sixty percent (60%), provides for adequate reserving of the risk, and gives due consideration to a number of relevant factors.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

(3) Penn Treaty's requested rate increase for its long-term care insurance policy forms satisfies the sixty percent (60%) loss ratio standard provided for in 14 VAC 5-200-150 A. Therefore, according to the rule, the benefits provided under Penn Treaty's policies are deemed reasonable, and the Commission has no authority to limit the overall rate increase to fifteen percent (15%) above what is currently on file for policy forms PF2600(VA) and PPF2600(VA).

(4) Because the Petition fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, the Bureau's and Penn Treaty's Motions to Dismiss should be granted.

Upon consideration of the filings and the Report of the Hearing Examiner, the Commission is of the opinion and so finds that the findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner should be adopted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petition of James F. Lapinski, et al. be, and the same is hereby, DISMISSED; and
- (2) The papers herein be passed to the file for ended causes.

APPLICATION OF
HARLEYSVILLE MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY

For approval of an assumption reinsurance agreement pursuant to § 38.2-136 C of the Code of Virginia

ORDER APPROVING APPLICATION

By application filed with the Commission on December 16, 2002, Harleysville Mutual Insurance Company, a Pennsylvania-domiciled insurer licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia ("Harleysville"), requested approval of an assumption reinsurance agreement dated December 16, 2002, pursuant to § 38.2-136 C of the Code of Virginia, whereby Harleysville would assume all of the life insurance policies and annuity contracts of Penn Mutual Insurance Company, a Pennsylvania-domiciled insurer ("Penn Mutual").

Harleysville filed an amendment to the application with the Commission on December 18, 2002.

Penn Mutual is licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia; however, an Impairment Order was entered against Penn Mutual in Case No. INS-2002-00201 on September 3, 2002, which remains outstanding.

The Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner, the domiciliary regulator of Harleysville and Penn Mutual, has approved the assumption reinsurance agreement, as evidenced by the Decision and Order entered December 13, 2002, copies of which were filed with the amendment to the application.

Harleysville has waived its right to a hearing pursuant to § 38.2-136 C of the Code of Virginia, as evidenced in the application.

The Bureau of Insurance, having reviewed the application and the amendment thereto (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "application") to ensure that Virginia policyholders will not lose any rights or claims afforded under their original contracts pursuant to Chapter 17 of Title 38.2 of the Code of Virginia, has recommended that the application be approved.

THE COMMISSION, having considered the application, the recommendation of the Bureau of Insurance that the application be approved, and the law applicable hereto, is of the opinion that the application should be approved.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT the application of Harleysville Mutual Insurance Company for approval of the reinsurance agreement pursuant to § 38.2-136 C of the Code of Virginia be, and it is hereby, APPROVED.

CORRECTING ORDER

In the Order Approving Application entered herein January 3, 2003, the first paragraph, set forth on page one of the order, provides in part as follows: "Harleysville would assume all of the life insurance policies and annuity contracts of Penn Mutual Insurance Company...." In fact, Harleysville would be assuming all of the property and casualty policies of Penn Mutual Insurance Company; therefore, it is necessary to correct the language of the first paragraph of the order.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

(1) The language of the first paragraph of the Order Approving Application entered January 3, 2003, shall be deleted in its entirety, and the following language shall be inserted in its place and stead:

By application filed with the Commission on December 16, 2002, Harleysville Mutual Insurance Company, a Pennsylvania-domiciled insurer licensed to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia ("Harleysville"), requested approval of an assumption reinsurance agreement dated December 16, 2002, pursuant to § 38.2-136 C of the Code of Virginia, whereby Harleysville would assume all of the property and casualty insurance policies of Penn Mutual Insurance Company, a Pennsylvania-domiciled insurer ("Penn Mutual").

Based on an investigation by the Bureau of Insurance, it appears that Defendant, duly licensed by the Commission to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia, violated §§ 38.2-512 and 38.2-1813 of the Code of Virginia by making false statements or representations on or relative to an application for an insurance policy for the purpose of obtaining a fee or commission, by failing to pay funds in the ordinary course of business to the insured or his assignee, insurer, insurance premium finance company or agent entitled to the payment, and by failing to hold all premiums, return premiums, or other funds received by Defendant in a fiduciary capacity.

The Commission is authorized by §§ 38.2-218, 38.2-219, and 38.2-1831 of the Code of Virginia to impose certain monetary penalties, issue cease and desist orders, and suspend or revoke Defendant's license upon a finding by the Commission, after notice and opportunity to be heard, that Defendant has committed the aforesaid alleged violations.

Defendant has been notified of his right to a hearing before the Commission in this matter by certified letters dated November 6, 2002 and December 2, 2002, respectively, and mailed to Defendant's address shown in the records of the Bureau of Insurance, and has failed to request a hearing and has not otherwise communicated with the Bureau of Insurance.

The Bureau of Insurance, upon Defendant's failure to request a hearing, has recommended that the Commission enter an order revoking all of Defendant's licenses to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia as an insurance agent.

THE COMMISSION is of the opinion and finds that Defendant has violated §§ 38.2-512 and 38.2-1813 of the Code of Virginia by making false statements or misrepresentations on or relative to an application for an insurance policy for the purpose of obtaining a fee or commission, by failing to pay funds in the ordinary course of business to the insured or his assignee, insurer, insurance premium finance company or agent entitled to the payment, and by failing to hold all premiums, return premiums, or other funds received by Defendant in a fiduciary capacity.

VACATING ORDER

On January 10, 2003, the Commission entered an Order revoking the license of Defendant for violating §§ 38.2-512 and 38.2-1813 of the Code of Virginia. Prior to the entry of the Order, Defendant was notified of his right to a hearing in this matter by certified letters dated November 6, 2002, and December 2, 2002. Despite receiving these letters, Defendant failed to request a hearing or otherwise communicate with the Bureau.

On January 23, 2003, Defendant, by counsel, filed a motion requesting the Commission to reconsider the Order Revoking License. In support thereof, Defendant states that his failure to respond to the Bureau's letters was based upon a misunderstanding as to the nature of the letters. Furthermore, Defendant is requesting that he be given an opportunity to respond to the allegations raised by the Bureau.

The Bureau of Insurance has recommended to the Commission that it vacate the Order Revoking License in order to allow Defendant an opportunity to respond to the allegations.

PETITION OF
PENN TREATY NETWORK AMERICA INSURANCE COMPANY

FINAL ORDER

On January 6, 2003, Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company ("Penn Treaty") filed a petition ("Petition") with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission"), in which Penn Treaty challenges the withdrawal of approval of certain previously approved rate increases by the Bureau of Insurance ("Bureau"). Penn Treaty references §§ 38.2-316 and 38.2-1926 of the Code of Virginia in support of its request that the Commission overturn the decision of the Bureau. Penn Treaty further requests that the Commission suspend the Bureau's withdrawal of approval of the previously approved rate increases pending the outcome of this proceeding.

By Order dated January 8, 2003, the Commission docketed this case and ordered the Bureau to file any response to the Petition that it may have on or before January 13, 2003.

On January 13, 2003, Penn Treaty filed a motion requesting that it be permitted to withdraw its Petition because the Bureau's withdrawal of approval of the rate increases was not effectuated. Therefore, it is no longer necessary for the Commission to review the decision of the Bureau to withdraw approval of the rate increases.

THE COMMISSION is of the opinion that Penn Treaty should be allowed to withdraw its Petition.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company's motion to withdraw its Petition is hereby GRANTED; and
- (2) The papers herein be placed in the file for ended causes.

ORDER TO TAKE NOTICE

Sections 38.2-1038 and 38.2-1040 of the Code of Virginia provide, inter alia, that the Commission may suspend or revoke the license of any insurance company to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia whenever the Commission finds that the company is in a condition that any further transaction of business in this Commonwealth is hazardous to its policyholders, creditors, and public in this Commonwealth.

Acceptance Insurance Company, a foreign corporation domiciled in the state of Nebraska ("Defendant"), is licensed by the Commission to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

By an Order of Supervision of the State of Nebraska Department of Insurance entered December 20, 2002, Cause No. C-1358, Defendant was placed under supervision, effective December 20, 2002, and the Chief Examiner of the Nebraska Department of Insurance was appointed Supervisor of Defendant and directed to oversee the operations of Defendant.

The Order of Supervision states that Defendant's surplus declined from $73,695,587 for the year ending December 31, 2001, to $39,790,284 as of September 30, 2002, a reduction in policyholder surplus in excess of fifty percent (50%) in a nine-month period, constituting a financial condition which renders the continuation of Defendant's business hazardous to the public and its insureds.

The Bureau of Insurance has recommended that, based on the foregoing, the license of Defendant to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia be suspended.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED that Defendant TAKE NOTICE that the Commission shall enter an order subsequent to February 10, 2003, suspending the license of Defendant to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia unless on or before February 10, 2003, Defendant files with the Clerk of the Commission, Document Control Center, P. O. Box 2118, Richmond, Virginia 23218, a request for hearing before the Commission with respect to the proposed suspension of Defendant's license.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Applicants,

v.

RECIPROCAL OF AMERICA, In Receivership,
THE RECIPROCAL GROUP, In Receivership
Respondents

ORDER IN AID OF RECEIVERSHIP

ON A FORMER DAY CAME the Deputy Receiver and filed with the Clerk of the Commission an Application for Order in Aid Of Receivership (the "Application"), seeking various matters associated with the continuing efforts involved in the receivership proceedings of Reciprocal of America ("ROA") and The Reciprocal Group ("TRG") (collectively referred to as the "Companies"). Specifically, the Deputy Receiver seeks an Order from the Commission that adopts supplemental rules of practice and procedure applicable to the Receivership Proceedings.

AND THE COMMISSION, having considered the Application, and the argument and evidence submitted by counsel in support thereof, finds that the Deputy Receiver's Application is, in all things, well taken and that it should be, and it is hereby, granted. Accordingly, the Commission now finds as follows:

1. On January 29, 2003, the Circuit Court for the City of Richmond, issued its Final Order Appointing Receiver for Rehabilitation or Liquidation (the "Receivership Order"), in a case styled Commonwealth of Virginia, ex rel. State Corporation Commission v. Reciprocal of America, The Reciprocal Group, and Jody M. Wagner, Treasurer of Virginia, Cause No. CH03-135, and appointed Alfred W. Gross, Commissioner of Insurance, as Deputy Receiver of the Companies, and authorized and directed him to proceed with the rehabilitation or liquidation of the Companies and to marshal the assets of the receivership estate by, among other things, the pursuit of claims and causes of action held by the estate by taking whatever steps are necessary or advisable, for the protection of the Companies' policyholders, creditors, members, subscribers and the public. In order to carry out the responsibilities imposed upon him by the Receivership Order, the Deputy Receiver should be given the ability to conduct investigations and discovery with respect to matters related to the receivership, and to investigate and approve or defend claims made against the receivership estate. Accordingly, supplementation of the Commission Rules is required in the receivership proceedings to allow the Deputy Receiver to carry out his responsibilities.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED, upon good cause shown, that:

A. The Rules of Practice and Procedure of the State Corporation Commission (the "Commission Rules") shall be supplemented, as appropriate, by the Supplemental Rules of Practice and Procedure in Aid of Receivership Proceedings ("Supplemental Rules"), attached as Exhibit "A" to the Deputy Receiver's Application, and as fully set forth below.

Accordingly, in the receivership proceedings, Case No. INS-2003-00024 and in any matter ancillary thereto, the Deputy Receiver shall have the authority to utilize the Supplemental Rules to investigate, discover, make, redress, and defend claims and causes of action pursuant to the responsibilities imposed upon him by the Receivership Order. The Deputy Receiver is further directed to continue his efforts to marshal and collect the assets or property for the benefit of the receivership estate.

All questions as to the appropriateness of the Supplemental Rules and all conflicts between the Commission Rules and the Rules of the Supreme Court of Virginia shall be resolved by the Commission. With greater particularity, the Commission Rules are hereby supplemented herein as follows:

1:2 Application of Certain Rules of Supreme Court of Virginia.

The Commission shall, as set forth herein, apply certain Rules of Supreme Court of Virginia ("Virginia Rules") as may be necessary to facilitate the orderly investigation, discovery and disposition of certain matters in these Receivership Proceedings. To this end, certain terms in the Virginia Rules must be subject to appropriate language modifications for use in this Receivership Proceeding. These Supplemental Rules, and the adopted Virginia Rules, shall be liberally construed to facilitate a viable procedural mechanism for aiding the orderly investigation, discovery and disposition of matters involving the Receivership Proceedings.

3. Investigative Subpoena Power; Examination of Witnesses Under Oath in Receivership Proceedings.

3:1 Investigative Depositions and Production of Documents.

The Commission may, upon good cause shown by the Deputy Receiver, issue, ex parte, a subpoena to compel the attendance and testimony of witnesses before a person empowered to administer oaths and the production of any books, accounts, records, papers, and correspondence or other records relating to any matter that pertains to the receivership of the Companies and may, upon good cause shown, compel such attendance and production of records at the Deputy Receiver's offices in Richmond, Virginia, at such other place as the Deputy Receiver may designate in Richmond, Virginia, as well as adjacent cities or counties as the Deputy Receiver may deem necessary to designate.

3:2 Protection From Investigative Depositions and Production of Documents.

Any person served with a subpoena under this section may file a motion with the Commission for a protective order pursuant to Virginia Rule 4:1(c). The filing of such a motion does not relieve the person subject to the subpoena from compliance until such time as a protective order is entered by the Commission.

3:3 Sanctions for Disobedience.

In any case of disobedience of (i) a subpoena issued under Rule 3:1 of these supplementary rules, including the contumacy of a witness appearing before the Deputy Receiver or his designated representative, or (ii) a subpoena issued under Part 2 of these rules or any other requirement thereunder, the Commission may, pursuant to Virginia Rule 4:12, issue an order requiring the person subpoenaed to obey the subpoena to give evidence or produce books, accounts, records, papers, and correspondence or other records respecting the matter in question. Any failure to obey such an order may be punished as contempt by the Commission.

3:4 Application To Witnesses Outside of Virginia.

If the Deputy Receiver desires to take the deposition of a witness who resides outside the Commonwealth of Virginia, it may be taken in accordance with Virginia Rule 4:3, as adopted in these Supplemental Rules and as provided under Virginia Code Sections 8.01-411 through 8.01-412.1.

4. Discovery Materials Not Filed With Clerk.

Unless otherwise directed by the Commission, discovery materials shall not be filed with the Clerk of the Commission.

B. All authority granted to the Deputy Receiver in this Order is in addition to that accorded to the Deputy Receiver pursuant to prior and other Orders which the Commission has entered or may enter in this cause, the insurance laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia, and other applicable law. The grant to the Deputy Receiver of certain authority and power by the terms of this Order may be duplicative of authority and power previously conferred on him by lawful order or by operation of law, and any such grant of express power shall not be construed to imply that the Deputy Receiver did not previously possess such power and authority nor shall it be construed to imply a limitation or revocation of authority previously granted to the Deputy Receiver.

ORDER OF LIQUIDATION WITH A FINDING OF INSOLVENCY AND DIRECTING THE CANCELLATION OF DIRECT INSURANCE POLICIES

ON A FORMER DATE CAME Alfred W. Gross, as Deputy Receiver (the "Deputy Receiver") of Reciprocal of America ("ROA") and The Reciprocal Group ("TRG") (collectively, the "Companies"), and filed with the Clerk of the Commission his Application for Orders Setting Hearing on Liquidation of Reciprocal of America and the Reciprocal Group, Establishing Response Dates, Ordering Liquidation, Approving Claims Bar Dates, and Related Matters (the "Application"), seeking, inter alia, that the Commission enter an order declaring the Companies to be insolvent, ordering that the Companies be liquidated, permitting the payment of certain workers' compensation benefits, and authorizing the cancellation of ROA's direct insurance policies.

A hearing was held before the Commission on June 19, 2003, with respect to such matters, at which appearances were made by counsel on behalf of the Deputy Receiver; John Knox Walkup, Special Deputy Receiver for Doctors Insurance Reciprocal, RRG; Robert S. Brandt, Special Deputy Receiver for American National Lawyers Insurance Reciprocal, RRG; Michael D. Pearigen, Special Deputy Receiver for The Reciprocal Alliance, RRG, (together the "SDRs"); Clark Regional Medical Center, T.J. Samson Community Hospital, Pineville Community Hospital, Highlands Regional Medical Center, Twin Lakes Regional Medical Center, Hardin Memorial Hospital, Gateway Regional Medical Center, Regional Medical Center/Trover Clinic Foundation, Murray-Calloway County Hospital, Owensboro Mercy Health System, Harrison Memorial Hospital, River Valley Behavioral Health Hospital, Muhlenberg Community Hospital, and Lincoln Trail Hospital (together the "Kentucky Claimants"); and Coastal Region Board of Directors ("Coastal").

AND THE COMMISSION having considered the Application, and the evidence and argument of counsel, makes the following findings:

1. Reciprocal of America is insolvent, as that term is defined in Va. Code Ann. § 38.2-1501 (Michie 2001).
2. The Reciprocal Group is insolvent, as that term is defined in Va. Code Ann. § 38.2-1501 (Michie 2001).
3. Further efforts to rehabilitate ROA and TRG would be useless, and the Companies should be liquidated as contemplated in Va. Code Ann. § 38.2-1519 (Michie 2001).
4. The direct insurance policies issued by ROA should be cancelled on or before the date on which claims arising thereunder cease to be covered by the applicable insurance guaranty associations. Notice of such cancellation should be provided the affected insureds as soon as practicably possible.
5. The Deputy Receiver should continue making workers' compensation Disability Payments, as more fully described in the Application, until such time as such payments are assumed by the applicable insurance guaranty associations. Such payments are generally essential to the daily sustenance of the recipients in this Commonwealth and in other states. The Deputy Receiver should continue to pursue reimbursement agreements with the associations, with respect to any such payments made by the Deputy Receiver for which a guaranty association is liable.
6. The rights and liabilities of creditors, policyholders, insureds, stockholders, members, and all other persons interested in the property and assets of the Companies will be fixed as of the date of the entry of this Order of Liquidation by operation of Va. Code Ann. § 38.2-1512 (Michie 2001). The determination of the classification to be accorded a particular claim is not foreclosed by operation of the said § 38.2-1512.

THE COMMISSION further finds that, as to the matters considered at such hearing, the Application should be granted.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

1. TRG and ROA are hereby found and declared to be insolvent.
2. The Deputy Receiver be, and he is hereby, directed to proceed with the liquidation of ROA and TRG in accordance with the provisions of Title 38.2, Chapter 15, of the Virginia Code, other applicable Virginia law, and the orders of the Commission, and all subject to the further orders of the Commission.
3. Pending further Orders of the Commission, the Deputy Receiver be, and he is hereby, authorized to continue making Disability Payments arising under ROA workers' compensation insurance policies as described hereinabove until such time as such Disability Payments can be made by the guaranty associations.

4. The Deputy Receiver be, and he is hereby, authorized to cancel all direct insurance policies issued by ROA, such cancellation to be effective on or before the last date for which claims arising thereunder would be covered by the applicable insurance guaranty association.
5. The Deputy Receiver shall provide notice of such cancellation to affected policyholders by publication and mailing as described in the Application filed by the Deputy Receiver of ROA and TRG on April 30, 2003.
6. This matter is continued.

ORDER SETTING FINAL BAR DATE AND GRANTING DEPUTY RECEIVER CONTINUING AUTHORITY TO LIQUIDATE COMPANIES

ON A FORMER DAY CAME Alfred W. Gross, as Deputy Receiver (the "Deputy Receiver") of Reciprocal of America ("ROA") and The Reciprocal Group ("TRG") (collectively, the "Companies"), and filed with the Clerk of the Commission an Application for Orders Setting Hearing On Liquidation of Reciprocal of America and The Reciprocal Group, Establishing Response Dates, Ordering Liquidation, Approving Claims Bar Dates, and Related Matters (the "Application"), seeking, inter alia, that the Commission enter an order granting the Deputy Receiver the authority to enact a proposed plan of liquidation, which focused primarily on marshaling the Companies' assets and allocating and distributing those assets among the Companies' creditors in accordance with applicable priorities, and the subsequent wind-down and liquidation of their affairs.

A hearing was held before the Commission on September 17, 2003, with respect to such matters, at which appearances were made by counsel on behalf of the Deputy Receiver; John Knox Walkup, Special Deputy Receiver for Doctors Insurance Reciprocal, RRG; Robert S. Brandt, Special Deputy Receiver for American National Lawyers Insurance Reciprocal, RRG; Michael D. Pearigen, Special Deputy Receiver for The Reciprocal Alliance, RRG (together the "SDRs"); Clark Regional Medical Center, T.J. Samson Community Hospital, Pineville Community Hospital, Highlands Regional Medical Center, Twin Lakes Regional Medical Center, Hardin Memorial Hospital, Gateway Regional Medical Center, Regional Medical Center/ Trover Clinic Foundation, Murray-Calloway County Hospital, Owensboro Mercy Health System, Harrison Memorial Hospital, River Valley Behavioral Health Hospital, Muhlenberg Community Hospital, and Lincoln Trail Hospital (together the "Kentucky Claimants"); Coastal Region Board of Directors ("Coastal"); PhyAmerica Physician Group, Inc.; Children's Hospital of Alabama; Indiana Insurance Guaranty Association, Kansas Insurance Guaranty Association, Mississippi Insurance Guaranty Association, Tennessee Insurance Guaranty Association, Texas Property and Casualty Insurance Guaranty Association, Virginia Property and Casualty Insurance Guaranty Association, and the Virginia Workers' Compensation Commission.

AND THE COMMISSION, having considered the Application, and the argument and evidence submitted by counsel in support thereof, finds that the relief sought by the Deputy Receiver should be granted as herein set forth.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The Final Bar Date is hereby set for September 30, 2004. Claims subject to, and not received by, the Deputy Receiver on or before the Final Bar Date shall not be paid until all approved timely filed claims and all approved late claims of higher priority are paid in full. Claims must be received at the following address on or before the Final Bar Date:

Proof of Claim Department
The Reciprocal Group/Reciprocal of America
4200 Innslake Drive
Glen Allen, Virginia 23060

(2) There are only two types of claims not subject to the Final Bar Date:

- a. Claims arising under direct policies of insurance issued by ROA that have already been properly submitted to ROA or the Deputy Receiver as of the date of this order (the "Pending Direct Claims"), provided, however, that all general creditor claims (including reinsurance claims) must be submitted on or before the Final Bar Date; and
- b. Proper administrative expense claims against TRG or ROA (e.g., claims for payment of services rendered, or goods supplied, to the Companies at the request of the Deputy Receiver after January 29, 2003) (the "Administrative Claims").

(3) The Commission will set a Claims Liquidation Date upon motion of the Deputy Receiver a reasonable time prior to the closure of the receivership. Notice of such motion shall be provided to all parties of record and all interested parties and a hearing thereon will be set by the Commission if so requested. Any and all claims shall have been submitted properly and rendered non-contingent and liquidated by the Claims Liquidation Date, or the claims will be permanently barred from sharing in the assets of the estate.

(4) The Deputy Receiver shall provide written notice of the Final Bar Date (and any extension thereof) and proof of claim instructions, by first-class United States mail to all known claimants, creditors, and policyholders at their last known address disclosed in the books and records of the Companies, in a form reasonably calculated to provide interested persons with notice of the Final Bar Date, the consequences of failing to timely file claims against the Companies, and an explanation regarding the Claims Liquidation Date, except the Deputy Receiver is not required to mail a notice if he reasonably believes that the last known address is no longer valid.

(5) The Deputy Receiver shall publish notice of the Final Bar Date (and any extension thereof) and proof of claim instructions for one day each week for two consecutive weeks in the Richmond Times-Dispatch, The Wall Street Journal, and USA Today. The publication notice must be in a form reasonably calculated to provide sufficient notice to any claimant, creditor, or policyholder who does not receive direct notice by first-class United States mail of the Final Bar Date and proof of claim instructions.

(6) The Commission further orders that the Deputy Receiver shall have the authority to continue the liquidation of the Companies, including the power to:

- a. Continue managing the affairs of the Companies until such time as they are liquidated and dissolved;
- b. Pay the costs and expenses of administration, pursuant to Va. Code Ann. §§ 38.2-1509(B)(1) and 38.2-1510;
- c. Adjudicate and pay the claims of all secured creditors with a perfected security interest not voidable under Va. Code Ann. § 38.2-1513 to the extent of the value of their security;
- d. Following an Order of the Commission so authorizing, adjudicate and pay the claims of the insurance guaranty associations for "covered claims" as defined in Va. Code Ann. § 38.2-1603 and other similar provisions under other applicable statutes, and the claims of other policyholders arising out of ROA insurance contracts, apportioned without preference;
- e. Pay taxes owed to the United States and other debts owed to any person, including the United States, which by the laws of the United States are entitled to priority;
- f. Adjudicate and pay claims for wages entitled to priority as provided in Va. Code Ann. § 38.2-1514;
- g. Maintain a reasonable reserve for claims, costs, expenses, unknown claims, and contingencies, over and above any existing reserves for direct insurance obligations, until final liquidation of ROA and TRG;
- h. Adjudicate and pay, on a pro rata basis to the extent assets are available, claims of all other creditors;
- i. In the event that the Deputy Receiver is unable to find any particular person owed funds by the Companies, deliver such unclaimed funds to the custody of the State of that person's last known address, as shown by the Companies' books and records, pursuant to the procedures established by that State's unclaimed property laws;
- j. Create a trust to hold any unclaimed funds if the applicable State unclaimed property laws did not permit him to deliver any such unclaimed funds to the relevant States prior to the date that ROA and TRG would cease to exist and the receivership would terminate;
- k. Cause a third party or contractor of the Companies to assume remaining obligations and contingencies of ROA or TRG in exchange for reasonable consideration, and obtain an independent opinion from an actuarial or accounting firm regarding the reasonableness of consideration paid for the assumption of ROA or TRG obligations or contingencies; and
- l. Take all steps necessary and appropriate to liquidate and dissolve ROA and TRG as soon as reasonably practicable.

ORDER

On July 11, 2003, the Deputy Receiver of Reciprocal of America¹ filed an Application for Order Authorizing the Continuation of Workers' Compensation Disability Payments by Reciprocal of America and The Reciprocal Group for Workers' Compensation Claims Denied Coverage by State Guaranty Associations ("Application"). Therein, the Deputy Receiver of ROA seeks a Commission Order authorizing him to continue payment of medical and recurring partial or total disability payments for workers' compensation claims that were assumed by ROA through assumption reinsurance, or similar transactions, and denied or likely to be denied coverage by the applicable state guaranty associations.²

The Deputy Receiver of ROA specifically asserts that the guaranty associations of the applicable states have refused, or likely will refuse, to make certain workers' compensation insurance policy payments for workers' compensation claims that ROA assumed from Self-Insured Trusts ("SITs") in Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, and Missouri and Group Self-Insurance Associations ("GSIA's") in Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia (collectively referred to as the "Assumed Businesses") as a result of assumption reinsurance or similar transactions ("Assumed Claims").³ The Deputy Receiver of ROA notes that the Assumed Claims will likely not be paid, because the Assumed Businesses were not member insurers and/or the policies under which the claims arose were not ROA policies. These payments total approximately $125,139 weekly.

The Deputy Receiver of ROA further asserts that the insureds of the Assumed Businesses are direct insureds of ROA and, due to the necessity for continued payment by the recipients thereof, requests authorization from the Commission to continue making such payments.⁴ The Deputy Receiver of ROA classifies the Agreements as "assumption reinsurance."⁵ The Deputy Receiver of ROA asserts that the livelihood of many injured workers is dependent upon continued receipt of the payments and that a discontinuation of such payments would cause the recipients to suffer a substantial hardship.⁶ The Deputy Receiver accordingly seeks an Order from the Commission authorizing the continued payment of workers' compensation insurance policy claims assumed by ROA through assumption reinsurance or similar transactions and denied or likely to be denied coverage by the applicable state guaranty associations.⁷

On July 25, 2003, the SDRs⁸ of the Tennessee Companies filed Objections to ROA/TRG Deputy Receiver Continuing to Make Certain Workers' Compensation Payments that Could be Paid from Alternative "Safety Net" Sources ("Objections"). The SDRs of the Tennessee Companies contend that the case for payment of the Assumed Claims is weak here, and it is unfair to create a priority for these claimants, because such claimants may be able to turn to uninsured employers funds (e.g., the Virginia Uninsured Employers Fund), self-insured guaranty funds, bonds or other surety posted by uninsured employers, and recovery from the employer against which the workers' compensation payment was awarded.⁹ The SDRs of the Tennessee Companies state that they are not opposed generally to the payment of "hardship" workers' compensation claims that truly are "essential to the daily sustenance of the recipients." They challenge the payment of non-"hardship" medical payments to health care professionals and institutions, such as hospitals, on the grounds that these payments represent "an unfair priority payment to persons or entities who are, in general, indistinguishable from the [Tennessee Companies'] insureds and third-party claimants."¹⁰

The SDRs of the Tennessee Companies request that (i) ROA/TRG be required to make good faith efforts to obtain coverage by the applicable state guaranty association(s) for, and to resist the denial by such association(s) of, the workers' compensation claims in question, including legal action where necessary, and to report its efforts and the results of those efforts to the Commission and to any other party that has entered an appearance in this matter; (ii) the Commission hold a hearing at which ROA/TRG would bear the burden of proving that the SITs and GSIA's in question were in fact "direct insureds" of ROA/TRG; (iii) if the Commission determines that the SITs and GSIA's in question were in fact ROA/TRG "direct insureds," ROA/TRG be required to prove which of the claims in question represent "hardship" claims that are truly "disability" claims "essential to the daily sustenance of the recipients" and that ROA/TRG be permitted to continue to pay only such "hardship" claims; (iv) sufficient time be given before the requested hearing to conduct reasonable discovery on the "direct insured" and "hardship" issues; (v) to the extent recipients of the workers' compensation payments in question have access to "safety net" sources of payment, such as (1) the Virginia Uninsured Employers Fund or to a similar fund or mechanism in another state, (2) a bond or other surety posted by a self-insured employer, or (3) recovery from the employer against which the workers' compensation payments were awarded, a stay be issued prohibiting ROA/TRG from continuing to pay the workers' compensation claims in question until a final decision is made on the merits of the "direct insured" and "hardship" issues; (vi) the ROA/TRG Deputy Receiver be ordered to determine as soon as possible what such "safety net" payments exist in each affected state and to make arrangements for the workers' compensation claimants in question to seek immediate recovery in each state from that safety net, including the notification of those claimants of the availability of such payments; and (vii) the ROA/TRG Deputy Receiver be ordered to respond to the objections raised by the SDRs of the Tennessee Companies within 10 business days detailing ROA/TRG's efforts and progress (1) in securing guaranty fund payments for the former SIT and GSIA policyholders in question, (2) in obtaining alternate funding from "safety net" sources in applicable guaranty fund states, and (3) in obtaining reimbursement agreements with the applicable guaranty funds.¹¹

The SDRs of the Tennessee Companies request that the Commission stay the continuation of workers' compensation payments until the "direct insured" and "hardship" issues are resolved on their merits.¹² The SDRs of the Tennessee Companies also argue that the Deputy Receiver of ROA has failed to support the Application legally and factually.¹³

On August 8, 2003, the Deputy Receiver of ROA filed his Response to the Tennessee Receivers' Objections to ROA/TRG Deputy Receiver Continuing to Make Certain Worker's Compensation Payments that Could be Paid from Alternative "Safety Net" Sources ("Response to Objections"). Therein, the Deputy Receiver claims that he is pursuing systematically different resources (aside from receivership assets) for payment of the workers' compensation insurance policy benefits, including the so-called "Safety Net," but asserts that to prevent substantial hardship to the recipients, continuation of these payments by the Deputy Receiver of ROA is necessary. He claims again that the policyholders of the SITs and the GSIA's are "direct insureds" and a direct responsibility of ROA, and he submits that the method of case-by-case segregation suggested by the SDRs of the Tennessee Companies among the recipients of those deemed to constitute true "hardship" claims would be highly subjective and impermissibly discriminate among similarly situated creditors.¹⁴ The Deputy Receiver of ROA further outlines his ongoing efforts to seek reimbursement from other sources for these claims and asserts that there are potential problems with some of the proposed "Safety Net" sources.¹⁵ The Deputy Receiver of ROA continues to maintain that claimants of the SITs and the GSIA's are "direct insureds" of ROA, that such payments constitute "hardship" payments, and that the Deputy Receiver of ROA proposes continued payments as an "interim measure" until reimbursement or payment from other sources can be secured.¹⁶ The Deputy Receiver of ROA concludes by seeking a Commission Order that authorizes him to continue workers' compensation insurance policy benefits for claims assumed by ROA through assumption reinsurance, or similar transactions, and denied or likely to be denied coverage by the applicable state guaranty associations.¹⁷

On August 14, 2003, the Commission entered an Order Scheduling Hearing on Application and on August 18, 2003, the Commission entered an Order Clarifying Previous Order ("Orders"). In the Orders, the Commission scheduled a hearing for September 17, 2003, to determine whether the insureds of the Assumed Businesses are direct insureds of ROA and therefore a direct responsibility of ROA or, if not, whether such insureds' claims should be treated as "hardship" claims. The Commission further ordered that the Deputy Receiver of ROA is not directed or authorized to make any workers' compensation insurance policy payments to claimants of the SITs or GSIA's until further Order of the Commission.

On August 14, 2003, the Virginia Property and Casualty Insurance Guaranty Association ("VPCIGA") filed the Objection of Virginia Property and Casualty Insurance Guaranty Association to Payment by Reciprocal of America and The Reciprocal Group of Workers' Compensation Claims ("VPCIGA Objection"). Therein, the VPCIGA avers that § 38.2-1509 of the Code of Virginia¹⁸ addresses how the assets of the ROA estate may be distributed and that the Commission has no authority to deviate therefrom.¹⁹ The VPCIGA also asserts that if workers' compensation claims under ROA insurance policies are paid now, it is likely that the claimants will receive a greater percentage of their claims than will the guaranty associations and other claimants with similar priorities.²⁰ Hence, the VPCIGA requests that the Commission not permit: (i) any payments to be made on any workers' compensation claim unless it is a claim under a policy issued by ROA; (ii) any payment of any claim under any policy of ROA other than payments under § 38.2-1509 A until it can be determined that such payments can be made without creating an improper preference; (iii) any payment on any workers' compensation claim until the Deputy Receiver of ROA provides the Commission and other parties additional information to support the Application; and (iv) any payment to any provider of medical services until it can be determined that such payments can be made without creating an improper preference.²¹

On August 18, 2003, the Indiana Insurance Guaranty Association, the Kansas Insurance Guaranty Association, the Mississippi Insurance Guaranty Association, the Tennessee Insurance Guaranty Association, and the Texas Property and Casualty Insurance Guaranty Association ("Guaranty Associations") filed a Notice of Participation of Certain Guaranty Funds ("Notice of Participation") and their Objection of Certain Guaranty Funds to ROA/TRG Deputy Receiver's Application to Continue to Make Certain Workers' Compensation Payments ("GA Objections"). Therein, the Guaranty Associations claim that giving special priority to workers' compensation claimants as requested in the Application would constitute an illegal preference in violation of § 38.2-1509 B. Moreover, the Guaranty Associations argue that no "hardship" exception to the order of priority of distribution exists in the Virginia insurer liquidation statute.²² The Guaranty Associations also aver that the Deputy Receiver of ROA's argument that the Assumed Businesses are direct insureds of ROA is without merit.²³ The Guaranty Associations request that the Commission deny the Application.

On August 22, 2003, the Coastal Region Board of Directors and the Alabama Subscribers it represents ("Coastal") filed the Coastal Region Board of Directors' Motion for Clarification of Order Scheduling Hearing and Application ("Motion"), wherein Coastal requests that the Commission clarify its previous Orders as to whether the hearing to be held on September 17, 2003 will be a final determination as to whether the insureds of the Assumed

Businesses are direct insureds of ROA. Coastal requests that, if the Commission so intends, it should instead limit the hearing to determining whether or not to approve the Application without any prejudice to the right of any insured to present argument and evidence with respect to its status as a policyholder entitled to the priority created by § 38.2-1509 B 1 ii.²⁴

On August 27, 2003, the Kentucky Claimants²⁵ filed the Kentucky Claimants Joinder in Coastal Region Board of Directors' Motion for Clarification of Order Scheduling Hearing on Application ("Joinder Motion"). In their Joinder Motion, the Kentucky Claimants express the same concerns raised by Coastal as to the scope of the hearing to be held on September 17, 2003, on these issues and request that the Commission clarify what is to be determined at the aforesaid hearing and limit its scope appropriately in accordance with Coastal's Motion.

On August 28, 2003, the Deputy Receiver of ROA filed the Deputy Receiver's Response to Objection of Virginia Property and Casualty Insurance Guaranty Association to Payment by Reciprocal of America and The Reciprocal Group of Workers' Compensation Claims ("Response to VPCIGA"). Therein, the Deputy Receiver of ROA claims that the VPCIGA Objection was not timely filed. The Deputy Receiver of ROA renews his request that the Commission enter an Order authorizing him to continue making medical and recurring partial or total disability payments for certain workers' compensation claims assumed by ROA.²⁶ The Deputy Receiver of ROA expresses his willingness to provide evidence at the September 17, 2003, hearing to support the propositions that ROA treated the Assumed Business insureds as direct insureds not only by characterizing the transaction as direct insurance in financial documents but also, where applicable, by paying the premium tax and the guaranty fund assessment for the Assumed Business.²⁷

On September 2, 2003, the Deputy Receiver of ROA filed the Deputy Receiver's Response to Objection of Certain Guaranty Funds to ROA/TRG Deputy Receiver's Application to Continue to Make Certain Workers' Compensation Payments ("Response to Guaranty Associations"). Therein, the Deputy Receiver of ROA makes similar arguments to those made in his Response to VPCIGA. The Deputy Receiver of ROA argues that the GA Objections should be overruled and that payments to, or for the benefit of, certain injured workers and their families should not be further disrupted.²⁸

On September 4, 2003, the SDRs of the Tennessee Companies filed the Special Deputy Receivers' Motion for Clarification of Order Scheduling Hearing on Application ("Motion for Clarification"). Therein, the SDRs of the Tennessee Companies request clarification on the issues to be addressed at the September 17, 2003, hearing pertaining to the workers' compensation policy payments issues raised in the Application. The SDRs of the Tennessee Companies assert that there are three issues to be determined at the September 17, 2003, hearing for which the Deputy Receiver of ROA bears the burden of proof: (i) whether payment of the workers' compensation policy claims will create an illegal preference; (ii) whether the employers that were members of the SITs and GSIAAs in question became "direct insureds" of ROA and, if so, on what date, and (iii) whether the claims of the workers' compensation claimants in question are in fact "hardship" claims.²⁹

On September 9, 2003, the Commission issued a Clarifying Order wherein it directed the parties to this case to be prepared to address at the September 17, 2003, hearing the following issues: (i) whether the payments requested to be made by the Deputy Receiver of ROA in his Application are permitted to be made in light of the provisions of § 38.2-1509; (ii) whether any or all of the SITs and GSIAAs or employers thereof may legally be considered direct insureds of ROA; (iii) whether the requested payments may be made under the "hardship" provisions of the Final Order Appointing Receiver for Rehabilitation or Liquidation entered by the Circuit Court for the City of Richmond on January 29, 2003, or whether such "hardship" payments may be made pursuant to some other statutory provision; and/or (iv) what criteria should govern the determination of what constitutes a "hardship" claim.

The Commission heard this matter on September 17, 2003. Present and represented by counsel at the hearing were the Deputy Receiver of ROA, the Bureau of Insurance, Children's Hospital of Alabama, the VPCIGA, the Guaranty Associations, the Kentucky Claimants, the SDRs of the Tennessee Companies, Coastal, and PhyAmerica Physician Group, Inc. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Commission requested that parties file briefs to address the legal issues raised in this case.³⁰

In their brief, the Deputy Receiver of ROA asserts that the Commission may authorize him to pay the Assumed Claims and deduct the amount of those payments from sums subsequently payable to the guaranty associations.³¹

The Guaranty Associations filed a Supplemental Memorandum of the Indiana Insurance Guaranty Association, the Kansas Insurance Guaranty Association, the Mississippi Insurance Guaranty Association, the Tennessee Insurance Guaranty Association and the Texas Property and Casualty Insurance Guaranty Association in Support of the Guaranty Associations' Objection to the Deputy Receiver's Proposed Disbursement of Estate Assets to Pay Certain

Workers' Compensation Claims ("Memorandum"). Therein, the Guaranty Associations assert that § 38.2-1509 provides the exclusive authority for disbursements of the assets of ROA.³² The Guaranty Associations further contend that the Commission simply has no authority to alter the priority scheme established by the General Assembly.³³ They further argue that, even assuming that the SITs and GSIA's or employers thereof are considered policyholders by the Commission, such determination does not mean that the obligations thereunder would constitute "covered claims" under § 38.2-1603, nor does the Commission have the authority to determine whether such obligations are "covered claims."³⁴

The VPCIG A filed its Brief of Virginia Property and Casualty Insurance Guaranty Association in Opposition to the Payment by the Deputy Receiver of Reciprocal of America and The Reciprocal Group at this Time of Any Claims that Arose Under Workers' Compensation Coverage Provided by Group Self-Insurance Associations and Self-Insured Trusts ("VPCIGA Brief"). Therein, the VPCIGA also argues that § 38.2-1509 does not permit the Commission to authorize the Deputy Receiver of ROA to make the payments requested in the Application.³⁵ The VPCIGA further contends that the provisions of § 38.2-1509 are not ambiguous and the Commission may not deviate therefrom in disbursing the assets of ROA.³⁶

On September 29, 2003, Coastal filed the Coastal Region Board of Directors' Memorandum in Support of Deputy Receiver's Authority to Make Worker's Compensation Payments ("Coastal Brief"). Therein, Coastal supports the arguments of the Deputy Receiver of ROA and requests the Commission to follow the purpose and substance of § 38.2-1509 by approving the Deputy Receiver of ROA's request to make the Disability Payments. By doing this, the Commission will avoid continuing a preference that has been created by the Guaranty Associations' failure to pay the Assumed Claims.³⁷

The Kentucky Claimants filed their Joinder in Coastal Region Board of Directors' Memorandum in Support of Deputy Receiver's Authority to Make Worker's Compensation Payments. The Kentucky Claimants join in the Coastal Brief and support the Deputy Receiver's Application.

On September 29, 2003, the Virginia Workers' Compensation Commission ("VWCC") filed a Memorandum of Law in Support of Continued Payment by ROA of Certain Contested Claims ("VWCC Brief").³⁸ The VWCC supports the efforts of the Deputy Receiver of ROA to make the Disability Payments and submits that Commission approval of the Application will prevent a preference, rather than create one.³⁹ The VWCC also contends that it is possible that the injured workers will not have access to any "safety net" sources of payment.⁴⁰

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the evidence and arguments of the parties, the pleadings, and the applicable law, finds as follows. We direct the Deputy Receiver of ROA to pay the Assumed Claims as requested in the Application as limited herein. We hereby direct payments to claimants, whether weekly or monthly in frequency, that are indemnity or wage-replacement payments. We do not authorize the Deputy Receiver of ROA to make physician, hospital, or other health care facility payments at this time. We also refer to a Hearing Examiner the question of whether the SITs and GSIA's or employers thereof constitute "claims of other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts" as that term is used in § 38.2-1509 B 1 ii.

Section 38.2-1509 B 1 ii provides, in pertinent part, that

The Commission shall disburse the assets of an insolvent insurer as they become available in the following manner: . . . (ii) claims of the associations for "covered claims" and "contractual obligations" as defined in §§ 38.2-1603 and 38.2-1701 and claims of other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts apportioned without preference.

This section makes clear that the assets of the insolvent insurer are to be disbursed "as they become available" and that the assets are to be "apportioned without preference."

First, we must note that this Commission has not yet determined that any claims of any entities are either "covered claims" or "claims of other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts," including those currently being paid by the guaranty associations. Nor have we found that any claims are not within one of these two categories.

³² Memorandum at 2. The Guaranty Associations also filed a Supplemental Memorandum of Certain Guaranty Associations in Support of Their Objection to ROA/TRG Deputy Receiver's Application to Continue to Make Certain Workers' Compensation Payments on September 17, 2003, in which they advance similar arguments in urging the Commission to reject the Application.

³⁸ On September 17, 2003, the VWCC filed a Motion to Intervene. Therein, the VWCC asserts that the Uninsured Employers' Fund ("UEF"), which is administered by the VWCC, may become a significant creditor of ROA. On October 2, 2003, counsel for the VWCC and UEF filed a letter in which he stated that the VWCC's pleadings in this case were filed for the VWCC solely in its capacity as the administrator of the UEF, and not in its role as an adjudicative body. He further intends to submit future pleadings on behalf of the UEF, rather than the VWCC. The Commission received no objection to the Motion to Intervene filed by the VWCC. The Commission granted the Motion to Intervene on October 16, 2003.

The Commission is faced with the potential of two competing preferences. The Commission could direct the Deputy Receiver of ROA to pay the Assumed Claims now. If it is later determined that the claims are neither "covered claims" nor "claims of other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts," the payments might result in these claimants receiving more than they should.⁴¹ This, of course, would amount to a preference.

On the other hand, if the Commission denies payment of the Assumed Claims at this time, and it is later determined that any of these claims constitute "covered claims" or "claims of other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts," then the Commission will have permitted an ongoing preference. Currently a number of workers' compensation claimants are being paid their full workers' compensation entitlements, first by the Deputy Receiver and now by various guaranty associations that may be reimbursed by the Deputy Receiver. If other workers' compensation claimants who are not currently being paid are later determined to have either "covered claims" or "claims of other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts," then there will have been a preference. Simply paying a claimant a lump sum after months of nonpayment does not amount to an adjustment that eliminates the preference. This is particularly true if Virginia law prohibits claimants from earning interest on their claims;⁴² these claimants may have forever lost the time value of the money they should have been receiving. This, of course, would amount to a preference. In addition, the reality may be that claimants who rely on the payments for sustenance suffer the loss of their home or a significant deterioration of their health, because the needed income flow is interrupted. This preference is just as real as that which may result in an overpayment or underpayment to a claimant.

The Commission may not solve this conflict by stopping all payments for several reasons. First, the statute does not envision waiting until all issues related to apportionment have been finalized before beginning distribution. Rather, the assets are to be distributed "as they become available." Second, the Commission has already recognized the importance to the claimants of continued payment of the Assumed Claims.⁴³ Third, the reality is that in Virginia and a number of other states, workers' compensation payments are being made. As noted above, these payments create a preference possibility that must be addressed.

As a practical matter, payments by a receiver can rarely, if ever, be made without any possibility of a preference. The VPCIGA acknowledged in its comments that payments may be made that might result in a preference as long as it "can be subsequently adjusted so that ultimately there is no preference."⁴⁴ If it later turns out that the "adjustment" cannot be made, then there may be a preference. As noted above, this case presents just such a situation if we deny payments at this time. Also, after we made our determination that liquidation was required, the Deputy Receiver of ROA paid all workers' compensation claims for four weeks before the guaranty associations took over payments. That act has not been questioned or challenged although it might lead ultimately to small preferences if it is later determined that some of the claims were neither "covered claims" nor "claims of other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts." In short, the Deputy Receiver of ROA is not required to refuse to make all payments because they may possibly result in a small preference.

The Deputy Receiver of ROA must adhere to the statutory mandates of § 38.2-1509 that require us to distribute the assets as they become available without preference. We must, therefore, avoid both of the preferences described above to the extent possible. If we cannot avoid the possibility of at least one of the preferences, we must minimize the possibility and extent of any such preference.

Sometimes, we can avoid, or greatly minimize, the possibility of a preference by paying out only a small fraction of the available assets in equal percentages to all similarly situated claimants.⁴⁵ Here, however, we are limited because certain of the claimants have been and continue to be paid one hundred percent of their claims even though the Commission has not determined that they are any more entitled to the payments than those included as Assumed Claims. Thus, we find, in this case, we cannot avoid the possibility of one of the preferences described above.

In order to reduce any preferences that may be caused by the current payments to one group and not the other, we find that we must direct the Deputy Receiver of ROA to make indemnity and wage-replacement payments under what have been described as Assumed Claims. These payments should reduce or minimize possible preferences caused by the failure to pay any Assumed Claims that may later be determined to be payable under § 38.2-1509 B 1. On the other hand, if the Assumed Claims are found not to be covered by that section, the possibility of ultimate preferences should not be significant. First, others may be responsible for paying the Assumed Claims; during the hearing we were assured that these claimants will be paid.⁴⁶ Sources of possible payment include payments from guaranty associations, uninsured employers' funds, employers, self-insurance guaranty associations, and surety bonds. We fully expect the Deputy Receiver of ROA to pursue diligently every such alternative avenue of payment.

⁴¹ In order for this to occur, the Commission would have to determine ultimately that the Assumed Claims are not "covered claims" or "claims of other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts." We make no such determination at this time; instead, we refer that question to a Hearing Examiner to take evidence and file a Report with the Commission. If that question is ultimately decided adversely to the Deputy Receiver of ROA, then a preference would exist only if the Deputy Receiver of ROA is unable to recover the funds paid and there is less money left in the estate to pay general creditors than the recipients of the Assumed Claims had already received.

⁴⁴ VPCIGA Objection at 5.

⁴⁵ While, as noted above, we have made no determination at this time as to whether the Assumed Claims are "covered claims" or "claims of other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts," the Deputy Receiver of ROA has argued that these claimants are ROA policyholders. Certain guaranty associations agree. Certain other guaranty associations, on the other hand, have determined that the Assumed Claims are not "covered claims" under their respective state laws. See, e.g., Kentucky Claimants Joinder in Coastal Region Board of Directors' Memorandum in Support of Deputy Receiver's Authority to Make Worker's Compensation Payments, filed on September 29, 2003, at 2, fn. 1 (Kentucky Claimants assert that the Kentucky Insurance Guaranty Association and Arkansas Insurance Guaranty Association are currently paying the Assumed Claims in their respective states); Response to Objections at 6 and Exhibit A; Transcript at 168 (counsel to the Deputy Receiver of ROA represents that three of the eight guaranty associations are currently paying the Assumed Claims).

⁴⁶ Transcript at 259 (Counsel to the SDRs of the Tennessee Companies); 337 (Counsel to the VWCC).

The extent of any preference, if one is created, should also be minimized by several factors. First, the payments will only be made until a decision is rendered by this Commission on the "policyholder arising out of insurance contracts" issues referred herein to a Hearing Examiner. Second, we are only authorizing those payments that are indemnity and wage-replacement payments. Finally, we note that the total amount of payments authorized herein appears to represent a small fraction of the estate's total assets.⁴⁷ Hence, we find that the possibility and extent of any preference that might ultimately be determined to result from our decision will be very small.⁴⁸

We direct the Deputy Receiver of ROA to pay the Assumed Claims only insofar as they constitute indemnity and wage-replacement payments. We do not authorize the payment of physician or hospital bills at this time.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The Application of the Deputy Receiver is APPROVED, except as modified herein;

(2) The determination of whether the SITs and GSIA's or employers thereof constitute "other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts" pursuant to § 38.2-1509 B 1 ii is hereby assigned to a Hearing Examiner and is assigned Case No. INS-2003-00239. The Hearing Examiner shall conduct all further proceedings associated with making the aforesaid determination, concluding with the filing of the Hearing Examiner's final report to the Commission. In the discharge of such duties, the Hearing Examiner shall exercise all the inquisitorial powers possessed by the Commission, including, but not limited to, the power to administer oaths, require the appearance of witnesses and parties either in person or by any other means, require the production of documents, schedule and conduct prehearing conferences, admit or exclude evidence, grant or deny continuances, and rule on motions, matters of law, and procedural questions. An objection to a ruling by the Hearing Examiner shall be stated with the reasons therefore at the time of the ruling, and the objection may be argued to the Commission as part of a response to the Hearing Examiner's Report. A ruling by the Hearing Examiner that denies further participation by a party in interest or the Commission staff in a proceeding that has not been concluded may be immediately appealed to the Commission by filing a written motion with the Commission for review. Upon the motion of any party or the Staff, or upon the Hearing Examiner's own initiative, the Hearing Examiner may certify any other material issue to the Commission for its consideration and resolution. Pending resolution by the Commission of a ruling appealed or certified, the Hearing Examiner shall retain procedural control of the proceeding;

(3) The Hearing Examiner appointed shall cause the testimony taken at any hearing to be reduced to writing and promptly deliver his written findings and recommendations together with the transcript of the hearing to the Commission for its consideration and judgment; and

Morrison, Commissioner, Concurring in Part and Dissenting in Part,

I do not believe that § 38.2-1509 permits the conclusion reached by the majority. I must respectfully dissent from that portion of the majority's finding that permits disbursement of ROA assets at this time to pay the Assumed Claims.

However, I concur with the decision insofar as it refers to a Hearing Examiner the question of whether the SITs and GSIA's or employers thereof constitute "other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts" pursuant to § 38.2-1509 B 1 ii.

⁴⁷ Application at 4, 10 (Assumed Claims include approximately 450 injured workers and $125,139 in weekly payments). The total amount should be substantially less than this, since we are herein authorizing only the indemnity and wage-replacement portion of the Assumed Claims and not direct payments to physicians, hospitals, or other health care facilities. Moreover, at least some of the guaranty associations are paying the Assumed Claims. See fn. 45. ROA has over $400 million in assets. Response to Objections at 19.

⁴⁸ Nor do we believe that our interpretation of § 38.2-1509 B 1 should result in a flood of applications from other claimants. The present situation is unusual, if not unique. Our decision in this proceeding is further supported by the "hardship" exception to the priority scheme encompassed within § 38.2-1509; it is clearly within this Commission's authority to consider and balance the equities in determining when it is appropriate to distribute estate assets. The authority conferred on the Commission to act as a court of equity and to enter appropriate orders in §§ 38.2-1502, 38.2-1507, and 38.2-1508 also permits us to consider the hardships involved when an applicant seeks to receive or disburse assets under § 38.2-1509. In addition to the "hardship" arguments advanced in this particular case, we also note the special status given to workers' compensation claimants by the General Assembly in § 38.2-1606 A 1 a i, which requires that a claimant receive "the full amount of a covered claim for benefits under a workers' compensation insurance coverage."

ORDER

On November 12, 2003, the Commission entered an Order in this matter, in which it approved an Application¹ filed by the Deputy Receiver of ROA,² except as modified therein. The Order directed the Deputy Receiver of ROA to make payments to certain claimants, whether weekly or monthly in frequency, that are indemnity or wage-replacement payments, as requested in the Application, but did not authorize physician, hospital, or other health care facility payments at the present time. The Commission also referred to a Hearing Examiner the question of whether the Self-Insured Trusts and Group Self-Insurance Associations or employers thereof that were the subject of the Application constitute "other policyholders arising out of insurance contracts" pursuant to § 38.2-1509 B 1 ii of the Code of Virginia.³

On December 1, 2003, the Indiana Insurance Guaranty Association, the Kansas Insurance Guaranty Association, the Mississippi Insurance Guaranty Association, the Tennessee Insurance Guaranty Association, and the Texas Property and Casualty Insurance Guaranty Association (the "Guaranty Associations") filed the Certain Guaranty Associations' Petition for Rehearing or Reconsideration ("Petition"). Therein, the Guaranty Associations request that the Commission rehear or reconsider its November 12, 2003, Order in this matter. The Guaranty Associations assert that the Commission erred in authorizing the aforementioned payments and that the Commission has permitted an unlawful preference in violation of § 38.2-1509 B. The Guaranty Associations further assert that the Commission's Order will cause them irreparable harm.⁴ The Guaranty Associations request that the Commission rehear or reconsider the November 12, 2003, Order and deny the Application.

The Commission will grant the Petition for the purpose of receiving responses thereto from all parties in this case. We direct the Deputy Receiver of ROA to not make any of the aforementioned payments until we have decided the issues addressed in the Petition. We also direct the Hearing Examiner to proceed in Case No. INS-2003-00239 without waiting for us to render a decision on the Petition.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Guaranty Associations' Petition for Rehearing or Reconsideration is GRANTED;
- (2) All parties to this case shall file any response they may have to the Petition on or before December 15, 2003;
- (3) The Deputy Receiver shall not make any payments that were approved by Order entered on November 12, 2003, in this matter until further Order of the Commission;
- (4) The Hearing Examiner shall proceed with the resolution of the issues in Case No. INS-2003-00239; and
- (5) This matter is continued.

JUDGMENT ORDER

On March 21, 2003, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered a Rule to Show Cause ordering Defendants to appear in the Commission's Courtroom on May 12, 2003, and show cause, if any, why the Commission should not, in addition to a penalty under § 38.2-218 of the Code of Virginia, revoke the licenses of Defendants to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

The Rule to Show Cause alleged that Defendants had violated §§ 38.2-502 1, 38.2-502 6, 38.2-512 A, 38.2-512 B, 38.2-512 C, 38.2-1804, 38.2-1831 5, 38.2-1831 10, and 38.2-1838 A of the Code of Virginia.

On May 12, 2003, a hearing was conducted whereby the Bureau of Insurance appeared represented by counsel, and Defendant appeared pro se. The Bureau presented the testimony of five individuals who had purchased life insurance or annuities from Defendants, as well as testimony from a staff investigator. The Bureau presented evidence that Defendants had committed the following violations of Virginia's insurance laws: (1) 10 violations of § 38.2-502 1; (2) 10 violations of §§ 38.2-502 6 or 38.2-1831 5; (3) 4 violations of § 38.2-512 A; (4) 19 violations of § 38.2-512 B; (5) 1 violation of § 38.2-1804; and (6) 7 violations of § 38.2-1831 10. The Bureau asked that Defendants' insurance licenses be permanently revoked and that each Defendant be assessed a monetary penalty of $2,500 for the 51 total violations alleged at the hearing.

On July 8, 2003, the Hearing Examiner issued his Report, in which he made the following findings and recommendations:

1. With the exception of 1 violation of §§ 38.2-502 6 or 38.2-1831, the Bureau established by clear and convincing evidence that Defendants had committed each of the statutory violations alleged by the Bureau at the hearing.
2. In addition to those violations alleged by the Bureau, the evidence demonstrated that Defendants had committed an additional violation of § 38.2-502 1 and two additional violations of §§ 38.2-502 6 or 38.2-1831.
3. The alleged violations pertaining to §§ 38.2-502 6 and 38.2-1831 5, which the Bureau had combined, should be treated separately, resulting in a total of 22 violations with respect to those two statutes. When added to the other violations, this results in a total of 63 violations.
4. Each Defendant should be assessed the maximum statutory penalty of $5,000 for the 63 violations, resulting in a total monetary penalty of $315,000 for each Defendant.
5. Defendants should have their insurance licenses permanently revoked.

UPON CONSIDERATION of the Rule to Show Cause, the evidence presented at the hearing, and the Hearing Examiner's Report, the Commission adopts the findings of fact and recommendations made by the Hearing Examiner in his Report.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Each Defendant be, and each is hereby, penalized in the amount of $315,000 for their 63 violations of §§ 38.2-502 1, 38.2-502 6, 38.2-512 A, 38.2-512 B, 38.2-1804, 38.2-1831 5, and 38.2-1831 10 of the Code of Virginia;
- (2) The licenses of Defendants to transact the business of insurance as insurance agents in the Commonwealth of Virginia be, and they are hereby, PERMANENTLY REVOKED;
- (3) All appointments issued under said licenses be, and they are hereby, VOID;
- (4) Defendants shall transact no further business in the Commonwealth of Virginia as insurance agents;
- (5) The Bureau of Insurance shall cause a copy of this Order to be sent to every insurance company for which Defendants hold an appointment to act as an insurance agent in the Commonwealth of Virginia; and
- (6) The papers herein shall be placed in the file for ended causes.

ORDER REVOKING LICENSE

Based on an investigation by the Bureau of Insurance, it appears that Defendant, duly licensed by the Commission to transact the business of insurance as an insurance agent in the Commonwealth of Virginia, in certain instances, violated §§ 38.2-512 and 38.2-1813 of the Code of Virginia by making false statements or representations on or relative to an application for an insurance policy for the purpose of obtaining a fee or commission, and by failing to maintain an accurate record and itemization of funds deposited into a separate fiduciary account.

The Commission is authorized by §§ 38.2-218, 38.2-219, and 38.2-1831 of the Code of Virginia to impose certain monetary penalties, issue cease and desist orders, and to suspend or revoke Defendant's license upon a finding by the Commission, after notice and opportunity to be heard, that Defendant has committed the aforesaid alleged violations.

Defendant has been notified of his right to a hearing before the Commission in this matter by certified letter dated March 11, 2003, and mailed to the Defendant's address shown in the records of the Bureau of Insurance.

Defendant, having been advised in the above manner of his right to a hearing in this matter, has failed to request a hearing and has not otherwise communicated with the Bureau of Insurance.

The Bureau of Insurance, upon Defendant's failure to request a hearing, has recommended that the Commission enter an order revoking all of Defendant's licenses to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia as an insurance agent.

THE COMMISSION is of the opinion and finds that Defendant has violated § 38.2-512 and § 38.2-1813 of the Code of Virginia by making false statements or representations on or relative to an application for an insurance policy for the purpose of obtaining a fee or commission, and by failing to maintain an accurate record and itemization of funds deposited into a separate fiduciary account.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The licenses of Defendant to transact the business of insurance as an agent in the Commonwealth of Virginia be, and they are hereby, REVOKED;

Reliance Universal Insurance Company, a foreign corporation domiciled in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ("Defendant"), originally was licensed by the Commission to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia on May 29, 1998.

On February 13, 2001, Defendant was merged with and into Reliance Insurance Company, the surviving corporation, a foreign corporation domiciled in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and licensed by the Commission to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia ("Reliance").

On October 3, 2001, by an Order of Liquidation, the Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania found Reliance to be insolvent and ordered Reliance to be liquidated by the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner and her designees.

Defendant's Virginia Certificate of Authority was revoked on October 1, 2001.

The Pennsylvania Department's Office of Liquidations, Rehabilitations and Special Funds has notified the Bureau of Insurance that it does not object to the revocation of Defendant's license to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

The Bureau of Insurance has recommended that, based on the foregoing, the license of Defendant to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia be revoked.

MAY 8, 2003

IN RE:
JOINT APPLICATION OF SPECIAL DEPUTY RECEIVERS of
DOCTORS INSURANCE RECIPROCAL, RRG, In Receivership, AMERICAN NATIONAL LAWYERS INSURANCE RECIPROCAL, RRG, In Receivership,
and
THE RECIPROCAL ALLIANCE, RRG, In Receivership, Joint Applicants

FINAL ORDER

On March 21, 2003, the Special Deputy Receivers ("SDR") for Doctors Insurance Reciprocal, Risk Retention Group ("DIR"), American National Lawyers Insurance Reciprocal, Risk Retention Group ("ANLIR"), and The Reciprocal Alliance, Risk Retention Group ("TRA") (collectively, the "Companies"), by counsel, filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") a Joint Application for Order in Aid of Receiverships and Request for Expedited Review and Relief ("Joint Application"). The Companies seek an Order from the Commission giving aid in Virginia to the rights, powers and duties of the SDRs in Tennessee, the state in which the Companies are chartered. Specifically, the SDRs sought, in the Joint Application, "the entry of an Order by the Commission giving certain effect in Virginia to Tennessee orders entered in the [Tennessee] Receivership Proceedings¹ providing for stays of certain proceedings against the [Companies], their estates and insureds, and the [SDRs]." The SDRs further seek expedited review and relief by the Commission.²

The Tennessee Orders provide for stays of actions or proceedings in which the Companies are a party or are obligated to defend a party for 90 days and such additional time as is necessary for the SDRs to obtain proper representation and prepare for further proceedings.³

The SDRs further allege that they have sent letters to numerous Virginia tribunals informally requesting stays. According to the SDRs, "[r]esponses to such letters, if any, have not been similar. . . . Due to the nature of receivership proceedings generally, it would be impractical to attempt specifically to name, join, or give notice of [the Joint Application] to all current or potential claimants."⁴ The SDRs assert that §§ 38.2-1521 B and 38.2-5110 of the Code of Virginia⁵ support their request. The SDRs further contend that full faith and credit and/or interstate comity should be extended by the Commission to the Tennessee Orders as they pertain to stays.⁶ The SDRs conclude that "an Order from the Commission will significantly aid the [SDRs] as they attempt to discharge their obligations to petition tribunals or other entities in Virginia for stays."⁷

On March 25, 2003, the Commission entered a Scheduling Order in this case giving the Deputy Receiver of Reciprocal of America, In Receivership, and The Reciprocal Group, In Receivership (collectively, "ROA") an opportunity to respond to the Joint Application.

On April 4, 2003, the Deputy Receiver of ROA filed a response ("Response") to the Joint Application. In the Response, the Deputy Receiver opposed the Joint Application filed by the Companies and requested oral argument before the Commission.

More specifically, the Deputy Receiver asserts that the Commission does not have jurisdiction to order the relief sought, that an insufficient foundation is offered for such relief, and that granting the relief sought would interfere with the Commission's receivership responsibilities with regard to ROA.⁸

The Deputy Receiver contends that the Commission has no authority to prevent other courts, tribunals and agencies of the Commonwealth from hearing claims asserted against the Companies, because the Commission has not been vested with jurisdiction as to the assets of the Companies. Because no ancillary receiver has been appointed in the Commonwealth, the Deputy Receiver further argues that § 38.2-1521 does not support the Companies' position. The Deputy Receiver also claims that the Commission may be preempted by federal law from entering an Order in aid of the Companies.⁹

³ Id. at 5. On April 16, 2003, the SDRs filed Exhibit 8 to the Joint Application. Exhibit 8 contains the 3 SDRs' Receiver's Motion to Stay that was filed on April 11, 2003, in the Chancery Court of Davidson County, Tennessee. The SDRs sought further extensions of all actions or proceedings against insureds of the Companies for an additional 90 days, or through July 30, 2003. At the hearing, counsel for the SDRs represented that Orders had been entered in the Tennessee Court extending the stays of litigation involving the insureds of ANLIR and TRA through July 30, 2003. See Transcript ("Tr.") at 11-12. The SDRs subsequently filed the Tennessee Orders, which extended the stays in the ANLIR and TRA matters.

⁶ Id. at 7.

⁸ Response at 2, 7.

⁹ The Deputy Receiver cites 15 U.S.C. § 3902(a) of the Federal Products Liability Risk Retention Act in support of this proposition.

The Deputy Receiver further argues that the Full Faith and Credit Clause, art. IV, § 1 of the Constitution of the United States, does not give Tennessee courts the power to enjoin other Tennessee courts from entertaining claims against Virginia assets, nor does it give the Commission the authority to enjoin Virginia courts from entertaining claims against Tennessee assets.¹⁰ The Deputy Receiver further contends that there is an insufficient factual basis to grant the relief sought by the Companies.

Finally, the Deputy Receiver argues that the relief sought by the SDRs, if granted, would undermine the Virginia receivership of ROA, because the Companies are seeking in other proceedings at the Commission to have the claims of the Companies' policyholders paid by ROA. Granting the requested relief might, the Deputy Receiver argues, force the Deputy Receiver to choose between complying with the Virginia receivership Order or complying with the Tennessee Orders.¹¹ The Deputy Receiver requested oral argument on the Joint Application and requested that the Joint Application be denied in all respects.

The Commission, by Order entered on April 10, 2003, scheduled this matter for oral argument on April 22, 2003. The Commission heard this matter on April 22, 2003. Curtis G. Manchester, Esquire, and H. Lane Kneedler, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the SDRs. Patrick H. Cantilo, Esquire and Pierre J. Riou, Esquire appeared on behalf of the Deputy Receiver, and Peter B. Smith, Esquire appeared on behalf of the Bureau of Insurance.

During oral argument, counsel for the SDRs attempted to clarify the relief sought by the Companies. Counsel stated that "[the SDRs] are asking the Commission to recognize the Tennessee Rehabilitation Orders and adopt it as its own for purposes of stays with regard to its own proceedings. . . We have asked that it be solely for your proceedings."¹² The SDRs stated further at the hearing that "we're not asking you to order any other court to do anything."¹³ In response to additional questioning, the SDRs stated that "we are asking for you to adopt the Tennessee orders for purposes of [SCC] proceedings. . . This is not a request for a statewide stay."¹⁴

We have considered the Joint Application, the Response, and the arguments of the parties. The Commission understands and shares the concerns of professionals in Virginia who fear that they may ultimately be left without insurance coverage. We are also mindful of the uncertainty that has been caused among these Virginia professionals and others by the Virginia and Tennessee receiverships. The Commission is also sympathetic to the efforts of the SDRs of DIR, ANLIR, and TRA to obtain stays in other Virginia courts, and we are hopeful that the Tennessee companies will be successful in that regard.

We nonetheless do not find that we have been provided with sufficient factual or legal justification to order the requested relief. The SDRs appear to have retreated from their request that this Commission order other Virginia courts to respect the stays issued in Tennessee as to Tennessee proceedings. The SDRs now seek only a Commission Order granting the Tennessee orders, with respect to stays, full faith and credit with regard to Commission proceedings. As there are no pending proceedings brought by parties against DIR, ANLIR, or TRA at the Commission, we are hard-pressed to determine how such an Order achieves anything. As claims arise at the Commission against DIR, ANLIR, or TRA, the Commission will certainly consider arguments that such claims are stayed by the provisions of the Tennessee orders and should be stayed here.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Joint Application is hereby DENIED; and
- (2) This matter is dismissed and the papers herein be placed in the file for ended causes.

¹⁰ Response at 16.

¹² Tr. at 14 (emphasis added).

¹⁴ Tr. at 17-18. The SDRs stated that they are only seeking a stay of claims against the SDRs at the Commission, of which there are none. Tr. at 30-31.

Defendants have been advised of their right to a hearing in this matter, whereupon Defendants, without admitting any violation of Virginia law, have made an offer of settlement to the Commission wherein Defendants have tendered to the Commonwealth of Virginia the sum of thirty-one thousand three hundred dollars ($31,300), waived their right to a hearing, and agreed to the entry by the Commission of a cease and desist order.

The Bureau of Insurance has recommended that the Commission accept the offer of settlement of Defendants pursuant to the authority granted the Commission in § 12.1-15 of the Code of Virginia.

THE COMMISSION, having considered the record herein, the offer of settlement of Defendants, and the recommendation of the Bureau of Insurance, is of the opinion that Defendants' offer should be accepted.

SEPTEMBER 16, 2003

PETITION OF
RICHARD B. JACKSON

ORDER

On October 14, 1994, the Circuit Court of the City of Richmond entered an order appointing the State Corporation Commission (the "Commission") the Receiver of HOW Insurance Company ("HOWIC"), Home Warranty Corporation ("HWC") and Home Owners Warranty Corporation ("HOW") (collectively, the "HOW Companies"). The receivership order granted the Commission authority to proceed with the rehabilitation or liquidation of the HOW Companies and established a Receivership Appeal Procedure ("RAP") to govern any appeals or challenges to any decision rendered by the Receiver or the Receiver's duly authorized representatives.

On May 5, 2003, Richard B. Jackson ("Petitioner") filed a Petition for Review ("Petition") with the Commission contesting a Determination of Appeal issued in Claim No. 2336269-F in which the Deputy Receiver denied Petitioner's claim for Major Structural Defect damage to his resident located at 1236 Shirlton Road, Midlothian, Virginia 23114-4540. By letter dated October 14, 2002, Petitioner made the present claim on his HOW policy for continuing structural defects in his home. Petitioner acknowledged that his HOW policy had expired, but contended that the defects developed while the policy was in effect.¹

By order dated May 16, 2003, the Commission docketed the case, assigned the matter to a Hearing Examiner, and directed the Deputy Receiver to file an Answer or other responsive pleading to the Petition on or before June 13, 2003.

On June 12, 2003, the Deputy Receiver filed a Motion to Dismiss and Answer to Petition for Review, and a Memorandum in Support of the Motion to Dismiss ("Motion"). In its Motion, the Deputy Receiver contends, among other things, that Petitioner fails to assert a claim upon which relief may be granted because: (i) the claim is untimely pursuant to the express terms of the HOW insurance/warranty documents; and (2) Petitioner executed three releases and accepted settlement payments, constituting an accord and satisfaction.

Petitioner filed no response to the Deputy Receiver's Motion to Dismiss.

After reviewing the filing submitted in the case, the Hearing Examiner issued his Report on July 16, 2003. Therein, the Hearing Examiner made the following findings and recommendations:

1. The HOW insurance/warranty documents contain elements of "occurrence" and "claims made" insurance policies.
2. Before coverage is effective under the insurance/warranty documents, the defect must occur within the applicable coverage period and the claim must be made within thirty (30) days of the expiration of the applicable coverage period.
3. Petitioner's HOW Program coverage was effective on February 13, 1985.
4. Petitioner's Major Structural Defect coverage expired on February 13, 1995, and the thirty-day grace period expired on March 15, 1995.
5. Based on the Petitioner's pleadings, the most recent defects in Petitioner's home occurred after expiration of his HOW Program coverage.
6. Petitioner's claim was filed with HOW after the expiration of his HOW Program coverage.
7. Petitioner's claim is time-barred by the express terms of the HOW insurance/warranty documents.
8. The Deputy Receiver's Motion to Dismiss should be granted.
9. The Commission should enter an Order granting the Motion to Dismiss; affirming the Deputy Receiver's Determination of Appeal; and dismissing the Petition with prejudice.

No comments were filed to the Report of the Hearing Examiner.

Upon consideration of the filings and the Report of the Hearing Examiner, the Commission is of the opinion and so finds that the findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner should be adopted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

1. The Motion to Dismiss submitted by the Deputy Receiver, be, and the same is hereby, GRANTED;
2. The Determination of Appeal in Claim No. 2336269-F issued by the Deputy Receiver on April 23, 2003, be, and the same is hereby, AFFIRMED;
3. The Petition of Review of Richard B. Jackson, be, and the same is hereby, DISMISSED with prejudice; and
4. The papers herein are passed to the file for ended causes.

¹ Prior to the claim submitted on October 14, 2002, Petitioner filed five previous claims with HOW for Major Structural Defect coverage: (i) a claim submitted by letter dated August 13, 1990, was denied because the criteria for a MSD was not met; (ii) a claim submitted by letter dated October 31, 1991, resulted in Petitioner accepting payment of $23,263.76 and executing a release agreement; (iii) a claim submitted by letter dated July 28, 1993, resulted in Petitioner accepting the sum of $15,921 and executing a release agreement; (iv) a claim submitted by letter dated February 22, 1995, resulted in Petitioner accepting payment of $700 and executing a release; and (v) a letter claim dated June 2, 1999 resulted in HOW denying the claim because Petitioner's HOW policy expired on February 13, 1995.

NORTH AMERICAN COMPANY FOR LIFE AND HEALTH INSURANCE, Defendant

SETTLEMENT ORDER

Based on an investigation and subsequent allegations by the Bureau of Insurance, it appears that Defendant, duly licensed by the Commission to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia, in certain instances, violated §§ 38.2-608 D and 38.2-610 of the Code of Virginia by using an adverse underwriting decision notice in which Defendant reserves the right to charge a fee for providing a copy of personal information relating to an adverse underwriting decision provided under § 38.2-610, and by failing to give to applicants for insurance written notice of an adverse underwriting decision in the form approved by the Commission.

The Commission is authorized by §§ 38.2-218, 38.2-219, and 38.2-1040 of the Code of Virginia to impose certain monetary penalties, issue cease and desist orders, and suspend or revoke Defendant's license upon a finding by the Commission, after notice and opportunity to be heard, that Defendant has committed the aforesaid alleged violations.

Defendant has been advised of its right to a hearing in this matter, whereupon Defendant, without admitting any violation of Virginia law, has made an offer of settlement to the Commission wherein Defendant has tendered to the Commonwealth of Virginia the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000), waived its right to a hearing, and agreed to the entry by the Commission of a cease and desist order.

The Bureau of Insurance has recommended that the Commission accept the offer of settlement of Defendant pursuant to the authority granted the Commission in § 12.1-15 of the Code of Virginia.

Ex Parte: In the matter of Adopting Revisions to the Rules Governing Viatical Settlement Providers and Viatical Settlement Brokers

ORDER ADOPTING REVISIONS TO RULES

By order entered herein May 27, 2003, all interested persons were ordered to take notice that the Commission would consider the entry of an order subsequent to July 30, 2003, adopting revisions proposed by the Bureau of Insurance to the Commission's Rules Governing Viatical Settlement Providers and Viatical Settlement Brokers, set forth in Chapter 71 of Title 14 of the Virginia Administrative Code, effective August 4, 2003, unless on or before July 30, 2003, any person objecting to the adoption of the proposed rules filed a request for a hearing with the Clerk of the Commission (the "Clerk").

The Order to Take Notice also required all interested persons to file their comments in support of or in opposition to the proposed revisions on or before July 30, 2003.

The Life Settlement Institute filed comments to the proposed revisions and a request for a hearing with the Clerk on July 1, 2003, but withdrew its hearing request in a letter filed with the Clerk on July 28, 2003.

The Viatical and Life Settlement Association of America (the "VLSAA") filed comments to the proposed revisions and a request for a hearing with the Clerk on August 1, 2003.

By Order Setting Hearing entered herein August 29, 2003, the Commission scheduled a hearing for October 8, 2003, to consider the adoption of the revisions to the Rules Governing Viatical Settlement Providers and Viatical Settlement Brokers proposed by the Commission's Bureau of Insurance (and attached to the Order to Take Notice).

The Bureau filed its Statements of Position in response to the comments filed by the Life Settlement Institute and the VLSAA with the Clerk on September 11, 2003.

The Bureau and the VLSAA resolved all but one of the issues raised in the VLSAA's comments prior to the hearing. The Commission conducted a hearing on October 8, 2003, wherein testimony was received from the Bureau and the VLSAA on whether and how the standard of evaluating the reasonableness of payments to insureds who are terminally or chronically ill, which is located at 14 VAC 5-71-60, should be revised.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the Commission noted that it would consider an alternative standard to the present standard set forth in 14 VAC 5-71-60, provided the parties could agree upon an alternative standard. The Bureau and the VLSAA have been unable to reach agreement on this issue.

The Bureau, citing the need for rules to administer and support the Viatical Settlements Act, which was effective on July 1, 2003, has recommended that the revisions originally proposed by the Bureau and attached to the Order to Take Notice, amended as reflected in the Bureau's Exhibit #2 entered at the October 8, 2003, hearing, which are the revisions to the rules that are attached hereto, be adopted; and

THE COMMISSION, having considered the proposed revisions, the testimony at the October 8, 2003, hearing, and the Bureau's recommendation, is of the opinion that the attached revisions to the rules should be adopted.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The revisions to Chapter 71 of Title 14 of the Virginia Administrative Code entitled "Rules Governing Viatical Settlement Providers and Viatical Settlement Brokers," which amend the rules at 14 VAC 5-71-10, 14 VAC 5-71-20, 14 VAC 5-71-40, 14 VAC 5-71-60, 14 VAC 5-71-70, and 14 VAC 5-71-90, propose new rules at 14 VAC 5-71-31, 14 VAC 5-71-35, 14 VAC 5-71-91, 14 VAC 5-71-92, and 14 VAC 5-71-93, and repeal the rules at 14 VAC 5-71-30 and 14 VAC 5-71-80, and which are attached hereto and made a part hereof, should be, and they are hereby, ADOPTED to be effective November 1, 2003.

(2) AN ATTESTED COPY hereof shall be sent by the Clerk of the Commission to the Bureau of Insurance in care of Deputy Commissioner Douglas C. Stolte, who forthwith shall give further notice of the adoption of the revisions to the rules by mailing a copy of this Order, including a copy of the attached revised rules, to all viatical settlement providers and viatical settlement brokers licensed by the Commission, and certain interested parties designated by the Bureau of Insurance.

(3) The Commission's Division of Information Resources forthwith shall cause a copy of this Order, including a copy of the attached revisions to the rules, to be forwarded to the Virginia Registrar of Regulations for appropriate publication in the Virginia Register of Regulations.

(4) On or before October 29, 2003, the Commission's Division of Information Resources shall make available this Order and the attached revisions to the rules on the Commission's website, <http://www.state.va.us/scc/caseinfo.htm>.

IMPAIRMENT ORDER

Century Indemnity Company, a foreign corporation domiciled in Pennsylvania and licensed by the Commission to transact the business of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia ("Defendant"), is required to maintain minimum capital of $1,000,000 and minimum surplus of $3,000,000.

Section 38.2-1036 of the Code of Virginia provides, inter alia, that if the Commission finds an impairment of the required minimum surplus of any foreign insurer, the Commission may order the insurer to eliminate the impairment and restore the minimum surplus to the amount required by law and may prohibit the insurer from issuing any new policies in the Commonwealth of Virginia while the impairment of its surplus exists.

The Quarterly Financial Statement of Defendant, dated September 30, 2003, and filed with the Commission's Bureau of Insurance, indicates capital of $4,250,000 and surplus of $21,240,736.

By Affidavit of Gregory D. Walker, Supervisor of the Financial Analysis Section of the Financial Regulation Division of the Bureau of Insurance, dated December 3, 2003, and filed in the Office of the Clerk of the Commission on December 3, 2003, Mr. Walker states that under §§ 38.2-1301 and 38.2-1314 of the Code of Virginia and the Statement of Statutory Accounting Principle No. 65 of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual, Volume 1, an insurer is not permitted to discount loss and loss expense reserves on a nontabular basis, as Defendant had done and which was reflected on Page 9 of Defendant's Quarterly Statement in the amount of $701,643,000. Defendant's reported surplus, therefore, must be adjusted by the amount of $701,643,000, resulting in an adjusted surplus of negative $680,402,264.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT, on or before March 4, 2004, Defendant eliminate the impairment in its surplus and restore the same to at least $3,000,000 and advise the Commission of the accomplishment thereof by affidavit of Defendant's president or other authorized officer.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED THAT Defendant shall issue no new contracts or policies of insurance in the Commonwealth of Virginia while the impairment of Defendant's surplus exists and until further order of the Commission.

APPLICATION OF
ADELPHIA BUSINESS SOLUTIONS OF VIRGINIA, LLC

For review and correction of the assessment of the value of property subject to local taxation-Tax Year 2000

FINAL ORDER

Before the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") is the application of Adelpia Business Solutions of Virginia, LLC ("Adelpia"), for review and correction of the assessment of the value of property owned, used, or operated by its predecessor in interest, Hyperion Telecommunications of Virginia, Inc., for tax year 2000, which was docketed as Case No. PST-2000-00002. Also before us is Adelpia's application for review and correction of the assessment of the value of property owned, used, or operated by its predecessor in interest, MediaOne of Virginia, for tax year 2000, which was docketed as Case No. PST-2000-00003.

By Orders entered in both cases on March 12, 2002, and April 12, 2002, the Commission docketed the applications, as supplemented, and directed Adelpia to give notice to counties and cities whose revenues might be affected by its applications. The City of Charlottesville and Henrico County filed timely notices of participation as respondents in Case No. PST-2000-00002 and Case No. PST-2000-00003, and the City of Norfolk filed a timely notice of participation in Case No. PST-2000-00002. The City of Richmond moved for leave to file out of time its notices of participation in both cases.

On July 7, 2003, Adelpia filed in both cases a Stipulation and Recommendation joined by all parties and the Commission Staff. The parties and Staff represent that the Stipulation and Recommendation addressed all outstanding issues in this proceeding. Upon consideration of Adelpia's applications, as supplemented, and the Stipulation and Recommendation, and the record in both cases, the Commission will grant Adelpia's applications as discussed below.

On May 28, 2002, Adelpia filed in both proceedings affidavits of service of copies of its application and the Commission's orders. The Commission finds that proper notice of the application was given.

In the Stipulation and Recommendation, at 7, the parties and the Staff waive any objection to the City of Richmond's participation as a respondent. Accordingly, the Commission will grant Richmond's motions and accept its notices of participation as a respondent to both applications.

As the parties and Staff related in the Stipulation and Recommendation at 1-5, Adelpia, its predecessors in interest, and various affiliates concluded a series of transactions and reorganizations in 1999 and 2000. The parties accepted the results of the Staff investigation, which showed that some property subject to the Commission's assessment of value had been reported for assessment of value twice. In addition, the Staff determined that some property located in Henrico County had been reported as located in the City of Richmond. The parties and the Staff also reached agreement on the corrected values for property addressed in both applications. Stipulation and Recommendation at 6,7. The Commission will accept the recommendation, and we will correct our assessments of the value of Adelpia's property.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT

(1) The application of Adelpia for review and correction of the assessment of the value of property owned, used, or operated by its predecessor in interest, Hyperion Telecommunications of Virginia, Inc., for tax year 2000 and docketed as Case No. PST-2000-00002 is granted.

(2) The application of Adelpia for review and correction of the assessment of the value of property owned, used, or operated by its predecessor in interest, MediaOne of Virginia, for tax year 2000 and docketed as Case No. PST-2000-00002 is granted.

(3) The City of Richmond's Motion to Accept Notice of Participation as Respondent filed June 24, 2002, is granted.

JANUARY 10, 2003

JOINT PETITION OF
CORECOMM VIRGINIA, INC.
ATX TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICES OF VIRGINIA, LLC

For approval of transfers of control

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On August 30, 2002, CoreComm Virginia, Inc. ("CoreComm VA"), and ATX Telecommunications of Virginia, LLC ("ATX") (collectively, the "Petitioners"), completed their joint petition originally filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on March 18, 2002. In that petition, CoreComm VA and ATX request approval of transfers of control, pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia, for corporate restructuring at the parent level, which became effective December 28, 2001. On October 18, 2002, Petitioners filed an amendment to the joint petition to reflect the final transaction in the corporate restructuring, which became effective July 1, 2002.

By Order dated October 29, 2002, the Commission extended the time for review of issues in this case through December 28, 2002. By Order dated December 23, 2002, the Commission extended the time for review of issues in this case through January 17, 2003.

CoreComm VA is a Virginia corporation that holds certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local (Certificate No. T-456) and long distance (Certificate No. TT-75A) telecommunications services in Virginia pursuant to a Commission Order dated August 10, 1999, in Case No. PUC-1999-00027. ATX is a Virginia corporation that holds a certificate of public convenience and necessity (Certificate No. T-388a) to provide local exchange telecommunications in Virginia pursuant to Commission Order dated December 15, 2000, in Case No. PUC-2000-00228. CoreComm Limited ("CoreComm Ltd.") is the parent of CoreComm VA and ATX.

CoreComm VA maintains a legacy customer base of commercial customers but does not currently market services in Virginia. ATX provides integrated access of broadband connectivity to commercial accounts in Virginia, offering a full range of telecommunications services including long distance, local, toll-free, Internet access, and voice and data private lines.

CoreComm Ltd. provides integrated local and toll-related telephone, Internet and high-speed data services to business and residential customers located principally in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, Michigan, Wisconsin, Maryland, Illinois, New York, Virginia, Delaware, Massachusetts, Washington, D.C., and Indiana.

The Petitioners seek approval of transactions involving transfers of control resulting from a corporate debt restructuring of CoreComm Ltd. Those transactions took place on December 28, 2001, and July 1, 2002. The restructuring was a debt recapitalization that involved the conversion of debt and preferred stock of CoreComm Ltd. into common stock of CoreComm Holdco. As a result of the restructuring, CoreComm Ltd. became a wholly owned subsidiary of CoreComm Holdco. CoreComm Ltd. also conveyed control of its operating subsidiaries, including CoreComm VA and ATX, to CoreComm Holdco.

Both CoreComm Ltd. and CoreComm Holdco are Delaware corporations with headquarters in Pennsylvania. Effective July 15, 2002, CoreComm Holdco changed its name to ATX Communications, Inc.

The Petitioners represent that the transfers of control do not affect the ability of Core Comm VA or ATX to continue to provide telecommunications services in Virginia. CoreComm VA and ATX will continue to provide services in Virginia under the same names, tariffs, and operating authority.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the transactions, as described herein, involving transfers of control will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- 1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, approval is hereby granted for the transfer of control of CoreComm VA and ATX, as described herein.
- 2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it is hereby dismissed.

On February 28, 2003, the Supreme Court of Virginia issued an Order upon the appeal of the above-captioned case and the Order entered upon by the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on August 22, 2001. MARCH 7, 2003

APPLICATION OF
VERIZON SOUTH INC.

For approval of its Tariff Filing to Introduce Collocation Service

ORDER ACCEPTING REVISION FILED
FEBRUARY 11, 2003, TO COLLOCATION
SERVICE TARIFF ON INTERIM BASIS AND REQUESTING ADDITIONAL COMMENTS

The Collocation Service Tariff filed by Verizon South Inc. ("Verizon South" or "Company") was approved by the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on an interim basis on February 29, 2000.¹ On February 11, 2003, Verizon South filed a further revision to its Collocation Service Tariff ("February 11, 2003, tariff revision"). The effective date of the February 11, 2003, tariff revision is March 13, 2003.

According to the Company's February 11, 2003, tariff revision, Verizon South's Collocation Service Tariff is being amended to:

clarify terms and conditions for various aspects of Collocation. Specifically, the following areas are being amended: termination of collocation arrangements, implementation of collocation charges, casualty, equipment specifications, testing, application procedures, and non-compliant installations.²

The Commission finds that the February 11, 2003, tariff revision should be accepted on an interim basis effective March 13, 2003. Furthermore, the Commission recognizes that considerable time has passed since docketing this case and that a number of revisions to the Company's Collocation Service Tariff have been implemented on an interim basis. Therefore, the Commission also requests that Verizon South and other interested parties file comments advising how the Commission should proceed in this case to refresh the record. We are particularly interested in the parties' position on whether we should consider requiring Verizon South to initiate settlement negotiations with interested parties to resolve (or at a minimum, identify) the current issues in this proceeding.³

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Verizon South's February 11, 2003, tariff revision is hereby approved on an interim basis, effective March 13, 2003, subject to refunds of collocation charges and/or modifications in terms and conditions.

² See cover letter at p. 2, February 11, 2003, tariff revision.

³ The Commission notes that settlement was ultimately reached on Verizon Virginia Inc.'s Collocation Tariff in Case No. PUC-1999-00101 (See Order Approving Settlement Agreement Filed on February 1, 2002, issued June 28, 2002).

(2) Verizon South shall serve upon all parties having previously filed comments, as well as the Attorney General, copies of its February 11, 2003, tariff revision within ten (10) days from the date of this Order. Verizon South shall promptly furnish a copy of its February 11, 2003, tariff revision to any person requesting a copy. Requests may be directed to Lydia R. Pulley, Vice President, Secretary, and General Counsel, Verizon South Inc., 600 East Main Street, Suite 1100, Richmond, Virginia 23219-2441.

(3) Any interested party is granted leave to file comments on Verizon South's February 11, 2003, tariff revision on or before April 4, 2003, serving all parties having previously commented in this case.

(4) Verizon South and any interested party may file comments on other procedural matters raised herein on or before April 4, 2003, serving all parties having previously commented in this case.

(5) This matter is continued generally.

MARCH 17, 2003

APPLICATION OF
MCI WORLDCOM COMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

To accept tariff filing

ORDER OF DISMISSAL

On August 22, 2001, by Final Order in Case No. PUC-1999-00157, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") found that the Maximum Security Collect service provided by MCI WorldCom Communications of Virginia, Inc. ("MCI WorldCom" or the "Company") was not exempt from our jurisdiction and that the rates charged for this service since January 1, 1999, were not in conformance with the Company's filed tariff. The Commission's Final Order in Case No. PUC-1999-00157 further directed the Company to file an accounting of its charges to customers receiving the Maximum Security Collect service for the period of January 1, 1999, through August 31, 2000, and to file new rates and charges for its Maximum Security Collect service, with support cost data based upon the ratemaking provisions of Chapter 10 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia. Accordingly, this docketed case was opened to receive the above-described filings by the Company.¹

The Company subsequently appealed the Commission's Final Order of August 22, 2001, in Case No. PUC-1999-00157 for lack of jurisdiction by this Commission over the Maximum Security Collect service. On February 28, 2003, the Supreme Court of Virginia issued an Order holding that the Commission did not have jurisdiction and reversed the Final Order and dismissed the complaint.²

The Commission, having dismissed Case No. PUC-1999-00157 by separate Order, now dismisses this case.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT this case is hereby dismissed and the papers of this case placed in the file for ended causes.

¹ The Company's filings in this case were suspended by the Commission's Order Granting Partial Suspension of Order issued February 19, 2002.

DISMISSAL ORDER

On October 31, 2001, Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia") and DSL.net Communications VA, Inc. d/b/a DSL.net ("DSL.net"),¹ filed an interconnection agreement ("Agreement"), entered under §§ 251 and 252 of the Telecommunications Act of 1996 ("the Act"), 47 U.S.C. §§ 251 and 252, for State Corporation Commission ("Commission") approval pursuant to § 252(e) of the Act, 47 U.S.C. § 252(e). This Agreement was approved by Order Approving Agreement dated January 8, 2002, in Case No. PUC-2001-00223.

On April 30, 2003, Verizon Virginia and DSL.net filed a joint application for approval of an interconnection agreement between Verizon Virginia and DSL.net. This Agreement was assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00084 and approved on May 27, 2003. In a letter dated July 15, 2003, a representative of Verizon Virginia stated that Verizon Virginia inadvertently omitted in its April 30, 2003, filing a statement that the Agreement filed in Case No. PUC-2003-00084 superseded this earlier agreement between the parties.

NOW THE COMMISSION finds that the agreement approved in Case No. PUC-2001-00223 has been replaced by the Agreement approved in Case No. PUC-2003-00084. Therefore, we find that Case No. PUC-2001-00223 should be dismissed.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT the agreement approved in Case No. PUC-2003-00084 shall supersede the agreement approved in Case No. PUC-2001-00223. The captioned matter is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Ex Parte: Establishment of a Performance Assurance Plan for Verizon Virginia Inc.

ORDER MODIFYING AND APPROVING REVISIONS TO THE PERFORMANCE
ASSURANCE PLAN OF VERIZON VIRGINIA INC. FILED MARCH 7, 2003

On October 30, 2001, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") initiated a proceeding docketed in Case No. PUC-2001-00206 to establish performance standards for Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia") and further determined that it would consider all proposals for a remedy or performance assurance plan for Verizon Virginia in a separately docketed case, PUC-2001-00226, which was established by Preliminary Order in this case on November 9, 2001.

On July 18, 2002, the Commission approved and adopted Verizon Virginia's performance assurance plan effective October 1, 2002 (hereinafter "VA PAP").

On February 13, 2002, Verizon Virginia filed a notice letter and proposed revisions of the VA PAP with the Commission. In accordance with the VA PAP, the proposed revisions are based on changes to the New York Performance Assurance Plan ("NY PAP").

On March 4, 2003, the Commission issued a Procedural Order on Proposed Revisions to the Performance Assurance Plan of Verizon Virginia Inc. Filed February 13, 2003. This Order requested comments by March 31, 2003, and reply comments by April 18, 2003. Subsequent to the issuance of the above-mentioned Order, Verizon Virginia filed on March 7, 2003, corrections to its proposed revisions to the VA PAP filed on February 13, 2003, and requested that such corrected copy be deemed to supersede its February 13, 2003, filing. On March 12, 2003, the Commission issued an Order of Amendment granting Verizon Virginia's request that the corrected proposed revisions filed on March 7, 2003, be deemed to supersede the proposed revisions filed on February 13, 2003, and amending the comment and reply comment dates to April 7, 2003, and April 23, 2003, respectively.

On April 7, 2003, the Staff of the Commission and Verizon Virginia filed comments on the proposed revisions to the VA PAP. In its comments, the Staff had two immediate concerns with the applicability of certain provisions of the NY PAP to the VA PAP. The first concern was with the proposed revisions to the distribution of bill credits among the Mode of Entry ("MOE") measures in the VA PAP. The proposed revisions increased the MOE categories to five by splitting the UNE category into two – UNE-Loop and UNE-Platform. The Staff did not object to the new category designations but raised concerns about the distribution of bill credits to each of the five categories and, particularly, the distribution to the UNE-Loop and UNE-Platform categories. Verizon Virginia's proposed revisions are based on the NY PAP and the distribution used in the NY PAP, which the Staff believes is based on the structure of the competitive environment in New York. The Staff believes that the distribution of MOE bill credits in the VA PAP should be based on Virginia's marketplace and not New York's. The Staff proposes that the split of total UNE dollars to the two separate categories (i.e., UNE-Platform and UNE-Loop) be no more than 60/40, with 60% going to the UNE-Platform category and 40% going to the UNE-Loop category. This is not the specific breakdown of the Virginia marketplace at present; however, it takes into consideration the rapid growth and importance of UNE-Platform use in Virginia.

The Staff's second concern was with the proposed new language in Appendix D of the VA PAP that specifies if a competitive local exchange carrier ("CLEC") has concerns with the sample size criteria or a small sample shows the metric as being "out of parity" after a permutation test is run, the Carrier Working Group would be the proper forum to address the CLECs' concerns. Staff notes, however, that there is no such Carrier Working Group in Virginia. Therefore, Staff suggested in its comments that either the Performance Standards/Remedies Plans Subcommittee of the Collaborative Committee ("Subcommittee") or the Commission Staff would be two alternatives to the referenced Carrier Working Group for Virginia.

Verizon Virginia's comments filed on April 7, 2003, urged the Commission to adopt the VA PAP filed by it on March 7, 2003. Verizon Virginia also states that its proposed implementation schedule should be adopted.

On April 23, 2003, Verizon Virginia and Cavalier Telephone, LLC ("Cavalier") filed comments on the proposed revisions to the VA PAP. Both of these parties commented on the Staff's suggestions in its comments of April 7, 2003.

In its reply comments, Verizon Virginia agreed with the Staff that the distribution of dollars for the UNE-Loop and UNE-Platform MOEs should be more reflective of the Virginia marketplace and that a 60/40 split was better than what it proposed in its filing. As an alternative, Verizon Virginia stated that a 50/50 split may be acceptable as this would provide that neither MOE category would be preferred over the other in the VA PAP. Verizon Virginia also states that the Commission may want to consider reallocating the dollars-at-risk for UNE-Loop and UNE-Platform under the Critical Measures section of the proposed VA PAP. Verizon Virginia believes that the allocation under the Critical Measures section should follow the same split as is determined for the MOE section of the VA PAP.

As for the Staff's concern over the language in Appendix D of the proposed VA PAP revisions, Verizon Virginia does not object to either the Subcommittee or the Commission being called upon, thus replacing the Carrier Working Group language in the proposed VA PAP revisions.

Cavalier's comments also focused on the Staff's suggestion on how to redistribute the MOE dollars-at-risk between the two new UNE categories. Cavalier strongly believes that the dollars-at-risk should be reflective of the actual marketplace in Virginia. Based on the latest data found by Cavalier, which was the data from Verizon Virginia's Section 271 filing showing a split of 98.6% to UNE-Loop and 1.4% UNE-Platform, Cavalier urges that the allocation should be made thus. Cavalier admits that this data is outdated and if more current information is available, then this actual data should be used to determine the dollars-at-risk for the two UNE categories in the MOE section of the VA PAP. Cavalier believes that even the Staff's recommendation distorts the actual picture of Virginia's current marketplace. Cavalier also believes that based on the Federal Communications Commission's ("FCC") pending triennial review, the UNE-Platform market entry strategy apparently is being phased out; therefore, the UNE-Loop MOE should be favored in the VA PAP.

On April 25, 2003, AT&T Communications of Virginia, LLC ("AT&T") filed a Motion for Leave to File and Response of AT&T requesting that it be allowed to file a response to Verizon Virginia's and Cavalier's comments filed on April 23, 2003. AT&T asserts that because Verizon Virginia and Cavalier filed comments that introduced two new proposals from the one put forth by the Staff in its April 7, 2003, comments, AT&T should be allowed the opportunity to respond to these new proposals. AT&T also states that its late-filed response would not delay the proceeding as it was only being filed two days after the comments in question. There being no objection, we now grant AT&T's motion.

In its late-filed response, AT&T states that the level of growth in the UNE-Platform mode of entry is substantial and that the allocation of dollars in the MOE section of the VA PAP should reflect this, and the Staff's 60/40 split is "reasonable and forward-looking." AT&T does not believe that the 50/50 split proposed by Verizon Virginia is reflective of the importance of UNE-Platform to local exchange competition and that this split may be outdated in the year that this proposed VA PAP revision may be in effect. AT&T dismisses Cavalier's suggested split as being outdated.

AT&T does not believe that the Critical Measures section should be adjusted at this time for two reasons: (1) no other party has been able to comment on this suggestion; and (2) a 50/50 split would ignore the rapid growth of UNE-Platform. If the Commission does decide to reallocate the dollars, then AT&T maintains it should do so using a 60/40 split of UNE-Platform versus UNE-Loop.

AT&T dismisses Cavalier's suggestion that UNE-Platform may not be viable much longer due to the FCC's pending Triennial Review Order. AT&T points out that Cavalier is relying upon the dissenting opinion of the Chairman of the FCC and that in any event, the impact of the anticipated Triennial Review Order upon the proliferation of UNE-Platform is likely to be delayed.

Finally, AT&T believes that the language in Appendix D of the proposed VA PAP should be changed to refer matters to the Subcommittee. AT&T believes that the issues that may arise from this section of the VA PAP are "not conducive to resolution in the first instance by the Commission."

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the proposed revisions to the VA PAP, the comments, reply comments, and response, finds that the proposed revisions to the VA PAP filed on March 7, 2003, should be adopted with certain modifications as set forth below.

The Commission agrees with the commenters that the distribution of dollars-at-risk in the VA PAP should be reflective of the Virginia marketplace and not New York's. As such, the division of bill credits for the two UNE categories, UNE-Platform and UNE-Loop, in the MOE section of the VA PAP should be set at a 60/40 split. While the current Virginia marketplace has more UNE-Loops than UNE-Platform, the substantial acceleration of UNE-Platform in Virginia warrants a somewhat greater allocation of dollars-at-risk than to UNE-Loop, for which the rate of growth has slowed significantly. The 60/40 split is also more forward-looking as AT&T points out and recognizes the increasing importance of UNE-Platform in Virginia as required by the VA PAP.¹

The Commission declines to consider reallocation of the dollars-at-risk under the Critical Measures Section at this time.

As for the language in Appendix D of the proposed VA PAP, the Commission finds that the language should be modified to read the "Performance Standards/Remedies Plans Subcommittee of the Collaborative Committee" in place of all references to the Carrier Working Group. However, if a timely resolution cannot be reached in the Subcommittee, the parties may seek resolution from the Commission.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) AT&T's Motion for Leave to File Response is granted.
- (2) Verizon Virginia's corrected proposed revisions to the VA PAP, filed on March 7, 2003, are approved, effective July 1, 2003, consistent with the modifications found above.
- (3) Verizon Virginia is hereby ordered to file a revised VA PAP incorporating the Commission's findings approved herein on or before June 6, 2003.
- (4) This case shall be continued.

JUNE 19, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Ex Parte: Establishment of a Performance Assurance Plan for Verizon Virginia Inc.

ORDER ON VERIZON VIRGINIA INC.'S PETITION FOR WAIVER OF CERTAIN SERVICE QUALITY RESULTS MEASURED UNDER THE PERFORMANCE ASSURANCE PLAN

On March 17, 2003, Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia" or "Company") filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") a Petition for Waiver of Certain Service Quality Results Measured Under the Performance Assurance Plan for January 2003 ("Petition"). The service performance results it sought to waive for January 2003 would otherwise be included in Verizon Virginia's calculation of monthly bill credits due to Competitive Local Exchange Carriers ("CLECs") pursuant to Verizon Virginia's Performance Assurance Plan ("VA PAP").

On March 24, 2003, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Comment allowing interested parties the opportunity to file comments regarding Verizon Virginia's Petition and allowing Verizon Virginia to file reply comments.

On April 9, 2003, AT&T Communications of Virginia, LLC ("AT&T"), and WorldCom, Inc. ("WorldCom"), filed comments in opposition to Verizon Virginia's Petition. On April 18, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed its reply comments. In the reply, Verizon Virginia reiterates its position that it has met the PAP criteria for a waiver, and it should be granted in this instance. Also on April 18, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed a Request for Stay. The Commission granted the Stay request on April 25, 2003, and requested additional information from Verizon Virginia.

The additional information requested mirrored information requested by the New York Public Service Commission. This concerned Verizon Virginia's "patch management" practices and what it had done in response to the bulletins labeled as critical by Microsoft that were related to vulnerabilities in Verizon Virginia's servers.

On May 2, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed Verizon New York Inc.'s May 2, 2003, Revised Supplemental Comments ("supplemental revised comments") in the instant case to satisfy this Commission's request.

On May 9, 2003, and May 12, 2003, respectively, WorldCom and AT&T together with Cavalier Telephone, LLC, filed responses to Verizon Virginia's supplemental revised comments.

On May 16, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed its response to the comments filed on May 12, 2003, and May 9, 2003.

On June 6, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed a Withdrawal of its Application ("Withdrawal Application"). The Withdrawal Application states its request to withdraw the March 17, 2003, petition filed pursuant to Section II.J of the VA PAP.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the Petition, comments, reply comments, supplemental revised comments and responses thereto, and the Withdrawal Application finds that the waiver request filed by Verizon Virginia should be withdrawn.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petition filed by Verizon Virginia on March 17, 2003, is hereby withdrawn.
- (2) The Stay granted by the Commission on April 25, 2003, is hereby dissolved.
- (3) Verizon Virginia is ordered to provide to the Staff and all competitive local exchange carriers a final VA PAP report for January 2003 that includes the effects of the Slammer Worm attack within ninety (90) days of the date of this Order.
- (4) Verizon Virginia should process the bill credits due, along with the appropriate interest as directed below, within thirty (30) days of the submission of the final January 2003 VA PAP report ordered above.
- (5) Interest upon the bill credits shall be computed from the date payment was originally due until the date the bill credits are made, at an average prime rate for each calendar quarter. The applicable average prime rate for each calendar quarter shall be the arithmetic mean, to the nearest one-hundredth of one percent, of the prime rate values published in the Federal Reserve Bulletin, or in the Federal Reserve's Selected Interest Rates (Statistical Release G.13), for the three months of the preceding calendar quarter.

- (6) The interest required to be paid shall be compounded quarterly.
- (7) This case shall be continued.

AUGUST 1, 2003

PETITION OF
PULASKI EXCHANGE CUSTOMERS

For Extended Local Service from Verizon Virginia Inc.'s Pulaski Exchange to its Blacksburg and Christiansburg Exchanges

FINAL ORDER

On March 22, 2002, telephone customers in Verizon Virginia Inc.'s ("Verizon Virginia") Pulaski Exchange petitioned the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for Extended Local Service ("ELS") to Verizon Virginia's Blacksburg Exchange. Also, on September 16, 2002, telephone customers in Verizon Virginia's Pulaski Exchange petitioned the Commission for ELS to the Christiansburg Exchange.

On October 8, 2002, the Commission issued an Order directing Verizon Virginia to prepare a cost study to estimate the approximate change in the monthly rate for service that would result from the requested extension of local service. Verizon Virginia was also directed to poll its customers in the Pulaski Exchange regarding their willingness to pay higher rates for local calling to the Blacksburg and Christiansburg exchanges. Pending a successful ballot in the Pulaski Exchange, Verizon Virginia was directed to conduct a cost study to determine the impact on rates for its Blacksburg and Christiansburg exchanges for ELS to the Pulaski Exchange.

Verizon Virginia submitted the results of its Pulaski Exchange cost study to the Commission Staff on October 8, 2002, and submitted the results of its poll on December 31, 2002. The majority of those responding supported the proposal.

On April 4, 2003, Verizon Virginia submitted the cost studies used to determine the monthly rates for extended local calling from the Blacksburg and Christiansburg exchanges to the Pulaski Exchange. Because the resulting rate increase for one-party residential customers did not exceed five percent of the existing monthly one-party residential flat rate for the Blacksburg and Christiansburg exchanges, a poll of these customers was not required pursuant to § 56-484.2 of the Code of Virginia.

By Order dated May 1, 2003, the Commission directed Verizon Virginia to provide notice of the proposed increase in monthly rates in newspapers of general circulation in the Blacksburg and Christiansburg exchanges. Affected telephone customers were given until June 27, 2003, to file comments or request a hearing on the proposal. Eight comments were filed by Blacksburg and Christiansburg customers opposing the ELS proposal, and 23 customers requested a hearing. Verizon Virginia provided proof of newspaper publication on June 5, 2003.

On July 11, 2003, the Commission Staff filed its report recommending approval of the extension of local service. In its report, the Staff noted that the number of requests for hearing did not meet the threshold for convening a hearing as described in the Commission's May 1, 2003, Order.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The proposed extension of local service from Verizon Virginia's Pulaski Exchange to its Blacksburg and Christiansburg exchanges with reciprocal calling from the Blacksburg and Christiansburg exchanges to the Pulaski Exchange shall be implemented.
- (2) Verizon Virginia shall file the tariff revisions necessary for the proposed extension of local service.
- (3) Since there is nothing further to come before the Commission, this case is dismissed and removed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

MARCH 12, 2003

PETITION OF
UNITED TELEPHONE – SOUTHEAST, INC.

For Extended Local Service from United Telephone-Southeast, Inc.'s Saltville Exchange to its Glade Spring, Meadowview, and Abingdon Exchanges

FINAL ORDER

In December 2001, telephone customers in United Telephone-Southeast, Inc.'s ("United") Saltville Exchange petitioned the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for Extended Local Service ("ELS") to United's Glade Spring, Meadowview, and Abingdon Exchanges. On March 12, 2002, the Commission received from United a cost study for the Saltville Exchange that was used to estimate the change in monthly rates that would result from the requested extension of local service.

On July 16, 2002, the Commission issued an Order directing United to poll its Saltville Exchange customers to determine whether a majority of those customers were willing to pay an increase in rates for local calling to the Glade Spring, Meadowview, and Abingdon Exchanges. United submitted the results of its poll to the Staff on September 25, 2002. The majority of those responding supported the proposal.

On November 5, 2002, United submitted the cost studies used to determine the monthly rates for extended local calling from the Abingdon, Meadowview, and Glade Spring Exchanges to the Saltville Exchange. Because the resulting rate increase for one-party residential customers did not exceed five percent of the existing monthly one-party residential flat rate for the Abingdon Exchange, a poll of these customers was not required pursuant to § 56-484.2 of the Code of Virginia. A wires cost study also indicated that a poll was required in the Glade Spring and Meadowview Exchanges.

Pursuant to the provisions of § 56-484.2 of the Code of Virginia, by Order dated January 6, 2003, the Commission directed United to poll its Glade Spring and Meadowview Exchange customers to determine whether a majority of those customers would be willing to pay an increase in rates for local calling to its Saltville Exchange. The Order further directed United to file the results of its poll with the Commission on or before March 13, 2003.

On January 30, 2003, United filed the results of both polls. United noted that 2,383 ballots were mailed to its Meadowview Exchange customers and 677 (28.41 percent) were returned. The results further reflect that of the ballots returned, 307 (45.35 percent) voted "yes," and 370 (54.65 percent) voted "no." In its filing concerning the Glade Spring Exchange, United noted that 1,584 ballots were mailed to its Glade Spring Exchange customers and 489 (30.87 percent) were returned. The results further reflect that, of the ballots returned, 203 (41.51 percent) voted "yes," and 286 (58.49 percent) voted "no."

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the matter, is of the opinion and finds that because a majority of Meadowview Exchange and Glade Spring Exchange customers voted against extension of local service to the Saltville Exchange, the petition should be denied.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The petition is hereby denied.
- (2) There being nothing further to be done in this matter, this matter is hereby dismissed.

CASE NO. PUC-2002-00087
MAY 14, 2003

APPLICATION OF
CRG INTERNATIONAL OF VIRGINIA, INC. d/b/a NETWORK ONE

For discontinuance of local exchange telecommunications services and cancellation of certificate of public convenience and necessity

ORDER

On May 9, 2003, the Staff of the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") filed a motion requesting that the Commission cancel the certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services held by CRG International of Virginia, Inc. d/b/a Network One ("Network One" or the "Company"). Certificate No. T-401 was granted by the Commission by Order dated February 17, 1998, in Case No. PUC-1997-00023.

By Order dated August 12, 2002, the Commission granted Network One permission to discontinue local exchange telecommunications services. The Commission further required the Company to advise the Division of Communications within 120 days regarding the cancellation of its certificate. To date, Network One has not provided any response to the Commission. The Staff advises that attempts to contact Network One for information have failed and that former representatives of the Company have indicated that the Company has filed for bankruptcy and discontinued operations.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the matter, the Commission finds that Staff's motion should be granted, and Network One's certificate should be cancelled.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Staff's motion is hereby granted.
- (2) Certificate No. T-401 is hereby cancelled.
- (3) This matter is hereby dismissed.

JANUARY 31, 2003

PETITION OF CAVALIER TELEPHONE, LLC
v.
VERIZON VIRGINIA INC.

For enforcement of interconnection agreement

FINAL ORDER

On April 19, 2002, Cavalier Telephone, LLC ("Cavalier"), filed a Petition for Enforcement of Interconnection Agreement with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission"). Cavalier requested that the Commission enforce certain terms of an interconnection agreement it has entered into with Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia"). Verizon Virginia filed a responsive pleading to the petition on May 10, 2002, and also moved the Commission to dismiss the matter.

On May 22, 2002, the Commission issued an Order permitting Cavalier to reply to Verizon Virginia's pleading by May 31, 2002, and continued the matter generally. Cavalier filed its reply to Verizon Virginia's response on May 24, 2002. Verizon Virginia filed a reply to Cavalier's response on June 3, 2002.

On November 7, 2002, the Commission issued an Order requesting that the parties file additional comments addressing specific questions raised in the Order. Both Cavalier and Verizon Virginia filed comments on these questions on December 2, 2002, and reply comments on December 16, 2002.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the pleadings, declines to rule on the issues raised in Cavalier's petition. The principle dispute between the parties involves the interpretation of the Second Amendment to the Interconnection Agreement ("Agreement"). In general, the Commission believes that purely contractual disputes may be more appropriately addressed by courts of general jurisdiction.¹

In this instance, we sought additional information from Cavalier and Verizon Virginia in our November 7, 2002, Order, primarily to determine whether the quality of service provided to end user customers would be impacted if Cavalier and Verizon Virginia converted the existing two-way trunks to one-way trunks. However, in both Cavalier's and Verizon Virginia's December 2, 2002, comments, the parties note that by letter dated November 22, 2002, Cavalier provided Verizon Virginia 60 days' written notice that it wished to terminate the Second Amendment to the Agreement. Because the Second Amendment – which is the subject of this petition – was terminated on or about January 21, 2003, the service quality concerns may no longer be appropriately addressed in this case.² It appears that since the Second Amendment has been terminated, the remaining issue between the parties relates only to payments claimed to be due under the contract. Because this dispute is primarily one of contractual interpretation, and considering the limitations on the Commission's authority to award money damages, we believe these issues are more appropriately resolved by the courts of general jurisdiction.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The petition filed by Cavalier herein is hereby dismissed without prejudice.
- (2) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this matter is dismissed from the docket, and the record developed herein shall be placed in the file for ended causes.

² If, however, cancellation of the Second Amendment results in the elimination of two-way trunking arrangements between the parties, which in turn causes increased network blockage, the Commission may always initiate an investigation in a separate proceeding, if necessary.

FEBRUARY 20, 2003

APPLICATION OF
CLM TELCOM LLC

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On December 2, 2002, CLM Telcom LLC ("CLM" or the "Company") completed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

By Order dated December 10, 2002, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. On January 16, 2003, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the December 10, 2002, Order.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

On February 5, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that CLM's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service and the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers. Based upon its review of CLM's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services subject to the following condition: should CLM collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and of any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services. Having considered § 56-481.1, the Commission further finds that the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) CLM Telcom LLC is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-188A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) CLM Telcom LLC is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-604, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(3) Pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia, the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

(4) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations.

(5) Should CLM collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and of any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

(6) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

JUNE 24, 2003

PETITION OF AMERICAN FIBER NETWORK OF VIRGINIA, INC.

For an extension of time to submit audited financial statements

ORDER GRANTING REQUEST

On June 23, 2000, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") issued its Final Order granting American Fiber Network of Virginia, Inc. ("AFN" or the "Company"), a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the condition that the Company "provide to the Division of Economics and Finance audited financial statements of its parent, American Fiber Network, Inc., no later than one (1) year from the effective date of AFN's initial tariff."

On May 24, 2002, the Commission issued an Order granting AFN an extension of time until May 6, 2003, for it to submit audited financial statements to the Staff.

On June 13, 2003, AFN filed a letter with the Clerk of the Commission requesting a waiver of the requirement to file audited financial statements. In its letter, AFN states that accounting difficulties have caused it to miss the May 6, 2003, deadline. AFN requests authority to file a $50,000 performance bond in lieu of submitting audited financial statements.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the request and all applicable statutes and rules, finds that it should be granted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) AFN's request for waiver of the requirement to file audited financial statements is granted.

(3) AFN shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance by letter thirty (30) days prior to each instance of cancellation or lapse of the bond prescribed in ordering paragraph (2) above and shall provide a replacement bond.

APRIL 9, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Ex Parte: In the matter of regulations governing competitive local exchange carriers, localities as competitive local exchange carriers, and local inter-carrier matters

ORDER ADOPTING RULES

On October 15, 2002, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") issued an Order for Notice and Comment and/or Requests for Hearing on Proposed Rules ("Notice Order") in the above referenced proceeding.

In the Notice Order, the Commission stated that it was seeking to revise the existing Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, 20 VAC 5-400-180, to reflect evolving changes in the certification process and the regulation of competitive local exchange carriers ("CLECs"), legislation to permit certification of localities to provide local exchange telecommunications services, and compliance with the requirements of the Virginia Code Commission. The Commission proposed to repeal the existing rules and divide a majority of the provisions into two new chapters. The first new chapter, 20 VAC 5-417-10, et seq., would be titled Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers ("Proposed Local Exchange Rules"). The second chapter, 20 VAC 5- 429-10, et seq., would be titled Rules Governing Compensation, Numbering, Interconnection, and Other Local Inter-Carrier Matters ("Proposed Inter-Carrier Rules"). The purpose of establishing the two sets of rules was to separate the certification and regulation of CLECs from the interconnection requirements among carriers.

The proposed rules were attached to the Notice Order, and the Commission directed that public notice be given and that interested persons be afforded an opportunity to file written comments or to request a hearing.

In response to the Notice Order, the Commission received comments from the following: Allegiance Telecom of Virginia, Inc.; Alliance for Rural Telecommunications Infrastructure ("Alliance"); AT&T Communications of Virginia, LLC ("AT&T"); the City Of Bristol; Cox Virginia Telecom, Inc. ("Cox"); LeClair Ryan, P.C.; Professional Telecommunication Consultants, Inc. ("Professional Telecommunication Consultants"); United Telephone-Southeast, Inc., Central Telephone Company of Virginia, and Sprint Communications of Virginia, Inc. (collectively, "Sprint"); Virginia Cable Television Association ("VCTA"); Verizon Virginia Inc. and Verizon South Inc. (collectively, "Verizon"); and WorldCom Inc. ("WorldCom"). One party, Sprint, requested a hearing.

With regard to the Proposed Local Exchange Rules, the comments focused on a variety of issues. Among the comments received, VCTA and Verizon called for the clarification of existing definitions or for the addition of new definitions. Alliance, AT&T, Cox, Professional Telecommunications Consultants, and VCTA expressed concerns regarding bond and escrow account requirements. Verizon proposed adopting a requirement that prevents CLECs from entering into exclusive arrangements with premises owners. Sprint offered extensive comments on the provisions applying to Municipal Local Exchange Carriers ("MLECs"). Cox, VCTA, and Verizon also offered comments on MLEC requirements. WorldCom and Sprint proposed that the Commission eliminate the price ceiling requirements for CLECs. Other comments indicated a preference for existing language in certain situations, pointed out the potential administrative burdens created by some proposed rules, or made points of clarification.

Relatively fewer comments were received on the Proposed Inter-Carrier Rules. The comments received focused on, among other things, clarification of definitions and number portability charges.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the comments filed herein, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that we should revise the Proposed Local Exchange Rules and the Proposed Inter-Carrier Rules. We find that a public hearing is not required. The final rules will provide an updated framework for the certification and regulation of CLECs. The Commission believes that without further delay we should adopt final rules to reflect necessary changes since the existing rules were adopted to provide for MLEC certification and to comply with the requirements of the Virginia Code Commission. We will, therefore, revise the proposed regulations and adopt them as final rules to be appended to this Order as Attachment 1 and Attachment 2.

We will direct that this Order and the final regulations be published in the Virginia Register of Regulations.

The revised Proposed Local Exchange Rules reflect a number of changes suggested by the persons providing comments, as well as some clarifications, corrections, or simplifications that were identified as necessary during the review process. We note, however, that we do not adopt major policy changes from those policies noticed in the Proposed Local Exchange Rules and Proposed Inter-Carrier Rules. In addition, we return to the current language of the existing rules in several instances, i.e., with regard to Commission approval of alternative pricing structures, where we agree that the proposed rule was not an improvement over the existing requirement.

Among other revisions, to ensure that additional administrative burdens are not inadvertently placed on applicants for CLEC certification, we require applicants to provide true and correct, rather than certified, copies of their organizational documents, and we provide that an entity responsible for financing an applicant may submit financial records as evidence of an applicant's financial ability. We clarify that a new entrant shall submit initial tariffs prior to offering local exchange telecommunications services and shall not provide said services until the tariffs have been accepted and are effective.

With regard to MLECs, we find it appropriate to revise the Proposed Local Exchange Rules to focus on the requirements found in § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), the statute pursuant to which the rules are promulgated. We delete proposed provisions related to other sections of the Code that may stand alone and that need not be included in the final rules. However, we recognize that HB 2397, passed by the 2003 General Assembly, would provide the Commission with additional jurisdiction. In response to comments received, we provide that an MLEC shall file data with the Division of Communications to demonstrate that, in the aggregate, revenues associated with intrastate telecommunications services cover incremental and any required imputed or allocated costs, and such filings shall be made 60 days after the end of the MLEC's calendar or fiscal year during which services began to be provided. We also provide that an MLEC shall maintain incremental cost studies.

The Commission did not incorporate all of the comments received into the final rules. Among other things, we find certain comments or suggestions to be beyond the scope of this rulemaking. We did not adopt some proposed definitions as they were unnecessary or beyond the scope of the rules to be promulgated pursuant to § 56-265.4:4 of the Code.

With regard to the proposed bond and escrow requirements, we find that such requirements are appropriate in today's market. We believe that such requirements should afford customers with some recourse should a CLEC have operational difficulties or unexpectedly cease to provide service. We note that should an applicant believe that it should not be required to provide a bond or escrow account, the applicant may request a waiver of the rules. Indeed, an applicant always has the option to request a waiver of any provision of the rules. Therefore, such an option renders certain comments and suggestions unnecessary.

Finally, questions were raised about cost studies, the determination of incremental costs, cross-subsidization, and the appropriate treatment of MLECs. The Commission finds that the final rules adopted herein implement the necessary pricing and safeguard requirements for MLECs and are reasonable and equitable. However, we recognize that the issues are complex and that the parties have very disparate positions. We believe that certain concerns raised do not necessitate further rule requirements but can be more appropriately addressed in separate proceedings as the rules contemplate. Indeed, there is an active proceeding regarding Bristol's pricing of local exchange telecommunications services¹ that should assist the Commission in determining the effectiveness of its rules. Moreover, if we find this approach not to be the best practice, the Commission may initiate a further rulemaking to amend the final rules adopted herein.

The revised Proposed Inter-Carrier Rules contain very minor changes, primarily to reflect definition changes necessary to be consistent with draft revised Proposed Local Exchange Rules. A definition of "porting" has been added to reflect a clarification concern raised by one party.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) We hereby adopt as final the regulations appended hereto as Attachment 1 and Attachment 2.
- (2) A copy of this Order and the rules adopted herein shall be forwarded promptly to the Registrar of Regulations for publication in the Virginia Register of Regulations.
- (3) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

CASE NO. PUC-2002-00141
MAY 14, 2003

APPLICATION OF
TELECONEX OF VIRGINIA, INC.

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On September 17, 2002, TeleConex of Virginia, Inc. ("TeleConex" or the "Company"), completed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company proposes to offer prepaid month-by-month local exchange telecommunications services and non-prepaid local exchange telecommunications services to subscribers.

In order to provide the prepaid service, TeleConex requests waivers of Rule C 5 and certain provisions of Rule C 1 of the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, 20 VAC 5-400-180 ("Local Rules"),¹ requiring a new entrant, either directly or through arrangements with others, to provide access to directory assistance, access to operator services, equal access to interLATA long distance carriers, and access to intraLATA service to all local exchange customers. The Company further requests a waiver of Rule D 3 c of the Local Rules, limiting the proposed rate for service provided by the new entrant not to exceed the highest of the comparable tariffed services provided by the incumbent local exchange telephone company or companies in the same local serving areas.

TeleConex also requests a waiver of the requirements to provide audited financial statements required by 20 VAC 5-400-180 B 5 a and E 1 d of the Local Rules. At the suggestion of Staff, the Company agreed to provide a $50,000 continuous bond in lieu of audited financial statements.

By Order dated October 11, 2002, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. By Orders dated December 17, 2002, and February 14, 2003, the Commission extended the date for the filing of the Staff Report because TeleConex encountered delays in obtaining a bond. On November 7, 2002, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the October 11, 2002, Order.

On April 15, 2003, TeleConex provided the requested bond to the Division of Economics and Finance.

On April 17, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that TeleConex's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service. Based upon its review of the application, the Staff did not object to TeleConex's request for waivers from specific requirements of the Local Rules for its monthly prepaid local exchange service. The Staff determined that it would be appropriate to grant the Company a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the following conditions: (1) should TeleConex offer any non-prepaid services and collect customer deposits, it should, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement should be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary; (2) TeleConex should notify the Division of Economics and Finance 30 days prior to the cancellation or lapse of its Bond and shall provide a replacement Bond. This requirement should be maintained until such time as the Staff or the Commission determines it is no longer necessary; (3) regarding TeleConex's prepaid month-by-month local exchange service offering, the Company should not be allowed to collect customer deposits under any circumstances; (4) regarding TeleConex's prepaid month-by-month local exchange service offering, the Company should provide full disclosure to consumers about the services and features TeleConex will and will not furnish to subscribers of its alternative prepaid month-by-month local exchange service. Sales brochures and other marketing and advertising materials should prominently disclose that customers will have no access to directory assistance, operator services, long distance, collect, and third-party calls, or any other pay-for-usage services; (5) any waivers granted to TeleConex in this case for its prepaid month-by-month local exchange service described in the Company's filing should be limited solely to that service offering; (6) any waivers granted to TeleConex for its prepaid month-by-month local exchange service should be subject to revocation, alteration, or the imposition of additional conditions, such as pricing restrictions, in the event the Commission subsequently determines the service is operating improperly or is not in the public interest; (7) any subsequent increase in the rate for TeleConex's prepaid month-by-month local exchange service should be subject to thirty (30) days' notice to the Commission, and notice to customers should be provided through billing inserts or publication for two (2) consecutive weeks as display advertising in newspapers having general circulation in the areas served by the Company; (8) regarding TeleConex's prepaid month-by-month local exchange service offering, the Company should have the ability to bill its prepaid customers for per-use or per-minute features and services in limited situations where the Company does not have the ability to block the customers' access to those features and services. The Company should be required to provide full disclosure to consumers that per-minute or per-use charges may apply for certain services or features in these limited circumstances; (9) regarding TeleConex's prepaid month-by-month local exchange service offering, the Company should be required to clearly and specifically include any features and services, including rates, in the Company's tariff, for the limited situations where the Company does not have the ability to block customers' access to features and services that have associated per-use or per-minute charges and for which the Company intends to bill the customer; and (10) regarding TeleConex's prepaid month-by-month local exchange service offering, the Company should not be granted a waiver from the price ceiling requirement (§ D 3 c of the Local Rules) in the limited circumstances where the Company is unable to block a customer's access to certain features and services that have associated per-use or per-minute charges.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services.

¹ The Local Rules found in 20 VAC 5-400-180 were recently repealed and replaced by 20 VAC 5-417-10 et seq., the Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, and 20 VAC 5-429-10 et seq., Rules Governing Compensation, Numbering, Interconnection, and Other Local Inter-Carrier Matters, by Commission Order issued April 9, 2003, in Case No. PUC-2002-00114 In the Matter of Regulations Governing Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, Localities as Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, and Local Inter-Carrier Matters. While this application was processed under 20 VAC 5-400-180, TeleConex should familiarize itself with the revised rules under which it will be regulated on a going forward basis.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) TeleConex of Virginia, Inc., is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-612, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.
- (2) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations from which the Company has not been granted waiver.
- (3) Should TeleConex offer any non-prepaid services and collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.
- (4) TeleConex is hereby granted waiver of §§ B 5 a and E 1 d of the Local Rules requiring audited financial statements. In the alternative, TeleConex shall maintain a Bond in the amount of $50,000 with the Division of Economics and Finance.
- (5) The Company shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance thirty (30) days prior to the cancellation or lapse of its Bond and shall provide a replacement Bond. This requirement should be maintained until such time as the Staff or the Commission determines it is no longer necessary.
- (6) For its prepaid month-by-month local exchange service offering, TeleConex shall not collect customer deposits under any circumstances.
- (7) TeleConex shall provide full disclosure to consumers about the services and features TeleConex will and will not furnish to subscribers of its alternative prepaid month-by-month local exchange service. Sales brochures and other marketing and advertising materials shall prominently disclose that customers will have no access to directory assistance, operator services, long distance, collect, and third-party calls, or any other pay-for-usage services.
- (8) TeleConex's requested waivers of Local Rules §§ C 1 d, C 1 e, C 1 f, C 5, and D 3 are hereby granted for provision of its prepaid month-by-month local exchange service offering only.
- (9) The Company is not granted a waiver from the price ceiling requirement (§ D 3 c of the Local Rules) in the limited circumstances where the Company is unable to block a customer's access to certain features and services that have associated per-use or per-minute charges.
- (10) Each of the waivers granted is subject to revocation, alteration, or the imposition of additional conditions, such as pricing restrictions, in the event the Commission determines the service is operating improperly or is not in the public interest.
- (11) Any subsequent increase in the rate for TeleConex's prepaid month-by-month local exchange service shall be subject to 30 days' notice to the Commission and notice to customers provided through billing inserts or publication for two consecutive weeks as display advertising in newspapers having general circulation in the areas served by the Company.
- (12) The Company may bill its prepaid customers for per-use or per-minute features and services in limited situations where the Company does not have the ability to block the customer's access to those features and services. The Company shall provide full disclosure to customers that per-minute or per-use charges may apply for certain services or features in these limited circumstances.
- (13) For its prepaid month-by-month local exchange service offering, the Company shall clearly and specifically include any features and services, including rates, in the Company's tariff, for the limited situations where the Company does not have the ability to block customers' access to features and services that have associated per-use or per-minute charges and the Company intends to bill the customer.
- (14) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

MARCH 12, 2003

APPLICATION OF
METETHER COMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On October 10, 2002, MetEther Communications of Virginia, Inc. ("MetEther" or the "Company"),¹ filed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

By Order dated October 22, 2002, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. By Order dated December 19, 2002, the Commission extended the date for publication of notice. On February 10, 2003, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the December 19, 2002, Order.

On February 19, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that MetEther's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service ("Local Rules") and the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers. Based upon its review of MetEther's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services subject to the following conditions: (1) should MetEther collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary; (2) the Company shall provide audited financial statements of its parent, MetEther Communications, Inc., to the Division of Economics and Finance no later than one (1) year from the effective date of MetEther's initial Virginia tariff; and (3) at such time as voice services are initiated by MetEther, it shall comply with all requirements of § C (Conditions for certification) of the Local Rules.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services. Having considered § 56-481.1, the Commission further finds that the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) MetEther Communications of Virginia, Inc., is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-190A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) MetEther Communications of Virginia, Inc., is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-607, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(3) Pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia, the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

(4) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations.

(5) Should MetEther collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

(6) The Company shall provide audited financial statements of its parent, MetEther Communications, Inc., to the Division of Economics and Finance no later than one (1) year from the effective date of MetEther's initial tariff in Virginia.

¹ This application was originally filed as MetEther Communications of Virginia, LLC. An amendment was filed on October 17, 2002, correcting the Applicant's name and corporate structure.

(7) At such time as voice services are initiated by MetEther, it shall comply with all requirements of § C (Conditions for certification) of the Local Rules.

(8) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

PETITION OF
UNITED TELEPHONE – SOUTHEAST, INC.

For Extended Local Service between United's Sylvatus and Max Meadows Exchanges

FINAL ORDER

In July 2002, telephone customers in United Telephone-Southeast, Inc.'s ("United"), Sylvatus Exchange petitioned the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for Extended Local Service ("ELS") to United's Max Meadows Exchange. In August 2002, telephone customers in United's Max Meadows Exchange petitioned the Commission for ELS to its Sylvatus Exchange. On October 31, 2002, the Commission received from United a cost study for these two routes that was used to estimate the change in monthly rates that would result from the requested extension of local service.

Pursuant to the provisions of § 56-484.2 of the Code of Virginia, by Order dated December 3, 2002, the Commission directed United to poll its Sylvatus Exchange customers to determine whether a majority of those customers would be willing to pay an increase in rates for local calling to its Max Meadows Exchange. Also, in that same Order, the Commission directed United to poll its Max Meadows Exchange customers to determine whether a majority of those customers would be willing to pay an increase in rates for local calling to its Sylvatus Exchange. The Order further directed United to file the results of its polls with the Commission no later than February 20, 2003.

On January 28, 2003, United filed the results of both polls. United noted that 1,694 ballots were mailed on December 18, 2002, to its Max Meadows Exchange customers and 319 (18.83 percent) were returned. The results further reflect that, of the ballots returned, 135 (42.32 percent) voted "yes," and 184 (57.68 percent) voted "no." In its filing concerning the Sylvatus Exchange, United noted that 864 ballots were mailed on December 18, 2002, and 258 (29.86 percent) were returned. The results further reflect that of the ballots returned, 166 (64.34 percent) voted "yes," and 92 (35.66 percent) voted "no."

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the matter, is of the opinion and finds that because a majority of Max Meadows Exchange customers voted against extension of local service to the Sylvatus Exchange, the petition should be denied.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The petition is hereby denied.
- (2) There being nothing further to be done in this matter, this matter is hereby dismissed.

APPLICATION OF
MIKROTEC COMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, LLC

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On September 23, 2002, Mikrotec Communications of Virginia, LLC ("Mikrotec" or the "Company"), completed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia.

By Order dated October 17, 2002, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. On December 16, 2002, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the October 17, 2002, Order.

On January 8, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that Mikrotec's application was in compliance with the Commission's Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service ("Local Rules") and the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers ("IXC Rules").¹ Based upon its review of Mikrotec's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services subject to the following condition: should Mikrotec collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting such deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with Mikrotec and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff report, finds that the Company should be granted certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Mikrotec Communications of Virginia, LLC, is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-186A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) Mikrotec Communications of Virginia, LLC, is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-601, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(3) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform with all applicable Commission rules and regulations.

(4) Should Mikrotec Communications of Virginia, LLC, collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting such deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with Mikrotec and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

PETITION OF
POTTS CREEK EXCHANGE CUSTOMERS

For Extended Local Service from NTELOS Telephone Inc.'s Potts Creek Exchange to Verizon Virginia Inc.'s Crows-Hematite Exchange

FINAL ORDER

On September 3, 2002, telephone customers in NTELOS Telephone Inc.'s ("NTELOS") Potts Creek Exchange petitioned the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for Extended Local Service ("ELS") to Verizon Virginia Inc.'s ("Verizon Virginia") Crows-Hematite Exchange.

Pursuant to the provisions of § 56-484.2 of the Code of Virginia, by Order dated October 4, 2002, the Commission directed NTELOS to prepare a cost study to estimate the approximate change in the monthly rates that would result from the requested extension of local service from the NTELOS Potts Creek Exchange to Verizon Virginia's Crows-Hematite Exchange. The Order also directed NTELOS, after preparing the cost study, to poll its customers in the Potts Creek Exchange regarding their willingness to pay higher rates for local calling to the Crows-Hematite Exchange.

On December 18, 2002, NTELOS submitted a letter stating that it had determined that its costs for extending local calling from its Potts Creek Exchange to Verizon Virginia's Crows-Hematite Exchange are negligible and would like to offer its Potts Creek Exchange customers local calling to Verizon Virginia's Crows-Hematite Exchange without increasing their monthly local rates.

On April 11, 2003, Verizon Virginia submitted its cost study identifying the additional monthly charges that would apply if the local calling area is extended.¹ Along with the cost study, Verizon Virginia included a letter stating that the Crows-Hematite Exchange is scheduled for an automatic rate group reclassification in December 2003. The rate regrouping would result in a rate increase in addition to the ELS increase. Verizon Virginia proposes in its letter to implement ELS from its Crows-Hematite Exchange to the NTELOS Potts Creek Exchange coincident with implementing the scheduled automatic rate class regrouping. However, Verizon Virginia proposes to waive the rate increase identified in its cost study for ELS. Therefore, there will be no additional cost to customers in NTELOS' Potts Creek Exchange or Verizon Virginia's Crows-Hematite Exchange to implement ELS.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the matter and applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that ELS should be implemented from NTELOS' Potts Creek Exchange to Verizon Virginia's Crows-Hematite Exchange, and vice versa. Since this route crosses a Local Access and Transport Area boundary, we note that Verizon Virginia must seek a waiver from the FCC to implement this service.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The proposed extension of local service from NTELOS' Potts Creek Exchange to Verizon Virginia's Crows-Hematite Exchange shall be implemented at no additional cost to Potts Creek Exchange customers.

¹ The cost study prepared by Verizon Virginia for local calling from its Crows-Hematite Exchange to NTELOS' Potts Creek Exchange estimated that the ELS adders would be as follows: flat rate residential service, $0.16; flat rate business service, $0.52; and trunk service, $0.79.

(2) The proposed extension of local service from Verizon Virginia's Crows-Hematite Exchange to the NTELOS Potts Creek Exchange shall be implemented in conjunction with its rate group reclassification of the Crows-Hematite Exchange with the cost study adder rates waived. If the FCC has not granted Verizon Virginia's waiver request at the time of the rate group reclassification, then ELS from Verizon Virginia's Crows-Hematite Exchange to NTELOS' Potts Creek Exchange shall be implemented as soon as the waiver is granted.

(3) NTELOS and Verizon Virginia shall file the tariff revisions necessary for the proposed extensions of local service.

(4) Since there is nothing further to come before the Commission, this case is dismissed and removed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

PETITION OF FRIES EXCHANGE CUSTOMERS

For Extended Local Service from United Telephone – Southeast, Inc.'s Fries Exchange to its Austinville and Wytheville Exchanges

FINAL ORDER

On September 9, 2002, telephone customers in United Telephone – Southeast, Inc.'s ("United" or "Company") Fries Exchange petitioned the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for Extended Local Service ("ELS") to the Austinville and Wytheville Exchanges of United.

Pursuant to the provisions of § 56-484.2 of the Code of Virginia, by Order dated October 8, 2002 ("Order"), the Commission directed United to prepare a cost study to estimate the approximate change in monthly rates that would result from the requested extension of local service from the Fries Exchange to the Austinville and Wytheville Exchanges and to file the cost study with the Commission's Division of Communications on or before November 26, 2002. The Order further directed United to poll its Fries Exchange customers to determine whether a majority of those customers would be willing to pay an increase in rates for local calling to the Austinville and Wytheville Exchanges and to file the results of its poll with the Commission on or before February 18, 2003.

Pursuant to the Order, on November 26, 2002, the Company filed with the Commission's Division of Communications a cost study for the Fries Exchange that was used to estimate the approximate change in monthly rates that would result from the requested extension of local service.

On February 18, 2003, United filed the results of its poll. In its filing, United notes that 1,939 ballots were mailed on January 14, 2003, to its Fries Exchange customers and 695 (35.8 percent) were returned. The results in the filing further reflect that of the 695 returned ballots, 177 (25.5 percent) voted "yes," and 518 (74.5 percent) voted "no."

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the matter, is of the opinion and finds that because a majority of Fries Exchange customers voted against extension of local service to the Austinville and Wytheville Exchanges, the petition should be denied.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The petition is hereby denied.
- (2) There being nothing further to be done in this matter, this matter is hereby dismissed.

APPLICATION OF
VERIZON VIRGINIA INC.
and
MICHAEL PITTS d/b/a ECONOMIC COMPUTER SYSTEMS, INC.

For approval of an interconnection agreement under § 252(e) of the Telecommunications Act of 1996

DISMISSAL ORDER

On September 17, 2002, Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia") and Michael Pitts d/b/a Economic Computer Systems, Inc. ("Economic"), filed an interconnection agreement ("agreement"), entered under §§ 251 and 252 of the Telecommunications Act of 1996 (the "Act"), 47 U.S.C. §§ 251 and 252, for State Corporation Commission ("Commission") approval pursuant to § 252(e) of the Act, 47 U.S.C. § 252(e). This agreement was approved by Order Approving Agreement dated October 8, 2002, in Case No. PUC-2002-00188.

On August 25, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed a joint application for approval of an interconnection agreement between Verizon Virginia and Economic Computer Systems, Inc. ("ECS"). This agreement was assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00137 and approved on October 7, 2003. Counsel for Verizon Virginia indicated in the letter accompanying the agreement filed with the Commission on August 25, 2003, in Case No. PUC-2003-00137, that the agreement superseded this earlier agreement between the parties.

NOW THE COMMISSION finds that the agreement approved in Case No. PUC-2002-00188 has been replaced by the agreement approved in Case No. PUC-2003-00137. Therefore, we find that Case No. PUC-2002-00188 should be dismissed.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT the agreement approved in Case No. PUC-2003-00137 shall supersede the agreement approved in Case No. PUC-2002-00188. The captioned matter is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

PETITION OF GLOBAL CROSSING LTD. (Debtor-in-Possession)
and
GC ACQUISITION LIMITED

For approval of the transfer of control of Global Crossing Ltd. (Debtor-in-Possession)'s Virginia operating subsidiaries to GC Acquisition Limited

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On October 21, 2002, Global Crossing Ltd. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("GCL") and GC Acquisition Limited ("New GX") (collectively, the "Petitioners") completed a petition filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission"), pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia, requesting approval to transfer control of GCL's Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries from GCL to New GX.¹

GCL is a global telecommunications company organized under the laws of Bermuda. GCL owns and operates, through its subsidiaries, a global Internet Protocol-based fiber optic network that covers approximately 75,800 miles and over 200 major cities (the "Global Crossing Network"). The Global Crossing Network is used by GCL's operating subsidiaries to provide integrated telecommunications services, including a full range of managed data, voice, and Internet services, to large corporations, government agencies, and telecommunications carriers. In the United States, GCL's operating subsidiaries provide intrastate, interstate, and international telecommunications services. GCL's subsidiaries are authorized by the Federal Communications Commission and the public utility commissions of all 50 states and the District of Columbia to provide telecommunications services.

New GX is a newly formed company organized for the purpose of carrying out the proposed transaction. GCL is the sole shareholder of New GX.

Budget Call Long Distance, Inc. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("Budget Call"), is an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of GCL. Budget Call is a Delaware corporation with its principal office located in Pittsford, New York. Budget Call provides intrastate long distance telecommunications services in Virginia on a resale basis. Budget Call does not hold a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("CPCN") in Virginia.

Global Crossing North American Networks, Inc. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("GCNAN"), is an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of GCL. GCNAN is a Delaware corporation with its principal office located in Pittsford, New York. GCNAN is authorized to provide long distance in Virginia on a resale basis, but at the present time it does not have Virginia customers. GCNAN does not hold a CPCN to provide telecommunications services in Virginia.

Global Crossing Telecommunications, Inc. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("GCTI"), is also an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of GCL. GCTI is a Wisconsin corporation with its principal office located in Pittsford, New York. GCTI is authorized to provide long distance telecommunications services in Virginia on a resale basis. GCTI does not hold a CPCN to provide such services in Virginia.

Global Crossing Telemanagement of VA, LLC (Debtor-in-Possession) ("GCTVA"), is an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of GCL.² GCTVA is a Virginia limited liability company with its principal office located in Pittsford, New York. GCTVA holds a CPCN to provide competitive local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia. That CPCN was granted in Case No. PUC-1997-00157 (PUC970157) on January 5, 1998.³

Hutchison Telecommunications Limited ("Hutchison Telecom") is a Hong Kong company that holds worldwide telecommunications interests through a variety of operating subsidiaries. These interests include mobile telephone and paging operators in various countries in Asia, Africa, Europe, and South America as well as a fixed line and international direct dialing operator in Hong Kong. Hutchison Telecom is owned by Hutchison Whampoa Limited ("HWL"), a diversified Hong Kong holding company.

Singapore Technologies Telemedia Pte Ltd. ("ST Telemedia") is a Singapore telecommunications and information technologies company. ST Telemedia, through subsidiaries, provides fixed and mobile telecommunications, data, and Internet services, telephone equipment distribution, managed hosting, teleport, broadband cable and video, and e-business software development services in Singapore. ST Telemedia is a wholly owned subsidiary of Singapore Technologies Pte Ltd, which is a wholly owned subsidiary of Temasek Holdings [Private] Limited. ST Telemedia, along with its parent companies, is organized under the laws of Singapore. ST Telemedia does not operate directly in the United States, nor does ST Telemedia or its subsidiaries provide intrastate telecommunications services in Virginia.

³ Global Crossing Telemanagement of VA, LLC, was formerly known as Frontier Telemanagement LLC. The name was changed in 2000.

The Petitioners seek approval of a transfer of control of GCL's Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries from GCL to New GX. On January 28, 2002, GCL and certain of its subsidiaries, including the Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries, filed voluntary petitions under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code with the Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York ("Bankruptcy Court"). On August 9, 2002, the Bankruptcy Court authorized GCL to enter into a Purchase Agreement to effectuate the proposed transaction. The Supreme Court of Bermuda has also authorized GCL to enter into the proposed transaction.

Under this proposed transaction, GCL will indirectly transfer substantially all of its assets and operations, including its ownership interests in the Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries, to New GX. Once the transaction has been completed, GCL will relinquish all of its equity and voting power in New GX, and New GX will become the new ultimate parent of the Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries.

Under the terms of the proposed transaction, Hutchison Telecom and ST Telemedia each will invest $125 million in cash in New GX in exchange for 30.75% of New GX's equity and voting power in the form of common and preferred stock. Creditors of GCL and its debtor subsidiaries will obtain 38.5% of New GX's equity and voting power in the form of common stock. New GX also intends to issue $200 million in senior secured notes and $300 million in cash to those creditors. These notes are to be secured by the assets of various GCL subsidiaries, including the Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the transfer of control of GCTVA from GCL to New GX, as described herein, will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved. We note that Chapter 5 approval is required only for GCTVA since it is the only entity authorized to provide telecommunications services in Virginia pursuant to a CPCN.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- 1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, approval is hereby granted for the transfer of control of GCTVA from GCL to New GX as described herein.
- 2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it is hereby dismissed.

APPLICATION OF COMMUNICATION TECHNOLOGIES CARRIER SERVICES, INC.

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On October 10, 2002, Communication Technologies Carrier Services, Inc. ("COMTek-CS" or the "Company"), filed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

By Order dated October 29, 2002, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. On December 16, 2002, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the October 29, 2002, Order.

On January 8, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that COMTek-CS' application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service and the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers. Based upon its review of the Company's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services subject to the following conditions: (1) should COMTek-CS collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting such deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement and any subsequent change. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary; and (2) at such time as voice services are initiated by the Company, COMTek-CS shall comply with all requirements of § C (Conditions for certification) of the Local Rules.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services. Having considered § 56-481.1, the Commission further finds that the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Communication Technologies Carrier Services, Inc., is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-187A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) Communication Technologies Carrier Services, Inc., is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-602, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(3) Pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia, the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

(4) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations.

(5) Should COMTek-CS collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting such deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement and any subsequent change. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

(6) At such time as voice services are initiated by the Company, COMTek-CS shall comply with all requirements of § C (Conditions for certification) of the Local Rules.

(7) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

JOINT PETITION OF EUREKA BROADBAND CORPORATION d/b/a EUREKAGGN
ELINK TELECOMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

For approval of the merger of Newco, a wholly owned subsidiary of Eureka Broadband Corporation d/b/a EurekaGGN with and into eLink Telecommunications of Virginia, Inc., establishing eLink Telecommunications of Virginia as a wholly owned subsidiary of Eureka Broadband Corporation

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On October 10, 2002, Eureka Broadband Corporation d/b/a EurekaGGN ("EurekaGGN") and eLink Telecommunications of Virginia, Inc. ("eLink") (collectively, the "Petitioners"), filed a joint petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting approval, under the Utility Transfers Act, of the merger of Newco, a wholly owned subsidiary of EurekaGGN, with and into eLink, thereby establishing eLink as a wholly owned subsidiary of EurekaGGN.

EurekaGGN is a Delaware corporation authorized to transact business in the Commonwealth of Virginia. EurekaGGN holds authorizations to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services in several states. EurekaGGN does not hold a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("CPCN") in Virginia. Newco is a wholly owned subsidiary of EurekaGGN and was created solely for the purpose of carrying out the merger.

eLink, a wholly owned subsidiary of eLink Communications, Inc. ("eLink Communications"), a Delaware corporation, is a Virginia corporation authorized to transact business in Virginia. In Virginia, eLink holds CPCN Nos. T-575 and TT-167A to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services granted in Case No. PUC-2001-00151 (PUC010151) on January 15, 2002. However, eLink does not yet offer any local exchange or intrastate interexchange telecommunications services in Virginia. eLink also currently does not have tariffs on file with the Division of Communications.

The Petitioners request approval of a transaction under the Utility Transfers Act involving the merger of Newco with and into eLink Communications, thereby establishing eLink Communications as a wholly owned subsidiary of EurekaGGN.

Pursuant to an Agreement and Plan of Merger ("Agreement") between EurekaGGN, Newco, and eLink Communications, Newco will be merged with and into eLink Communications. As a result of this merger, eLink Communications will become a direct wholly owned subsidiary of EurekaGGN, and eLink will become an indirect subsidiary of EurekaGGN. eLink will remain a direct wholly owned subsidiary of eLink Communications. According to the Agreement, to carry out the proposed merger, all of Newco's issued and outstanding capital stock will be converted into and exchanged for eLink Series C Preferred Stock. As consideration for the merger, all of eLink's issued and outstanding common and preferred stock will be exchanged for EurekaGGN's preferred stock, or cancelled. The Agreement specifies that all issued and outstanding options and warrants to purchase eLink common stock will be cancelled.

Under the transaction, holders of Series C Preferred Stock of eLink Communications received merger consideration as part of the merger transaction with EurekaGGN. Other Preferred Stockholders and Common Stockholders did not receive merger consideration as part of the merger transaction. Series A Preferred, Series B Preferred, and Common Stock, as well as warrants and options to purchase Series A, Series B, and Common Stock of eLink Communications were terminated as a result of the merger. Upon completion of the conversion and exchange, Newco will cease to exist as a corporate entity, resulting in EurekaGGN becoming the ultimate parent of eLink.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the proposed merger of Newco with and into eLink Communications, resulting in the transfer of control of eLink from eLink Communications to EurekaGGN, as described herein, will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- 1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, approval is hereby granted for the merger of Newco with and into eLink Communications, resulting in the transfer of control of eLink from eLink Communications to EurekaGGN, as described herein.
- 2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it is hereby dismissed.

APPLICATION OF
ESSEX ACQUISITION CORPORATION

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On November 19, 2002, Essex Acquisition Corporation ("Essex" or the "Company"), completed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

By Order dated November 26, 2002, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. On January 21, 2003, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the November 26, 2002, Order.

On January 28, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that Essex's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service and the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers. Based upon its review of Essex's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services subject to the following condition: should Essex collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services. Having considered § 56-481.1, the Commission further finds that the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Essex Acquisition Corporation is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-189A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.
- (2) Essex Acquisition Corporation is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-605, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.
- (3) Pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia, the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.
- (4) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations.
- (5) Should Essex collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. CASE NO. PUC-2002-00205
MARCH 12, 2003APPLICATION OF GRANITE TELECOMMUNICATIONS, LLC

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On October 15, 2002, Granite Telecommunications, LLC ("Granite" or the "Company"), filed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"). Granite also requested a waiver of the requirements to file audited financial statements required by 20 VAC 5-400-180 B 5 and E 1 d, the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service ("Local Rules").

By Order dated November 8, 2002, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. On November 25, 2002, and December 12, 2002, respectively, the Company filed proof of service and proof of publication as required by the November 8, 2002, Order.

As noted above, Granite requested a waiver of the requirement for audited financial statements. At the suggestion of the Staff, the Company agreed to provide a $50,000 bond in lieu of audited financial statements. The Staff requested Granite remit the bond to the Division of Economics and Finance on or before January 16, 2003. On January 13, 2002, Granite filed a Motion for Extension of Time to provide the bond in lieu of audited financial statements. The Commission granted the request by Order issued January 23, 2003, and extended the procedural schedule of the case.

On February 24, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that Granite's application was in compliance with the Local Rules and 20 VAC 5-411-10, the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers ("Interexchange Rules"). Based upon its review of Granite's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services subject to the following conditions: (1) should Granite collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary; and (2) Granite shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance 30 days prior to the cancellation or lapse of its bond and shall provide a replacement bond. This requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or the Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services. Having considered § 56-481.1 of the Code, the Commission finds that the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively. The Commission further finds that Granite should be granted a waiver from filing audited financial statements and, in the alternative, maintain the bond provided to the Division of Economics and Finance.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Granite is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-192A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Interexchange Rules, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code, and the provisions of this Order.
- (2) Granite is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-609, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Local Rules, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code, and the provisions of this Order.
- (3) Pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code, the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.
- (4) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations.
- (5) Should Granite collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.
- (6) Granite is hereby granted a waiver of §§ B 5 a and E 1 d of the Local Rules requiring audited financial statements. In the alternative, Granite shall maintain the License/Permit Bond in the amount of $50,000 previously provided to the Division of Economics and Finance.
- (7) Granite shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance 30 days prior to the cancellation or lapse of the License/Permit Bond identified in Ordering Paragraph (6) above and shall provide a replacement bond. This requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or the Commission determines it is no longer necessary.
- (8) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

FEBRUARY 20, 2003

APPLICATION OF
THE CITY OF MARTINSVILLE

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On October 21, 2002, the City of Martinsville ("Martinsville") filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange telecommunications services in the City of Martinsville and the County of Henry.

By Order dated November 14, 2002, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Comment, which directed Martinsville to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. The Commission received a written notice of participation from Central Telephone Company of Virginia ("Sprint").¹ Sprint filed comments on January 3, 2003.

Sprint requests in its comments, based upon ambiguity it perceives in the application as to the territory sought, that any certificate issued in this case be limited to any locality in which Martinsville had electric distribution system facilities as of March 1, 2002, consistent with § 15.2-2160 of the Code of Virginia. Sprint recognizes in its comments that Martinsville satisfies this requirement in the City of Martinsville and the County of Henry. Sprint further requests in its comments that since no initial rates are proposed that Martinsville be ordered to provide Sprint a copy of any proposed initial rates filed with the Commission and that Sprint be allowed to propound discovery with respect to such future initial rate filing by Martinsville. Finally, Sprint's comments advise the Commission that Sprint may request a hearing upon such future initial rate filing by Martinsville.² No requests for a hearing on the application of Martinsville were received.

On December 18, 2002, Martinsville filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the Order for Notice and Comment. On January 31, 2003, the Staff filed its Report. Martinsville filed its Response to the Staff Report and to Sprint's comments on February 7, 2003. Martinsville indicated in its Response that it had no objection to the recommendations contained in the Staff Report. Martinsville responded to Sprint's comments by denying any ambiguity in its application and affirming that the localities sought to be certificated are the City of Martinsville and the County of Henry. Martinsville further states that the requirement of a hearing on any proposed initial rates need not be determined in this Order.

In its January 31, 2003, Report, the Staff finds that Martinsville's application is in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telecommunications Service ("Local Rules").³ Based upon its review of Martinsville's application, the Staff determined that it would be appropriate to grant Martinsville a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services, as requested, subject to the following conditions: (1) should Martinsville collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the City of Martinsville, and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change (any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary); and (2) at such time as voice services are initiated by Martinsville, it shall comply with all requirements of § C (Conditions for certification) of the Commission's Local Rules.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the pleadings and the applicable law, finds that Martinsville should be granted a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services. We note that Martinsville, once it plans to offer local exchange telecommunications services, must file tariffs with the Commission's Division of Communications pursuant to the Local Rules. Martinsville is directed to serve a copy of its initial tariffs on the service list for this case. We need not rule on whether a hearing on Martinsville's rates is required at this time as there is no request for a hearing; as Sprint has indicated in its comments, it may make its request once Martinsville files with the Commission proposed initial rates for its local exchange telecommunications services.

The Commission adopts the recommendations of the Staff Report. We fully expect Martinsville, or any other local exchange carrier that currently has or will obtain a certificate, to comply with the Code of Virginia and this Commission's existing Local Rules and any subsequently adopted rules.⁴

The Staff Report indicates that Martinsville agrees to meet all applicable conditions for certification identified in § C of the Local Rules. Martinsville has also agreed to comply with all rules and regulations of the Commission and laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia. Martinsville intends to comply with the applicable and duly promulgated safeguards or requirements mandated by House Bill 1021 enacted by the 2002 Session of the Virginia General Assembly, as set out in Exhibit G to the application.⁵

³ The Local Rules were adopted in Case No. PUC-1995-00018 by Order dated December 13, 1995, and are codified at 20 VAC 5-400-180.

⁴ On October 15, 2002, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Comment and/or Requests for Hearing Proposed Rules, Case No. PUC-2002-00115. The proposed Rules include new regulatory requirements pursuant to § 56-265.4:4 and § 15.2-2160 of the Code of Virginia.

⁵ See Affidavit of Earl B. Reynolds, Jr. (City Manager of Martinsville), which is also discussed at page 5 of Staff Report.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Martinsville is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-606, to provide local exchange telecommunications services in the City of Martinsville and the County of Henry. This certificate is subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) Should Martinsville collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the City of Martinsville and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

(3) At such time as voice services are initiated by Martinsville, it shall comply with all requirements of § C of the Local Rules (Conditions for certification).

(4) Martinsville shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations before it begins offering local exchange telecommunications services. Martinsville shall serve upon the service list for this case a copy of those initial tariffs.

(5) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

FEBRUARY 6, 2003

APPLICATION OF THE TOWN OF FRONT ROYAL

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On October 22, 2002, the Town of Front Royal ("Front Royal"), filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange telecommunications services in the Town of Front Royal and the County of Warren.

By Order dated November 8, 2002, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Comment, which directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. The Commission received a written notice of participation from Central Telephone Company of Virginia ("Sprint").¹ Sprint filed comments on December 30, 2002.

Sprint requests in its comments, based upon ambiguity it perceives in the application as to the territory sought, that any certificate issued in this case be limited to any locality in which Front Royal had electric distribution system facilities as of March 1, 2002, consistent with § 15.2-2160 of the Code of Virginia. Sprint further requests in its comments that since no initial rates are proposed that Front Royal be ordered to provide Sprint a copy of any proposed initial rates filed with the Commission and that Sprint be allowed to propound discovery with respect to such future initial rate filing by Front Royal. Finally, Sprint's comments advise the Commission that Sprint may request a hearing upon such future initial rate filing by Front Royal.² No requests for a hearing on the application of Front Royal were received.

On December 18, 2002, Front Royal filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the Order for Notice and Comment. On January 21, 2003, the Staff filed its Report. Front Royal filed its Response to the Staff Report and to Sprint's comments on January 28, 2003. Front Royal indicated in its Response that it had no objection to the recommendations contained in the Staff Report. Front Royal responded to Sprint's comments by denying any ambiguity in its application and affirming that the localities sought to be certificated are the Town of Front Royal and the County of Warren. Front Royal further states that the requirement of a hearing on any proposed initial rates need not be determined in this Order.

In its January 21, 2003, Report, the Staff finds that Front Royal's application is in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telecommunications Service ("Local Rules").³ Based upon its review of Front Royal's application, the Staff determined that it would be appropriate to grant Front Royal a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services, as requested, subject to the following conditions: (1) should Front Royal collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Town of Front Royal, and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change (any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary); and (2) at such time as voice services are initiated by Front Royal, it shall comply with all requirements of § C (Conditions for Certification) of the Commission's Local Rules.

³ The Local Rules were adopted in Case No. PUC-1995-00018 by Order dated December 13, 1995, and are codified at 20 VAC 5-400-180.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the pleadings and the applicable law, finds that Front Royal should be granted a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services. We note that Front Royal, once it plans to offer local exchange telecommunications services, must file tariffs with the Commission's Division of Communications pursuant to the Local Rules. Front Royal is directed to serve a copy of its initial tariffs on the service list for this case. We need not rule on whether a hearing on Front Royal's rates is required at this time as there is no request for a hearing; as Sprint has indicated in its comments, it may make its request once Front Royal files with the Commission proposed initial rates for its local exchange telecommunications services.

The Commission adopts the recommendations of the Staff Report. We fully expect Front Royal, or any other local exchange carrier that currently has or will obtain a certificate, to comply with the Code of Virginia and this Commission's existing Local Rules and any subsequently adopted rules.⁴

The Staff Report indicates that Front Royal agrees to meet all conditions for certification identified in § C of the Local Rules. Front Royal has also agreed to comply with all rules and regulations of the Commission and laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia. Front Royal intends to comply with the applicable and duly promulgated safeguards or requirements mandated by House Bill 1021 enacted by the 2002 Session of the Virginia General Assembly, as set out in Exhibit G to the application.⁵

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Front Royal is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-603, to provide local exchange telecommunications services in the Town of Front Royal and the County of Warren. This certificate is subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) Should Front Royal collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Town of Front Royal and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

(3) At such time as voice services are initiated by Front Royal, it shall comply with all requirements of § C of the Local Rules.

(4) Front Royal shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations before it begins offering local exchange telecommunications services. Front Royal shall serve upon the service list for this case a copy of those tariffs.

(5) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

⁴ On October 15, 2002, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Comment and/or Requests for Hearing Proposed Rules, Case No. PUC-2002-00115. The proposed Rules include new regulatory requirements pursuant to §56-265.4:4 and § 15.2-2160 of the Code of Virginia.

On January 16, 2003, the Division of Communications ("Staff") filed its Report recommending that the Commission deny Verizon South's application. On August 1, 2003, Verizon South again requested an exemption from collocation for its Skyline remote office.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

On October 3, 2003, the Staff filed its Report. Based upon its investigation, the Staff recommends that Verizon South's requested exemption for its Skyline remote office should be granted, provided that the exemption should be terminated once space becomes available through the removal of equipment or when a building addition is completed.

No comments were received, and Verizon South did not respond to the Staff's Report.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the Application, § 251(c)(6) of the Act, the Commission's Collocation Rules, and the Staff Report, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that Verizon South's request for exemption from the requirement to provide physical collocation at its Skyline remote office should be granted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (2) This case shall remain open for any subsequent requests to terminate the exemption that may be necessary in the future.

On February 14, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that IDT's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service and the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers. ("American Long Lines" or the "Company"), filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia.

By Order dated December 23, 2002, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. On January 31, 2003, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the December 23, 2002, Order.

On February 20, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that American Long Lines' application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service. Based upon its review of American Long Lines' application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the following condition: should American Long Lines collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement; any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) American Long Lines is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-610, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations.

(3) Should American Long Lines collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

(4) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

JOINT PETITION OF
YIPES ENTERPRISE SERVICES, INC.
and
YIPES TRANSMISSION, INC.

For approval of transfer of control

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On January 10, 2003, Yipes Transmission, Inc. ("Old Yipes"), and Yipes Enterprise Services, Inc. ("New Yipes") (collectively, the "Petitioners"), completed their joint petition originally filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on December 2, 2002. In that joint petition, Old Yipes and New Yipes request approval of transfer of control of Yipes Transmission Virginia, Inc. ("Yipes Virginia"), from Old Yipes to New Yipes pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia.

Old Yipes is a California corporation with headquarters in San Francisco, California. Old Yipes provides scalable Gigabit Ethernet services to customers in major metropolitan markets across the country, including the Washington D.C. area, and provides area networking and high-speed Internet access services. The Ethernet services provided in Virginia are provided through Yipes Virginia. Effective August 2, 2002, Yipes Virginia changed its name to YTV, Inc.

Yipes Virginia is a wholly owned subsidiary of Old Yipes and currently holds authority to furnish local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia pursuant to Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity No. T-5 16 granted by the Commission in Case No. PUC-2000-00148 on November 9, 2000. Pursuant to that authority, Yipes Virginia maintains telecommunications facilities in Herndon and Vienna, Virginia, and has other physical assets located in Virginia, which are used to provide telecommunications services in the Commonwealth.

Since April 19, 2002, Old Yipes has been operating under the protection of the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of California ("Bankruptcy Court") pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. Subject to necessary regulatory approvals, New Yipes has agreed to acquire Old Yipes, and Old Yipes has agreed to sell all of its assets, including control over Yipes Virginia. The sale will be accomplished by implementation of the Plan of Reorganization ("Plan"), jointly sponsored by the Petitioners and approved by the Bankruptcy Court on November 8, 2002.

When the Plan is implemented, New Yipes will become a wholly owned subsidiary of Yipes Holdings, Inc. ("Yipes Holdings"), a corporation formed under the laws of the State of Delaware. Yipes Holdings will be owned by a number of institutional investors. The ultimate corporate control of New Yipes will be Yipes Holdings. Yipes Virginia will be a wholly owned subsidiary of New Yipes and an indirect subsidiary of Yipes Holdings.

The Petitioners represent that the transfer of control does not affect the ability of Yipes Virginia to continue to provide telecommunications services in Virginia. Yipes Virginia will continue to provide telecommunications services in Virginia under the same tariffs and operating authority as before.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the transactions, as described herein, involving transfer of control of Yipes Virginia will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- 1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, approval is hereby granted for the transfer of control of Yipes Virginia, as described herein.
- 2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it is hereby dismissed.

APRIL 9, 2003

PETITION OF
WILLIAMS COMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, INC.,

For approval of the transfer of ownership of Williams Communications, LLC, from Williams Communications Group, Inc., to WilTel Communications Group, Inc.

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On December 11, 2002, Williams Communications of Virginia, Inc. ("Williams Virginia" or the "Petitioner"), filed a petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting approval, pursuant to § 56-88.1 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), for the transfer of ownership of Williams Virginia's sole shareholder, Williams Communications, LLC, from Williams Communications Group, Inc., to WilTel Communications Group, Inc.

Williams Virginia is a Virginia public service company. In conjunction with Williams Communications, LLC ("WCL"), Williams Virginia provides wholesale telecommunications services, related incidental retail services, and video transmission services. In Virginia, Williams Virginia holds certificates of public convenience and necessity ("CPCN") Nos. TT-42B and T-473 and provides intrastate interexchange telecommunications services. On January 31, 2003, Williams Virginia changed its name to WilTel Communications of Virginia, Inc.¹

Williams Communications Group, Inc. ("Old WCG"), is a publicly traded Delaware corporation, and no single shareholder has owned more than 5% of its common stock since April 23, 2001. Old WCG is the direct owner of WCL.

WCL, a Delaware limited liability company, is the direct owner of Williams Virginia. WCL is the principal operating subsidiary of the affiliated companies, and it owns substantially all of the organization's network assets and employs substantially all of its employees. WCL provides interstate and international telecommunications services and intrastate telecommunications services in states other than Virginia.

WilTel Communications Group, Inc. ("New WCG"), is a publicly traded Nevada corporation that was formed as a successor to Old WCG.

Leucadia National Corporation ("Leucadia") is a publicly traded, diversified financial services holding company. Leucadia, through its subsidiaries, is engaged in a variety of businesses, including commercial and personal lines of property and casualty insurance, banking and lending, manufacturing, winery operations, real estate activities, and precious metals mining. Leucadia's investment in New WCG will be its first investment in the telecommunications industry.

The Petitioner requests approval of a transaction that is the result of Old WCG's Plan of Reorganization (the "Plan"), including the transfer of indirect ownership of Williams Virginia from Old WCG to New WCG and the acquisition of indirect control of Williams Virginia by Leucadia National Corporation.

On April 22, 2002, Old WCG filed for bankruptcy protection under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code. The proceeding did not affect the provision of telecommunications services by Williams Virginia or WCL, which were not parties to the proceeding. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York approved the Plan for Old WCG on September 30, 2002. The Plan took effect on October 15, 2002. The Plan involved the creation of a new holding company, New WCG, and the transfer of ownership of WCL from Old WCG to New WCG. The Plan also involved investment in New WCG by Leucadia.

Under this Plan, Leucadia purchased the claims of the Williams Companies, Inc., against Old WCG and infused additional capital into New WCG. The Plan also resolved certain classes of creditor claims through the distribution of stock of New WCG. Old WCG's bondholders received approximately 54% of New WCG's common stock as a result of the Plan, and no single bondholder received more than 5% of the stock. Leucadia received 44% of New WCG's common stock, which gave Leucadia the right to designate four of New WCG's directors.² Old WCG was also able to discharge approximately $4.6 billion in debt, which resulted in approximately $420 million in interest cost savings.

As a result of the transaction, New WCG will replace Old WCG as the ultimate corporate parent of Williams Virginia, and New WCG will own 100% of WCL. WCL will remain the owner of 100% of Williams Virginia's common stock. Ultimately, Leucadia will hold a direct controlling interest in New WCG and an indirect controlling interest in Williams Virginia.

On March 5, 2003, Mr. Mark E. Decot filed comments in this proceeding. Mr. Decot requests that the Commission deny the petition on grounds that approval would not be meaningful since the transfer has already taken place. Mr. Decot states that the petition should have been presented to the Commission for review prior to the time when Old WCG submitted its Plan for approval to the United States Bankruptcy Court. Mr. Decot also states that the Commission should use its authority to determine that Williams Virginia violated § 56-89 of the Code and to find that such action violates the conditions set forth in the Commission's Order dated October 8, 1998, in Case No. PUC-1997-00047. Mr. Decot also requests that the Commission revoke Williams Virginia's CPCN and impose fines.³

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application, representations of the Petitioner, comments filed herein, and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the transfer of indirect ownership and control of Williams Virginia from Old WCG to New WCG and the resulting acquisition of indirect control of Williams Virginia by Leucadia, as described herein, will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

² On October 28, 2002, Leucadia purchased 1.7 million shares of New WCG's common stock, which brought its ownership interest in New WCG to 47.4%.

We note, however, that § 56-88.1 of the Code requires our prior approval for transfer of control. Such approval was not sought or obtained prior to the above-referenced transfer. While we believe that no further action is warranted in this instance, the Petitioner should be more diligent in seeking and obtaining prior approval from this Commission for any future transfers.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- 1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, approval is hereby granted for the transfer of indirect ownership and control of Williams Virginia from Old WCG to New WCG and the resulting acquisition of indirect control of Williams Virginia by Leucadia, as described herein.
- 2) If Leucadia is to transfer a controlling interest in Williams Virginia in the future, Leucadia and Williams Virginia must obtain prior approval under the Utility Transfers Act.
- 3) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it is hereby dismissed.

PETITION, OR IN THE ALTERNATIVE,
APPLICATION OF
VERIZON GLOBAL NETWORKS INC.
and
VERIZON GLOBAL NETWORKS VIRGINIA INC.

For such relief as may be required under the Utility Facilities Act, Va. Code §§ 56-265.1 et seq., for expedited consideration and interim authority

ORDER DETERMINING CERTIFICATES NOT REQUIRED

On December 23, 2002, Verizon Global Networks Inc. ("GNI") and Verizon Global Networks Virginia Inc. ("GNI-VA") (collectively, the "Applicants"), filed the alternatively styled Petition/Application ("Petition"), seeking a determination by the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") that GNI's ownership and operation of certain facilities do not require the certifications under the Utility Facilities Act, Va. Code §§ 56-265.1 et seq. In the alternative, the Petition seeks the granting of any necessary certificates under Va. Code § 56-265.4:4 and Va. Code § 56-265.2 to GNI-VA.

The Petition describes GNI, a Delaware corporation, as "a long distance network company that provides telecommunications services to reseller affiliates of Verizon Communications Inc. ("Verizon")." GNI is a wholly owned subsidiary of Verizon, also a Delaware corporation.¹

GNI provides telecommunications services only to its Verizon affiliates which, in turn, provide long distance, internet access, and other services to the public. The Petition states that GNI does not furnish telephone service or any other service to the public in Virginia or elsewhere on a retail or wholesale basis.

GNI owns backbone facilities across the Verizon network including facilities in Virginia.² GNI also acquires transmission facilities from Verizon Virginia Inc., Dominion Telecom, and WorldCom, which it resells to its Verizon affiliates. The Commission particularly notes GNI's determination that approximately seven percent (7%) of the traffic that traverses the GNI-owned and leased network in Virginia is intrastate traffic. Therefore, only an insignificant portion of that traffic is within our jurisdiction. The Commission also takes judicial notice that none of the Verizon affiliates who resell the telecommunications services purchased from the GNI network are certificated to provide interexchange telecommunications services in Virginia.

The Commission concludes that GNI's ownership and operation of certain facilities in Virginia, as described, do not require certification by the Commission because such telecommunications services are provided predominantly on an interstate basis and not directly to the public.³

Accordingly, the Commission finds that the Applicants do not require certification under the Utility Facilities Act.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

(1) The Applicant's Petition for a determination that the described ownership and operation of certain facilities by GNI do not require certification under the Utilities Facilities Act, Va. Code §§ 56-265.1 et seq., is hereby granted.

(2) This case is hereby closed.

² These backbone facilities include leased dark fiber from other carriers and limited other, owned equipment.

To cancel existing certificates and issue certificates reflecting new name

FINAL ORDER

By letter application filed January 3, 2003, Concert Communications Sales of Virginia LLC ("Company") informed the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") that it had changed its corporate name to BT Communications Sales of Virginia LLC. The application requested that the Company's certificates of public convenience and necessity be modified to reflect the new corporate name.

Concert Communications Sales of Virginia LLC holds certificates of public convenience and necessity, TT-72A and T-452, issued July 29, 1999, which authorize the Company to provide interexchange telecommunications services and local exchange telecommunications services in the Commonwealth of Virginia, respectively, under Case No PUC-1999-00051. - (2) Certificates of public convenience and necessity, T-452 for local exchange telecommunications services and TT-72A for interexchange telecommunications services, are cancelled and shall be reissued as amended Certificate Nos. For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services

ORDER GRANTING MOTION TO WITHDRAW AND DISMISSING CASE

On November 24, 2003, France Telecom Corporate Solutions L.L.C. ("France Telecom" or the "Applicant") filed a motion with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting authority to withdraw the above-captioned application without prejudice.¹ France Telecom states that it has been unable to furnish certain financial information to the Commission's Staff which is necessary for the Staff to investigate its application. The Applicant states that it intends to refile its application at a later date when all required financial information is available.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the request, finds that such request is reasonable and should be granted, and the above-captioned case should be dismissed without prejudice.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT France Telecom's motion to withdraw the above-referenced application is hereby granted, and this case is dismissed without prejudice from the Commission's docket of active cases.

¹ By Orders dated June 4, July 25, August 27, and November 7, 2003, the Commission extended the procedural schedule at the request of France Telecom to enable it additional time to secure its bond. FEBRUARY 14, 2003

APPLICATION OF
AT&T BROADBAND PHONE OF VIRGINIA, INC.

To cancel existing certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services and to reissue certificates reflecting the corporate name change

FINAL ORDER

On February 15, 2002, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered an Order in Case No. PUC-2002-00007, which granted AT&T Broadband Phone of Virginia, Inc ("AT&T Broadband Phone" or the "Company"), a certificate of public convenience and necessary, No. TT-30C, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers (as codified in 20 VAC 5-411-10 et seq.), § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and provisions of the February 15, 2002, Order. In the same Order, the Commission granted AT&T Broadband Phone a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-371b, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service (as codified in 20 VAC 5-400-180), § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of the February 15, 2002, Order.

On January 15, 2003, AT&T Broadband Phone notified the Commission that it intends to effectuate its change of name to Comcast Phone of Virginia, Inc. d/b/a Comcast Digital Phone. It noted that all other information regarding the Company remained unchanged.

In its notice, AT&T Broadband Phone recited that it had filed Articles of Amendment with the Commission to change its name from AT&T Broadband Phone to Comcast Phone of Virginia, Inc., and that on November 19, 2002, the Commission issued a Certificate of Amendment changing its corporate name to Comcast Phone of Virginia, Inc. Although AT&T Broadband Phone failed to request the cancellation of certificates issued in its name and the reissuance of certificates reflecting its new name, we take notice that this should be done.

NOW, UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that certificates of public convenience and necessity Nos. TT-30C and T-371b, issued to AT&T Broadband Phone, should be cancelled; and certificates of public convenience and necessity should be reissued to Comcast Phone of Virginia, Inc., reflecting the new name of that corporation, Comcast Phone of Virginia, Inc.

Accordingly, IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This matter is hereby docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00006.
- (2) Certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-30C, issued to AT&T Broadband Phone is hereby cancelled.
- (3) Certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-30D, is hereby issued to Comcast Phone of Virginia, Inc., authorizing it to provide interexchange telecommunications services, subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers (codified in 20 VAC 5-411-10 et seq.), § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions previously set out in the Commission's February 15, 2002, Final Order entered in Case No. PUC-2002-00007.
- (4) Certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-371b, issued to AT&T Broadband Phone is hereby cancelled.

(5) Certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-371c, is hereby issued to Comcast Phone of Virginia, Inc., authorizing it to provide local exchange telecommunications services, subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service (codified in 20 VAC 5-400-180), § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions previously set out in the Commission's February 15, 2002, Final Order entered in Case No. PUC-2002-00007.

(6) Comcast Phone of Virginia, Inc., shall file revised tariffs no later than sixty (60) days from the date of this Order with the Commission's Division of Communications that conform with all applicable Commission rules and regulations and which use Comcast Phone of Virginia, Inc.'s name rather than that of AT&T Broadband Phone.

(7) There being nothing further to be done in this matter, this case shall be removed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings and the papers filed herein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

FEBRUARY 18, 2003

PETITION OF
STICKDOG TELECOM, INC.

Regarding Notification of Disconnection from Verizon Virginia Inc.

ORDER PERMITTING DISCONTINUANCE

On January 15, 2003, Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia") filed a letter with the Clerk of the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") pursuant to 20 VAC 5-423-80 notifying the Commission that Verizon Virginia proposes to disconnect resale local exchange telecommunications services to Stickdog Telecom, Inc. ("Stickdog"), on March 17, 2003 ("Notification of Disconnection"). As set forth in 20 VAC 5-423-80, Verizon Virginia's Notification of Disconnection provided information regarding: (1) the number of Stickdog local exchange resale customers to be disconnected and the proposed disconnection date; (2) the amount of money claimed to be owed to Verizon Virginia by Stickdog, including the identification of any disputed amounts; (3) a description of any efforts that Verizon Virginia and Stickdog have taken to prevent disconnection or disruption of service to Stickdog's customers; (4) any proposal to notify or to transfer Stickdog's customers to Verizon Virginia or other carriers; and (5) a copy of a written disconnection notice sent to Stickdog.

On January 22, 2003, Stickdog filed a letter with the Clerk of the Commission objecting to Verizon Virginia's Notification of Disconnection. Stickdog asserted that the information submitted by Verizon Virginia in the Notification of Disconnection is inaccurate and objectionable. Stickdog, among other things, challenged certain information provided by Verizon Virginia and provided additional information on the billing dispute that led to the Notification of Disconnection. In addition, Stickdog requested that if the Commission is unable to prevent Verizon Virginia from disconnecting Stickdog's customers' local phone service, the Commission at least require Verizon Virginia to confirm that it will not disconnect asynchronous digital subscriber line ("DSL") services and that it will allow DSL services to continue without interruption under Stickdog's Internet account with Verizon Virginia.

On January 29, 2003, the Commission issued an Order Establishing Proceeding docketing the proceeding and establishing a procedural schedule. Additionally, the Commission directed Stickdog to provide information required by Rule 5 VAC 5-20-100 B of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. On February 4, 2003, Stickdog filed its Supplemental Pleading, Petition for Discontinuance of Service and Petition for Injunction ("Petition"). In its Petition, Stickdog reiterated its objections to Verizon Virginia's Notification of Disconnection, petitioned the Commission for authority to discontinue the provision of all local exchange telecommunications services pursuant to the Rules Governing the Discontinuance of Local Exchange Services set forth at 20 VAC 5-423-10 et seq., requested that the Commission enjoin Verizon Virginia from disconnecting Stickdog until all its customers have been notified, and further petitioned that Verizon Virginia be enjoined from interrupting service to Stickdog's DSL customers who choose to migrate their DSL service to Verizon Virginia.

Additionally, Stickdog requested a 60-day notice period after entry of the Commission's Order and asked the Commission to enjoin Verizon Virginia from discontinuing service to Stickdog's customers for at least 90 days from entry of an order. Stickdog also included suggested language to be used as its notice to customers and further indicated that it wished to include notice to its customers as a billing insert.

On February 7, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed its Answer to Stickdog's Petition ("Answer") opposing Stickdog's requests for injunction and reiterating its desire and intent to disconnect Stickdog's local exchange telecommunications services on March 17, 2003. Verizon Virginia also suggested that Stickdog be required to notify its customers by first-class mail no later than February 14, 2003. Additionally, Verizon Virginia took issue with the wording of Stickdog's proposed notice of discontinuance of service. Finally, Verizon Virginia noted that it intends to disconnect Stickdog's DSL service under the provisions of the applicable federal tariff.

On February 11, 2003, Stickdog filed its Response to Answer of Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Response"). Stickdog's Response renewed its requested relief set out in its Petition of February 4, 2003; denied that the alleged debt owed by Stickdog in the amount of $1.1 million is undisputed; denied that Stickdog is delinquent on its DSL accounts; and renewed its request for injunctive relief as set out in Stickdog's Petition of February 4, 2003.

On February 12, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed a Motion for Leave to File Response to Stickdog's February 11, 2003, Response. In its Response, Verizon Virginia requested that the Commission deny Stickdog's request for injunctive relief and to further order Stickdog to notify its customers by first-class mail.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the pleadings and applicable law, finds as follows.

The Commission is concerned about the effect on Stickdog's customers stemming from the intended discontinuance by Verizon Virginia of Stickdog's resale service. The Commission finds that, to minimize customer disruption, Stickdog should not be disconnected by Verizon Virginia on Verizon Virginia's planned March 17, 2003, deadline. We find that Stickdog's customers should have additional time to select an alternative telephone company; therefore, Verizon Virginia shall not disconnect Stickdog's service until after April 15, 2003. We find that Stickdog's customers should receive direct notice; therefore, we will not grant Stickdog's request to notify its customers via bill inserts. Stickdog shall send a separate direct notice to customers via first-class mail on or before March 3, 2003. By granting this additional time, the Commission expects that Stickdog will be able to provide its customers with close to 45 days' notice.¹

Moreover, the Commission has learned, based on experience in previous discontinuance cases, that even when some customers have timely chosen a new carrier by the required date, their service may be disrupted because the underlying or new carrier has not completed the customer's transfer order within the same timeframe. The Commission recognizes that this is not an intentional outcome, but we are also aware that it can create serious consequences for those customers in transition. Therefore, the Commission finds that Verizon Virginia shall not disconnect service to any of Stickdog's resale customers for which any order, either to migrate the customer to a new Competitive Local Exchange Carrier or to Verizon Virginia itself, has been placed (but not completed) with Verizon Virginia by the April 15, 2003, date.

We will not rule on Stickdog's request regarding its DSL service. The Commission reminds Verizon Virginia, however, of its duties pursuant to 20 VAC 5-423-80-D. We expect Verizon Virginia to make every effort to assist in the expedient and timely transfer of Stickdog's customers to their new carrier, including its DSL customers, in order to prevent disruption of service to these customers.

Finally, we will not rule on the parties' disagreement regarding the specific language to be included in Stickdog's notice to its customers. We will require, however, that certain language noted below be included in such notice.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) We grant Verizon Virginia's February 12, 2003, Motion for Leave to File Response and accept Verizon Virginia's Response of February 13, 2003. We also accept Stickdog's February 11, 2003, Response, even though it was not accompanied by a motion for leave to file.
- (2) Verizon Virginia is hereby enjoined from disconnecting resale local exchange telecommunications services to Stickdog until after April 15, 2003.
- (3) Verizon Virginia is further enjoined from disconnecting any of Stickdog's local exchange customers that have an associated order to transfer local exchange telecommunications services in place on or before April 15, 2003.
- (4) Verizon Virginia shall follow its expedited ordering procedures and make every effort to assist in the timely transfer of Stickdog's customers, including its DSL customers, to the customer's new local exchange telecommunications carrier in order to prevent the disruption of service to those customers as required by 20 VAC 5-423-80 D.
- (5) Stickdog is hereby granted authority to discontinue its provision of local exchange telecommunications services to customers in Virginia.
- (6) On or before March 3, 2003, Stickdog shall complete notice by first-class mail to each customer affected by the proposed discontinuance in Verizon Virginia's territory.
- (7) Stickdog shall include the following language in its notice to customers in Verizon Virginia's territory:

"Customers are required to select an alternative local exchange telephone company on or before April 15, 2003, to avoid a loss of local telephone service. Customers who have placed an order for service with an alternative telephone company but have not yet been transferred to that company should not experience a loss of local service."
- (8) The Staff shall monitor the discontinuance process as necessary. Stickdog and Verizon Virginia shall provide any requested information to the Staff as expeditiously as possible, pursuant to Virginia Code § 56-249.
- (9) On or before April 11, 2003, Stickdog shall report to the Commission's Division of Communications the number of its remaining customers in Virginia.
- (10) Stickdog shall file notice with the Commission when it has completed discontinuance of service to its customers.
- (11) Verizon Virginia shall file notice with the Commission when it has completed discontinuance of service to Stickdog.

PETITION OF
STICKDOG TELECOM, INC.

Regarding Notification of Disconnection from Verizon Virginia Inc.

ORDER DENYING RECONSIDERATION AND GRANTING CLARIFICATION

On January 15, 2003, Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia"), filed a letter with the Clerk of the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") pursuant to 20 VAC 5-423-80 notifying the Commission that Verizon Virginia proposed to disconnect resale service to Stickdog Telecom, Inc. ("Stickdog"), on March 17, 2003 ("Notification of Disconnection"). As set forth in 20 VAC 5-423-80, Verizon Virginia's Notification of Disconnection provided information regarding: (1) the number of Stickdog resale customers to be disconnected and the proposed disconnection date; (2) the amount claimed to be owed to Verizon Virginia by Stickdog, including the identification of any disputed amounts; (3) a description of any efforts that Verizon Virginia and Stickdog have taken to prevent disconnection or disruption of service to Stickdog's customers; (4) any proposal to notify or transfer Stickdog's customers to Verizon Virginia or to other carriers; and (5) a copy of a written disconnection notice sent to Stickdog.

On January 22, 2003, Stickdog filed a letter with the Clerk of the Commission objecting to Verizon Virginia's Notification of Disconnection. Stickdog asserted that the information submitted by Verizon Virginia in the Notification of Disconnection was inaccurate and objectionable. Stickdog, among other things, challenged certain information provided by Verizon Virginia and provided additional information on the billing dispute that led to the Notification of Disconnection. In addition, Stickdog requested that, if the Commission is unwilling to prevent Verizon Virginia from disconnecting Stickdog's customers' local phone service, the Commission at least require Verizon Virginia to confirm that it will not disconnect asynchronous digital subscriber line ("DSL") services and that it will allow DSL services to continue without interruption under Stickdog's Internet account with Verizon Virginia.

On January 29, 2003, the Commission issued an Order Establishing Proceeding docketing the matter and establishing a procedural schedule. Additionally, the Commission directed Stickdog to provide information required by Rule 5 VAC 5-20-100 B of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure.

On February 4, 2003, Stickdog filed its Supplemental Pleading, Petition for Discontinuance of Service and Petition for Injunction ("Petition"). In its Petition, Stickdog reiterated its objections to Verizon Virginia's Notification of Disconnection, petitioned the Commission for authority to discontinue the provision of all local exchange telecommunications services pursuant to the Rules Governing the Discontinuance of Local Exchange Services set forth at 20 VAC 5-423-10 et seq., requested that the Commission enjoin Verizon Virginia from disconnecting Stickdog until all its customers have been notified, and further petitioned that Verizon Virginia be enjoined from interrupting service to Stickdog's DSL customers who choose to migrate their DSL service to Verizon Virginia.

Additionally, Stickdog requested a 60-day customer notice period after entry of the Commission's Order and asked the Commission to enjoin Verizon Virginia from discontinuing service to Stickdog's customers for at least 90 days from entry of an order. Stickdog also included suggested language to be used as its notice to customers and further indicated that it wished to include notice to its customers as a billing insert.

On February 7, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed its Answer to Stickdog's Petition ("Answer") opposing Stickdog's requests for injunction and reiterating its desire and intent to disconnect Stickdog's local exchange telecommunications services on March 17, 2003. Verizon Virginia also suggested that Stickdog be required to notify its customers by first-class mail no later than February 14, 2003. Additionally, Verizon Virginia took issue with the wording of Stickdog's proposed customer notice. Finally, Verizon Virginia noted that it intends to disconnect Stickdog's DSL service under the provisions of the applicable federal tariff.

On February 11, 2003, Stickdog filed its Response to Answer of Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Response"). Stickdog's Response renewed its requested relief set out in its Petition of February 4, 2003; denied that the alleged debt owed by Stickdog in the amount of $1.1 million is undisputed; denied that Stickdog is delinquent on its DSL accounts; and renewed its request for injunctive relief as set out in Stickdog's Petition of February 4, 2003.

On February 12, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed a Motion for Leave to File Response to Stickdog's February 11, 2003, Response. In its response, Verizon Virginia requested that the Commission deny Stickdog's request for injunctive relief and order Stickdog to notify its customers by first-class mail.

On February 18, 2003, the Commission issued its Order Permitting Discontinuance, enjoining Verizon Virginia from disconnecting service to Stickdog until after April 15, 2003; enjoining Verizon Virginia from disconnecting former Stickdog customers who have pending orders for services in place on or before April 15, 2003; directing Verizon Virginia to follow its expedited ordering procedures in transferring customers; directing Stickdog to notify its customers of discontinuance by first-class mail on or before March 3, 2003; requiring Stickdog to report the number of its remaining customers on or before April 11, 2003; requiring Stickdog to notify the Commission when it has completed discontinuance of service to its customers; requiring Verizon Virginia to notify the Commission when it has completed disconnection of service to Stickdog; and requiring the Staff to monitor the discontinuance process as necessary.

On February 25, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed a Petition for Reconsideration ("Reconsideration Petition") of the Commission's February 18, 2003, Order, alleging, among other things, that the Commission violated its rules by imposing an injunction upon Verizon Virginia by expanding the interval between Verizon Virginia's notice to the Commission and the actual date of disconnection of service to Stickdog and by giving customers more than 30 days' notice of impending disconnection.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of this matter, finds as follows. Rule 5 VAC 5-20-220 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure permits filing a petition for reconsideration in response to a final judgment, order, or decree. Our February 18, 2003, Order Permitting Discontinuance was not a final order. We will issue a final order and close this case after receiving the information required by the Order Permitting

Discontinuance and concluding that there are no issues remaining in this case. Accordingly, we will treat Verizon Virginia's Reconsideration Petition as a motion for reconsideration under 5 VAC 5-20-110.

We have reviewed and considered all of the arguments in the Reconsideration Petition, and it is hereby denied. We will, however, grant clarification on one matter. Verizon Virginia explains that even if a Stickdog customer selects another competitive local exchange carrier ("CLEC") by April 15, 2003, Verizon Virginia may not have received an associated order from the CLEC to transfer that customer's local exchange telecommunications services. Consequently, nothing in Verizon Virginia's systems would indicate the existence of the customer's selection of another carrier.

In this regard, we clarify that ordering paragraph (3) of our February 18, 2003, Order Permitting Discontinuance enjoins Verizon Virginia from disconnecting any of Stickdog's local exchange customers for which Verizon Virginia has received an associated order to transfer local exchange telecommunications services on or before April 15, 2003. We also will provide a copy of this Order to all CLECs certificated by the Commission to provide service in Virginia so that the CLECs are aware of the need promptly to notify Verizon Virginia when a Stickdog customer chooses the CLEC as its new telephone company. Finally, we also note that ordering paragraph (4) of our February 18, 2003, Order Permitting Discontinuance requires Verizon Virginia to follow its expedited ordering procedures and make every effort to assist in the timely transfer of Stickdog's customers, including its DSL customers, to the customer's new local exchange telecommunications carrier in order to prevent the disruption of service to those customers as required by 20 VAC 5-423-80 D.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Verizon Virginia's Petition for Reconsideration is denied.
- (2) The Commission's February 18, 2003, Order Permitting Discontinuance is clarified to provide that ordering paragraph (3) of that Order enjoins Verizon Virginia from disconnecting any of Stickdog's local exchange customers for which Verizon Virginia has received an associated order to transfer a customer's local exchange telecommunications services on or before April 15, 2003.
- (3) The Clerk of the Commission shall provide of copy of this Order to competitive local exchange carriers certified by the Commission.
- (4) This matter is continued until further order of the Commission.

CASE NO. PUC-2003-00009
MAY 27, 2003

APPLICATION OF
ALTICOMM OF VIRGINIA, INC.

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On January 16, 2003, Alticomm of Virginia, Inc. ("Alticomm" or the "Company"), filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide resold local exchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia.

By Order dated February 20, 2003, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. On April 1, 2003, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the February 20, 2003, Order.

On April 30, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that Alticomm's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service.¹ The Staff's review identified an overall weak financial condition for Alticomm. Therefore, the Staff requested a bond in lieu of the requirement to provide audited financial statements. The Company suggested a $25,000 bond² since it is requesting only resale authority in Virginia. The Staff did not object to $25,000 under the condition that the certificate was restricted to resale authority. Based upon its review of Alticomm's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company a certificate to provide resold local exchange telecommunications services subject to the following conditions: (1) should Alticomm collect customer deposits, it should, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and should notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement should be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary; (2) the Company should provide to the Division of Economics and Finance a $25,000 continuous bond within 30 days of this Order; (3) the Company should notify the Division of Economics and Finance 30 days prior to the cancellation or lapse of its Bond and should provide a replacement Bond. This requirement should be maintained until such time as the Staff or the Commission determines that it is no longer necessary; and (4) Alticomm's certificate of public convenience and necessity should be restricted to the resale of local exchange telecommunications services.

² New Local Rule, 20 VAC 5-417-20 G 1 b, requires a $50,000 performance or surety bond for a showing of financial ability.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted a certificate to provide resold local exchange telecommunications services.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Alticomm is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-613, to provide only resold local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations.

(3) Should Alticomm collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

(4) Alticomm is hereby granted a waiver of §§ B 5 a and E 1 d of the Local Rules requiring audited financial statements.

(5) The Company shall provide to the Division of Economics and Finance a $25,000 continuous bond within thirty (30) days of this Order.

(6) The Company shall provide thirty (30) days' prior notice to the Division of Economics and Finance of cancellation or lapse of its Bond and shall provide a replacement Bond. This condition shall remain in effect until such time as the Staff or the Commission determines that it is no longer necessary.

(7) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

FEBRUARY 14, 2003

APPLICATION OF
YIPES TRANSMISSION VIRGINIA, INC.

To cancel existing certificates and reissue certificates reflecting new name

FINAL ORDER

By letter application filed February 5, 2003, Yipes Transmission Virginia, Inc. ("Yipes" or the "Company"), informed the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") that it had changed its corporate name to YTV, Inc.¹

In its notice, Yipes recited that it had completed its name change in conjunction with the Company's efforts to emerge from bankruptcy.² The Company represents that the name change was entirely transparent to consumers since it continues to provide service under the "Yipes" brand name. Although Yipes failed to request the cancellation of its certificate of public convenience and necessity ("CPCNs") issued in its name and the reissuance of a CPCN reflecting its new name, we take notice that this should be done.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that CPCN No. T-516, issued to Yipes Transmission Virginia, Inc., should be cancelled, and a CPCN should be reissued in the new corporate name, YTV, Inc.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) This case is docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00013.

(2) Certificate of public convenience and necessity No. T-516 for local exchange telecommunications services is cancelled and shall be reissued as amended Certificate No. T-516a in the name of YTV, Inc.

(3) YTV, Inc. shall file revised tariffs no later than sixty (60) days from the date of this Order with the Commission's Division of Communications that conform with all applicable Commission rules and regulations and which use YTV, Inc.'s name rather than that of Yipes Transmission Virginia, Inc.

(4) There being nothing further to be done in this matter, this cause shall be removed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings and the papers filed herein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

² The name change was completed on August 21, 2002.

APPLICATION OF
VERIZON VIRGINIA INC.

To withdraw its request for exemption from physical collocation at its Madison, Remington, and The Crossings central offices

ORDER GRANTING REQUEST

On January 25, 2001, in Case No. PUC-2000-00250, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") granted Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia") an exemption from the requirement to provide physical collocation at its Madison, Remington, and The Crossings central offices.

On January 24, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed letters withdrawing its request for exemption from physical collocation for its Madison, Remington, and The Crossings central offices. Verizon Virginia stated in its request that the exemptions are no longer necessary due to the completion of building additions.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the request, finds that it should be granted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Verizon Virginia's request for exemption from physical collocation for its Madison, Remington, and The Crossings central offices is hereby withdrawn.

(2) There being nothing further to be done herein, this matter shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases and the papers filed herein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

On February 6, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed letters withdrawing its request for exemption from physical collocation for its Lewinsville and Sterling Park central offices. Verizon Virginia stated in its request that the exemptions are no longer necessary due to the availability of additional space.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the request, finds that it should be granted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Verizon Virginia's request for exemption from physical collocation for its Lewinsville and Sterling Park central offices is hereby withdrawn.

(2) There being nothing further to be done herein, this matter shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases and the papers filed herein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

On June 18, 2003, FeroNetworks, Inc. ("FeroNetworks"), filed a request with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for withdrawal of its application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("certificate") to offer local exchange telecommunications services.

On February 12, 2003, FeroNetworks filed an application with the Commission for a certificate to provide basic local exchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia, on both a reseller and facility-based basis. On February 26, 2003, the Commission determined the application was incomplete. On April 18, 2003, after filing additional information with the Commission, FeroNetwork's application was determined to be complete. On May 14, 2003, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Comment finding that the application process should continue. Subsequently, the Commission received the request to withdraw the application of this certificate.

JULY 28, 2003

APPLICATION OF
EUREKA TELECOM, LLC

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On April 9, 2003, Eureka Telecom, LLC ("Eureka" or the "Company"), completed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

By Order dated April 22, 2003, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. On June 3, 2003, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the April 22, 2003, Order.

On June 26, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that Eureka's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service ("Local Rules")¹ and the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers.² Based upon its review of Eureka's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services subject to the following conditions: (1) should Eureka collect customer deposits, it should, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and should notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement should be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary; (2) the Company should provide to the Division of Economics and Finance a $50,000 continuous bond within 30 days of the Final Order in this case; and (3) the Company should notify the Division of Economics and Finance 30 days prior to the cancellation or lapse of its bond and should provide a replacement bond. This requirement should be maintained until such time as the Staff or the Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

The Staff Report recommends the requirement of a continuous performance or surety bond in the amount of $50,000.³ The Staff believes this bond represents sufficient financial assurance for the potential customers of a competitive local exchange carrier; and since Eureka is unable to fulfill the financial requirement of the Local Rules under which it filed, the financial requirement of the Revised Local Rules is preferred. The Local Rules required audited financial statements as a showing of financial ability. Eureka was unable to fulfill that requirement. Therefore, the Company requested a temporary waiver of the requirement for audited financial statements, stating that it would provide audited financial statements no later than one year from the effective date of Eureka's initial Virginia tariffs.

The Commission notes that the Company did not file any rebuttal to the Staff's Report as provided for in the Order for Notice and Comment issued April 22, 2003.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services. Having considered § 56-481.1, the Commission further finds that the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Eureka Telecom, LLC, is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-196A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) Eureka Telecom, LLC, is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-617, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

¹ The rules identified in 20 VAC 5-400-180, Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, were repealed and replaced by 20 VAC 5-417-10 et seq., Rules Governing the certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers ("Revised Local Rules"), on April 9, 2003, in Case No. PUC-2002-00115.

³ 20 VAC 5-417-20 G 1 b of the Revised Local Rules requires a continuous performance or surety bond in a minimum amount of $50,000 in a form to be prescribed by the Staff.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

- (3) Pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia, the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.
- (4) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations.
- (5) Should Eureka Telecom, LLC, collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.
- (6) Eureka shall provide to the Division of Economics and Finance a $50,000 continuous bond within 30 days of the Final Order, pursuant to 20 VAC 5-417-20 G 1 b of the Revised Local Rules.
- (7) Eureka shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance 30 days prior to the cancellation or lapse of the bond required in Ordering Paragraph (6) above and shall provide a replacement bond. This requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or the Commission determines it is no longer necessary.
- (8) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

AUGUST 18, 2003

APPLICATION OF
EUREKA TELECOM, LLC

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

ORDER GRANTING RECONSIDERATION

On April 9, 2003, Eureka Telecom, LLC ("Eureka" or the "Company"), completed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

On July 28, 2003, the Commission issued a Final Order granting Eureka certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services subject to certain requirements.

On August 14, 2003, Eureka filed a Petition for Reconsideration and/or Suspension of Final Order ("Petition"). Eureka requests that the Commission reconsider the portion of the Final Order that required Eureka to provide a continuous bond. The Company renews its request that the Commission allow it to provide audited financial statements within one (1) year of the effective date of its tariffs. In the alternative, Eureka requests that it be allowed to provide a performance or surety bond within one (1) year of the effective date of its tariffs. While the Commission considers Eureka's Petition, the Company requests that the Commission suspend its Final Order.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the Petition, is of the opinion and finds as follows. We grant the Petition for the purpose of continuing our jurisdiction over this matter and considering such Petition. The July 28, 2003, Final Order is suspended pending further order of the Commission.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petition is hereby granted for the purpose of continuing our jurisdiction over this proceeding and considering such Petition.
- (2) The Final Order of July 28, 2003, is suspended pending further order of the Commission.
- (3) This matter is continued pending further order of the Commission.

OCTOBER 17, 2003

APPLICATION OF
EUREKA TELECOM, LLC

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

ORDER ON RECONSIDERATION

On April 9, 2003, Eureka Telecom, LLC ("Eureka" or the "Company"), completed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

On July 28, 2003, the Commission issued a Final Order granting Eureka certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services subject to certain requirements.

On August 14, 2003, Eureka filed a Petition for Reconsideration and/or Suspension of Final Order ("Petition"). Eureka requests that the Commission reconsider the portion of the Final Order requiring Eureka to provide a continuous performance or surety bond in the amount of $50,000. Eureka explains that it endeavored to obtain a performance or surety bond to comply with the Final Order, and it has found that obtaining such a bond is a burdensome and overly expensive matter. The Company also asserts that since the Commission's Rules in existence at the time Eureka filed its application did not require a performance or surety bond, it would be inappropriate to require Eureka to provide such bond in this proceeding.

As a result, the Company renews its request that the Commission allow it to provide audited financial statements within one (1) year of the effective date of its tariffs. In the alternative, Eureka requests that it be allowed to provide a performance or surety bond within one (1) year of the effective date of its tariffs. The Company also requested that the Commission suspend the Final Order while we consider the Petition.

On August 18, 2003, the Commission issued an Order Granting Reconsideration, wherein we: (1) granted the Petition for the purpose of continuing our jurisdiction over this matter and considering such Petition; and (2) suspended the July 28, 2003, Final Order pending further order of the Commission.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the Petition, the pleadings, and the applicable law, denies the Petition. The requirement of a surety bond in our Final Order and in Rule 20 VAC 5-417-20 G 1 b,¹ among other things, is needed to demonstrate financial ability and to provide consumer protection. The Company has failed to establish that the surety bond required by the Final Order is not necessary to serve its intended purpose. Furthermore, the absence of a Commission Rule mandating a surety bond at the time Eureka filed its application does not preclude the Commission from concluding in this proceeding that such a bond is necessary prior to Eureka's commencement of service.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petition is hereby denied.
- (2) The Final Order of July 28, 2003, is hereby no longer suspended.
- (3) This matter is dismissed.

NOVEMBER 6, 2003

APPLICATION OF
LEVEL 3 COMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On February 20, 2003, Level 3 Communications of Virginia, Inc. ("Level 3" or "Applicant"), filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for certificates of public convenience and necessity ("certificates") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Applicant also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia ("Code").

On March 5, 2003, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Comment docketing this proceeding, directing the Applicant to provide notice to the public of its application, establishing a procedural schedule, and directing the Commission Staff ("Staff") to conduct an investigation into the reasonableness of the application. The Order for Notice and Comment permitted any person desiring to comment in writing and/or wishing to request a hearing on the application to do so by April 7, 2003.

On April 24, 2003, Brenda L. Stewart submitted late-filed comments on the application and requested that the Commission accept and consider her late-filed comments. Ms. Stewart asserted that Level 3 Communications, LLC ("Level 3 LLC"), the parent of the Applicant, had exhibited and continues to exhibit disregard for the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia. Ms. Stewart stated that Level 3 LLC appropriated her land and the land of others with no prior notice, with no compensation, and without valid easement, license, or right of occupancy.

On April 29, 2003, Ms. Stewart filed petitions requesting a public hearing signed by over forty individuals, purportedly representing landowners of forty-one parcels of real estate allegedly affected by the actions of Level 3 LLC. Ms. Stewart stated that she was under the mistaken impression that there would automatically be a public hearing in this case, and she respectfully asked the Commission to accept the late-filed hearing requests.

On May 5, 2003, the Staff filed its report. The Staff stated that Level 3's application is acceptable and in compliance with the certification requirements of the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service (20 VAC 5-400-180) and the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers (20 VAC 5-411-10 et seq.). The Staff concluded that it is appropriate to grant Level 3 a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services and a certificate to provide interexchange telecommunications services, subject to certain conditions.

On May 15, 2003, Level 3 filed a response to the Staff report and to the comments and requests for hearing. Level 3 stated that the Commission should issue the requested certificates, with certain conditions suggested by the Staff, without delay and without scheduling a hearing. Level 3 also explained that it and its parent company determined that rather than requesting a ruling from the Commission as to whether a limited liability company can possess the right of eminent domain, the more prudent and expeditious remedy would be to form a Virginia public service corporation and obtain certificates of public convenience and necessity as the Commission's General Counsel previously suggested in his letters.

On May 19, 2003, the Division of Consumer Counsel, Office of the Attorney General ("Consumer Counsel"), filed a letter requesting that the Commission grant due consideration to Ms. Stewart's request for hearing. On May 20, 2003, Ms. Stewart filed a response to the Staff report and to Level 3's response.

On May 22, 2003, the Commission issued an Order Scheduling Hearing, which accepted the comments filed by Ms. Stewart on April 24, 2003, and the petitions requesting a public hearing filed on April 29, 2003. The Commission did not consider the pleadings from Consumer Counsel and Ms. Stewart, filed on May 19 and 20, 2003, respectively, which were submitted subsequent to Level 3's response in this matter. The Order Scheduling Hearing explained that pursuant to § 56-265.4:4 B 1 of the Code, before granting the requested certificates the Commission must find, among other things, that such action is in the public interest. The Commission noted that Level 3 LLC is the parent of Level 3, the company requesting certificates in this case, and that the alleged conduct of Level 3 LLC as discussed in the Staff report and in the comments and requests for hearing raise questions as to whether it is in the public interest to grant certificates to its affiliate, Level 3. The Commission scheduled a public evidentiary hearing for July 15, 2003.

Level 3 filed its direct testimony on June 10, 2003. On June 24, 2003, the Woodpecker Road Area Property Rights Association ("Association") filed a notice of participation and its direct testimony. On July 1, 2003, the Staff filed notice that it was adopting the Staff report as its prefiled testimony. Level 3 filed rebuttal testimony on July 8, 2003.

The Commission held public evidentiary hearings on July 15 and 16, 2003. Counsel appearing at the hearings were Eric M. Page, Michael R. Romano, Karen S. Davis, and T. Borden Ellis for Level 3; Michael J. Quinan and Ashley C. Beuttel for the Association; and Don R. Mueller for the Staff. Seventeen public witnesses appeared and gave testimony. William P. Hunt, III, and C. Loyall Meade presented testimony on behalf of Level 3. Brenda L. Stewart, Billy William Harris, and Kenneth Gerald Porter presented testimony on behalf of the Association. Level 3, the Association, and the Staff filed post-hearing briefs on September 5, 2003.

On September 16, 2003, the Association filed a Motion to Strike Evidence and Argument Presented in Level 3's Post-Hearing Brief ("Motion to Strike"). The Association asserts that Level 3's Post-Hearing Brief contains arguments based on evidence that is not in the record and that Level 3 includes approximately seventy (70) pages of new evidence as part of its Post-Hearing Brief. The Association asserts that its right to cross-examine witnesses on evidence put in issue and relevant to the proceeding is an absolute right, not a privilege.

On October 6, 2003, Level 3 filed a Reply to the Motion to Strike. Level 3 states that the additional evidence in its Post-Hearing Brief "is information that the Commissioners specifically requested be included in the parties' submissions," and that "[t]he Association's counsel was present during each and every request made by the Commissioners for further information, and counsel was obviously aware, especially after the point was raised by Level 3's counsel, that additional evidence would be supplied in the brief."¹ Level 3 also asserts that the additional evidence presents rebuttal to erroneous factual allegations made by public witnesses, for which there was insufficient time to research and challenge at the hearing, and that it ensures the Commission will be able to rely on an accurate and reliable record. In addition, Level 3 contends that its introduction of additional evidence does not prejudice the Association and does not deny the Association due process.

On October 20, 2003, the Association filed a Reply. The Association requests the Commission to strike Level 3's additional evidence and its brief to the extent it relies on matters outside the record rather than to re-open the record for additional evidence.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the record, the pleadings, and the applicable law, the Commission denies, without prejudice, Level 3's application for certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia and Level 3's request for authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code.

We find that it is not in the public interest to issue the requested certificates to Level 3. The Applicant acknowledged that the Commission may fairly judge the potential management of Level 3 by looking at the practices of Level 3 LLC.² The management practices of Level 3 LLC involving the installation of its facilities in Virginia, and its efforts to identify and remedy its potential wrongdoings related thereto, are not in the public interest. Based on the record in this case, Level 3 has not established that it possesses sufficient managerial resources, policies, and abilities such that granting the requested certificates would be in the public interest.

² Tr. at 280-81. Level 3 also explained that "[m]any of the members of the management of Virginia are Vice Presidents or hold substantial positions in LLC." Tr. at 280.

Level 3 asserts that the "evidence in this proceeding shows unequivocally that Level 3 LLC's management acted appropriately before, during and after the installation of its fiber optic cable facilities in Virginia."³ We do not reach the same conclusion. For example, after becoming aware of problems involving the installation of its facilities, Level 3 LLC failed to take reasonable steps to identify the landowners that may have been aggrieved by Level 3 LLC or its contractors and failed to establish reasonable means to address the wrongdoings of which it was aware.⁴

Level 3 contends, however, that the Commission cannot consider management's actions surrounding the construction of fiber optic cable facilities as a reason to deny certificates to render telecommunications services. Level 3 asserts that the Commission may only look at its management for the purpose of determining whether it has the "ability to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services," and that its actions involving construction of facilities do not relate to its ability to provide telecommunications services.⁵ We disagree. The construction of facilities to be used for telecommunications services is part of an applicant's rendering of such service. Furthermore, Level 3 incorrectly concludes that the Commission's rules requiring an applicant to show its ability "to render" telecommunications services somehow prohibit the Commission from finding, based on the management practices of an applicant, that it is not in the public interest to grant the requested certificates.⁶

Level 3 also states that denying the requested certificates violates the Telecommunications Act of 1996 ("Act"), 47 U.S.C. § 253(a), which provides that no state "may prohibit or have the effect of prohibiting the ability of any entity to provide any interstate or intrastate telecommunications service." We again disagree. Denial of the requested certificates for failure to satisfy reasonable and identifiable state criteria is not a violation of the Act. Moreover, Level 3 LLC currently can offer the same services that Level 3 would be able to offer, and Level 3 will not be able to offer services more affordably than Level 3 LLC.⁷

The Applicant further contends that it "would be untenable to deny Level 3's request while at the same time allowing other bankrupt or troubled companies to continue to maintain their certificates."⁸ In this regard, we note that the statutory standard for revoking a certificate is not the same as for initially obtaining a certificate. For example, the Commission could not revoke the certificate of Level 3 LLC without providing Level 3 LLC an opportunity, within a "reasonable time to be fixed by the Commission," to comply with the lawful order, rule, or regulation of the Commission found to have been violated by Level 3 LLC.⁹

We emphasize that our denial of the application is without prejudice for Level 3 to reapply at some point in the future. At the hearing and on brief, Level 3 discussed actions and policies that it plans to implement, which begin to address the management problems identified in this proceeding. These new actions and policies involve, for example, Level 3's future construction activities and Level 3 LLC's dealings with known and unknown landowners that may have been aggrieved as a result of actions by Level 3 LLC and/or its contractors.¹⁰

Any subsequent application by Level 3 should demonstrate, among other things, that Level 3 LLC's new policies and practices (which are not necessarily limited to those identified in this case) have been implemented successfully and that its management possesses the resources and ability to act responsibly and in the public interest in matters involving the construction of facilities and involving citizens and businesses that have, or may have, a claim against Level 3 LLC or the Applicant now or in the future. Moreover, Level 3's ultimate responsibilities as a certificate holder cannot be delegated to its contractors; Level 3 must establish that it is capable of fulfilling its obligations through adequate monitoring and scrutiny of such contractors.

Finally, having denied Level 3's application in this proceeding, we find it unnecessary to rule on the Association's Motion to Strike.

³ Level 3 Post-Hearing Brief at 53-54.

⁴ In addition, Level 3 LLC failed to obtain proper permission to enter onto private land for the construction of its facilities. Level 3 LLC wrongfully installed cable on numerous parcels of private property. Level 3 LLC failed to reasonably advise property owners of its activities before, during, and after installation. Level 3 LLC performed little or no investigation to determine the scope of the problem after discovering that it may have violated the rights of private property owners. Level 3 LLC did not employ right-of-way agents in Virginia, though it believes it probably employed such agents in many other states. Level 3 LLC was unaware of the preparation and steps taken by its contractor regarding the installation complained of by the landowners in this proceeding. Level 3 LLC did not know if it had a system in place to make sure that its contractor was responsibly doing the job it was supposed to do regarding the installation complained of by the landowners in this proceeding. Moreover, Level 3 LLC admitted that it had not yet put into place a higher degree of monitoring of its contractors and that it did not know what that higher degree of monitoring would be. Level 3 LLC also informed a property owner that Level 3 LLC had the right of condemnation after it was advised in writing of the Commission's Office of General Counsel's position that Level 3 LLC did not possess such authority and that Level 3 LLC should immediately desist from informing landowners that it may wield such authority.

⁵ Level 3 Post-Hearing Brief at 8-10 (emphasis added).

⁸ Level 3 Post-Hearing Brief at 9.

⁹ Va. Code § 56-265.6.

¹⁰ For example, in its Post-Hearing Brief Level 3 LLC asserts that it has: (1) established a toll-free telephone number for potential claimants to use for claims or questions; (2) directed its surveyor to map its running line along certain older, rural roads in an effort to identify other potential claimants; (3) formulated a new policy for construction work that will be performed for Level 3 after certification, including formal standards of construction to be followed by its contractors; and (4) established a new procedure, which includes non-binding mediation, in an attempt to settle existing and future claims made by landowners.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Level 3's application for certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia and its request for authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia are hereby denied without prejudice as discussed herein.

(2) This matter is dismissed.

NOVEMBER 25, 2003

APPLICATION OF
LEVEL 3 COMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

ORDER DENYING RECONSIDERATION

On February 20, 2003, Level 3 Communications of Virginia, Inc. ("Level 3" or "Applicant"), filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for certificates of public convenience and necessity ("certificates") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Applicant also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia ("Code").

On November 6, 2003, the Commission issued a Final Order denying, without prejudice, Level 3's application for certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia and its request for authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis.

On November 21, 2003, Level 3 filed a Petition for Reconsideration and Motion to Suspend Final Order ("Petition"). Level 3 requests that the Commission reconsider its Final Order, reopen the proceeding, and allow Level 3 to supplement the existing record in order to meet the standards for certification articulated by the Commission in the Final Order. Level 3 also requests that the Commission indefinitely stay the effectiveness of the Final Order and, in doing so, explicitly extend the time for the taking of an appeal to the Supreme Court of Virginia. If the Commission denies the Petition, in whole or in part, Level 3 requests that the Commission stay the effectiveness of its Final Order while Level 3 prosecutes its appeal before the Supreme Court of Virginia.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the Petition, the pleadings, the record, and the applicable law, the Commission is of the opinion and finds as follows. We deny the Petition. We issued a Final Order in this case within the time period required under § 56-265.4:4 B 2 of the Code. Our Final Order emphasized that Level 3 may reapply for the requested certificates at some point in the future. We do not find sufficient justification to reconsider or to stay the Final Order.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Level 3's Petition for Reconsideration and Motion to Suspend Final Order is hereby denied.

(2) This matter is dismissed.

MARCH 3, 2003

APPLICATION OF
NTELOS TELEPHONE INC.,
ROANOKE & BOTETOURT TELEPHONE COMPANY,
NTELOS TELEPHONE LLC,
and
R&B TELEPHONE LLC

For approval of certain transactions pursuant to Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On February 24, 2003, NTELOS Telephone Inc. ("NTELOS Telephone"), Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Company ("R&B Telephone"), NTELOS Telephone LLC, and R&B Telephone LLC (collectively, "Applicants") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") under Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia requesting approval for the transfer of NTELOS Telephone's and R&B Telephone's membership interests in Virginia Telephone Alliance, L.C. ("VITAL"), to NTELOS Telephone LLC and R&B Telephone LLC, respectively.

NTELOS Inc. ("NTELOS") is a Virginia corporation headquartered in Waynesboro, Virginia. NTELOS is an integrated communications provider that offers products and services to customers in Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, and North Carolina, including wireless digital PCS, dial-up Internet access, high-speed DSL, and local and long distance telecommunications services. NTELOS is the parent company of several subsidiary companies, including two Virginia incumbent local exchange carriers ("ILEC"), R&B Telephone and NTELOS Telephone.

NTELOS Telephone is a certificated ILEC that provides telecommunications services primarily in Allegheny County, the Cities of Covington and Waynesboro, and the Town of Clifton Forge. R&B Telephone is certificated as an ILEC that provides telecommunications services in Botetourt County.

NTELOS Telephone LLC is a single-member Virginia limited liability company ("LLC") wholly owned by NTELOS Telephone. R&B Telephone LLC is a single-member Virginia LLC wholly owned by R&B Telephone.

On June 23, 1993, NTELOS Telephone and R&B Telephone and several other Virginia public service companies (collectively referred to as "Members")¹ filed Articles of Organization with the Commission to form VITAL. VITAL'S purpose was to deploy two signal transfer point nodes in a nationwide SS7 network. The Members have used these nodes to deliver intelligent network services to their customers and to provide other related services. These nodes are located in Troutville and Waynesboro, Virginia.

The Members entered into an Operating Agreement ("Agreement") on June 30, 1993, providing for the terms and conditions under which VITAL would be operated. NTELOS Telephone currently owns 44.7% membership interest, and R&B Telephone holds a 9% membership interest in VITAL.

NTELOS Telephone and R&B Telephone have each formed a single-member, wholly owned LLC for the purpose of holding its VITAL membership interests. NTELOS Telephone and R&B Telephone, therefore, request approval to transfer their respective membership interests in VITAL to NTELOS Telephone LLC and R&B Telephone LLC, respectively. NTELOS Telephone and R&B Telephone represent that these transfers will be in the public interest and will not be disruptive to the current operations of VITAL, NTELOS Telephone, or R&B Telephone.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application and representations of Applicants and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described transfers of membership interests in VITAL are in the public interest and should, therefore, be approved. We note that the Agreement referenced herein did not initially require Commission approval under Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia because no affiliated interests were parties to the agreement. Such was not the case after NTELOS² acquired R&B Telephone. At that time, R & B Telephone and NTELOS Telephone should have filed and obtained approval to participate in the agreement. A new Operating Agreement should be filed for approval incorporating R&B Telephone LLC and NTELOS Telephone LLC as parties to the agreement and reflecting NTELOS Telephone's and R & B Telephone's interests in such entities.

In addition, the Commission is advised by its Staff that there is a Maintenance Agreement among the Members. Such agreement also requires Commission approval pursuant to the Affiliates Act.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Pursuant to § 56-77 of the Code of Virginia, NTELOS Telephone and R&B Telephone are hereby granted approval to transfer their respective interests to NTELOS Telephone LLC and R&B Telephone LLC as described herein.

(2) Within 30 days from the date of this order, Applicants shall file an application for approval of a new Operating Agreement and Maintenance Agreement for the operation of VITAL reflecting NTELOS Telephone LLC and R&B Telephone LLC as parties to the Operating Agreement and the Maintenance Agreement and reflecting the interests of NTELOS Telephone and R&B Telephone in such entities.

(3) The approval granted herein shall have no ratemaking implications.

(4) The approval granted herein shall not preclude the Commission from exercising the provisions of §§ 56-78 and 56-80 of the Code of Virginia hereafter.

(5) The Commission reserves the authority to examine the books and records of any affiliate in connection with the approval granted herein whether or not the Commission otherwise regulates such affiliate.

(6) The transactions approved herein shall be included in Applicants' Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions submitted to the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting by April 1 of each year, subject to extension by the Director of Public Utility Accounting.

(7) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

² At the time of the acquisition NTELOS was known as CFW Communications Company.

JUNE 26, 2003

APPLICATION OF KDL OF VIRGINIA, INC.

For certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On April 14, 2003, KDL of Virginia, Inc. ("KDL" or the "Company"), completed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia.¹ The Company also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

By Order dated April 22, 2003, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. On May 19, 2003, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the April 22, 2003, Order.

On May 30, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that KDL's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service² and the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers.³ Based upon its review of KDL's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services subject to the following conditions: (1) should KDL collect customer deposits, it should, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and should notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement should be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary; and (2) at such time as voice services are initiated by KDL, it should comply with all requirements of § C (Conditions for certification) of the Local Rules.⁴

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted certificates to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services. Having considered § 56-481.1, the Commission further finds that the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) KDL of Virginia, Inc., is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-194A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) KDL of Virginia, Inc., is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-615, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(3) Pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia, the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

(4) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations.

(5) Should KDL collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

(6) At such time as voice services are initiated by KDL, it shall comply with all requirements of § C (Conditions for certification) of the Local Rules.

(7) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

¹ The application was originally filed as Kentucky Data Link, Inc.

² The Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, 20 VAC 5-400-180, were recently repealed and replaced by 20 VAC 5-417 et seq., the Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers by Commission Order issued April 9, 2003, in Case No. PUC-2002-00115, In the Matter of Regulations Governing Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, Localities as Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, and Local Inter-Carrier Matters. While this application was processed under 20 VAC 5-400-180, KDL should familiarize itself with the revised rules under which it will be regulated.

³ The Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers were recodified from 20 VAC 5-400-60 to 20 VAC 5-411-10 et seq. by Commission Order issued October 17, 2001, in Case No. PUC-2001-00122, In the Matter of Updating Certain Regulations Relating to Telecommunications.

By letter application dated February 25, 2003, XO Long Distance requested that the Commission cancel its certificate.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This matter shall be docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00030.
- (2) Certificate No. TT-164A is hereby cancelled.
- (3) Any existing tariffs of the Company currently on file with the Commission's Division of Communications are hereby cancelled.

To withdraw its request for exemption from physical collocation at its Bethia central office

ORDER GRANTING REQUEST

On February 20, 2001, in Case No. PUC-2000-00307, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") granted Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia") an exemption from the requirement to provide physical collocation at its Bethia central office.

On February 20, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed its Withdrawal of Exemption Request for its Bethia Central Office ("Withdrawal"), which requests that the exemption from physical collocation for its Bethia central office previously granted in Case No. PUC-2000-00307 be withdrawn. Verizon Virginia stated in its Withdrawal that the exemption is no longer necessary due to the completion of a building addition.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the Withdrawal, finds that it should be granted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Verizon Virginia's request for exemption from physical collocation for its Bethia central office is hereby withdrawn.
- (2) There being nothing further to be done herein, this matter shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases and the papers filed herein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

On March 19, 2003, PPL Prism, LLC ("PPL Prism" or "Applicant"), completed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("certificate") to provide interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Applicant requests authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia. The Applicant further requests interim operating authority to provide interexchange telecommunications services to customers of Cambrian Communications of Virginia LLC ("Cambrian")¹ pursuant to Cambrian's tariffs on file with the Commission's Division of Communications so that service remains uninterrupted to Cambrian's existing customers² pending the Commission's final determination in this proceeding.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the application, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that PPL Prism's application should be docketed; that the Applicant should give notice to the public of its application; that interested parties should have an opportunity to comment and request a hearing on PPL Prism's application; that the Commission Staff should conduct an investigation into the reasonableness of the application and present its findings in a Staff Report; and that PPL Prism should be granted interim operating authority.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This case is docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00035.
- (2) PPL Prism is hereby granted interim operating authority to provide interexchange telecommunications services to existing Cambrian customers pursuant to Cambrian's tariffs on file with the Commission's Division of Communications until such time as the Commission renders a final order in this proceeding.

JUNE 20, 2003

APPLICATION OF
PPL PRISM, LLC

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On March 19, 2003, PPL Prism, LLC ("PPL Prism" or the "Company"), completed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested interim operating authority to allow PPL Prism to provide interexchange telecommunications services to the existing customers of Cambrian Communications of Virginia LLC and authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

By Order dated March 25, 2003, the Commission granted PPL Prism the requested interim operating authority, directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application, and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report.

On May 16, 2003, counsel for the Company filed a Motion for Leave to File Proof of Publication and Proof of Notice to Carriers with the required proofs attached thereto.¹

On May 22, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that PPL Prism's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers.² Based upon its review of the Company's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company a certificate to provide interexchange telecommunications services.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted a certificate to provide interexchange telecommunications services. Having considered § 56-481.1, the Commission further finds that the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively. Moreover, the Commission is of the opinion that the Company's Motion for Leave to File Proof of Publication and Proof of Notice to Carriers should be granted. We will also accept the proofs attached thereto.

² The Commission's Order dated May 16, 2003, granted Staff's motion requesting extensions of time to file its Report and any responses thereto. Specifically, the date for the filing of Staff's Report was extended from May 16, 2003, to May 30, 2003, and the date for filing any responses thereto was extended from May 23, 2003, to June 6, 2003.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Company's Motion for Leave to File Proof of Publication and Proof of Notice to Carriers is hereby granted and the attached proofs are hereby accepted.
- (2) PPL Prism, LLC, is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-193A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.
- (3) The Company shall provide tariffs in its own name to the Division of Communications within sixty (60) days from the date of this Order. Such tariffs shall conform with all applicable Commission rules and regulations.
- (4) The Company shall continue to provide interexchange telecommunications services to the existing customers of Cambrian Communications of Virginia LLC pursuant to the Commission's Order for Notice and Comment and Granting Interim Operating Authority issued March 25, 2003, using the tariffs of that entity until such time as the Company has accepted tariffs in its own name on file with the Commission.
- (5) Pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia, the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.
- (6) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

MARCH 12, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Ex Parte: In re: Investigation of revision to Verizon Virginia Inc.'s Network Service Interconnection Tariff S.C.C. Va.-No. 218

ORDER ACCEPTING REVISION FILED FEBRUARY 11, 2003, ON INTERIM BASIS AND REQUESTING COMMENTS

On June 28, 2002, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") issued an Order Approving Settlement Agreement Filed February 1, 2002, which approved the Network Services Interconnection Tariff ("collocation tariff") of Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia"), now on file with the Commission's Division of Communications.

On February 11, 2003, Verizon Virginia filed with the Commission's Division of Communications revisions to its collocation tariff, which incorporates similar provisions (i.e., termination of collocation arrangements, implementation of collocation charges, and casualty) to those in the tariff revision filed by Verizon South Inc. ("Verizon South") on February 11, 2003, in Case No. PUC-2000-00027.¹ Verizon South's tariff revision has been accepted on an interim basis, and comments are presently requested.²

Pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-90 A, the Commission, on its own motion, initiates the above-docketed investigative proceeding to examine revisions to Verizon Virginia's collocation tariff filed with the Division of Communications on February 11, 2003 (hereinafter "February 11, 2003, collocation tariff revision"). The February 11, 2003, collocation tariff revision is to become effective March 13, 2003, and is attached hereto as Exhibit "A."

The Commission finds that Verizon Virginia's February 11, 2003, collocation tariff revision should be approved on an interim basis pending further investigation and comments by all interested parties.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Verizon Virginia's February 11, 2003, collocation tariff revision, attached hereto as Exhibit "A," is hereby docketed for further investigation, pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-90 A, and approved on an interim basis, effective March 13, 2003, subject to refunds of collocation charges and/or modifications in terms and conditions as may be further ordered upon investigation.
- (2) Verizon Virginia shall promptly furnish a copy of its February 11, 2003, collocation tariff revision to any person requesting a copy. Requests may be directed to Lydia R. Pulley, Vice President, General Counsel, and Secretary, Verizon Virginia Inc., 600 East Main Street, Suite 1100, Richmond, Virginia 23219-2441.
- (3) Any interested party is granted leave to file comments on Verizon Virginia's February 11, 2003, collocation tariff revision on or before April 7, 2003.
- (4) This matter is continued generally.

¹ The Commission issued in Case No. PUC-2000-00027 its Order Accepting Revision Filed February 11, 2003, To Collocation Service Tariff on Interim Basis and Requesting Comments on March 7, 2003.

CASE NO. PUC-2003-00038
APRIL 10, 2003

APPLICATION OF NTELOS INC., NTELOS TELEPHONE COMPANY,
and
ROANOKE & BOTETOURT TELEPHONE COMPANY

For authority to guarantee obligations and execute security agreements

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY

On March 12, 2003, NTELOS Inc. ("NTELOS"), NTELOS Telephone Inc. ("NTELOS Telephone"), and Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Company ("R&B") (collectively "Applicants") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") under Chapters 3 and 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("Code") requesting authority for NTELOS Telephone and R&B (collectively "the Companies") to guarantee $35 million of Debtor-In-Possession obligations ("DIP Financing") of NTELOS.¹ The Companies have paid the requisite fee of $250.00.

By Commission Orders dated July 26, 2000, in Case No. PUF-2000-00022, and May 11, 2001, in Case No. PUF-2001-00009, CFW Telephone, Inc. (the predecessor of NTELOS Telephone), and R&B were authorized to guarantee a $325 million loan package of NTELOS. The loan package was comprised of $225 million in term loans and a $100 million revolver facility (the "Revolver"). As of March 4, 2003, $224.5 million in term loans were outstanding; and $36 million had been drawn under the Revolver. According to the application, currently no more monies can be drawn under the $325 million loan package, effectively capping the amount of loans the Companies currently guarantee at $260.5 million.

On March 4, 2003, the Applicants filed petitions under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. NTELOS as arranged $35 million in DIP Financing. According to the application, the DIP Financing represents the only available financing to NTELOS and its subsidiaries, including the Companies, during bankruptcy. Until the Companies provide financial guarantees on the $35 million in DIP Financing, only $10 million is available. Applicants represent that access to only $10 million in DIP Financing could compromise service to the public as it could jeopardize NTELOS' opportunity to reorganize under Chapter 11; and, in such an event, Chapter 7 liquidation would be a distinct possibility.

NTELOS has submitted a plan for reorganization and is currently working on the details of the plan with its current and future bondholders and bankers, subject to bankruptcy court approval. The Applicants represent that many of the terms, conditions, and covenants will be finalized in the coming weeks and months. As part of that plan, NTELOS will issue $75 million in unsecured Convertible Notes. The Applicants expect that a portion of those proceeds will be used to repay the DIP Financing and the $36 million outstanding under the Revolver.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application, representations of the Applicants, and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that approval of this application subject to the conditions set forth below will not be detrimental to the public interest. We are concerned about the financial condition of NTELOS, and we remain especially concerned about the long-term interests of the Companies' customers due to the continued dependence of the NTELOS wireless business upon these customers through long-term financial guarantees. These concerns are not isolated to the financial health of the Companies and the impact on their customers' rates. Our concerns also relate to the ability of the Companies to continue to provide local exchange telecommunications services at or above current quality levels in light of the financial condition of NTELOS. Consequently, we expect NTELOS to do everything in its power to extinguish the debt on which the Companies are acting as guarantor. At the latest, we expect NTELOS to be able to finance its operations without guarantees by the time the debt matures in 2008.

Our Staff has advised us in its Action Brief filed in this docket, that the borrowing limit under the Revolver has been reduced to $36 million from the original $100 million. Further, our Staff has advised us in the Action Brief that the Applicants expect this reduction to be made permanent upon its emergence from bankruptcy. In order to minimize the amount of debt the Companies are guaranteeing, we are approving the DIP Financing conditioned, in part, upon the necessary agreements being amended to reduce the limit on the Revolver to $36 million. Consequently, if the borrowing limit is subsequently increased, any amount above $36 million will not be guaranteed by the Companies unless further approval from the Commission under Chapters 3 and 4 of the Code is obtained.

Further, with regard to the Revolver, we direct NTELOS to explore the terms available to it on a revolving credit agreement that will replace the existing $36 million Revolver guaranteed by the Companies. We direct NTELOS to report the results of this solicitation to our Staff within six months of the emergence from bankruptcy. In addition, we direct NTELOS to work with our Staff to consider the costs and benefits of replacing the $36 million Revolver without the Companies acting as guarantors.

In addition, the Action Brief raises concerns regarding the effect of Section 8.02 of the DIP Agreement on the Commission's ability to regulate the Companies. The Applicants responded that Section 8.02 will not affect the Commission's ratemaking authority and that the Commission retains full ratemaking jurisdiction to determine if any payments on the guarantees relate to the Companies' jurisdictional cost of service such that they may be properly reflected in the Companies' rates. The Action Brief also notes the Companies have committed that they will not seek to recover debt service obligations unrelated to the cost of service. Language identical to that contained in Section 8.02 of the DIP Agreement is also found in the agreements related to the guarantee previously approved by the Commission.

We agree with the Applicants that Section 8.02 of the DIP Agreement, as well as the agreements already approved by the Commission, do not limit our jurisdiction. We find that it is not necessary to require the amendment of Section 8.02 of the DIP Agreement, or to condition our approval on amendment of the same Section 8.02 language contained in the agreements related to the guarantee we previously authorized, in order to preserve the Commission's ability to regulate the Companies. The Order we issue today, as with the authorization in Case Nos. PUF-2000-00022 and PUF-2001-00009, explicitly states that the authority granted by the Commission shall have no ratemaking implications. Accordingly, for both the instant and prior authorizations, the Commission has limited the authorization such that it in no manner affects our ability to regulate the Companies. For example, rates paid by the Companies' customers must reflect the just and reasonable costs necessary to provide public utility service. Other costs incurred by the Companies, whether such costs are attendant to the guarantees or otherwise, are not properly reflected in rates.

¹ By Order dated April 2, 2003, the Commission extended the time for review of the Chapter 3 portion of this application to May 5, 2003.

We note that there have been several amendments to the Credit Agreement approved in Case Nos. PUF-2000-00022 and PUF-2001-00009. Such amendments shall be presented promptly to the Commission for our approval. In the future, the Companies should be more diligent and ensure that all necessary approvals are obtained in a timely fashion as required by Virginia law.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- 1) NTELOS Telephone Company and Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Company are hereby authorized to provide guarantees and security agreements of up to $35 million on the Debtor-In-Possession Financing Agreement with Wachovia Securities, subject to the terms, conditions, purposes, and representations detailed herein.
- 2) Approval herein is conditioned upon the necessary agreements being amended to reduce the limit on the Revolver to $36 million. If the borrowing limit is subsequently increased, any amount above $36 million will not be guaranteed by the Companies unless further approval from the Commission under Chapters 3 and 4 of the Code is obtained.
- 3) The authority granted herein shall expire upon the emergence of NTELOS Inc. from Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection.
- 4) The authority granted herein shall have no implications for ratemaking purposes.
- 5) Any subsequent financing arrangements with affiliates or other affiliate agreements shall require separate authority, which shall not be implied by approval of the application herein.
- 6) Approval of the application shall not preclude the Commission from applying the provisions of § 56-78 and § 56-80 of the Code of Virginia hereafter.
- 7) The Commission reserves the right to examine the books and records of any affiliate, whether or not such affiliate is regulated by this Commission, in connection with the authority granted herein pursuant to § 56-79 of the Code of Virginia.
- 8) Within six (6) months of the emergence from bankruptcy, NTELOS shall submit to our Staff the results of its solicitation for a new revolving credit agreement in the amount of $36 million to be used to replace the existing $36 million Revolver on which the Companies are acting as guarantors.
- 9) NTELOS shall work with our Staff to consider the costs and benefits of replacing the $36 million Revolver without the Companies acting as guarantors.
- 10) Should either NTELOS Telephone or R&B seek rate relief while the guarantees are in place, it shall, at the time notice is mailed to customers, pursuant to § 56-532, file a report pursuant to § 56-249 of the Code. Such report shall include data detailed in 20 VAC 5-200-30.
- 11) NTELOS shall provide a copy to the Commission's Divisions of Public Utility Accounting and Economics and Finance of all financial statements, reports, and other data submitted to its lenders as long as the Companies are acting as guarantors on any debt of NTELOS Inc.
- 12) This matter shall remain under the continued review, audit, and appropriate directive of the Commission.

JUNE 27, 2003

APPLICATION OF
VERIZON SELECT SERVICES OF VIRGINIA INC.

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On March 14, 2003, Verizon Select Services of Virginia Inc. ("VSSI-VA" or the "Company") filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested interim authority to bid to provide local exchange telecommunications services to the Commonwealth of Virginia and a waiver of 20 VAC 5-400-180 B 6 that requires an initial tariff be provided with the application.¹

¹ VSSI-VA's initial intention was to provide telecommunications services to only one customer, the Commonwealth of Virginia. VSSI-VA requested the interim authority to allow it to bid to provide the government of Virginia's telecommunications services. See Commonwealth's Request for Proposal No. 2002-33.

By Order dated March 25, 2003, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report.² On May 12, 2003, the Company filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the March 25, 2003, Order.

On March 21, 2003, and March 25, 2003, WorldCom, Inc. ("WorldCom"), and Cavalier Telephone, LLC ("Cavalier"), respectively, filed Notices of Participation as a Respondent and Opposition to the Application of Verizon Select Services of Virginia Inc. On April 29, 2003, WorldCom filed its Comments and Request for a Hearing.³ Both WorldCom and Cavalier opposed the granting of the requested "interim authority to bid to provide" on the Request for Proposal No. 2002-33. WorldCom also raised concerns regarding the nondiscrimination safeguards of § 272 of the Telecommunications Act.

On May 16, 2003, VSSI-VA filed a Supplement to the applications withdrawing its request for interim authority and its request for waiver of 20 VAC 4-500-180 B 6.⁴

On May 27, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that VSSI-VA's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service ("Local Rules").⁵ Based upon its review of VSSI-VA's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the following condition: should VSSI-VA collect customer deposits, it should, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and should notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement should be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application, Staff Report, and filed comments finds that the Company should be granted a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Verizon Select Services of Virginia Inc. is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-614, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations.

(3) Should VSSI-VA collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

(4) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

⁴ The Supplement to the application contained an illustrative tariff.

⁵ The rules identified in 20 VAC 5-400-180, the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service have been repealed and replaced by 20 VAC 5-417-10 et seq., the Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers by Commission Order issued April 9, 2003, in Case No. PUC-2002-00115, In the Matter of Regulations Governing Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, Localities as Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, and Local Inter-Carrier Matter. VSSI-VA has been made aware that it will be regulated under the revised rules.

JUNE 13, 2003

JOINT PETITION OF
UNITED TELEPHONE-SOUTHEAST, INC.
and
CENTRAL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF VIRGINIA

For approval of modification to the Companies' Alternative Regulatory Plan

FINAL ORDER

On March 20, 2003, United Telephone-Southeast, Inc. and Central Telephone Company of Virginia (collectively, "the Companies" or "Sprint"), filed a Joint Petition ("Petition") requesting the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to approve modifications to Sprint's Alternative Regulatory Plan ("Plan") adopted by the Commission in its Final Order dated October 18, 1994, in Case No. PUC -1993-00036, and as last modified by Final Order dated September 5, 2000, in Case No. PUC -1999-00160.

Sprint proposes to modify the Financial Reporting provisions of the Plan, which are currently set forth in Section L and the quarterly monitoring schedule set forth in Section P of the Plan. The Federal Communications Commission ("FCC") has relieved Sprint of the requirement to file an ARMIS Form 43-02. Accordingly, Sprint asks that the requirement in the current Plan to file the ARMIS Form 43-02 with the Commission's Division of Public Utility Accounting be deleted. Instead, Sprint proposes to file the Telephone Annual Financial and Operating Report provided by the Commission's Division of Public Utility Accounting and the ARMIS Form 43-08. Also, the Companies request a waiver of the FCC /SCC Form M and ARMIS Form 43-02 filing requirements as presently stated in Section L of the Plan for calendar year 2002 reporting. According to the Petition, the FCC has relieved Sprint of these filing requirements for 2002, and these forms are no longer being generated.

In addition, Sprint requests modification of Section P of the Plan to provide for an annual, rather than a quarterly, schedule reporting units and revenues for Competitive Services. According to Sprint, such a modification in reporting will reduce expense to the Companies, yet continue to provide the Commission with sufficient information for it to monitor the level of competitive services in a meaningful manner.

On April 9, 2003, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Comment, docketing Sprint's Petition, giving the public notice, and establishing a schedule for the receipt of comments or requests for hearing. On May 8, 2003, Sprint filed proof of public notice provided by it pursuant to the Commission's Order. No comments or requests for hearing were received.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the Petition, is of the opinion and finds that the Companies' proposal to amend their Alternative Regulatory Plan should be approved. The requested waiver from filing the ARMIS 43-02 for 2002 is also granted. In addition, the Commission has made a minor administrative change to the attached modified Alternative Plan and updated Appendix A to this Plan in order to reflect changes and/or additions made to service classifications since its adoption in Case No. PUC-1993-00036. By letter filed June 5, 2003, Sprint agrees with the updates as reflected in the attached Appendix A.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Companies' Joint Petition to modify their Alternative Regulatory Plan is hereby approved.
- (2) A copy of the Companies' Modified Alternative Plan is attached to this Order.
- (3) The Companies' request for waiver from filing ARMIS 43-02 for calendar year 2002 is granted.
- (4) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this matter is dismissed.

APRIL 10, 2003

APPLICATION OF CABLE & WIRELESS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

To cancel existing certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services and to reissue certificates reflecting the corporate name change

FINAL ORDER

On July 21, 1997, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered an Order in Case No. PUC-1997-00027, which granted Cable & Wireless of Virginia, Inc. ("Cable & Wireless" or the "Company"), a certificate of public convenience and necessary, No. TT-5B, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers (as codified in 20 VAC 5-411-10 et seq.), § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and provisions of the July 21, 1997, Order. In the same Order, the Commission granted Cable & Wireless a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-380, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service (as codified in 20 VAC 5-400-180), § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of the July 21, 1997, Order.

On March 21, 2003, the Company petitioned the Commission to amend its certificates to reflect a change of its corporate name to Cable & Wireless USA of Virginia, Inc. Apparently, all other information regarding the Company remains unchanged.

In its notice, the Company recited that it had filed Articles of Amendment with the Commission to change its name from Cable & Wireless of Virginia, Inc. to Cable & Wireless USA of Virginia, Inc. and that on July 12, 1999, the Commission issued a Certificate of Amendment changing its corporate name to Cable & Wireless USA of Virginia, Inc.

NOW, UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the certificates of public convenience and necessity, Nos. TT-5B and T-380, issued to Cable & Wireless of Virginia, Inc., should be cancelled; and certificates of public convenience and necessity should be reissued to Cable & Wireless USA of Virginia, Inc., reflecting the new name of that corporation.

Accordingly, IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This matter is hereby docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00042.

(2) Certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-5B, issued to Cable & Wireless of Virginia, Inc., is hereby cancelled.

(3) Certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-5C, is hereby issued to Cable & Wireless USA of Virginia, Inc., authorizing it to provide interexchange telecommunications services, subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers (codified in 20 VAC 5-411-10 et seq.), § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions previously set out in the Commission's July 21, 1997, Final Order entered in Case No. PUC-1997-00027.

(4) Certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-380, issued to Cable & Wireless of Virginia, Inc., is hereby cancelled.

(5) Certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-380a, is hereby issued to Cable & Wireless USA of Virginia, Inc., authorizing it to provide local exchange telecommunications services, subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service (codified in 20 VAC 5-400-180), § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions previously set out in the Commission's July 21, 1997, Final Order entered in Case No. PUC-1997-00027.

(6) Cable & Wireless USA of Virginia, Inc., shall file revised tariffs no later than sixty (60) days from the date of this Order with the Commission's Division of Communications that conform with all applicable Commission rules and regulations and which use Cable & Wireless USA of Virginia, Inc.'s name rather than that of Cable & Wireless of Virginia, Inc.

APRIL 16, 2003

APPLICATION OF FOCAL COMMUNICATIONS CORPORATION OF VIRGINIA

For approval to discontinue local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services in certain areas of Virginia

ORDER PERMITTING PARTIAL DISCONTINUANCE OF SERVICES

On March 24, 2003, Focal Communications of Virginia ("Focal" or the "Company") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting Commission approval to discontinue its provision of telecommunications services to customers located at a certain building in Fairfax, Virginia. Focal states that it currently serves one customer in the building affected by the proposed discontinuance.¹ In its application, Focal states that it has made a business decision to discontinue telecommunications services provided to former OnSite Access Local LLC ("OnSite") customers that Focal began serving when OnSite ceased its operations.²

The Company proposes to discontinue telecommunications services to its customer located at 12011 Lee Jackson Memorial Highway, Fairfax, Virginia 22033, on or before April 30, 2003. Former OnSite customers were provided notice of the discontinuance via first-class mail on March 18, 2003.

The Commission's primary concern with authorizing any discontinuance of telecommunications services is that adequate notice to customers be provided. The Commission's rule regarding partial discontinuance, 20 VAC 5-423-30 (Requirements for Partial Discontinuance), requires that an application include a description of the customer notification efforts and that customers be provided at least 30 days' written notice of a proposed partial discontinuation of telecommunications services. Focal's customer was provided 30 days' notice of the pending discontinuance of telecommunications services.

NOW THE COMMISSION, being sufficiently advised, will grant the requested partial discontinuance of local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) This matter is docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00043.

(2) On or before April 25, 2003, Focal shall report to the Commission's Division of Communications the status of the remaining customer in Virginia affected by the proposed discontinuance.

(3) Focal is hereby granted authority to discontinue its provision of local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services to its customer located at 12011 Lee Jackson Memorial Highway in Fairfax, Virginia, effective April 30, 2003.

(4) There being nothing further to come before the Commission in this matter, this case shall be closed, and the papers herein shall be placed in the file for ended causes.

² The Commission issued its Order Canceling OnSite's Certificates of Public Convenience and Necessity on December 19, 2001, in Case No. PUC-2001-00173.

JUNE 3, 2003

JOINT PETITION OF
 BROADWING COMMUNICATIONS SERVICES OF VIRGINIA, INC.,
 C III COMMUNICATIONS, LLC,
 and
 C III COMMUNICATIONS OPERATIONS, LLC,

For approval to transfer assets and customers

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On April 10, 2003, Broadwing Communications Services of Virginia, Inc. ("Broadwing CSV"), C III Communications, LLC ("C III"), and C III Communications Operations, LLC ("C III Ops") (collectively, the "Petitioners"), completed a joint petition filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on March 25, 2003, requesting approval, pursuant to the Utility Transfers Act, to transfer the assets and customers of Broadwing CSV to C III Ops.

Broadwing CSV is a Virginia public service corporation, wholly owned by Broadwing Communications Services, Inc. Broadwing CSV was granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("CPCN") to provide facilities-based interexchange telecommunications services in Virginia on July 16, 1999, in Case No. PUC-1999-00084.¹ Broadwing CSV operates as a wholesale provider of telecommunications services to other carriers and does not currently provide telecommunications services to end-user customers. Broadwing CSV is a wholly owned subsidiary of Broadwing Communications Services, Inc. ("Broadwing CSI").

Broadwing CSI is a Delaware corporation and also operates as a wholesale provider of telecommunications services to other carriers. Broadwing CSI does not provide telecommunications services to end-user customers. Broadwing CSI is a wholly owned subsidiary of Broadwing Communications, Inc. ("Broadwing Communications").

Broadwing Communications is also a Delaware corporation. Broadwing Communications is an all-optical, switched network provider that offers businesses nationwide data, voice, and Internet solutions on its optical network and IP backbone. Broadwing Communications is a wholly owned subsidiary of Broadwing, Inc. ("Broadwing").

Broadwing, a publicly traded company, is an Ohio corporation, headquartered in Cincinnati. Broadwing is an integrated communications company comprised of Broadwing Communications and Cincinnati Bell.²

C III is a privately held Delaware limited liability company. C III does not currently hold any authority to provide telecommunications services.

C III Ops is a Delaware limited liability company and is wholly owned by C III. Upon the closing of the proposed transaction and the granting of a CPCN, C III Ops will be the certificated service provider and will enter into contracts with customers for the provision of telecommunications services. C III Ops does not currently hold a CPCN to provide telecommunications services.³

To facilitate the transaction, four Special Purpose Entities ("SPEs") have been created and organized to hold the assets of C III Ops. These SPEs include C III Communications Real Estate, LLC; C III Communications IRU, LLC; C III Communications Assets, LLC; and C III Communications Employees, Inc. All of the SPEs are wholly owned by C III Ops, and are Delaware limited liability companies, with the exception of C III Communications Employees, Inc., which is a Delaware corporation.

Corvis Corporation ("Corvis") is a publicly traded Delaware corporation headquartered in Columbia, Maryland. Corvis is the majority and controlling owner of C III. Corvis provides optical network solutions. Corvis does not currently hold any authority to provide telecommunications services.

Cequel III, LLC ("Cequel HI"), is a privately held Delaware limited liability company. Cequel III is a minority owner of C III and will control less than one percent of the voting interests of C III. Cequel III's mission is to acquire or invest in, and subsequently manage, growth oriented firms in the telecommunications and cable industries, focusing on those that offer platforms for future acquisitions and industry consolidation.

The Petitioners request approval to transfer the assets and customers of Broadwing CSV to C III Ops. On February 22, 2003, Broadwing CSI, including its subsidiary, Broadwing CSV, entered into an Agreement for the Purchase and Sale of Assets ("Purchase Agreement") with C III and C III Ops. Under this Purchase Agreement, Broadwing CSI has agreed to sell to C III its entire broadband business, which includes interstate and intrastate long distance and private line services. As a result of the transaction, substantially all of the assets of Broadwing CSV and Broadwing CSI are to be transferred to C III Ops.

C III Communications Real Estate, LLC, will hold all of the real property used to provide the telecommunications services offered by C III Ops. C III Communications IRU, LLC, will hold all of the IRUs used to provide the telecommunications services. C III Communications Assets, LLC, will be used to hold all the assets that are not held by C III Communications Real Estate, LLC, or C III Communications IRU, LLC. C III Communications Employees, Inc., will employ all of the employees used to provide the telecommunications services.

² The proposed transaction does to involve the transfer of any of the assets of Cincinnati Bell.

³ C III Ops has filed an application with the State Corporation Commission to provide interexchange telecommunications services in Case No. PUC-2003-00046. C III Ops has been granted interim operating authority in this case.

The assets to be transferred include inventory, equipment, accounts, general intangibles, contract rights, instruments, investment property, all other personal property, and the proceeds and products thereof in whatever form they may be. The real property located in Virginia to be transferred includes owned land, a commercial lease, and an administrative office lease. This property is currently held by Broadwing Communications Real Estate Services, LLC, and will be transferred to C III Communications Real Estate, LLC. The existing service arrangements between Broadwing CSV and its carrier customers will be transferred to C III Ops.

Corvis and Cequel III plan to invest substantial capital to purchase the assets of Broadwing Telecommunications, Inc., and Broadwing CSV. The petition states that Corvis and Cequel III will pay approximately $129 million in cash to ensure the financial success of C III Ops. The petition further states that Corvis has committed to making a working capital infusion of up to $50 million, as needed, upon the closing of the transaction.

The Petitioners state that, once the transaction is completed, C III will be renamed Broadwing, LLC, and C III Ops will be renamed Broadwing Communications, LLC. The SPEs will also be renamed to Broadwing Communications Real Estate, LLC; Broadwing Communications IRU, LLC; Broadwing Communications Assets, LLC; and Broadwing Communications Employees, Inc. The joint petition also states that, after the closing of the proposed transaction, Broadwing, Broadwing Communications, Broadwing CSI, and Broadwing CSV will all be renamed to a name that does not include "Broadwing," and Broadwing CSV will file a request to surrender its CPCN.

As a result of the transaction, C III Ops will become the direct owner of all of the assets of Broadwing CSV, and Corvis will hold ultimate ownership of Broadwing CSV's assets.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the transfer of the assets of Broadwing CSV from Broadwing CSV to C III Ops, resulting in C III Ops becoming the direct owner of the assets of Broadwing CSV, and Corvis becoming the ultimate owner of Broadwing CSV's assets, as described herein, will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- 1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, approval is hereby granted for the transfer of all of the assets of Broadwing CSV from Broadwing CSV to C III Ops, resulting in C III Ops becoming the direct owner of the assets of Broadwing CSV, and C III Ops becoming the ultimate owner of Broadwing CSV's assets, as described herein.
- 2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it is hereby dismissed.

JULY 9, 2003

APPLICATION OF
C III COMMUNICATIONS OPERATIONS, LLC

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On March 28, 2003, C III Communications Operations, LLC ("C III" or the "Company"), completed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested interim operating authority to allow C III to provide interexchange telecommunications services to the existing customers of Broadwing Communications Services of Virginia, Inc., and authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

By Order dated April 21, 2003, the Commission granted C III the requested interim operating authority, directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application, and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report.

C III filed proof of publication and proof of service on May 30, 2003, as required by the April 21, 2003, Order.

On June 19, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that C III's application was in compliance with the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers. Based upon its review of C III's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company a certificate to provide interexchange telecommunications services.

On June 24, 2003, the Company filed a response to the Staff Report wherein it stated that it supports Staff's recommendation to grant C III the requested certificate.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted a certificate to provide interexchange telecommunications services. Having considered § 56-481.1, the Commission further finds that the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) C III Communications Operations, LLC, is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-195A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) The Company shall provide tariffs in its own name to the Division of Communications within sixty (60) days from the date of this Order. Such tariffs shall conform with all applicable Commission rules and regulations.

(3) The Company shall continue to provide interexchange telecommunications services to the existing customers of Broadwing Communications Services of Virginia, Inc., pursuant to the Commission's Order for Notice and Comment and Granting Interim Authority issued April 21, 2003, using the tariffs of that entity until such time as the Company has accepted tariffs in its own name on file with the Commission.

(4) Pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia, the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

(5) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

JUNE 20, 2003

APPLICATION OF
NTELOS INC., DEBTOR IN POSSESSION,
NTELOS TELEPHONE INC.,
ROANOKE & BOTETOURT TELEPHONE COMPANY,
NTELOS TELEPHONE LLC,
R&B TELEPHONE LLC,
and
VIRGINIA INDEPENDENT TELEPHONE ALLIANCE, L.C.

For authority to continue arrangements under Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY

On March 27, 2003, NTELOS Inc. ("NTELOS"), NTELOS Telephone Inc. ("NTELOS Telephone"), Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Company ("R & B Telephone"), NTELOS Telephone LLC, R & B Telephone LLC, and Virginia Independent Telephone Alliance, L.C. ("VITAL") (collectively, "Applicants"), filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") under Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia (the "Code") requesting approval of: (1) Schedule 1 of the Operating Agreement; (2) the new Administrative Services Agreement; and (3) the new Maintenance Services Agreement. On May 15, 2003, the Applicants filed an Application Amendment requesting approval of the Operating Agreement of the Virginia Independent Telephone Alliance, L.C.

NTELOS is a Virginia corporation headquartered in Waynesboro, Virginia. NTELOS is an integrated communications provider that offers products and services to customers in Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, and North Carolina, including wireless digital PCS, dial-up Internet access, high-speed DSL (high-speed Internet access), and local and long distance telecommunications services. NTELOS is the parent company of several subsidiary companies, including two Virginia incumbent local exchange carriers ("ILEC"), R & B Telephone and NTELOS Telephone.

NTELOS Telephone is a certificated ILEC that provides local exchange telecommunications services primarily in Allegheny County, the Cities of Covington and Waynesboro, and the Town of Clifton Forge. R & B Telephone is certificated as an ILEC that provides local exchange telecommunications services in Botetourt County.

NTELOS Telephone LLC is a single-member Virginia limited liability company wholly owned by NTELOS Telephone. R & B Telephone LLC is a single-member Virginia LLC wholly owned by R & B Telephone.

On June 23, 1993, NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone and several other Virginia public service companies (collectively referred to as "Members")¹ filed Articles of Organization with the Commission to form VITAL. VITAL'S purpose was to purchase and to deploy two signal transfer point nodes in a nationwide SS7 network. The Members have used these nodes to deliver intelligent network services to their customers and to provide other related services. These nodes are located in Troutville and Waynesboro, Virginia.

On February 24, 2003, the Applicants filed an application with the Commission requesting approval of the transfer of NTELOS Telephone's and R & B Telephone's membership interests in VITAL to NTELOS Telephone LLC and R & B Telephone LLC, respectively. The Commission approved the application in its Order dated March 3, 2003, in Case No. PUC-2003-00027 and required the Applicants to file for approval of a new Operating Agreement and Maintenance Agreement reflecting the new parties to those agreements. In addition, the Commission required a formal change to VITAL'S Operating Agreement to reflect the ownership interests of NTELOS Telephone LLC and R & B Telephone LLC. The current application was filed in accordance with the above-referenced Order.

The following discussion provides details regarding the Agreements for which approval is requested.

Operating Agreement

The Operating Agreement provides for the formation of VITAL and its management by its Members, which include NTELOS Telephone LLC and R & B Telephone LLC. ²According to the Operating Agreement, NTELOS Telephone LLC and R & B Telephone LLC must make initial capital contributions and continuing capital contributions to VITAL proportional to their ownership interests in VITAL (44.7% and 9.0%, respectively). The term of the Operating Agreement is through December 31, 2023.

The Operating Agreement provides the terms and conditions by which the Members may transfer their interests in VITAL to an affiliate. Although NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone have transferred their ownership interests in VITAL to affiliates, they are still providing services to VITAL because the equipment is located on the property of NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone.

According to the Operating Agreement, a Management Committee made up of one manager from each of the 12 Members (including R & B Telephone LLC and NTELOS Telephone LLC) will have the sole responsibility for managing the business and affairs of VITAL. The Chairman of the Management Committee will have the responsibility for the daily oversight of VITAL'S operations. The Chairman is elected by the Management Committee.

² It is the 100% ownership of NTELOS Telephone LLC and R & B Telephone LLC by NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone, respectively, that requires approval of the Operating Agreement under Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

The only cost involved under the Operating Agreement is a membership fee that each Member pays. The current fee is $100 per month for one A-link pair, and such fee is established and reviewed by the Members on an annual basis. All Members pay the same fee.

Certain termination events are listed in the Operating Agreement. These include a written decision of two-thirds of the Members to dissolve VITAL or an entry of a decree of judicial dissolution.

Administrative Services Agreement

NTELOS Telephone entered into an Administrative Services Agreement, effective as of January 1, 1994, with VITAL. Through this Administrative Services Agreement, NTELOS Telephone agreed to provide certain administrative services to VITAL at a monthly rate of $925 plus the actual labor rate of any employee providing additional industry-related services to that entity. The new Administrative Services Agreement for which approval is being requested in this case between VITAL, NTELOS, and NTELOS Telephone LLC specifies that NTELOS will provide services to VITAL in satisfaction of the obligation of NTELOS Telephone LLC, the substitute member of VITAL for NTELOS Telephone.

Under the current Administrative Services Agreement, NTELOS is providing the same services to VITAL on behalf of NTELOS Telephone LLC as originally provided by NTELOS Telephone. Employees and facilities of NTELOS are used to provide such services, and the Applicants represent that no costs are charged or allocated down to NTELOS Telephone or R & B Telephone in connection with NTELOS providing such services.

Pursuant to the Administrative Services Agreement, NTELOS will provide accounting, billing and collection, tax preparation, and treasury services. The services are provided by an unregulated company to an unregulated company on behalf of NTELOS Telephone LLC. These are services that VITAL needs to support its ability to provide the nodes used by NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone in providing services to customers. Such services are provided within NTELOS at similar labor rates to those charged to VITAL.

The Administrative Services Agreement may be terminated on 30 days' notice.

Maintenance Services Agreement

NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone each entered into a Maintenance Services Agreement as of January 1, 1998, with VITAL by which each would provide building space, maintenance and engineering support, and alarm monitoring for VITAL with respect to the node in each central office in Waynesboro and Troutville, Virginia.

The Maintenance Services Agreement was updated effective as of September 1, 2001, through a replacement agreement between NTELOS and VITAL. The Maintenance Services Agreement was amended again on April 1, 2003, pursuant to the Commission's Order dated March 3, 2003, and is currently between VITAL, NTELOS Telephone, and R & B Telephone. It continues to provide for alarm monitoring, building space, and maintenance and engineering support for VITAL. The personnel and facilities of NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone are used in performing the services. The Maintenance Services Agreement may be terminated on 30 days' notice.

Under the Maintenance Services Agreement, NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone will each provide floor space and power, alarm monitoring, engineering and maintenance support, and miscellaneous supplies to VITAL. Floor space will be provided at $15.54 per square foot per month; power will be provided at $14.40 per square foot per month; alarm monitoring will be provided at $500 per month; engineering and maintenance support will be provided at the actual labor rate of the employee(s) providing the service, plus overhead; and miscellaneous supplies will be provided at $70 per month.

The rates specified in the Maintenance Services Agreement are reviewed annually by NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone. The Maintenance Services Agreement provides that additional services will be billed at a rate to be approved by VITAL'S management. The Applicants represent that the services are provided based on current labor rates and calculated hours of services.

Since VITAL is owned and operated by its Members, its Members pay a monthly fee, which the Members establish and review. The services provided under the Maintenance Services Agreement are provided to VITAL to enable it to run smoothly and enable it to provide the signal transfer nodes used by NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone. The Maintenance Services Agreement will enable VITAL to have needed services to operate and will also enable NTELOS Telephone and R & B Telephone to provide network services to customers.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application and representations of the Applicants and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described agreements are in the public interest and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Pursuant to § 56-77 of the Code, the Applicants are hereby granted authority for the Operating Agreement, including Schedule 1; the Administrative Services Agreement; and the Maintenance Services Agreement, under the terms and conditions and for the purposes as described herein.

(2) Commission authority shall be required for any changes in the terms and conditions of the Agreements detailed in Ordering Paragraph (1) herein.

(3) The authority granted herein shall have no ratemaking implications.

(4) The authority granted herein shall not preclude the Commission from exercising the provisions of §§ 56-78 and 56-80 of the Code hereafter.

(5) The Commission reserves the authority to examine the books and records of any affiliate in connection with the authority granted herein whether or not the Commission otherwise regulates such affiliate.

(6) The transactions authorized herein shall be included in Applicants' Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions submitted to the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting by April 1 of each year, subject to extension by the Director of Public Utility Accounting.

(7) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

By application received March 28, 2003, Essex requested that the Commission cancel its certificate and tariffs.¹

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the matter, is of the opinion that Essex's certificate should be cancelled.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This matter shall be docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2002-00049.
- (2) Certificate No. T-428 is hereby cancelled.
- (3) Any existing tariffs of the Company currently on file with the Commission's Division of Communications are hereby cancelled.

¹ On December 23, 2002, in Case No. PUC-2002-00206, the Commission approved the transfer of Essex's assets to Essex Acquisition Corporation. Essex Acquisition Corporation holds Certificate No. T-605 to provide local exchange telecommunications services and Certificate No. TT-189A to provide interexchange telecommunications services in Virginia. Essex states in its application that, due to the transfer of its entire customer base to Essex Acquisition Corporation, no customers will be affected by the cancellation of its certificate.

OCTOBER 7, 2003

APPLICATION OF
KMC TELECOM V, INC.,
KMC DATA HOLDCO, LLC,
and
KMC DATA SUB HOLDINGS I LLC

For authority to transfer control of KMC Telecom V, Inc., from KMC Data Holdco, LLC, to KMC Data Sub Holdings I LLC

DISMISSAL ORDER

On June 2, 2003, KMC Telecom V, Inc., KMC Data Holdco, LLC, and KMC Data Sub Holdings I LLC (collectively, the "Applicants") completed an application originally filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on April 3, 2003, for authority to transfer control of KMC Telecom V, Inc., from KMC Data Holdco, LLC, to KMC Data Sub Holdings I LLC. On July 30, 2003, the Commission issued its Order Extending Time for Review extending its review period through September 30, 2003, and on September 30, 2003, further extended by Order its review period through October 30, 2003.

In response to Staff inquiries, on September 30, 2003, counsel for the Applicants provided clarifying information regarding the ownership structure before and after the restructuring. After Staff review of information provided on September 30, 2003, and further discussions with Applicants' counsel, it appears that the additional information provided by the Applicants in essence indicates that the proposed restructuring does not constitute a transfer of control as defined in § 56-88.1 of the Code of Virginia and, therefore, does not require Commission approval.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application and representations of the Applicants and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the restructuring contemplated by the Applicants does not constitute a transfer of control as defined in § 56-88.1 of the Code of Virginia and, therefore, does not require approval under the Utility Transfers Act.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT there appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

OCTOBER 22, 2003

APPLICATION OF
KMC DATA, LLC,
KMC DATA HOLDCO, LLC,
and
KMC DATA SUB HOLDINGS IV LLC

For authority to transfer control of KMC Data, LLC, from KMC Data Holdco, LLC, to KMC Data Sub Holdings IV LLC

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY

On June 2, 2003, KMC Data, LLC, KMC Data Holdco, LLC, and KMC Data Sub Holdings IV LLC (collectively, the "Applicants") completed an application originally filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on April 3, 2003, for authority to transfer control of KMC Data, LLC, from KMC Data Holdco, LLC, to KMC Data Sub Holdings IV LLC.

KMC Data, LLC ("KMC Data"), is a Delaware limited liability company headquartered in Bedminster, New Jersey. KMC Data holds a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("CPCN") to provide local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia but does not currently provide local exchange telecommunications services to customers in Virginia. KMC Data also does not have an accepted tariff on file with the Commission. KMC Data's direct parent is KMC Data Holdco LLC ("Data Holdco").

Data Holdco is a privately held Delaware limited liability company located in Bedminster, New Jersey. Data Holdco operates as a holding company and holds all of the ownership interests in KMC Data.

KMC Data Holdco Sub LLC is a Delaware limited liability company also located in Bedminster, New Jersey. All of KMC Data Holdco Sub LLC's membership interest is owned by Data Holdco.

KMC Data Sub Holdings IV LLC is a Delaware limited liability company also in Bedminster, New Jersey. All of KMC Data Sub Holdings IV LLC's membership interest is owned by KMC Data Holdco Sub LLC.

KMC Telecom Holdings, Inc. ("KMC Holdings"), KMC Data's ultimate parent, is a Delaware corporation headquartered in Bedminster, New Jersey.

KMC Data and its direct parent, Data Holdco, request approval of a restructuring of KMC Data's ownership resulting in the transfer of direct ownership of KMC Data from Data Holdco to KMC Data Sub Holdings IV LLC. The restructuring reflects the addition of a new direct holding company, KMC Data Sub Holdings IV LLC, and a new indirect holding company, KMC Data Holdco Sub LLC. KMC Data Holdco Sub LLC will be owned by Data Holdco, which will be owned by KMC Holdings. Data Holdco will become an indirect parent of KMC Data, and KMC Holdings will continue to hold ultimate ownership of KMC Data. KMC Data represents that the restructuring will not affect its CPCN in Virginia, the identity of the entity providing telecommunications services, or the rates, terms, and conditions under which services will be provided in Virginia in the future.

Since KMC Data's direct parent is changing, the proposed restructuring represents a change in control of KMC Data, which requires approval under Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia.

KMC Data represents that the restructuring will not affect its technical or managerial qualifications, as all technical and managerial personnel previously available to KMC Data will continue to be available. The existing officers and directors will remain the same, as will the customer and regulatory contacts for KMC Data. KMC Data represents that the restructuring is intended to permit KMC Holdings to do business under a more efficient, rational structure and provide it with greater access to working capital and improved marketing and administrative operations.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application and representations of the Applicants and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described transfer of control will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, KMC Data is hereby granted authority for the transfer of control of KMC Data from Data Holdco to KMC Data Sub Holdings IV LLC as described herein.

(2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

ORDER

By Order dated November 22, 2000, in Case No. PUC-2000-00219, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") granted Enron Broadband Services of Virginia, Inc. ("EBS" or the "Company"), Certificate No. TT-115A to provide interexchange telecommunications services in Virginia. By Order dated October 16, 2001, the Commission granted the Company Certificate No. T-570 to provide local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia.

By letter dated April 4, 2003, EBS requests that the Company's certificates be cancelled. EBS indicates that it has not offered any interexchange or local exchange telecommunications services pursuant to the certificates and that the Company will not move forward with any such services.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the matter, is of the opinion that EBS' certificates should be cancelled.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (2) Certificate No. TT-115A is hereby cancelled.
- (3) Certificate No. T-570 is hereby cancelled.

By letter application dated April 7, 2003, AES requested that the Commission cancel its certificates. The letter states that AES has never provided any telecommunications services in Virginia. Additionally, the Company states that its business plans have changed and it no longer intends to provide telecommunications services in Virginia.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the matter, is of the opinion that AES's certificates should be cancelled.

- (2) Certificate No. TT-149A is hereby cancelled.
- (3) Certificate No. T-553 is hereby cancelled.
- (4) Any existing tariffs of the Company currently on file with the Commission's Division of Communications are hereby cancelled.

CASE NO. PUC-2003-00065
JUNE 26, 2003

PETITION OF THE CITY OF STAUNTON

For approval of authority to provide qualifying communications services pursuant to Article 5.1 to Title 56 of the Code of Virginia

ORDER DISMISSING PETITION

On April 9, 2003, the City of Staunton ("Staunton" or "City") filed a petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting that the Commission grant it authority, pursuant to §§ 56-484.7:1 and 56-584.7:2 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), to provide "qualifying communications services"¹ within the City of Staunton in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Staunton seeks authority to provide fully scalable data transport services over fiber optic and wireless networks using industry standard Internet Protocol ("IP"). The City's architecture will deploy native Ethernet to transport IP packets over its optical and wireless network, as described in Appendix C to the petition filed herein. Staunton states that "[n]o service provider is offering scalable bandwidth over Ethernet; none provide functionally and economically equivalent services in the City of Staunton."

On April 29, 2003, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Comment docketing this proceeding, directing Staunton to provide public notice of its petition, permitting interested persons to file comments and requests for hearing, and permitting Staunton to file reply comments. On June 5, 2003, Staunton filed proof of publication on May 12, 2003, of notice in the newspaper having general circulation throughout the City's proposed service territory.

On May 16, 2003, the Virginia Cable Telecommunications Association ("VCTA") filed a notice of participation as a respondent. On May 23, 2003, Verizon Virginia Inc. and Verizon South Inc. (jointly, "Verizon") filed a notice of participation.

On June 6, 2003, Verizon filed a Motion to Dismiss, Comments, and Request for Hearing. Verizon states that § 56-484.7:1 of the Code requires Staunton to "demonstrate in its petition that the qualifying communications service does not meet the standard set forth in § 56-484.7:2 within the geographic area specified in the petition" (quoting Va. Code § 56-484.7:1) (emphasis in original). Verizon asserts that the City fails to demonstrate, per the standard set forth in § 56-484.7:2, that Staunton's qualifying communications service is not readily and generally available from three or more companies in a manner that is functionally and economically equivalent. Verizon requests that the Commission dismiss the petition for failure to demonstrate that the standards of § 56-484.7:2 are not met.

Verizon also attached an affidavit asserting, among other things, that functionally and economically equivalent services are offered by three or more providers. If the petition is not dismissed, Verizon contends that the Commission should deny the petition "on the basis that (i) the qualifying communications service 'is readily and generally available from three or more nonaffiliated companies in a manner that is functionally and economically equivalent for consumers' or (ii) 'the petition is not in compliance with the requirements of § 56-484.7:1'" (quoting Va. Code § 56-484.7:2). If the Commission does not deny the petition, Verizon requests that the Commission "schedule a hearing in accordance with Va. Code § 56-484.7:1 to permit the presentation of evidence to demonstrate to the Commission that one or more of the disqualifying conditions of Va. Code § 56-484.7:2 are present."

On June 6, 2003, VCTA filed a Motion to Dismiss, Comments, and Request for Hearing. VCTA states that "[b]efore the Commission can find that it is in the public interest to approve the Petition, the City must demonstrate that its proposed services are not, within the Staunton area, 'readily and generally available from three or more nonaffiliated companies in a manner that is functionally and economically equivalent for consumers'" (quoting Va. Code § 56-484.7:2). VCTA asserts that the City "has not met its burden of proof regarding functionally and economically equivalent service, and the Commission should dismiss the Petition on these grounds without a hearing."

VCTA further states "if the Commission determines that the City has not failed to meet its burden of proof, the Commission should still dismiss the Petition without a hearing on the grounds that the VCTA Comments and the comments filed [by Verizon] demonstrate that, within the Staunton Area, the City's proposed services are 'generally and readily available from three or more nonaffiliated companies in a manner that is functionally and economically equivalent for consumers'" (quoting Va. Code § 56-484.7:2).² If the Commission does not dismiss the petition without a hearing, then VCTA requests that the Commission schedule a hearing to address the issues raised by VCTA and Verizon.

On June 19, 2003, Staunton filed Reply Comments and Response to Motions to Dismiss. The City states that it demonstrates in its petition "that the qualifying communications service[s] for which it seeks approval are not readily and generally available in the City of Staunton from three or more companies unaffiliated with Staunton in a manner that is functionally and economically equivalent for consumers." Staunton asserts that requiring any other information in the petition to demonstrate that functionally and economically equivalent services are not available would create an impossible standard by making the petitioner "prove a negative by presenting evidence that it is nonexistent."

In addition, Staunton attached an affidavit to provide "a detailed analysis of the communications services that are actually generally and readily available to residents and businesses in the City of Staunton" (emphasis in original). The City contends that there are not three providers of functionally equivalent services in Staunton. Staunton also states that as long as its petition demonstrates that "others' services are not functionally equivalent, then it necessarily follows that others' services are not economically equivalent." Staunton asserts that Verizon and VCTA "have failed to rebut the presumption that granting Staunton's Petition is in the public interest, as provided in Virginia Code § 56-484.7:2." Staunton requests that the Commission deny the motions to dismiss, deny the requests for hearing, grant Staunton authority to provide qualifying communications services in the City of Staunton, and afford such further relief as is warranted.

² In addition, VCTA attaches testimony to address issues raised by the petition.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the pleadings and the applicable law, the Commission finds that the petition should be dismissed without prejudice.

Section 56-484.7:1 of the Code states that the petitioner "shall demonstrate in its petition that the qualifying communications services do not meet the standard set forth in § 56-484.7:2 within the geographic area specified in the petition." The standard set forth in § 56-484.7:2 includes whether the qualifying communications service is "readily and generally available from three or more nonaffiliated companies in a manner that is functionally and economically equivalent for consumers." If the petitioner demonstrates in the petition that the qualifying communications services do not meet the standard set forth in § 56-484.7:2, the Commission "shall find that it is in the public interest to approve the offering of qualifying communications services ... unless it shall be demonstrated to the Commission and found that" any of the standards in § 56-484.7:2 are met.³

The City's petition states that "[n]o service provider is offering scalable bandwidth over Ethernet; none provide functionally and economically equivalent services in the City of Staunton." This assertion, however, does not satisfy Staunton's statutory requirement to demonstrate in its petition that the qualifying communications service is not readily and generally available from three or more nonaffiliated companies in a manner that is functionally and economically equivalent for consumers. The petition should include evidence, under oath, to demonstrate that the qualifying communications services do not meet the standard set forth in § 56-484.7:2 within the geographic area specified in the petition.⁴ Such evidence, for example, could be in the form of an affidavit or of sworn pre-filed testimony.

Section 56-484.7:1 of the Code provides a limited time period within which the Commission must act on Staunton's petition. We find that there may be insufficient time to permit Staunton to file an amended petition in this case and timely conclude the proceeding. Consequently, we will dismiss the petition without prejudice and permit Staunton subsequently to file a new petition.

Finally, we recognize that this is the first proceeding initiated under §§ 56-484.7:1 and 56-584.7:2 of the Code. Effective July 1, 2003, § 56-484.7:1 E states that the Commission "may promulgate rules necessary to implement this section." We will soon initiate a separate proceeding to consider promulgating such rules.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The petition filed by the City of Staunton in this proceeding is hereby dismissed without prejudice.
- (2) This case shall be dismissed and removed from the list of pending cases.

³ Va. Code § 56-484.7:2.

CASE NO. PUC-2003-00069
JULY 30, 2003

APPLICATION OF THE CITY OF SALEM

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On April 10, 2003, the City of Salem ("Salem" or the "Applicant"), filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange telecommunications services in the cities of Salem and Roanoke and the County of Roanoke.

By Order dated April 22, 2003, the Commission directed the Applicant to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. The Commission received written notices of participation from Verizon Virginia Inc. and Verizon South Inc. (jointly, "Verizon") and CoxCom, Inc. d/b/a Cox Communications Roanoke ("Cox") on May 12 and 13, 2003, respectively. On May 28, 2003, the Commission received written comments from Cox.

In its comments, Cox represents that Salem did not satisfy the provisions of 20 VAC 5-417-20 L,¹ which requires an applicant to provide an attestation that it will comply with the provisions set forth in 20 VAC 5-427-40 ("MLEC requirements").² Cox states that Salem, based on its interrogatory responses, has provided no documents regarding its decision to enter into the provision of telecommunications services, has no formal business plan, and states that the Applicant "provided an affidavit concerning 'telecommunications services' when the City does not have a clear idea of what providing those 'telecommunications services' will involve." Cox requested that the Commission not grant the requested certification until Salem "shows some indication that it actually plans to enter the telecommunications market and is capable . . . [of complying] with safeguards that it has given no serious consideration to."

² In response to a Staff data request, Salem provided the required attestation that it would comply with the requirement in 20 VAC 5-417-40.

On June 5, 2003, the Applicant filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the April 22, 2003, Order. On June 25, 2003, the Staff filed its Report. Salem filed its Response to the Staff Report and to Cox's comments on July 7, 2003. Salem indicated in its Response that it had no objection to the recommendations contained in the Staff Report. Regarding the comments of Cox, Salem responded by stating that the Affidavit of Compliance with Competitive Safeguards filed with the original application satisfied the statutory and regulatory requirements but that in response to a Staff data request it had also provided an attestation that it would comply with 20 VAC 5-417-40. In addition, Salem responds that neither the General Assembly's statute that allowed MLECs, nor the Commission's Local Rules, require an MLEC or a competitive local exchange carrier ("CLEC") to have a business plan in place when an application is filed or approved. Additionally, Salem represents that Cox's concern over the financial information/prices of its services should be addressed in the tariff approval process much like the Commission has ordered in other MLEC cases.

In its June 25, 2003, Staff Report, the Staff represented that Salem's application was in compliance with the Local Rules. Based upon its review of Salem's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Applicant a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the following conditions: (1) should Salem collect customer deposits, it should, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Applicant and should notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement should be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary; and (2) at such time as voice services are initiated by Salem, it should comply with all requirements of New Entrants and Municipal Local Exchange Carriers of the Local Rules.

In responding to Cox's comments, the Staff Report stated that, of the previous four MLEC applications that have been granted,³ only Bristol represented itself as being ready and able to actually provide local exchange telecommunications services.⁴ Staff noted that the other localities, much like Salem, represented that they initially would provide Internet access and not local exchange telecommunications services; and Front Royal, Danville, and Martinsville responded to similar data requests and interrogatories regarding specifics and details regarding the provision of local exchange telecommunications services in much the same manner as Salem. Staff asserted that when Salem proposes to offer intrastate voice telecommunications services, it will be required to comply with all the rules and regulations of the Commission, including the Local Rules, in the same manner as all other certificated MLECs. Additionally, Staff noted that Salem, once it plans to offer local exchange telecommunications services, may be required to serve a copy of its initial tariffs on the service list for this case as the Commission previously ordered in the Front Royal, Danville, and Martinsville cases.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that Salem should be granted a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Salem is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-616, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) Salem shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations before it begins offering local exchange telecommunications services. Salem shall serve upon the service list for this case a copy of those tariffs.

(3) Should Salem collect customer deposits, it shall, prior to collecting any deposits, establish and maintain an escrow account for such funds, held in a Virginia office of a duly chartered state or national bank, savings and loan association, savings bank, or credit union that is unaffiliated with the Company and shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance of the escrow arrangement at its inception and any subsequent change to the arrangement. Any escrow arrangement established pursuant to this requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

(4) At such time as voice services are initiated by Salem, it shall comply with all requirements of New Entrants and MLECs of the Local Rules.

(5) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

⁴ A separate proceeding regarding the rates and charges of Bristol is currently pending.

JULY 24, 2003

JOINT APPLICATION OF UNIVERSAL ACCESS, INC.
and
CITYNET TELECOMMUNICATIONS, INC

For authority for transfer of control

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY

On May 16, 2003, Universal Access, Inc. ("Universal Access"), and CityNet Telecommunications, Inc. ("CityNet") (collectively, the "Applicants"), completed a joint application filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on April 22, 2003, requesting authority pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("Code") to consummate a transaction through which CityNet will acquire indirect control of Universal Access.

Universal Access, a Delaware corporation, is a telecommunications carrier authorized by the Federal Communications Commission and the public utility commissions of 46 states and the District of Columbia to provide telecommunications services. Universal Access is certificated in Virginia as Universal Access of Virginia, Inc. ("Universal Access-Virginia"), to provide local exchange telecommunications services pursuant to Commission Order dated June 30, 2000, in Case No. PUC-2000-00041. However, Universal Access-Virginia does not provide local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia. Universal Access provides telecommunications carriers and Internet service providers with dedicated transport circuits to meet bandwidth demand and cross-connects the networks of various telecommunications carriers. Universal Access also provides private line and interconnection services.

Universal Access is a wholly owned subsidiary of Universal Access Global Holdings, Inc. ("UAXS"). UAXS, also a Delaware corporation, does not hold any regulatory licenses from this Commission or any other telecommunications regulatory agency.

CityNet is a Delaware corporation headquartered in Silver Spring, Maryland. CityNet has been granted the right, in the United States and in Europe, to build dark fiber networks and point-to-point dark fiber connections. These networks are typically constructed in the applicable city's water mains and sewer systems. In Virginia, CityNet's subsidiary is certificated to provide both local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services pursuant to the Commission's Order dated January 16, 2001, in Case No. PUC-2000-00229, as CityNet Telecom of Virginia, Inc.

In the application, the Applicants request authority for the proposed transaction that will result in CityNet acquiring 55% ownership interest in UAXS. The transaction includes an acquisition of previously un-issued shares of UAXS's common stock that will total 55% of the outstanding common stock. The transaction will result in CityNet holding a controlling interest in UAXS and, therefore, in Universal Access and Universal Access-Virginia. The transaction will not result in any change in the name under which Universal Access and Universal Access-Virginia currently operate or any change in the manner in which they currently offer services in Virginia.

The Applicants represent that Universal Access-Virginia does not currently provide telecommunications services to customers in Virginia and that the transfer of control to CityNet will be transparent to Universal Access' and, therefore, Universal Access-Virginia's customers. Applicants represent that the proposed transaction will serve the public interest in promoting competition among telecommunications carriers by providing Universal Access and Universal Access-Virginia with the opportunity to strengthen their competitive positions by strengthening their balance sheet and gaining access to CityNet's business and managerial expertise.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint application and representations of the Applicants and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described transfer of control will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to § 56-88.1 of the Code, the Applicants are hereby granted authority to consummate the transaction as described herein to allow CityNet to acquire indirect control of Universal Access, and thereby, acquire indirect control of Universal Access-Virginia.
- (2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

For approval of amendments to credit agreement pursuant to Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY

On April 23, 2003, NTELOS Inc. ("NTELOS"), NTELOS Telephone Inc. ("NTELOS Telephone")¹, Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Company ("R&B"), and certain other affiliates (collectively "Applicants") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") under Chapter of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("Code") seeking approval for multiple existing amendments to the credit agreement previously approved by the Commission.

By Orders dated July 26, 2000, in Case No. PUF-2000-00022, and May 11, 2001, in Case No. PUF-2001-00009, the Commission authorized NTELOS Telephone and R&B (the "Companies") to guarantee a $325,000,000 loan package of NTELOS (the "Credit Agreement").

On March 4, 2003, the Applicants filed separate petitions under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. By Commission Order dated April 10, 2003, in Case No. PUC—2003-00038, NTELOS Telephone and R&B were authorized to guarantee $35,000,000 of the Debtor In Possession obligations ("DIP Financing") of NTELOS.² NTELOS submitted a plan for reorganization, subject to bankruptcy court approval.

Section 9.01 of the Credit Agreement, approved by the Commission in Case Nos. PUF-2000-00022 and PUF-2001-00009, provides terms and conditions governing amendments of the Credit Agreement. According to the application, the following amendments to the Credit Agreement were executed between July 23, 2001, and February 28, 2003. Applicants represent that, with the exception of the amendment dated February 28, 2003, these amendments were generally for technical and administrative purposes to ensure the orderly performance of the Credit Agreement. Each amendment is discussed below.

On July 23, 2001, NTELOS executed Amendment No. 1, permitting the acquisition of Conestoga Enterprises, Inc., and the addition of a swingline facility to the working capital line of credit.³

On November 14, 2001, NTELOS executed Amendment No. 2 to clarify the definition of "Senior Leverage Ratio" and to amend the financial covenant relating to the ratio of senior secured debt to total capital.

On March 6, 2002, NTELOS executed Amendment No. 3 relaxing certain financial covenants in order to remain in compliance with the terms thereof and to add certain permitted asset sales. Amendment No. 3 also shortened the timeframe for existing reporting requirements and revised provisions relating to the application of net cash proceeds from asset sales.

On April 11, 2002, NTELOS executed a Letter Amendment in order to clarify that certain curtailment and settlement charges associated with its newly adopted early retirement incentive program would be added back to "Consolidated Net Income" for purposes of calculating earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization.

On November 29, 2002, NTELOS obtained a waiver of any default or event of default (Waiver No. 1, which expired on February 1, 2003) arising out of or relating to NTELOS' failure to comply with certain requirements of the Credit Agreement. In exchange for such waiver, NTELOS agreed to an amendment (Amendment No. 4) placing limitations on new extensions of credit under the working capital and swingline facilities and additional reporting obligations and deliverables.

On January 14, 2003, NTELOS executed Amendment No. 5, which substituted Wachovia Bank N.A. as the Administrative Agent and Collateral Agent under the Credit Agreement.

On February 28, 2003, NTELOS and the Companies executed Amendment No. 6 to permit the transfer of NTELOS Telephone's and R&B's ownership interest in the Virginia Independent Telephone Alliance L.C. ("Alliance") and the Valley Network Partnership ("Partnership"), thereby avoiding the effect of bankruptcy on the Alliance and the Partnership.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that approval of this application is in the public interest.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

1) Pursuant to § 56-77 of the Code of Virginia, the amendments to the Credit Agreement, as specified in the application, are hereby approved.

¹ NTELOS Telephone was formerly known as CFW Telephone, Inc.

² In that Order, we noted that there had been several amendments to the Credit Agreement approved in Case Nos. PUF-2000-00022 and PUF-2001-00009. This application seeks to remedy that deficiency.

³ NTELOS terminated the agreement to acquire Conestoga Enterprises, Inc., on December 3, 2001.

- 2) The approval granted herein shall have no ratemaking implications.
- 3) Approval of the application shall not preclude the Commission from applying the provisions of § 56-78 and § 56-80 of the Code of Virginia hereafter.
- 4) The Commission, pursuant to § 56-79 of the Code of Virginia, reserves the right to examine the books and records of any affiliate in connection with the authority granted herein, whether or not such affiliate is regulated by this Commission.
- 5) There being nothing further in this matter, it is hereby dismissed.

APPLICATION OF
TELECENTS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

To cancel certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local telecommunications services

ORDER

By Order dated December 14, 2001, in Case No. PUC-2001-00187, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") granted TeleCents of Virginia, Inc. ("TeleCents" or the "Company"), Certificate No. TT-166A to provide interexchange telecommunications services and Certificate No. T-574 to provide local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia.

By letter application filed on May 5, 2003, TeleCents requested the cancellation of its certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services.¹ TeleCents advised that it currently has no local exchange customers and has never operated as a competitive local exchange carrier in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the matter, is of the opinion that TeleCents' Certificate No. T-574 should be cancelled.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This matter shall be docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00090.
- (2) Certificate No. T-574 issued to TeleCents of Virginia, Inc., to provide local exchange telecommunications services is hereby cancelled.
- (3) This matter is hereby dismissed.

¹ In its May 15, 2003, filing, Staff stated that it verified that TeleCents wants to retain Certificate No. TT-166A. Staff also stated that TeleCents does not have accepted tariffs on file with the Commission's Division of Communications for either its local exchange or its interexchange telecommunications services.

PETITION OF
AT&T COMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, LLC

For reductions in the intrastate carrier access rates of Verizon Virginia Inc. and Verizon South Inc.

ORDER ESTABLISHING INVESTIGATION

On May 8, 2003, AT&T Communications of Virginia, LLC ("AT&T"), filed a Petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") seeking a reduction in the intrastate carrier access rates charged by Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia") and Verizon South Inc. ("Verizon South") (collectively, "Verizon"). On June 6, 2003, Verizon filed a Motion to Dismiss, Answer, and Affirmative Defenses. On June 17, 2003, AT&T filed a Response; and on June 27, 2003, Verizon filed a Reply. In their pleadings, both AT&T and Verizon discuss the Commission's Orders in two prior cases where the Commission approved settlement agreements between Verizon and the Commission Staff ("Staff") regarding intrastate access service prices.¹

On July 24, 2003, the Commission issued an Order Requesting Additional Filings. We directed Staff to file a report on the results that have been achieved through implementing the settlement agreements adopted in Case Nos. PUC-2000-00242 and PUC-2000-00283, and we permitted the parties to file additional comments subsequent thereto.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Staff filed its report on September 22, 2003, which included the following observations:

- (1) Both settlements have produced access revenue and average access revenue per minute ("ARPM") reductions to date;
- (2) The actual access and ARPM reductions resulting from the settlements to date have not been at the levels originally estimated and are not expected to meet those original estimates during the remainder of the settlement period;
- (3) The access revenues of both Verizon Virginia and Verizon South are significantly decreasing; however, a large proportion of the decreases are a result of the overall decrease in minutes of use ("MOU") rather than the rate/structure changes adopted in the settlements;
- (4) The forecasts of MOUs and access lines used in the original settlement estimates were not unreasonable at the time in light of historical trends; however, actuals have been significantly different during the settlement period to date;
- (5) The ARPMs are estimated to be higher in 2003 than they were in 2000 for both Verizon Virginia and Verizon South; however, without the settlements the ARPMs would have been even higher;
- (6) The ARPM for Verizon Virginia is expected to increase through the remaining settlement period based on the revised forecast; however, without the settlement the ARPM would increase even further;
- (7) The ARPM for Verizon South is still expected to decline somewhat during the settlement period based on the revised forecast; however, without the settlement the ARPM would increase dramatically; and
- (8) The continuation of the previous per line Carrier Common Line ("CCL") recovery method instead of the fixed CCL revenue method would have resulted in further access revenue reductions and lower ARPMs.

MCI Worldcom Communications of Virginia, Inc. ("MCI"), filed comments on October 3, 2003. MCI requests that the Commission commence an investigation of Verizon's intrastate carrier access charges.

AT&T filed comments on October 3, 2003. AT&T states that the Commission should reduce Verizon's access charges to cost-based levels and that one approach would be to require Verizon to match its access rates to its existing UNE rates. AT&T asserts that, at a minimum, the Commission should direct Verizon to reduce its intrastate access rates to levels no higher than the rates Verizon currently charges at the interstate level.

Verizon filed comments on October 3, 2003. Verizon states that the amount of revenue collected by Verizon Virginia and Verizon South has substantially decreased in the past several years to a level far below that anticipated by the settlements and that no participant suggests that Verizon's current access rates are not just and reasonable. Verizon requests that the Commission deny the relief requested by AT&T and dismiss the Petition in its entirety. In the alternative, Verizon states that if the Commission is inclined to address access charges at this time, it should do so in a generic proceeding for all carriers in Virginia.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the pleadings and applicable law, finds as follows. We deny Verizon's Motion to Dismiss and grant AT&T's Petition for purposes of initiating an investigation to determine the proper level of intrastate access charges for Verizon Virginia and Verizon South. No participant has asserted that Verizon's current access charges are based on cost of service. Furthermore, it is unclear whether Verizon's access charges should be based solely on cost of service. We assign this case to a Hearing Examiner to conduct all further proceedings in this matter and to prepare a report and recommendations on, among other things, the proper level of intrastate access service prices for Verizon Virginia and Verizon South.

Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

- (1) We deny the Motion to Dismiss filed by Verizon.
- (2) We grant the Petition filed by AT&T for purposes of establishing an investigation to determine the proper level of intrastate access charges for Verizon Virginia and Verizon South.
- (3) This case is assigned to a Hearing Examiner, pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-120, for further proceedings.
- (4) This matter is continued.

JUNE 19, 2003

QWEST COMMUNICATIONS CORPORATION OF VIRGINIA
and
QWEST INTERPRISE AMERICA, INC. OF VIRGINIA

To Discontinue Certain Telecommunications Services in Virginia

ORDER PERMITTING THE PARTIAL DISCONTINUANCE OF SERVICES

On May 12, 2003, Qwest Communications Corporation of Virginia and Qwest Interprise America, Inc. of Virginia ("Qwest" or the "Company"),¹ filed a petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting Commission approval to discontinue its provision of certain telecommunications services to customers in Virginia.² The Company's petition specifically requests approval to discontinue its provision of bundled DSL Internet Access services, affecting 775 Virginia customers.

In its petition, Qwest states that it has two groups of bundled digital subscriber line ("DSL") Internet access customers: the first group is served by digital subscriber line access multiplexers ("DSLAMs") located in incumbent local exchange carrier's central offices; and the second group is served by DSLAMs located on customer premises. Qwest proposes to sell to Covad Communications Company ("Covad") the customer base of the first group of DSL customers, which affects 773 customers. Unless those customers make other arrangements, they will be automatically transferred to Covad. The remaining two customers belong to the second group of DSL Internet access customers, whose customer base Qwest is not selling to Covad. Those two customers will lose their DSL service unless they make other arrangements.

The Commission's primary concern with authorizing any discontinuance of telecommunications services is that adequate notice to the customers be provided. The Commission's rule regarding partial discontinuance, 20 VAC 5-423-30 (Requirements for Partial Discontinuance), requires that a petition include a description of the customer notification efforts and that customers be provided at least 30 days' written notice of a proposed partial discontinuation of telecommunications services.

Qwest provided with its petition copies of the notices that will be mailed to customers affected by the partial discontinuance of services. We find that the notices meet the requirements of the rules and that the 30 day notice requirement will be met.

NOW THE COMMISSION, being sufficiently advised, will grant the requested partial discontinuance of Qwest's bundled DSL Internet Access services.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This matter is docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00092.
- (2) Qwest is hereby granted its request for discontinuance of its bundled DSL Internet Access services to Virginia customers.
- (3) There being nothing further to come before the Commission in this matter, this case shall be closed, and the papers herein shall be placed in the file for ended causes.

² Although Qwest stated in its application that it was filing its petition pursuant to 20 VAC 5-423-20 ("Requirements for discontinuance"), we take notice that its petition is properly filed pursuant to 20 VAC 5-423-30 ("Requirements for partial discontinuance").

AUGUST 13, 2003

PETITION OF
and
GC ACQUISITION LIMITED

For approval of the transfer of control of Global Crossing Ltd.'s Virginia operating subsidiaries to GC Acquisition Limited

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On May 15, 2003, Global Crossing Ltd. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("GCL") and GC Acquisition Limited ("New GX") (collectively, the "Petitioners") filed a petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission"), pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), requesting approval to transfer control of GCL's Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries from GCL to New GX.¹

GCL is a global telecommunications company organized under the laws of Bermuda. GCL owns and operates, through its subsidiaries, a global Internet Protocol-based fiber optic network that covers approximately 75,800 miles and over 200 major cities (the "Global Crossing Network"). The Global Crossing Network is used by GCL's operating subsidiaries to provide integrated telecommunications services, including a full range of managed data, voice, and Internet services, to large corporations, government agencies, and telecommunications carriers. In the United States, GCL's operating subsidiaries provide intrastate, interstate, and international telecommunications services. GCL's subsidiaries are authorized by the Federal Communications Commission ("FCC") and the public utility commissions of all 50 states and the District of Columbia to provide telecommunications services.

New GX is a newly formed company organized for the purpose of carrying out the proposed transaction. GCL is the sole shareholder of New GX.

Budget Call Long Distance, Inc. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("Budget Call"), is an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of GCL. Budget Call is a Delaware corporation with its principal office located in Pittsford, New York. Budget Call provides intrastate long distance telecommunications services in Virginia on a resale basis.² Budget Call does not hold a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("CPCN") to provide telecommunications services in Virginia.³

Global Crossing North American Networks, Inc. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("GCNAN"), is an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of GCL. GCNAN is a Delaware corporation with its principal office located in Pittsford, New York. GCNAN provides long distance telecommunications services in Virginia on a resale basis, but at the present time it does not have Virginia customers. GCNAN does not hold a CPCN to provide telecommunications services in Virginia.

Global Crossing Telecommunications, Inc. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("GCTI"), is also an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of GCL. GCTI is a Wisconsin corporation with its principal office located in Pittsford, New York. GCTI provides long distance telecommunications services in Virginia on a resale basis. GCTI does not hold a CPCN to provide telecommunications services in Virginia.

Global Crossing Telemangement of VA, LLC (Debtor-in-Possession) ("GCTVA"), is an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of GCL.⁴ GCTVA is a Virginia limited liability company with its principal office located in Pittsford, New York. GCTVA holds a CPCN to provide competitive local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia. That CPCN was granted in Case No. PUC-1997-00157 (PUC970157) on January 5, 1998.⁵

Singapore Technologies Telemedia Pte Ltd. ("ST Telemedia") is a Singapore telecommunications and information technologies company. ST Telemedia, through subsidiaries, provides fixed and mobile telecommunications, data, and Internet services, telephone equipment distribution, managed hosting, teleport, broadband cable and video, and e-business software development services in Singapore. ST Telemedia is a wholly owned subsidiary of Singapore Technologies Pte Ltd, which is a wholly owned subsidiary of Temasek Holdings [Private] Limited. ST Telemedia, along with its parent companies, is organized under the laws of Singapore. ST Telemedia does not operate directly in the United States, nor does ST Telemedia or its subsidiaries provide intrastate telecommunications services in Virginia.

On January 2, 2003, in Case No. PUC-2002-00193, the Commission granted approval for the transfer of GCTVA from GCL to New GX. Under the transaction as approved by the Commission, Hutchison Telecommunications Limited ("Hutchison Telecom") and ST Telemedia each would invest $125 million in cash in New GX in exchange for each obtaining 30.75% of New GX's equity and voting power in the form of common and preferred stock.

After issuance of the Commission's January 2, 2003, Order granting approval for the proposed transfer of control, the transfer still required approval by the FCC and the Committee on Foreign Investment in the U.S. ("CFIUS"). After extensive investigations into Hutchison Telecom's possible ties to the Chinese government, Hutchison Telecom decided not to participate or invest $125 million in New GX.

¹ The GCL "Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries" include Budget Call Long Distance, Inc. (Debtor-in-Possession), Global Crossing North American Networks, Inc. (Debtor-in-Possession), Global Crossing Telecommunications, Inc. (Debtor-in-Possession), and Global Crossing Telemangement of VA, LLC (Debtor-in-Possession).

³ Facilities-based interexchange telecommunications service providers are required to have a CPCN issued by the Commission.

⁵ Global Crossing Telemangement of VA, LLC, was formerly known as Frontier Telemangement LLC. The name was changed in 2000.

The Petitioners now request approval pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code to transfer control of GCL's Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries, including GCTVA, from GCL to New GX. Since GCTVA is the only one of the Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries holding a CPCN in Virginia, approval is required under Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code only for the transfer of control of GCTVA. This proposal differs from the one previously approved in that instead of Hutchison Telecom and ST Telemedia each proposing to obtain a 30.75% interest in New GX, ST Telemedia now proposes to obtain a 61.5% equity and voting interest in New GX and therefore would control New GX and GCTVA. Other than the ownership stake in New GX, the terms of the new transaction are substantially the same as previously approved by the Commission.

Under the terms of the proposed transaction, ST Telemedia proposes to increase its investment in New GX to $250 million. In return, ST Telemedia will acquire a 61.5% equity and voting interest in New GX and will control New GX. As described in the original transaction, creditors of GCL and its debtor subsidiaries will obtain 38.5% of New GX's equity and voting power in the form of common stock. New GX also plans to issue $200 million in senior secured notes and $300 million in cash to those creditors. These notes will be secured by the assets of various GCL subsidiaries, including the Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries.

As indicated previously, the Petitioners seek approval of a transfer of control of GCL's Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries from GCL to New GX. On January 28, 2002, GCL and certain of its subsidiaries, including the Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries, filed voluntary petitions under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code with the Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York ("Bankruptcy Court"). On August 9, 2002, the Bankruptcy Court authorized GCL to enter into a Purchase Agreement to effectuate the proposed transaction. The Supreme Court of Bermuda has also authorized GCL to enter into the proposed transaction.

Under this proposed transaction, GCL will indirectly transfer substantially all of its assets and operations, including its ownership interests in the Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries, to New GX. Once the transaction has been completed, GCL will relinquish all of its equity and voting power in New GX, and New GX will become the new ultimate parent of the Virginia-Licensed Subsidiaries.

The Commission issued its Order for Notice and Comment on May 29, 2003. No comments were filed.

On August 1, 2003, Staff filed its report in which it noted that the FCC and CFIUS are continuing their review of the proposed transaction. Staff noted concerns raised at the federal level concerning ST Telemedia's participation in the proposed transaction and the Singapore government's ownership of ST Telemedia. Because of these concerns, Staff believes that it cannot adequately determine whether the proposed transaction will impair or jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public until issues regarding national security, foreign ownership, and other issues under review at the federal level are resolved. Therefore, Staff recommended that approval of the proposed transaction be conditioned upon approval by the FCC and CFIUS. Once reviews are completed and approvals at the federal level occur, Staff believes that the Commission can then be assured that the applicable Chapter 5 standard will be satisfied.

The Petitioners, through counsel, filed Comments to Staff Report ("Comments") together with a Motion for Admission out of Time.⁶ The Motion for Admission out of Time is granted. In the Comments, the Petitioners take exception to Staff's recommendation to condition any approval of the proposed transaction by this Commission to the approval by the FCC and CFIUS. Petitioners maintain this recommendation is unnecessary and redundant. However, in the event that the Commission adopts the proposed condition, Petitioners request that the Commission's Order be clear that the Order will be effective as soon as the condition of federal approvals is satisfied and that no further action will be required by the Commission of the Petitioners to make the Order effective other than the Petitioners advising the Commission that the federal approvals have been obtained.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint petition, representations of the Petitioners, the Staff Report, and of Petitioners' Comments, is of the opinion and finds that the petition should be approved upon the condition recommended by Staff. Once the issues raised by Staff are resolved at the federal level, we can be assured that the transfer of control of GCTVA from GCL to New GX, as described herein, will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates. We, therefore, believe that our approval of the proposed transaction should be conditioned upon approval by the FCC and CFIUS and that the Petitioners should keep the Staff aware of any developments regarding review by the FCC and CFIUS.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petitioners' Motion for Admission out of Time is hereby granted.
- (2) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code, approval is hereby granted for the transfer of control of GCTVA from GCL to New GX as described herein, conditioned upon approval by the FCC and CFIUS.
- (3) The Petitioners shall file with the Commission proof of approval by both the FCC and CFIUS of the proposed transfer of control within ten (10) days of such approvals.
- (4) Should approval not be granted by the FCC and CFIUS, Petitioners shall promptly file proof of denial with the Commission. Should the proposed transfer of control be terminated by any of the Petitioners, notification of such shall be promptly filed with the Commission.
- (5) This matter shall be continued until the requirements of ordering paragraph (3) have been met.

⁶ Staff has advised that it has no objection to Comments filed out of time.

and
GC ACQUISITION LIMITED

For approval of the transfer of control of Global Crossing Ltd.'s Virginia operating subsidiaries to GC Acquisition Limited

DISMISSAL ORDER

By Order Granting Approval dated August 13, 2003, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") granted approval, pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, for the transfer of control of Global Crossing Telemanagement of VA, LLC (Debtor-in-Possession), an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Global Crossing Ltd. (Debtor-in-Possession) ("GCL") from GCL to GC Acquisition Limited ("New GX") (GCL and New GX collectively, the "Petitioners") conditioned upon approval by the Federal Communications Commission ("FCC") and the Committee on Foreign Investment in the U.S. ("CFIUS"). The Petitioners were required to provide proof of such approvals within ten days of obtaining the approvals. The Petitioners filed proof of approval by CFIUS on September 30, 2003, and the FCC on October 10, 2003.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the filed reports and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that there appearing nothing further to be done, this matter should be dismissed.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT there appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

SEPTEMBER 23, 2003

APPLICATION OF
PPL TELCOM, LLC

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide interexchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On May 20, 2003, PPL Telcom, LLC ("PPL" or the "Company"), filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide interexchange telecommunications services throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Company also requested authority to price its interexchange telecommunications services on a competitive basis pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia.

By Order for Notice and Comment dated June 13, 2003, the Commission directed the Company to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report. On July 23, 2003, PPL filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the June 13, 2003, Order.

On August 14, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that PPL's application was in compliance with 20 VAC 5-411-10 et seq., the Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers. Based upon its review of PPL's application, the Staff determined it would be appropriate to grant the Company a certificate to provide interexchange telecommunications services.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application and the Staff Report, finds that the Company should be granted a certificate to provide interexchange telecommunications services. Having considered § 56-481.1, the Commission further finds that the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) PPL Telcom, LLC, is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-197A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification of Interexchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) The Company shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform with all applicable Commission rules and regulations.

(3) Pursuant to § 56-481.1 of the Code of Virginia, the Company may price its interexchange telecommunications services competitively.

(4) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

CASE NO. PUC-2003-00097
NOVEMBER 7, 2003

PETITION OF
ONESTAR COMMUNICATIONS, LLC

For an Order Directing Verizon Virginia Inc. to Cease and Desist from Disconnecting Service

ORDER PERMITTING DISCONTINUANCE

On June 3, 2003, Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon") filed a letter with the Clerk of the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") pursuant to 20 VAC 5-423-80 notifying the Commission that Verizon would disconnect resale and UNE-P service to OneStar Communications, LLC ("OneStar"), on August 6, 2003 ("Notification of Disconnection"), if OneStar did not cure resale and UNE-P payment defaults of at least $172,681.82.

As set forth in 20 VAC 5-423-80, Verizon's Notification of Disconnection provided information on: (1) the number of OneStar resale customers to be disconnected and the proposed disconnection date; (2) any proposal to notify or transfer OneStar's customers to Verizon or to other carriers; (3) a description and quantification of the service offerings to OneStar to be disconnected; (4) the amount claimed to be owed to Verizon by OneStar, including the identification of any disputed amounts; (5) a description of any efforts that Verizon and OneStar have taken to prevent disconnection or disruption of service to OneStar's customers; and (6) a copy of a written disconnection notice sent to OneStar.

On October 14, 2003, Verizon filed a letter with the Clerk of the Commission stating as follows:

Verizon suspended its service termination action when OneStar entered into a Debt Restructure Agreement and signed a secured Note with Verizon that required, among other things, cure payment for all payment defaults to be made on specified dates. OneStar failed to make the cure payment scheduled and due on September 15, 2003. Section 9 of the Debt Restructure Agreement grants Verizon the right to terminate all service to OneStar within 5 days of its default. Accordingly, on October 8, 2003, Verizon notified OneStar of its initiation of the service suspension and termination process. Because OneStar has failed to cure payment defaults for undisputed resale and UNE-P charges of at least $198,689.21, Verizon intends to disconnect resale and UNE-P service to OneStar on November 21, 2003.

Verizon states that, according to its records, OneStar has approximately 197 resale customers and 283 UNE-P customers in Virginia.

On October 24, 2003, OneStar filed an emergency petition ("Petition") with the Commission under 5 VAC 5-20-100 B, requesting an order directing Verizon: (1) to cease and desist from terminating telecommunications services and facilities provided on a wholesale basis to OneStar pending resolution of settlement talks between carriers and pending Verizon's compliance with applicable laws and rules governing one carrier's discontinuance of service to another carrier; and (2) to terminate its embargo against OneStar's use of Verizon's Graphic User Interface ("GUI") that provides access to Verizon's operations support system. OneStar asserts that it appears Verizon eagerly awaits OneStar's exit from the market but that, at the present time, OneStar does not desire or intend to exit the Virginia market voluntarily.

OneStar states that the amount it owes Verizon for services and facilities provided in Virginia has been reduced by approximately $90,000 as a result of deposits paid by OneStar to Verizon this summer. OneStar contends that Verizon's suspension of its termination action voids the effect of its 60-day notice filed on June 3, 2003, and that Verizon's letter filed on October 14, 2003, begins a new 60-day period. OneStar asserts that Verizon is violating common law by "discriminating in the provision of credit between its retail customers and its competitors" and that Verizon has failed to comply with federal requirements for the disconnection of OneStar's services. OneStar also contends that Verizon's attempt to disconnect service is anti-competitive and that, "at a bare minimum," the Commission must delay Verizon's disconnection of service to OneStar so that public safety entities (such as police and fire departments) have at least thirty (30) days in which to make other arrangements for telephone service.

On November 5, 2003, Verizon filed a Motion to Dismiss, Answer, and Affirmative Defenses. Verizon requests that the Commission deny the relief requested by OneStar in its entirety, dismiss the Petition in its entirety, and order OneStar to immediately provide notice to its customers of its pending termination of service on November 21, 2003. In the event that the Commission finds that more time is necessary for OneStar to provide adequate notice to its customers, Verizon requests that the discontinuation deadline be extended by no more than one week with a requirement that OneStar provide prepayment to Verizon in the amount of charges for all services that were and continue to be billed post-September 15, 2003 (the date of OneStar's default on the Demand Note), for services secured through the extended termination date. Finally, Verizon states that "[g]iven OneStar's flouting of the Commission's rules regarding customer notice (as other [competitive local exchange carriers ("CLECs")] have done in the past), Verizon also urges the Commission in future disconnect instances to vigilantly enforce the Commission's Rules requiring CLECs to provide notice immediately, rather than allowing CLECs to bide their time and make baseless, eleventh hour emergency requests."

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of this matter, finds as follows. OneStar has not provided sufficient factual and legal justification for the Commission to prohibit Verizon from disconnecting resale and UNE-P service to OneStar or for the Commission to direct Verizon to provide OneStar access to Verizon's GUI. As required by 20 VAC 5-423-80, on June 3, 2003, Verizon provided notification with the Commission "at least 60 days prior to the proposed date of disconnection." Verizon did not withdraw such notice, and Verizon provided OneStar and the Commission additional notification on or about October 9 and 14, 2003, respectively, of its intention to discontinue service to OneStar.¹ Based on our findings below regarding prior notice to OneStar's customers, we do not have to decide in this case the temporal outer limits of a notification of disconnection by Verizon that has not been withdrawn.

We find that OneStar's customers must receive sufficient notice to select an alternative telephone company and to minimize customer disruption. OneStar shall send a direct notice of disconnection to its customers via first-class mail on or before November 12, 2003. Verizon shall not discontinue service to OneStar prior to December 13, 2003, and we will not grant Verizon's request to place additional requirements on OneStar's contractual payment obligations.

In addition, to avoid potentially serious consequences for those customers in transition, Verizon shall not disconnect any of OneStar's local exchange customers for which Verizon has received an associated order on or before December 12, 2003, to transfer a customer's local exchange telecommunications services. Furthermore, as required by 20 VAC 5-423-80 D, Verizon shall follow its expedited ordering procedures and make every effort to assist in the timely transfer of OneStar's customers to the customer's new local exchange telecommunications carrier in order to prevent the disruption of service to those customers.

Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

(1) On or before November 12, 2003, OneStar shall complete notice by first-class mail to each customer affected by the proposed discontinuance in Verizon's territory.

(2) Verizon shall not discontinue service to OneStar prior to December 13, 2003.

(3) Verizon shall not disconnect any of OneStar's local exchange customers for which Verizon has received an associated order on or before December 12, 2003, to transfer a customer's local exchange telecommunications services.

(4) As required by 20 VAC 5-423-80 D, Verizon shall follow its expedited ordering procedures and make every effort to assist in the timely transfer of OneStar's customers to the customer's new local exchange telecommunications carrier in order to prevent the disruption of service to those customers.

(5) OneStar shall include the following language in its notice to customers:

Customers are required to select an alternative local exchange telephone company on or before December 12, 2003, to avoid a loss of local telephone service. Customers who have timely placed an order for service with an alternative telephone company but have not yet been transferred to that company should not experience a loss of local service.

(6) The Commission's Staff shall monitor the discontinuance process as necessary. OneStar shall provide confirmation to the Commission's Staff on or before November 13, 2003, that customer notice has been provided as required herein. OneStar and Verizon shall work to ensure the timely transfer of all customers, including any public safety customers identified by OneStar. OneStar and Verizon shall provide any requested information to the Commission's Staff as expeditiously as possible, pursuant to Virginia Code § 56-249.

(7) On or before December 8, 2003, OneStar shall report to the Commission's Division of Communications the number of its remaining customers in Virginia.

(8) OneStar shall file notice with the Commission when it has completed discontinuance of service to its customers.

(9) Verizon shall file notice with the Commission when it has completed discontinuance of service to OneStar.

(10) The Clerk of the Commission shall provide a copy of this Order to all competitive local exchange carriers licensed by the Commission.

(11) This matter is continued pending further Order of the Commission.

JULY 9, 2003

APPLICATION OF
CITY OF BRISTOL d/b/a BRISTOL VIRGINIA UTILITIES BOARD

To cancel existing certificates and issue certificates reflecting new name

FINAL ORDER

By letter filed June 5, 2003, City of Bristol d/b/a Bristol Virginia Utilities Board ("Bristol"), informed the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") that it proposes to change its name to City of Bristol d/b/a Bristol Virginia Utilities, effective July 1, 2003. Although Bristol failed to request the cancellation of certificates issued in its name and the reissuance of certificates reflecting its new name, we take notice that this should be done.

Bristol holds a certificate of public convenience and necessity, T-598, issued November 26, 2002, in Case No. PUC-2002-00126, which authorizes Bristol to provide local exchange telecommunications services in the cities of Bristol and Norton and the counties of Washington, Scott, Lee, Wise, Russell, Tazewell, Smyth, and Grayson. The Commission is of the opinion that a revised certificate of public convenience and necessity should be granted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) This matter should be docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00098.

(2) Bristol's certificate of public convenience and necessity, T-598, is cancelled and shall be reissued as amended Certificate No. T-598a in the name of City of Bristol d/b/a Bristol Virginia Utilities.

(3) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this matter is dismissed.

CASE NO. PUC-2003-00099
AUGUST 13, 2003

PETITION OF
MFN OF VA L.L.C.
METROMEDIA FIBER NETWORK, INC

For approval of transfer of control pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On June 6, 2003, under Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia, MFN of VA, L.L.C. ("MFN VA"), and Metromedia Fiber Network, Inc. ("MFN"), its indirect parent, filed a petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for approval of transfer of control of MFN VA from MFN to a newly reorganized Metromedia Fiber Network, Inc. ("Reorganized MFN"), with MFN VA emerging from bankruptcy as a newly reorganized MFN of VA L.L.C., ("Reorganized MFN VA"), pursuant to the bankruptcy Plan of Reorganization ("Plan") submitted to the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York (the "Bankruptcy Court").

On July 18, 2003, an amendment to the petition was filed with the Commission to reflect the substitution of one minority investor who would hold more than 10% equity for another minority investor who would hold more than 10% equity in the Reorganized MFN.

By Order dated August 1, 2003, the Commission extended the time for review of issues in this case through September 4, 2003.

MFN VA is a limited liability company formed in Delaware with headquarters in White Plains, New York. MFN VA was granted Certificates of Public Convenience and Necessity to provide interexchange and local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia on June 26, 1998, in Case No. PUC-1998-00047

MFN VA is a wholly owned subsidiary of Metromedia Fiber Network Services, Inc. ("MFN Services"), the direct parent of MFN VA, which is a wholly owned subsidiary of MFN, the indirect parent of MFN VA. Both MFN Services and MFN are incorporated in Delaware with headquarters in White Plains, New York. MFN is a holding company with extensive operating subsidiaries (collectively, the "MFN Companies"), including MFN Services and MFN VA.

The MFN Companies combine extensive metropolitan area fiber networks in the U.S. and abroad with a global optical IP network, data centers, and managed services to deliver integrated services to carriers, large businesses, and governments.

MFN VA currently has a network of dark fiber in Northern Virginia and provides services to 42 customers. Of those, 41 customers lease dark fiber from MFN VA to establish and maintain their own private optical networks. MFN VA also provides WaveChannel service to one customer in Virginia. WaveChannel is a complete optical network, based on DWDM technology, which is private and dedicated to the single customer.

On March 13, 2003, MFN proposed its initial bankruptcy Plan of Reorganization (the "Plan") and filed its amended Plan on May 9, 2003. MFN anticipates that the Bankruptcy Court will hold a hearing to consider confirmation of the Plan in mid-August 2003. MFN is simultaneously seeking all other necessary regulatory approvals.

Upon implementation of the Plan, all then-current equity interests in MFN will be extinguished and deemed cancelled. The MFN Companies will be recapitalized by converting certain secured claims and a substantial portion of allowed general unsecured claims into equity in Reorganized MFN in the form of new stock and through obtaining new funding through a $50 million rights offering.

Upon emergence from bankruptcy, it is anticipated that there will be only two stockholders who will hold more than 10% equity in the Reorganized MFN and none having controlling interest.

After emergence from bankruptcy, Reorganized MFN and Reorganized MFN Services are to be renamed AboveNet Communications, Inc., and AboveNet, Inc., respectively, and MFN VA will change its name to AboveNet of VA, L.L.C.

The Petitioners represent that the transfer of control will not affect the ability of MFN VA to continue to provide telecommunications services in Virginia pursuant to the same rates, terms, and conditions as currently on file with the Division of Communications.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the transaction, as described herein, involving transfer of control will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- 1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, approval is hereby granted for the transfer of control of MFN VA, as described herein.
- 2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it is hereby dismissed.

CASE NO. PUC-2003-00100
AUGUST 8, 2003

APPLICATION AND PETITION OF NTELOS INC., DEBTOR IN POSSESSION, A VIRGINIA CORPORATION,
NTELOS TELEPHONE INC.,
ROANOKE & BOTETOURT TELEPHONE COMPANY,
NTELOS SUBSIDIARIES, CAPITAL RESEARCH AND MANAGEMENT COMPANY, AND MORGAN STANLEY & CO. INCORPORATED

For authority under Chapters 3, 4, and 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY

On June 18, 2003, NTELOS Inc. ("NTELOS"), NTELOS Telephone Inc.¹ ("NTELOS Telephone"), Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Company ("R&B" and collectively with NTELOS Telephone, "the Telephone Companies"), certain other subsidiaries² of NTELOS ("NTELOS Subsidiaries") (collectively, the "NTELOS Entities"), Capital Research and Management Company ("Capital Research") and Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated ("Morgan Stanley") completed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") under Chapters 3, 4, and 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("the Code"). The requisite fee of $250.00 has been paid.

The NTELOS Entities, along with Capital Research and Morgan Stanley (collectively "the Applicants"), are requesting authority under Chapters 3, 4, and 5 of the Code for the Telephone Companies to emerge from bankruptcy.³ According to a response to a data request from our Staff, at the time of emergence from bankruptcy, NTELOS will execute a Credit and Guarantee Agreement ("New Credit Agreement") by which the Telephone Companies will guarantee the obligations of NTELOS and secure those guarantees by granting liens on their assets. Included in the New Credit Agreement is a cash consolidation arrangement that covers the bank accounts of the Telephone Companies.

To effect the guarantees and place a lien on the property of the Telephone Companies, the New Credit Agreement requires the Telephone Companies to execute the Security Agreement on the personal property, including bank accounts, of the Telephone Companies under the Uniform Commercial Code and the agreement entitled Deed of Trust, Assignment of Rents Security Agreement and Fixture Filing, which will place security interests on the real and other property of the Telephone Companies. The NTELOS Companies request approval of the following contracts and arrangements to effect the guarantees and to place liens on their personal and real property to give security for those guarantees: 1) the Credit and Guarantee Agreement; 2) Security Agreement on the personal property, including the cash consolidation arrangement; and 3) the Deed of Trust, Assignment of Rents, Security Agreement and Fixture Filing.

To emerge from bankruptcy, the NTELOS Entities will replace the comprehensive package of debt financing ("Credit Agreement") approved by Commission Orders in Case Nos. PUF-2000-00022⁴ and PUF-2001-00009.⁵ The Credit Agreement approved in Case Nos. PUF-2000-00022 and PUF-2001-00009 provided NTELOS with an eight-year, $100,000,000 revolving credit facility ("the Revolver") and $225,000,000 in term loans and commitments.

On March 4, 2003, NTELOS and the Telephone Companies filed separate petitions under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. In order to continue operations while in bankruptcy, NTELOS sought and received approval of $35,000,000 of additional debt as Debtor-In-Possession Financing ("DIP Financing") in Case No. PUC-2003-00038.⁶ On June 19, 2003, the NTELOS Entities received approval of amendments to the Credit Agreement that had been executed subsequent to the May 2001 Order.⁷

NTELOS has submitted a joint plan for reorganization ("Joint Plan") and is currently nearing approval of the Joint Plan with the Bankruptcy Court.⁸ NTELOS anticipates that the August 11, 2003, hearing will result in an approval of the Joint Plan, and the NTELOS Entities may emerge from Chapter 11 as soon as ten days after the Bankruptcy Court approves the Joint Plan. According to the Joint Plan, NTELOS' current common stock will be cancelled and the substantial portion of its new common stock will be issued to holders of its Senior Notes and Subordinated Notes. The cancellation of the old common stock and the issuance of the new common stock will effect a change in control of the Telephone Companies under § 56-88.1 of the Code. Additionally, 9.00% senior convertible notes ("Convertible Notes") having an aggregate principal amount of $75,000,000 will be issued without requiring additional guarantees by the Telephone Companies. NTELOS represents that the proceeds from the Convertible Note will be used to retire all of the outstanding balance of DIP Financing and the outstanding balance of the Revolver.

The Joint Plan anticipates that NTELOS' pre-bankruptcy equity will be cancelled, and the reorganized NTELOS will issue new equity to the formerly unsecured senior debt holders, including the companies affiliated with Capital Research and Morgan Stanley, subordinated debt holders, and the purchasers of the Convertible Notes. On the effective date of the Joint Plan, Morgan Stanley will hold 37.1%, and investment companies managed by Capital Research will hold 31.2%, of the NTELOS common equity.

Under the terms of the New Credit Agreement, NTELOS' access to the Revolver would be reduced from $100,000,000 to $36,000,000. The three existing term loans would be replaced by three similar term loans under the new term loan facility ("New Term Loan Facility"). The three loans of the New Term Loan Facility will consist of $48,698,553 of Tranche A (maturing July 25, 2007); $96,666,628 of Tranche B (maturing July 25, 2008); and $73,047,829 of Tranche C (maturing July 25, 2008). The Telephone Companies request authority to guarantee the Revolver and Tranches A, B, and C for a total of $254,413,010 in guarantee authority.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application as amended and supplemented, and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that approval of this application and petition will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and is in the public interest. We are, however, very concerned about the financial condition of NTELOS. We remain concerned about the long-term interests of the Telephone Companies' customers due to the continued dependence of the NTELOS wireless business upon these customers through long-term financial guarantees. These concerns are not isolated to the financial health of the Telephone Companies and the impact on their customers' rates. However, we note that the NTELOS Entities have committed, in a data response to our Staff, not to seek recovery through the rates of the Telephone Companies of the debt service obligations that may arise from the guarantees approved herein.

Our concerns also are related to the ability of the Telephone Companies to continue to provide local exchange telecommunications services at or above current service quality levels in light of the financial condition of NTELOS. As such, and in light of the cash consolidation arrangement, we note NTELOS is obligated to fund and finance capital improvements of the Telephone Companies to ensure that service quality levels are maintained or improved from their current levels. Therefore, as a condition of approval of the application, to ensure such funding we will require each of the Telephone Companies to file an annual report detailing their forecasted and actual capital expenditures and maintenance with the Division of Communications. The Telephone Companies are directed to work with the Staff to develop such reports. These reports will be required to be filed annually by the end of the first quarter of every year beginning in 2004 and continuing during the period the guarantees are in place. At a minimum, the reports should include: (1) budgeted capital expenditures and maintenance for the current year and succeeding year; (2) actual capital expenditures and maintenance for the preceding year; (3) identification and description of any proposed capital investment projects exceeding $25,000 for the current year; and (4) any other necessary information requested by our Staff.

We expect that the Telephone Companies will ensure that all such necessary funds and other resources are expended so that service quality is maintained at or above existing levels to all their customers. NTELOS Telephone shall continue to report service quality data to the Staff as required by 20 VAC 5-400-80 or any relevant subsequent rule, and R&B shall report such information, during the period the guarantees are in place, as if it were subject to 20 VAC 5-400-80 or any relevant subsequent rule. Staff is directed to monitor closely the service quality levels of NTELOS Telephone and R&B during the period these guarantees are in place. We further instruct Staff promptly to advise the Commission if service quality results fall below acceptable levels at any time or if it believes that the actual or forecasted capital or maintenance expenditures are not sufficient to maintain adequate service quality to the Telephone Companies' customers.

In addition, we note that Section 8.02 of the New Credit Agreement parallels Section 8.02 of the prior Credit Agreement that we approved in Case Nos. PUF-2000-00022 and PUF-2001-00009, and Section 8.02 of DIP Financing agreement approved in Case No. PUC-2003-00038. As explained in our April 2003 Order, Section 8.02 does not limit our jurisdiction. The Order we issue today, as with the authorizations in Case Nos. PUF-2000-00022, PUF-2001-00009, and PUC-2003-00038, explicitly states that the authority granted by the Commission shall have no ratemaking implications. Accordingly, for both the instant and prior authorizations, the Commission has limited the authorization such that it in no manner affects our ability to regulate the Telephone Companies. For example, rates paid by the Telephone Companies' customers must reflect the just and reasonable costs necessary to provide public utility service. Other costs incurred by the Telephone Companies, whether such costs are attendant to the guarantees or otherwise, are not properly reflected in rates.

⁶ Application of NTELOS Inc., NTELOS Telephone Company, and Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Company, For authority to guarantee obligations and execute security agreements, Order Granting Authority, Case No. PUC-2003-00038 (April 10, 2003) ("April 2003 Order").

⁸ On August 5, 2003, NTELOS announced that its Joint Plan has been accepted by all classes entitled to vote on the Joint Plan. Four of the five classes unanimously accepted the Joint Plan. In the remaining class, consisting of general unsecured creditors, 94% in number and 96% in principal amount of the votes received accepted the Joint Plan. The final voting report was filed with the Bankruptcy Court earlier that same day.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Finally, we expect NTELOS to do everything in its power to pay down the New Term Loan Facility debt on which the Telephone Companies are acting as guarantor. At the latest, we expect NTELOS to be able to finance its wireless operations without guarantees by the time these term loans mature, or no later than July 25, 2008. We also will require NTELOS to make compliance filings on a semi-annual basis that will confirm that principal repayments have occurred as scheduled.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

1) NTELOS Telephone Inc. and Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Company are hereby authorized to provide guarantees for a maximum amount of $254,413,010 as provided in the following contracts and arrangements: 1) the Credit and Guarantee Agreement; 2) Security Agreement on the personal property, including the cash consolidation arrangement; and 3) the Deed of Trust, Assignment of Rents, Security Agreement and Fixture Filing.

2) NTELOS Telephone Inc. and Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Company are hereby authorized to execute the following contracts and arrangements in the form filed with the Commission: 1) the Credit and Guarantee Agreement; 2) Security Agreement on the personal property, including the cash consolidation arrangement; and 3) the Deed of Trust, Assignment of Rents, Security Agreement and Fixture Filing.

3) The guarantee authority for the New Term Loan Facility granted herein shall automatically decrease with the repayment of principal.

4) As a condition of our approval herein, the Telephone Companies shall not seek to recover in rates any expenses or debt service obligations related to the guarantees, contracts, and arrangements approved in this Order.

5) Our approval of the Credit and Guarantee Agreement; Security Agreement on the personal property, including the cash consolidation arrangement; and the Deed of Trust, Assignment of Rents, Security Agreement and Fixture Filing shall expire upon the maturity of the New Term Loan Facility, but no later than July 25, 2008.

6) As a condition of our approval herein, the NTELOS Entities shall file an application with the Commission, prior to the expiration of the contracts and arrangements approved herein and no later than ninety (90) days before approval is necessary, for a new cash management system that ensures, at a minimum, the separation of regulated cash investment from non-regulated cash borrowings.

7) As a condition of our approval herein, if NTELOS intends to draw upon the Revolver, NTELOS shall file notice with the Commission's Division of Economics and Finance of such intentions at least thirty (30) days prior to such proposed advance. The notice shall contain the date of the proposed advance and include proforma financial statements demonstrating the need for the advance and a detailed description of when and how the advance will be repaid by NTELOS.

8) As a condition of our approval herein, NTELOS shall use the proceeds from the Convertible Note to retire all of the outstanding balance of DIP Financing and the outstanding balance of the Revolver.

9) Pursuant to § 56-88.1 of the Code, approval is hereby granted for NTELOS to cancel its pre-bankruptcy equity and issue new equity as more fully described in the application and petition, as amended and supplemented, thereby effecting a transfer of control of the Telephone Companies.

10) The authority granted herein shall have no implications for ratemaking purposes.

11) Any subsequent financing arrangements with affiliates or other affiliate agreements shall require separate authority, which shall not be implied by approval of the application herein.

12) Approval of the application shall not preclude the Commission from applying the provisions of § 56-78 of the Code hereafter.

13) Approval of the application is expressly conditioned upon the reserved power of the Commission to revise and amend the terms and conditions of each and every contract and arrangement approved by this Order if, when, and as necessary to protect and promote the public interest.

14) The Commission reserves the right to examine the books and records of any affiliate, whether or not such affiliate is regulated by this Commission.

15) Should either NTELOS Telephone or R&B seek rate relief while the guarantees are in place, it shall, at the time notice is mailed to customers, pursuant to § 56-532, file a report pursuant to § 56-249 of the Code. Such report shall include data detailed in 20 VAC 5-200-30 and shall be filed with the Commission's Division of Economics and Finance.

16) As a condition of our approval herein, the Telephone Companies shall file with the Commission's Division of Communications the service quality data and the report of their planned and prior year investment and maintenance activity as set out herein.

17) As a condition of our approval herein, on a semi-annual basis, NTELOS shall file with the Commission a copy of reports sent to its lenders relating to the repayment of principal as long as the Telephone Companies are acting as guarantors on any debt of NTELOS Inc.

18) Annually, no later than March 1 of each year, the Telephone Companies shall file an Annual Financing Plan with the Commission's Division of Economics and Finance. The filing shall fully conform to the Instructions for Filing Securities Applications dated June 30, 2000, also found at <http://www.state.va.us/scc/division/eaf/ioufin.pdf>.

19) The Telephone Companies shall file with the Commission a report of the action taken pursuant to the authority granted herein within thirty (30) days of the transfer of control taking place, and the report shall provide the date of such transfer of control.

20) This matter shall remain under the continued review, audit, and appropriate directive of the Commission.

OCTOBER 14, 2003

APPLICATION OF THE CITY OF MANASSAS

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services

FINAL ORDER

On June 10, 2003, the City of Manassas ("Manassas" or "Applicant"), filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide local exchange telecommunications services in the City of Manassas and the County of Prince William.

By Order for Notice and Comment dated June 27, 2003, the Commission directed the Applicant to provide notice to the public of its application and directed the Commission Staff to conduct an investigation and file a Staff Report.

On July 2, 2003, Verizon Virginia Inc. and Verizon South Inc. (jointly "Verizon") filed their Notice of Participation. On July 3, 2003, the Virginia Cable Telecommunications Association ("VCTA") filed a Notice of Participation.

On July 23, 2003, the Applicant filed proof of publication and proof of service as required by the June 27, 2003, Order.

On August 12, 2003, the VCTA filed Comments requesting that the Commission dismiss the application.¹ In its Comments, VCTA objects to granting a certificate to Manassas based upon the Applicant's Affidavit² and Applicant's response to interrogatories regarding its provision of Internet access services. VCTA complains that apparently Manassas does not consider Internet access services to be a telecommunications service under relevant Virginia Code sections. Therefore, according to VCTA, the Affidavit's assurances of competitive safeguards would not apply to the Applicant's intended provision of Internet access services. VCTA concludes that the application, therefore, fails to comply with the safeguards of subdivision (iv) of § 56-265.4:4 B 5.³

On August 28, 2003, the Staff filed its Report finding that Manassas' application was in compliance with 20 VAC 5-417-10 et seq., the Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers ("Local Rules"). The Staff Report notes that Manassas will initially be providing high speed broadband Internet access services.⁴ The Staff, based upon its review of Manassas' application, determined it would be appropriate to grant the Applicant a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the following condition: at such time as Manassas provides local exchange telecommunications services, it shall comply with all applicable requirements of new entrants and Municipal Local Exchange Carriers ("MLECs") in the Local Rules.⁵

Manassas filed its Response to the Staff Report and to VCTA's comments on September 5, 2003. According to its response, Manassas does not object to the condition contained in the Staff Report; however, it does take issue with VCTA's objection as to the sufficiency of the Affidavit. Manassas states that it has complied fully with the Local Rules promulgated by the Commission and that the VCTA has misread the statutory requirements with respect to the provision of Internet access services. Manassas claims that § 56-265.4:4 D provides that an MLEC that operates electric distribution facilities may provide Internet access services to its citizens, but it must first obtain an MLEC certificate. This, however, does not require Manassas to provide regulated local exchange telecommunications services to its citizens; only if it does so is it required to comply with the safeguard requirements promulgated by the General Assembly and the Commission.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the application, Staff Report, and Comments, finds that the Applicant should be granted a certificate to provide local exchange telecommunications services.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Manassas is hereby granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-618, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of this Order.

(2) Manassas shall provide tariffs to the Division of Communications that conform to all applicable Commission rules and regulations before it begins offering local exchange telecommunications services. Manassas shall serve upon the service list of this case a copy of those tariffs.

¹ VCTA's Comments were filed pursuant to leave granted to file out of time, Order Granting Motion, issued July 25, 2003.

² Exhibit "F" to the Application entitled, "Affidavit of Compliance with Competitive Safeguards", executed by the Manassas City Manager.

(3) Manassas is hereby ordered, at such time as it provides local exchange telecommunications services, to comply with all applicable requirements of new entrants and MLECs in the Local Rules.

(4) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

CASE NO. PUC-2003-00104
JUNE 26, 2003

APPLICATION OF
MOUNTAIN COMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, LLC

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services

ORDER

Before the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") is the request of Mountain Communications of Virginia, LLC ("Mountain" or "Company"), for waiver of the requirement that it file audited financial statements within one year of the effective date of its tariff.¹ As an alternative to filing audited statements, Mountain requests authority to file a performance bond in lieu thereof. For the reasons set out in this Order, the Commission will authorize the filing of a bond.

By Final Order of March 12, 2003, issued in Case No. PUC-2002-00223 ("Final Order"), the Commission granted the Company a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-611, to provide local exchange telecommunications services. We also directed in the Final Order that Mountain provide a tariff to our Division of Communications and provide its audited financial statements to our Division of Economics and Finance within one year from the effective date of the initial tariff.

As shown in the records of the Division of Communications, Mountain filed a tariff, which became effective on April 10, 2003. On June 18, 2003, the Company filed with the Clerk of the Commission its request for a waiver of the requirement to file audited financial statements, which are due by May 10, 2004, as required by the Final Order.

The Commission has recently adopted the Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers, 20 VAC 5-417-10 et seq., to replace our earlier Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service, 20 VAC 5-400-180 et seq. See Commonwealth of Virginia, ex rel. State Corporation Commission, Ex Parte: In the matter of regulations governing competitive local exchange carriers, localities as competitive local exchange carriers, and local inter-carrier matters, Case No. PUC-2002-00115, Order Adopting Rules of April 9, 2003. As provided by 20 VAC 5-417-20 G 1 b of the rules now in effect, an applicant for a certificate must provide "A continuous performance or surety bond in a minimum amount of $50,000, in a form to be prescribed by the commission staff." Therefore, upon consideration of Mountain's request, the Commission will substitute the posting of a continuous performance bond of $50,000 for the filing of audited financial statements required by the Final Order.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Mountain's request for waiver of the requirement to file audited financial statements and, in the alternative, to file a continuous performance bond shall be docketed in Case No. PUC-2003-00104 and is hereby granted, consistent with our findings above.

(2) Mountain shall be relieved from complying with ordering paragraph (4) of the Final Order issued in Case No. PUC-2002-00223, which directed the filing of audited financial statements.

(3) All remaining requirements and obligations imposed on Mountain by the Final Order in Case No. PUC-2002-00223 shall otherwise remain in full force and effect.

(4) Mountain shall file with the Commission's Division of Economics and Finance a continuous performance or surety bond in the amount of $50,000 within thirty (30) days from the date of this Order. Said bond shall be maintained until the Commission or its Staff determines that it is no longer necessary.

(5) Mountain shall notify the Division of Economics and Finance by letter thirty (30) days prior to each instance of cancellation or lapse of the bond prescribed in ordering paragraph (5) above and shall provide a replacement bond.

(6) Upon the filing of this Order, Case No. PUC-2003-00104 shall be removed from the Commission's docket and closed.

APPLICATION OF
NTELOS TELEPHONE INC.

For approval to enter into an amended affiliates agreement

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On June 20, 2003, NTELOS Telephone Inc. ("NTELOS Telephone") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") under Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia (the "Code") requesting approval to enter into an amended Affiliates Agreement.

NTELOS Telephone is a wholly owned subsidiary of NTELOS Inc. with its principal place of business in Waynesboro, Virginia. NTELOS Telephone is a Virginia public service company providing local exchange telecommunications services in Allegheny and Augusta Counties, the City of Covington, the Town of Clifton-Forge, and the City of Waynesboro. NTELOS Telephone provides local exchange telecommunications services to approximately 40,000 access lines.

NTELOS Telephone requests approval to update the CFW Telephone Company Affiliates Agreement for which the last amendment was approved in Case No. PUA-1995-00013. CFW Telephone Company officially became NTELOS Telephone by a name change authorized by the Commission in a Certificate of Amendment on December 6, 2000. The updated agreement filed with this application reflects the name change to NTELOS Telephone. The amended agreement also updates certain of the allocators and reflects NTELOS Inc.'s current subsidiaries (affiliates of NTELOS Telephone), some of which have been added since the 1995 approval. No other changes have been made to the agreement since the last amendment was approved by the Commission.

Pursuant to the Affiliates Agreement, NTELOS Telephone agrees to provide local exchange telecommunications services at tariffed rates to its non-regulated affiliates and to provide building space, facilities, and services to such affiliates at full cost. NTELOS Inc. and NTELOS Network Inc.¹ agree to provide facilities and services to NTELOS Telephone at full cost. Certain other non-regulated affiliates agree to provide services such as wireless and cable television at the fair market value.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application and representations of NTELOS Telephone and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the provision of local exchange telecommunications services by NTELOS Telephone to its non-regulated affiliates at tariffed rates is appropriate. However, other services provided by NTELOS Telephone to such affiliates are those for which a market, and therefore, a market value might exist. In such cases, NTELOS Telephone should ascertain whether a market exists and compare the cost of providing such services to its non-regulated affiliates and charge such affiliates the higher of cost or market. Certain services are provided by NTELOS Inc. and NTELOS Network Inc. to NTELOS Telephone at full cost. Pricing at cost is appropriate as long as such cost is lower than the market price for services for which a market exists. Where it is practicable to determine the non-regulated affiliates' cost of providing such services to NTELOS Telephone, NTELOS Telephone should make such determination of cost and compare such cost to fair market value. NTELOS Telephone should pay the lower of cost or fair market value. With such pricing restrictions, we believe that the amended Affiliates Agreement is in the public interest and, therefore, should be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to § 56-77 of the Code, NTELOS Telephone is hereby granted approval of the amended Affiliates Agreement under the terms and conditions as described herein, subject to the above-referenced pricing restrictions.
- (2) Commission approval shall be required for any changes in the terms and conditions of the Affiliates Agreement from those contained herein.
- (3) The approval granted herein shall not be deemed to include any approvals other than for the specific services contained in the amended Affiliates Agreement.
- (4) The approval granted herein shall have no ratemaking implications.
- (5) The approval granted herein shall not preclude the Commission from exercising the provisions of §§ 56-78 and 56-80 of the Code hereafter.
- (6) NTELOS Telephone shall bear the burden of proving that the above-referenced pricing restrictions were followed.
- (7) The Commission reserves the authority to examine the books and records of any affiliate in connection with the authority granted herein whether or not the Commission otherwise regulates such affiliate.
- (8) As directed in Case No. PUC-2003-00100, the requirement that NTELOS Telephone shall file an application with the Commission, prior to the expiration of the contracts and arrangements approved in Case No. PUC-2003-00100 and no later than ninety (90) days before approval is necessary, for a new cash management system that ensures, at a minimum, the separation of regulated cash investment from non-regulated cash borrowings shall remain in effect.
- (9) The transactions covered by the amended Affiliates Agreement shall be included in NTELOS Telephone's Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions submitted to the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting by April 1 of each year, subject to extension by the Director of Public Utility Accounting.

(10) In the event that any rate filings are not based on a calendar year, then NTELOS Telephone shall include the affiliate information contained in the Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions in such filings.

(11) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

SEPTEMBER 17, 2003

APPLICATION OF
ROANOKE & BOTETOURT TELEPHONE INC.

For approval to enter into an amended affiliates agreement

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On June 20, 2003, Roanoke & Botetourt Telephone Inc. ("R&B Telephone") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") under Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia (the "Code") requesting approval to enter into an amended Affiliates Agreement.

R&B Telephone is a wholly owned subsidiary of NTELOS Inc. with its principal place of business in Waynesboro, Virginia. R&B Telephone is a Virginia public service company providing local exchange telecommunications services in Botetourt County, Virginia. R&B Telephone provides local exchange telecommunications services to approximately 12,000 access lines.

R&B Telephone requests approval to update the R&B Telephone Company Affiliates Agreement for which the last amendment was approved in Case No. PUA-1995-00041. The amended agreement reflects R&B Telephone as a subsidiary of NTELOS Inc., updates certain of the allocators, and reflects NTELOS Inc.'s current subsidiaries (affiliates of R&B Telephone), some of which have been added since the 1995 approval. No other changes have been made to the agreement since the last amendment was approved by the Commission.

Pursuant to the Affiliates Agreement, R&B Telephone agrees to provide local exchange telecommunications services at tariffed rates to its non-regulated affiliates and to provide building space, facilities, and services to such affiliates at full cost. NTELOS Inc. and R&B Communications, Inc.¹ agree to provide facilities and services to R&B Telephone at full cost. Certain other non-regulated affiliates agree to provide services such as wireless and cable television at the fair market value.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application and representations of R&B Telephone and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the provision of local exchange telecommunications services by R&B Telephone to its non-regulated affiliates at tariffed rates is appropriate. However, other services provided by R&B Telephone to such affiliates are those for which a market, and therefore, a market value might exist. In such cases, R&B Telephone should ascertain whether a market exists and compare the cost of providing such services to its non-regulated affiliates and charge such affiliates the higher of cost or market. Certain services are provided by NTELOS Inc. and R&B Communications, Inc., to R&B Telephone at full cost. Pricing at cost is appropriate as long as such cost is lower than the market price for services for which a market exists. Where it is practicable to determine the non-regulated affiliates' cost of providing such services to R&B Telephone, R&B Telephone should make such determination of cost and compare such cost to fair market value. R&B Telephone should pay the lower of cost or fair market value. With such pricing restrictions, we believe that the amended Affiliates Agreement is in the public interest and, therefore, should be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Pursuant to § 56-77 of the Code, R&B Telephone is hereby granted approval of the amended Affiliates Agreement under the terms and conditions as described herein, subject to the above-referenced pricing restrictions.

(2) Commission approval shall be required for any changes in the terms and conditions of the Affiliates Agreement from those contained herein.

(3) The approval granted herein shall not be deemed to include any approvals other than for the specific services contained in the amended Affiliates Agreement.

(4) The approval granted herein shall have no ratemaking implications.

(5) The approval granted herein shall not preclude the Commission from exercising the provisions of §§ 56-78 and 56-80 of the Code hereafter.

(6) R&B Telephone shall bear the burden of proving that the above-referenced pricing restrictions were followed.

(7) The Commission reserves the authority to examine the books and records of any affiliate in connection with the authority granted herein whether or not the Commission otherwise regulates such affiliate.

(8) As directed in Case No. PUC-2003-00100, the requirement that R&B Telephone shall file an application with the Commission, prior to the expiration of the contracts and arrangements approved in Case No. PUC-2003-00100 and no later than ninety (90) days before approval is necessary, for a new cash management system that ensures, at a minimum, the separation of regulated cash investment from non-regulated cash borrowings shall remain in effect.

¹ R&B Communications, Inc., owns the common stock of R&B Telephone, R&B Network Inc., The Beeper Company, and R&B Cable Inc. and provides Internet services and deregulated products and services primarily in the southern end of the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia.

(9) The transactions covered by the amended Affiliates Agreement shall be included in R&B Telephone's Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions submitted to the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting by April 1 of each year, subject to extension by the Director of Public Utility Accounting.

(10) In the event that any rate filings are not based on a calendar year, then R&B Telephone shall include the affiliate information contained in the Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions in such filings.

(11) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

SEPTEMBER 4, 2003

PETITION OF
SUNESYS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

For approval of transfer of control

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On July 8, 2003, Sunesys of Virginia, Inc. ("Sunesys VA" or "Petitioner"), filed a petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") under Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("Code") for approval for the transfer of ultimate control of Sunesys VA from Exelon Corporation ("Exelon") to Oaktree Capital Management, LLC ("OCM"). As stated in the petition, Sunesys VA currently is a wholly owned subsidiary of Sunesys, Inc., which itself is a wholly owned subsidiary of Infracource Incorporated ("Infracource"), whose ultimate corporate parent is Exelon Corporation ("Exelon").

Sunesys VA is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia with its principal office located in Warrington, Pennsylvania. Sunesys VA is certificated to provide local exchange telecommunications services pursuant to Final Order dated June 10, 2002, in Case No. PUC-2002-00017. Sunesys VA, however, has not begun to serve customers in Virginia and does not have an accepted tariff on file with the Commission.

Infracource is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware with its principal office in Aston, Pennsylvania. Infracource is an electric, telecommunications, and gas utility engineering, construction, and maintenance company with a national scope. Infracource does not provide public utility services in Virginia and does not hold a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("CPCN").

Exelon, a Pennsylvania corporation, currently is the ultimate parent of Sunesys VA. Its principal office is located in Chicago, Illinois. Exelon does not provide public utility services and does not hold a CPCN in Virginia.

OCM Principal Opportunities Fund II, L.P. ("OCM Principal"), and OCM/GFI Power Opportunities Fund, L.P. ("OCM/GFI Power") (collectively, the "Funds"), are organized as Delaware limited partnerships. The principal offices of OCM/GFI Power and OCM Principal are located in Los Angeles, California. OCM Principal has hundreds, and OCM/GFI Power has dozens, of public and private investors, including corporate and public pension funds, cultural and charitable endowments or foundations, colleges, universities, and insurance companies. The Funds have invested in companies in the power and related industries. Their portfolios also include investments within the telecommunications industry, primarily in equipment manufacturing companies, foreign network service providers, and companies providing custom power supplies for telecommunications systems. Neither of the Funds, nor to their knowledge any of the entities in which they have invested, provides public utility services in Virginia or holds a CPCN.

Dearborn Holdings Corporation ("Holdings") is a Delaware corporation owned in equal 50% shares by the Funds, OCM/GFI Power and OCM Principal. Holdings does not provide public utility services and does not hold a CPCN in Virginia.

Dearborn Merger Sub, Inc. ("Merger Sub"), is a wholly owned subsidiary of Holdings and is a Delaware corporation. Merger Sub does not provide public utility services and does not hold a CPCN in Virginia. Merger Sub also will not be providing such services after the merger.

Oaktree Capital Management, LLC ("OCM"), is the sole General Partner of OCM Principal and one of two equal partners of OCM/GFI Power.¹ OCM is a California limited liability company with its principal office located in Los Angeles, California. OCM is registered as an investment advisor under the Investment Advisors Act of 1940 and manages approximately $26 billion on behalf of various public and private investors. OCM does not provide public utility services and does not hold a CPCN in Virginia.

Pursuant to an Agreement and Plan of Merger dated as of June 17, 2003, Merger Sub will merge with and into Infracource with Infracource as the surviving entity. Merger Sub's corporate existence will then cease.

After consummation of the transaction, 100% of the stock of Infracource will be owned by Holdings, resulting in Infracource becoming a wholly owned subsidiary of Holdings, which is owned by the Funds, which in turn are managed by OCM as General Partner. As General Partner, OCM will hold ultimate control of Sunesys VA. The purchase price for Infracource, including Sunesys VA and the other subsidiaries, is approximately $280 million, to be funded by a combination of debt and equity.

¹ GFI Ventures LLC, a California limited liability company, is the other equal General Partner in OCM/GFI Power. GFI Ventures LLC does not provide public utility services or hold a CPCN in Virginia.

The only change to Sunesys VA, the only entity certificated in Virginia involved in the proposed transaction, will be in its ultimate ownership and control. Sunesys VA represents that because it has not commenced operations in Virginia, the proposed transaction will not involve disruption, impairment, or other change in the entity providing services to customers, the facilities used to provide such services, or the rates, terms, and conditions of such services.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the petition and representations of the Petitioner and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described transfer of control will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 90 of the Code, Sunesys of Virginia, Inc., is hereby granted approval for the transfer of ultimate control of Sunesys of Virginia, Inc., from Exelon Corporation to Oaktree Capital Management, LLC, as described herein.
- (2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

SEPTEMBER 29, 2003

JOINT PETITION OF
VERIZON ADVANCED DATA-VIRGINIA INC.
and
VERIZON VIRGINIA INC.

For approval for Verizon Advanced Data-Virginia Inc. to transfer its remaining assets to Verizon Virginia Inc

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On July 16, 2003, Verizon Advanced Data-Virginia Inc. ("VADI-VA") and Verizon Virginia Inc. ("Verizon Virginia") (collectively the "Petitioners") filed a joint petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting approval, pursuant to the Utility Transfers Act, for VADI to transfer its remaining assets to Verizon Virginia.

VADI-VA is a Virginia public service company that holds certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide facilities-based and resold competitive local exchange and intraLATA interexchange telecommunications services in Virginia. VADI-VA owns the facilities used by Verizon Virginia to provide Digital Subscriber Line ("DSL") service. VADI-VA is a wholly owned subsidiary of Verizon Advanced Data Inc., which itself is a wholly owned subsidiary of Verizon Ventures III Inc. Verizon Virginia owns 35.81% of Verizon Ventures III Inc.

Verizon Virginia is a Virginia public service company that holds a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interLATA interexchange telecommunications services within its certificated territory in Virginia. Verizon Virginia is a wholly owned subsidiary of Verizon Communications Inc.

Pursuant to the Federal Communications Commission's ("FCC") June 16, 2000, Order granting approval of the merger of Bell Atlantic Corporation and GTE Corporation ("FCC Merger Order"), Verizon¹ was required to provide certain broadband packet data services ("Advanced Services") through a structurally separate affiliate.²

In accordance with the FCC Merger Order, Verizon Virginia and Verizon South completed the required filings to withdraw their tariffs for Advanced Services, including Frame Relay, SMDS, and ATM. VADI-VA obtained the necessary certifications, filed its tariffs, and began to offer Advanced Services in Virginia. In order to protect customers, VADI-VA agreed that existing customers at the time of transfer would continue to receive intrastate Advanced Services under the same terms and conditions offered by Verizon Virginia and Verizon South, and contracts were assigned accordingly. This enabled Verizon Virginia and Verizon South to satisfy the *Federal Merger Order*³ requirement that Advanced Services be provided through a separate subsidiary.

When the federal court reversed the requirement that Advanced Services be provided through a structurally separate affiliate, Verizon decided to reintegrate its operations pursuant to the transitional requirements contained in the Federal Merger Order. The Federal Merger Order specifically provided for the return of Advanced Services assets to the incumbent local exchange carrier in the event the FCC's order was not sustained on appeal. The Federal Merger Order further provides that, subject to certain sunset provisions, Verizon does not have to provide Advanced Services through a separate entity. In

² The FCC Merger Order defines "Advanced Services" as follows:

For purposes of these Conditions, the term "Advanced Services" means intrastate or interstate wireline telecommunications services, such as ADSL, IDSL, xDSL, Frame Relay, and asynchronous transfer mode ('ATM') that rely on packetized technology and have the capability of supporting transmission speeds of at least 56 kilobits per seconds in both directions. This definition of Advanced Services does not include: 1) data services that are not primarily based on packetized technology, such as ISDN, as well as comparable dial-up services such as Internet Protocol Routing Service and CyberPOP, (2) x.25-based and .75-based packet technologies, or (3) technology, protocols or speeds used for the transmission of such services.

³ "FCC Merger Order" and "Federal Merger Order" are used herein interchangeably.

addition, the FCC agreed to allow Verizon to begin the transition immediately. The FCC "conclude[d] that permitting Verizon to reintegrate VADI prior to the completion of the automatic sunset period is in the public interest and furthers the goal of promoting deployment of advanced services."

The Federal Merger Order sets certain transitional obligations that Verizon must follow for 48 months after June 30, 2000, to assure appropriate operational parity. Verizon Virginia and Verizon South represent that they are following these required procedures.

Verizon Virginia and VADI-VA now request approval to transfer the remaining assets of VADI-VA to Verizon Virginia at the net book value of the assets at the time of transfer. In accordance with the Asset Transfer Agreement between Verizon Virginia and VADI-VA, the remaining assets of VADI-VA will be transferred to Verizon Virginia at the net book value of $11,002,196.06, subject to a provision for true-up of the transferred assets and the associated transfer prices. These assets include line termination equipment, DSL switching equipment, and routers. VADI-VA, through its parent, Verizon Advanced Data Inc., and/or the parent of Verizon Advanced Data Inc., Verizon Ventures III Inc., shall at its election either distribute the assets as dividends or in redemption of the outstanding shares of Verizon Ventures III Inc. common stock held by Verizon Virginia. VADI-VA previously transferred the Advanced Services assets other than DSL assets to Verizon Virginia at net book value.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the transfer of the remaining assets of VADI-VA to Verizon Virginia, as described herein, will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, approval is hereby granted for the transfer of the remaining Advanced Services assets of VADI-VA to Verizon Virginia under the terms and conditions and for the purposes as described herein.
- (2) The approval granted herein shall have no ratemaking implications.
- (3) Petitioners shall file a report of the action taken pursuant to the authority granted herein within thirty (30) days of the transfer taking place. This deadline may be extended administratively by the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting. Such report shall include the date the transfer took place, the actual sales price, and a copy of the revised Schedule 1 of the Asset Transfer Agreement, if revisions to that schedule have been made since the petition was filed with the Commission.
- (4) Verizon Virginia shall include the transfer approved herein in its Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions submitted to the Director of Public Utility Accounting.
- (5) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it is hereby dismissed.

To cancel existing certificates and reissue certificates reflecting new name

FINAL ORDER

In its notice, C III recited that it had completed its name change by amending its State of Delaware certificate of formation on June 18, 2003, to reflect the name change and that it had filed the required documents to revise the Company name with the Clerk of the Commission. Therefore, C III requests the Commission make appropriate changes to its certificate of public convenience and necessity ("CPCN") to reflect its current name.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that CPCN No. TT-195A issued to C III should be reissued in the new corporate name, Broadwing Communications, LLC.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This case is docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00119.
- (2) Certificate of public convenience and necessity No. TT-195A for interexchange telecommunications services is cancelled and shall be reissued as amended Certificate No. TT-195B in the name of Broadwing Communications, LLC.
- (3) Broadwing shall file revised tariffs no later than sixty (60) days from the date of this Order with the Commission's Division of Communications that conform with all applicable Commission rules and regulations and that use Broadwing's name rather than that of C III.
- (4) There being nothing further to be done in this matter, this cause shall be removed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings and the papers filed herein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

NOVEMBER 18, 2003

JOINT PETITION OF
CTC COMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, INC.
and
COLUMBIA VENTURES BROADBAND LLC

For authority to transfer control

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY

On September 2, 2003, Columbia Ventures Broadband LLC ("CV Broadband") and CTC Communications of Virginia, Inc. ("CTC Virginia"), (collectively the "Petitioners"), completed a joint petition filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on August 19, 2003, requesting authority, pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), to consummate a series of transactions through which CV Broadband will acquire indirect control over CTC Virginia

CTC Virginia is a privately held Virginia corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia with its principal offices located in Waltham, Massachusetts. CTC Virginia is certificated to provide interexchange and local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia pursuant to Final Order dated October 27, 1998, in Case No. PUC-1998-00103. CTC Virginia provides interexchange and local exchange voice services, as well as data services, to business customers in Virginia. As of August 2003, CTC Virginia served 2,187 customers in Virginia. Since October 3, 2002, CTC Virginia has been operating under the United States Bankruptcy Code in a case pending in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware. CTC Virginia is a wholly owned subsidiary of CTC Communications Corp. ("CTC Communications"), a Massachusetts corporation. CTC Communications is wholly owned by CTC Communications Group, Inc. ("CTC Group"), a publicly held Delaware corporation with its principal offices located in Waltham, Massachusetts.

CV Broadband is a limited liability company organized and existing under the laws of the State of Washington. CV Broadband is a wholly owned subsidiary of Columbia Ventures Corporation ("CV Corp."), a Washington corporation with its principal offices located in Vancouver, Washington. CV Corp.'s various enterprises provide telecommunications services, which include fixed wireless, satellite, dark fiber and transoceanic fiber optic transmission.

The Petitioners request that the Commission grant authority to consummate a series of transactions through which CTC Virginia will emerge from bankruptcy. As a result of such transactions, CTC Virginia will become an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of CV Broadband and, therefore, an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of CV Broadband's parent, Columbia Ventures Corporation ("CV Corp.").

More specifically, the Petitioners propose a series of transactions whereby CV Broadband will acquire the common stock of CTC Group, as reorganized pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. CTC Group, CV Corp., and CV Broadband entered into an investment agreement dated August 6, 2003 ("Agreement"). The Agreement provides that CTC Group will file and execute a Plan of Reorganization ("Plan"), whereby the outstanding stock of CTC Group will be cancelled, and debts and obligations of CTC Group, CTC Communications, and CTC Virginia to existing creditors will be treated and discharged under the Plan. CTC Group will issue new shares of common stock to CV Broadband in return for thirty-two million dollars ($32 million). CTC Group will become a direct wholly owned subsidiary of CV Broadband, and CTC Virginia will become a wholly owned indirect subsidiary of CV Broadband.

Petitioners represent that the proposed transactions serve the public interest. The transactions will be completed at the holding company level, and CTC Virginia will continue to provide telecommunications services to customers in Virginia with no change in the rates, terms, or conditions of such services. The transactions will be entirely transparent with respect to services provided to CTC Virginia's customers and are not expected to materially change CTC Virginia's current management team. The Petitioners further represent that CV Broadband holds the technical, financial, and managerial qualifications to acquire control of CTC Virginia.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described transfer of control will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code, the Petitioners are hereby granted authority to consummate the transactions as described herein to allow CV Broadband to acquire indirect control of CTC Virginia.
- (2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

OCTOBER 16, 2003

PETITION OF
DSLNET COMMUNICATIONS VA, INC,

For authority for minority transfer of control

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY

On August 21, 2003, DSLnet Communications VA, Inc. ("DSLnet-VA"), filed a petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting authority pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("Code") to consummate a transaction through which Deutsche Bank AG London ("Deutsche Bank") may obtain a substantial indirect minority interest in DSL.net, Inc., and, therefore, DSLnet-VA.

DSLnet-VA is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia with its principal offices located in New Haven, Connecticut. DSLnet-VA is certificated to provide interexchange and local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia pursuant to Final Order dated July 28, 1999, in Case No. PUC-1999-00028. However, DSLnet-VA only provides digital subscriber line ("DSL") and other broadband services to approximately 2,650 customers in Virginia. DSLnet-VA is a wholly owned subsidiary of DSL.net, Inc., a publicly held Delaware corporation headquartered in New Haven, Connecticut.

DSL.net, Inc., is currently majority owned by VantagePoint Ventures Partners ("VPVP"), a collection of affiliated private investor funds. VPVP currently holds 65% majority interest in DSL.net, Inc.

Deutsche Bank is the London branch of Deutsche Bank AG and is registered as a foreign company in England and Wales. Deutsche Bank AG is incorporated as a German stock corporation with limited liability. Deutsche Bank AG is a widely held international service provider offering a broad range of banking, account-keeping, cash and securities investments, and asset management.

In the petition, DSLnet-VA requests approval to consummate a series of transactions through which Deutsche Bank may obtain a substantial indirect minority interest in DSL.net, Inc., and, therefore, DSLnet-VA. More specifically, DSLnet-VA requests approval for the proposed transactions that could result in Deutsche Bank acquiring up to 118 million shares of newly issued common stock in DSL.net, Inc. The transactions include debt issuance by DSL.net, Inc., as well as warrants, in the face amount of approximately $30 million. If such warrants are exercised, Deutsche Bank could hold up to a 37% minority interest in DSL.net, Inc., and, therefore, DSLnet-VA. VPVP's interest in DSL.net, Inc., could be reduced below 50% as a result of the proposed transactions.

DSLnet-VA represents that the proposed transactions serve the public interest and will be completed at the holding company level. DSLnet-VA will continue to provide DSL and other broadband services to customers with no change in rates, terms, or conditions. DSLnet-VA further represents that the transactions will be entirely transparent with respect to services provided to its customers and are not expected to materially change DSLnet-VA's current management structure.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the petition and representations of DSLnet-VA and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described transfer of control of DSLnet-VA will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and -90 of the Code, DSLnet-VA is hereby granted authority to consummate the transactions as described herein, which may result in a transfer of control of DSLnet-VA to Deutsche Bank.
- (2) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

OCTOBER 16, 2003

APPLICATION OF
VIRGINIA GLOBAL COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS, INC.

For suspension of requirement to file a continuous performance or surety bond

ORDER

On September 10, 2003, Virginia Global Communications Systems, Inc. ("Virginia Global" or "Company"), filed a letter requesting that the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") postpone the requirement that it file with the Commission's Division of Economics and Finance a continuous performance or surety bond in the amount of $50,000. See Ordering Paragraph (5) of the Commission's May 19, 2003, Order in Case No. PUC-2000-00121.

The Company's letter explains that it has cancelled its Va. S.C.C. tariff No. 1, effective September 15, 2003. It asks that the bond requirement be postponed until such time as it has another tariff in effect and begins to market to the public. The Commission's Staff advises that this cancellation of the Company's tariff effectively prevents the Company from offering intrastate telecommunications services to the general public in Virginia. As revealed to Staff, the Company is left with only a single user of its DSL service,¹ its affiliate, Rockbridge Global Village, an Internet service provider.

The Commission considers the actions of Virginia Global as sufficient to protect the public from any of the financial harms that would typically be covered by a continuous performance or a surety bond. Until such time as Virginia Global files a new tariff that would permit it to offer intrastate telecommunications services to the public, only its affiliate, Rockbridge Global Village, is at risk for any failure or disruption in Virginia Global's DSL service. In compliance with the Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Customers, 20 VAC 5-417-80, we find that the requirement to furnish a continuous performance or surety bond can be suspended until Virginia Global seeks to offer intrastate telecommunications services to the public by filing a new tariff.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This matter is docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00145.
- (2) The requirement that Virginia Global file a continuous performance bond or a surety bond is suspended until Virginia Global seeks to offer intrastate telecommunications services to the general public by filing a new tariff.
- (3) This matter is closed, and the papers filed herein shall be placed in the file for ended causes.

NOVEMBER 3, 2003

APPLICATION OF
MFN OF VA, L.L.C.

To cancel existing certificates of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services and to reissue certificates reflecting the corporate name change

FINAL ORDER

On June 26, 1998, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered an Order in Case No. PUC-1998-00047, which granted MFN of VA, L.L.C. ("MFNVA" or the "Company"), a certificate of public convenience and necessary, No. TT-53A, to provide interexchange telecommunications services and a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-413, to provide local exchange telecommunications services.

On September 16, 2003, the Company petitioned the Commission to amend its certificates to reflect a change of its corporate name to AboveNet of VA, L.L.C. Apparently, all other information regarding the Company remains unchanged.

In its Petition, the Company attached a copy of its Articles of Amendment that it had filed with the Commission on August 27, 2003, reflecting the change of its name from MFN of VA, L.L.C., to AboveNet of VA, L.L.C.

NOW, UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the certificates of public convenience and necessity, Nos. TT-53A and T-413, issued to MFN of VA, L.L.C., should be cancelled; and certificates of public convenience and necessity should be reissued to AboveNet of VA, L.L.C., reflecting the new name of that corporation.

Accordingly, IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This matter is hereby docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00146.
- (2) Certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. TT-53A, issued to MFN of VA, L.L.C., is hereby cancelled.

(5) Certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-413a, is hereby issued to AboveNet of VA, L.L.C., authorizing it to provide local exchange telecommunications services.

(6) AboveNet of VA, L.L.C., shall file revised tariffs no later than sixty (60) days from the date of this Order with the Commission's Division of Communications that conform with all applicable Commission rules and regulations and which use AboveNet of VA, L.L.C.'s name rather than that of MFN of VA, L.L.C.

APPLICATION OF
U S WEST INTERPRISE AMERICA OF VIRGINIA, INC.

To cancel existing certificates and reissue certificates reflecting new name

FINAL ORDER

By letter application filed September 29, 2003, U S West Interprise America of Virginia, Inc. ("U S West" or the "Company"), informed the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") that it had changed its corporate name to Qwest Interprise America of Virginia, Inc.¹

In its notice, U S West recited that it had filed Articles of Amendment reflecting a change of corporate name on June 30, 2000. Although U S West failed to request the cancellation of its certificates of public convenience and necessity ("CPCNs") issued in its name and the reissuance of CPCNs reflecting its new name, we take notice that this should be done.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that CPCN Nos. T-464 and TT-79A, issued to U S West Interprise America of Virginia, Inc., should be cancelled, and CPCNs should be reissued in the new corporate name, Qwest Interprise America of Virginia, Inc.

¹ U S West was granted certificates of public convenience and necessity No. T-464 to provide local exchange telecommunications services and No. TT-79A to provide interexchange telecommunications services on October 14, 1999, in Case No. PUC-1999-00063. It should also be noted that while the Company's name filed with the Clerk of the Commission reflected "Interprise," the CPCNs were issued under the name U S West Interprise America of Virginia, Inc.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This case is docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00149.
- (2) Certificate of public convenience and necessity No. T-464 for local exchange telecommunications services is cancelled and shall be reissued as amended Certificate No. T-464a in the name of Qwest Interprise America of Virginia, Inc.

By letter application filed October 3, 2003, Broadwing requested that the Commission cancel its certificate because of the transfer of substantially all of its assets and customers to C III Communications Operation, LLC ("C III"). On October 23, 2002, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") issued a Final Order in Case No. PUC-2002-00122 ("Final Order"), which granted Xspedius Management Co. of Virginia, LLC ("Xspedius" or "Company"), a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("CPCN"), No. T-592, to provide local exchange telecommunications services and CPCN No. TT-182A to provide interexchange telecommunications services. Pursuant to the Final Order, Xspedius was ordered to: notify the division of Economics and Finance thirty (30) days prior to the cancellation or lapse of its Bond and shall provide a replacement bond. This requirement shall be maintained until such time as the Staff or Commission determines it is no longer necessary.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

(Final Order, Ordering Paragraph (6)).

On October 10, 2003, Xspedius, by counsel, filed in the above-captioned case a Motion to Reopen Proceeding and Substitute Bond ("Motion"). The Company reports that it has on file a $50,000 Continuous License or Permit Bond ("Original Bond"). The Original Bond was issued by Greenwich Insurance Company, which served as a corporate surety on the Original Bond (Bond No. 45039987). The Company reports that it is no longer practical for Greenwich Insurance Company to serve as surety for Xspedius' Original Bond and that Xspedius has secured a replacement License or Permit Bond ("Replacement Bond")¹ with Travelers Casualty and Surety Company of America serving as its corporate surety (Bond No. 104133318). Xspedius requests leave to file the Replacement Bond in substitution and have the Original Bond revoked.

The Commission, having reviewed the Motion and examined the Replacement Bond, finds that the Motion should be granted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Case No. PUC-2002-00122 shall not be reopened, and this current matter shall be docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00152.
- (2) Xspedius is hereby granted leave to provide to the Commission's Division of Economics and Finance ("Division") the Replacement Bond, as evidenced in its Motion, in substitution of the Original Bond on file with the Division.
- (3) Upon Xspedius filing the Replacement Bond, the Company shall be authorized to revoke the Original Bond.
- (4) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this case shall be dismissed and the papers filed herein placed in the file for ended causes.

¹ A copy of the Replacement Bond is attached to the Motion as Exhibit A.

APPLICATION OF
JONES TELECOMMUNICATIONS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

To cancel existing certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services and to reissue certificate reflecting the corporate name change

FINAL ORDER

On June 28, 1996, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered an Order in Case No. PUC-1996-00003 that granted Jones Telecommunications of Virginia, Inc. ("Jones VA" or the "Company"), a certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-362, to provide local exchange telecommunications services subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Offering of Competitive Local Exchange Telephone Service (as codified in 20 VAC 5-400-180), § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions of the June 28, 1996, Order.¹

On October 23, 2003, Jones VA notified the Commission that it intends to effectuate its change of name to Comcast Phone of Northern Virginia, Inc. It noted that all other information regarding the Company remains unchanged.

In its notice, Jones VA stated that it had filed Articles of Amendment with the Commission to change its name from Jones Telecommunications of Virginia, Inc., to Comcast Phone of Northern Virginia, Inc., and that on September 16, 2003, the Commission issued a Certificate of Amendment changing its corporate name to Comcast Phone of Northern Virginia, Inc. Jones VA has requested the cancellation of the certificate issued in its name and the reissuance of a certificate reflecting the new name.

NOW, UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the certificate of public convenience and necessity, No. T-362, issued to Jones VA, should be cancelled; and a certificate of public convenience and necessity should be reissued to Comcast Phone of Northern Virginia, Inc., reflecting the new name of that corporation.

Accordingly, IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This matter is hereby docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00157.
- (2) Certificate of public convenience and necessity No. T-362, issued to Jones VA, is hereby cancelled.

¹ The application of Jones VA, filed with the Commission on October 23, 2003, incorrectly references Case No. PUC-2000-00294. When notified of this error, counsel for Jones VA indicated via e-mail that Jones VA's certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide local exchange telecommunications services was granted in Case No. PUC-1996-00003, not Case No. PUC-2000-00294. A copy of the e-mail is attached to the Memorandum of Completeness.

(3) Certificate of public convenience and necessity No. T-362a is hereby issued to Comcast Phone of Northern Virginia, Inc., authorizing it to provide local exchange telecommunications services, subject to the restrictions set forth in the Commission's Rules Governing the Certification and Regulation of Competitive Local Exchange Carriers (codified in 20 VAC 5-417-10 et seq.), § 56-265.4:4 of the Code of Virginia, and the provisions previously set out in the Commission's June 28, 1996, Final Order in Case No. PUC-1996-00003.

(4) Comcast Phone of Northern Virginia, Inc., shall file revised tariffs no later than sixty (60) days from the date of this Order with the Commission's Division of Communications that conform with all applicable Commission rules and regulations and which use Comcast Phone of Northern Virginia, Inc.'s name rather than that of Jones VA.

(5) There being nothing further to be done in this matter, this case shall be removed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings and the papers filed herein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

On October 22, 2003, Dominion Resources, Inc. ("Dominion"), DFV Capital Corporation ("DFVCC"), DT Services, Inc. DFVLLC is a limited liability company organized under the laws of the state of Delaware. DFVLLC is a partially owned direct subsidiary of DFVCC and DTSI, both of which are wholly owned direct subsidiaries of Dominion. DFVCC is a Delaware corporation with its office located in Richmond, Virginia. The Commission approved the transactions by Order Granting Approval dated February 15, 2001, in Case No. PUA-2000-00103.

The Petitioners request approval to consummate Transactions involving a transfer of membership interest through which control of DFVLLC will be transferred from BRTT to a Dominion subsidiary. More specifically, the Petitioners propose Transactions that would allow DFVCC or DTSI to acquire, in exchange for cash in the amount of BRTT's original investment, BRTT's Class A membership interest in DFVLLC, thereby giving Dominion indirect ownership of 100% of the membership interests in DFVLLC, and, therefore, DTI.

The purpose of the proposed Transactions is to allow Dominion to gain full control of DTI, which would then allow Dominion to negotiate and consummate the sale of DTI. The Petitioners represent that none of the Transactions will have an adverse impact on the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates. Rates will not change, and the Transactions will be transparent to DTI's customers. The Petitioners further represent that the Transactions will not in any way diminish the financial, technical, and managerial fitness of DTI. The acquiring entity's source of funds for the acquisition will be external to DTI. There will be no change in DTI's daily operations. The Petitioners also represent that DTI will continue to abide by its approved tariffs and contracts, and it will continue to fulfill its obligations to customers and to all regulatory bodies.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described transfer of control will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code, the Petitioners are hereby granted authority to consummate the transactions as described herein to allow Dominion Resources, Inc., to acquire indirect control of Dominion Telecom, Inc.
- (2) The Petitioners shall submit a report of the action taken pursuant to the approval granted herein to the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting within thirty (30) days of consummation of Transactions, subject to administrative extension by the Director of Public Utility Accounting. Such report shall include the date Transactions took place.
- (3) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

DECEMBER 15, 2003

PETITION OF NTELOS INC.,
NTELOS TELEPHONE INC.,
and
NTELOS COMMUNICATIONS INC,

For authority to transfer common stock ownership and control

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY

On November 6, 2003, NTELOS Inc. ("NTELOS"), NTELOS Telephone Inc. ("NTELOS Telephone"), and NTELOS Communications Inc. ("NTELOS Communications") (collectively, the "Petitioners") completed a petition filed on October 29, 2003, pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 86 of the Code of Virginia ("Code").¹ The Petitioners request authority to transfer the common stock ownership and control of NTELOS Telephone from NTELOS to NTELOS Communications. The Petitioners, along with other subsidiaries of NTELOS, emerged from bankruptcy on September 9, 2003. The purpose of the transfer is to minimize the post-bankruptcy effect of certain tax accounting requirements on NTELOS Telephone.

NTELOS is a Virginia corporation headquartered in Waynesboro, Virginia, and its subsidiaries provide integrated communications services in Virginia and five other states.

NTELOS Telephone is a Virginia public service company providing local exchange telecommunications services in Allegheny and Augusta Counties, the Town of Clifton Forge, and the Cities of Covington and Waynesboro. NTELOS Telephone provides local exchange telecommunications services to approximately 40,000 access lines and is a wholly owned subsidiary of NTELOS Inc.

NTELOS Communications is a Virginia corporation formed to hold several communications companies.²

On March 4, 2003, NTELOS and certain of its subsidiaries, including NTELOS Telephone and NTELOS Communications, filed in the Bankruptcy Court for the Eastern District of Virginia (the "Bankruptcy Court"), a petition under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code through which a reorganization of NTELOS could be accomplished. Following Commission approval of the restructuring of NTELOS by Order dated August 8, 2003, in Case No. PUC-2003-00100 and subsequent approval of its Joint Plan of Reorganization (the "Joint Plan") by the Bankruptcy Court, NTELOS and its subsidiaries, including NTELOS Telephone and NTELOS Communications, emerged from bankruptcy on September 9, 2003. The Joint Plan's terms accepted by the Bankruptcy Court allowed for, among other things, the cancellation of certain debt obligations resulting in the net discharge, for income tax purposes, of approximately $183 million.

On August 29, 2003, the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") issued new temporary regulations governing the impact of the discharge of debt in bankruptcy for a corporation that files a consolidated federal income tax return. The new regulations, which were issued without notice and without an opportunity to comment, alter the potential impact of the discharge of NTELOS' debt that occurred when NTELOS' Joint Plan became effective on September 9, 2003. Before the new regulations were issued, the discharge of NTELOS' debt would have had no impact on tax attributes, such as the income tax basis of assets, of NTELOS Telephone. However, the new regulations could cause a significant reduction in the income tax basis of NTELOS Telephone's assets. This reduction in basis would reduce tax deductions for depreciation, thus increasing NTELOS Telephone's taxable income over the remaining periods for depreciating those assets for federal income tax purposes. As a result, its income tax expense would increase substantially. Because income tax expense is a component of cost of service, NTELOS Telephone's cost of providing service also would increase. The Petitioners represent that if, however, NTELOS transfers ownership of the NTELOS Telephone stock to another wholly owned subsidiary, NTELOS Communications, before January 1, 2004, the adverse consequences to NTELOS Telephone can be avoided.

The Petitioners, therefore, request authority to transfer the common stock ownership and control of NTELOS Telephone from NTELOS to NTELOS Communications. The Petitioners state that NTELOS Communications would not have to reduce the tax basis of any of its assets because of its existing net operating losses. Therefore, the basis of the NTELOS Telephone stock and the basis of its assets would not be reduced. Accordingly, the transfer of NTELOS Telephone stock should put NTELOS Telephone in the same tax position it would have occupied had the new regulations not been issued. Also, the debt discharge in the NTELOS bankruptcy would not have any impact on NTELOS Telephone's tax attributes or cost of service. By accomplishing the proposed transfer of stock ownership, the Petitioners estimate that NTELOS Telephone can avoid a tax cost of approximately $6.2 million without any change in the rates, terms, and conditions of service to its customers.

² NTELOS Communications Inc. was incorporated on June 23, 1988, as CFW Cellular Inc. On March 21, 1997, CFW Cellular Inc. filed Articles of Amendment with the Commission to change its name to CFW Wireless Inc. On December 6, 2000, CFW Wireless Inc. filed Articles of Amendment with the Commission to change its name to NTELOS Wireless Inc. On October 20, 2003, NTELOS Wireless Inc. filed Articles of Amendment with the Commission to change its name to NTELOS Communications Inc.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the transfer of the stock ownership of NTELOS Telephone from NTELOS to NTELOS Communications, as described herein, will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and is in the public interest and should, therefore, be authorized.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Pursuant to §§ 56-77,56-88.1, and 56-90 of the Code of Virginia, authority is hereby granted for the transfer of the common stock ownership of NTELOS Telephone from NTELOS to NTELOS Communications as described herein.

(2) The authority granted herein shall have no ratemaking implications.

(3) The authority granted herein shall not preclude the Commission from exercising the provisions of §§ 56-78 and 56-80 of the Code hereafter.

(4) The Commission reserves the authority to examine the books and records of any affiliate in connection with the authority granted herein whether or not the Commission otherwise regulates such affiliate.

(5) The authority granted herein shall not be deemed to include any authority other than that specifically granted in Ordering Paragraph (1) above.

(6) The Petitioners shall submit a report of the action taken pursuant to the authority granted herein to the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting within thirty (30) days of the transaction taking place, subject to administrative extension by the Director of Public Utility Accounting. The report shall provide the date the transfer took place.

(7) The transaction authorized herein shall be included in NTELOS Telephone's Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions submitted to the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting by April 1 of each year, subject to administrative extension by the Director of Public Utility Accounting.

(8) If Annual Informational and/or General Rate Case Filings are not based on a calendar year, then NTELOS Telephone shall include the affiliate information contained in the Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions in such filings.

(9) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

DECEMBER 23, 2003

JOINT PETITION OF PROGRESS TELECOM VIRGINIA, LLC, PROGRESS TELECOM, LLC,
PROGRESS TELECOMMUNICATIONS CORPORATION,
CARONET, INC.,
EPIK COMMUNICATIONS, INCORPORATED,
and
ODYSSEY TELECORP, INC.

For approval of transfer of control of Progress Telecom Virginia, LLC, to Odyssey Telecorp, Inc.

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On November 12, 2003, Progress Telecom Virginia, LLC ("PTC VA"), Progress Telecom, LLC ("PTC"), Progress Telecommunications Corporation ("Old PTC"), Caronet, Inc. ("Caronet"), EPIK Communications, Incorporated ("EPIK"), and Odyssey Telecorp, Inc. ("Odyssey") (collectively the "Petitioners"), completed a joint petition filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on November 5, 2003, requesting approval pursuant to Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), to consummate a series of transactions involving a transfer of membership interest through which control of PTC, and thereby PTC VA, will be transferred to Odyssey through its subsidiary, EPIK.

PTC VA is a limited liability company organized and existing under the laws of Virginia. PTC VA is certificated to provide local exchange and interexchange telecommunications services in Virginia pursuant to Case No. PUC-2002-00084 by Order dated July 16, 2002. PTC VA provides wireless infrastructure, collocation and dark fibers, and wholesale broadband telecommunications services to wireless and international telecommunications carriers, long distance companies, Internet service providers, enterprise customers, and competitive local exchange carriers ("CLECs"). PTC VA currently provides interstate telecommunications services to six customers in Virginia. PTC VA is a wholly owned direct subsidiary of PTC.

PTC is a partially owned direct subsidiary of Old PTC and Caronet, both of which are wholly owned indirect subsidiaries of Progress Energy, Inc. ("Progress").

EPIK is a corporation organized and existing under the laws in the state of Delaware and is a wholly owned subsidiary of Odyssey, a holding company. Both companies are located at 44 High Street, Suite 400, Palo Alto, California. EPIK is authorized to provide telecommunications services in the state of Georgia, and an affiliate of EPIK, EPIK Latin America, holds domestic and international telecommunications authorizations granted by the Federal Communications Commission. EPIK provides wireless infrastructure, collocation and dark fiber, and wholesale broadband telecommunications services to wireless and international telecommunications carriers, long distance companies, Internet service providers, enterprise customers, and CLECs. EPIK provides its telecommunications services by means of a high capacity fiber optic network primarily in the southeast United States.

On November 3, 2003, the Petitioners entered into an agreement, pursuant to which Old PTC, Caronet, and EPIK will contribute certain assets, including customer contracts and telecommunications facilities, to PTC in return for which PTC will issue membership interests. More specifically, Old PTC will hold 55% membership interest, Caronet will hold 5% membership interest, and EPIK will hold 40% membership interest in PTC. Additionally, Odyssey will acquire Caronet, including Caronet's 5% membership interest in PTC, from Progress Energy in return for cash. Upon consummation of the transactions, PTC, and therefore indirectly PTC VA, will be 55% owned by Old PTC and 45% owned by Odyssey through its new subsidiary, Caronet, and its existing subsidiary, EPIK.

The Petitioners represent that PTC VA will continue to possess the managerial, technical, and financial qualifications to provide telecommunications services in Virginia. Neither EPIK nor Odyssey will be directly involved in the daily operations of PTC VA. The Petitioners further represent that they do not expect any significant changes in PTC VA's current management structure, which will continue to oversee its daily operations.

THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the joint petition and representations of the Petitioners and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described transfer of control will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code, the Petitioners are hereby granted approval to consummate the transactions as described herein to allow for the transfer of a 45% membership interest in PTC, thus indirectly in PTC VA, to Odyssey.
- (2) The Petitioners shall submit a report of the action taken pursuant to the approval granted herein to the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting within thirty (30) days of consummation of the transactions, subject to administrative extension by the Director of Public Utility Accounting. Such report shall include the date transactions took place.
- (3) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.

DECEMBER 12, 2003

APPLICATION OF
ONESTAR COMMUNICATIONS, LLC

For approval to discontinue local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia and cancel certificate of public convenience and necessity

ORDER PERMITTING DISCONTINUANCE OF SERVICE AND CANCELLATION OF ITS CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY

On December 1, 2003, OneStar Communications, LLC ("OneStar" or the "Company"), filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting Commission approval to discontinue its provision of local exchange telecommunications services to customers in Virginia.¹ In its application, OneStar states that its decision to discontinue local exchange telecommunications services in Virginia is due to recent developments in its relationship with Verizon Virginia Inc., as well as in OneStar's business plans and strategies. OneStar has discontinued all local service sales efforts in Virginia and has notified its approximately 355 local service customers of its plans to discontinue service. Pursuant to the Commission's Rules Governing the Discontinuance of Local Exchange Telecommunications Services Provided by Competitive Local Exchange Carriers ("Rules"), 5 VAC 5-423-20, the Company sent a letter on November 12, 2003, to all of its customers informing them that it would no longer provide local telephone service to them as of December 12, 2003.² Pursuant to the Commission's Order in Case No. PUC-2003-00097, OneStar notified the Staff on December 8, 2003, that it continued to provide local exchange telecommunications services to approximately 211 customers in Virginia.

The Commission's primary concern with authorizing any discontinuance of telecommunications services is that adequate notice to customers be provided. The Commission's rules regarding discontinuance, 20 VAC 5-423-20, require, among other things, that an application provide at least 30 days' written notice of a proposed discontinuation of services. OneStar's application meets the requirements of the Commission's Rules.

NOW THE COMMISSION, being sufficiently advised, will grant the requested discontinuance of local exchange telecommunications services and cancellation of OneStar's CPCN to provide local exchange telecommunications services.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) This matter is docketed and assigned Case No. PUC-2003-00179.
- (2) OneStar is hereby granted authority to discontinue its provision of local exchange telecommunications services to its residential and business customers in Virginia, effective December 12, 2003.
- (3) OneStar's local exchange CPCN, T-581, is hereby cancelled as of December 13, 2003.
- (4) There being nothing further to come before the Commission in this matter, this case shall be closed, and the papers herein shall be placed in the file for ended causes.

v.

AUBON WATER COMPANY

ORDER MAKING FINAL CERTAIN INTERIM RATES AND EMERGENCY SURCHARGE AND CLOSING DOCKETS EXCEPT THE RECEIVERSHIP

By Order entered on January 2, 2003, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") consolidated docketed Case Nos. PUE-1998-00628,¹ PUE-1999-00002,² PUE-2000-00567,³ and PUE-2001-00072⁴ for the purpose of calling for reports by the appointed Receiver of Aubon Water Company ("Receiver") and the Commission's Staff on Aubon's operations and to conduct a hearing to determine when certain emergency rates implemented by the Receiver should be made permanent. The Commission directed the Receiver to file his report updating the Commission on all actions undertaken by the Receiver on Aubon's behalf. The Commission further directed the Staff to review the actions taken by the Receiver and investigate the need for the emergency rate relief previously granted to be made permanent. A hearing examiner was appointed to conduct further proceedings in these consolidated cases.

On February 5, 2003, a hearing was convened and the reports filed by the Receiver and Staff were accepted into evidence. Following the conclusion of the hearing, the Hearing Examiner issued separate Reports in all pending cases. No comments to any of the Reports have been received.

On February 14, 2003, separate Reports by Michael D. Thomas, Hearing Examiner, were filed in Case Nos. PUE-1998-00628 and PUE-1999-00002.

The Hearing Examiner noted from the reports received into evidence on February 5, 2003, that Staff and the parties recommended that Case No. PUE-1998-00628 be closed, as the water treatment facility required by the Commission's Settlement Order of December 16, 1998, had been built and was operational. The Hearing Examiner now recommends that the Commission enter an Order closing Case No. PUE-1998-00628. The Commission finds that the recommendation should be accepted and so ordered.

² In Case No. PUE-1999-00002, pursuant to Final Order entered December 17, 1999, the Commission approved a rate increase for Aubon which included a component to fund the construction of the water treatment facility for Long Island Estates.

Aubon's general rates remain approved on an interim basis, as approved by Final Order entered December 17, 1999, in Case No. PUE-1999-00002.⁵ A condition for the general rate increase ordered on December 17, 1999, was that Aubon would maintain an escrow account to accumulate rate revenues to finance the Long Island Estates water treatment facility. By Order entered March 1, 2001, in Case No. PUE-2001-00072, the Commission found that Aubon had been grossly mismanaged and had failed to comply with the Commission's aforesaid Final Order in Case No. PUE-1999-00002 and appointed a Receiver to assume control of Aubon and manage the day-to-day operations of the Company. Thus, Case No. PUE-1999-00002 remained open while the Receiver attempted to fulfill the requirements and objectives of the Final Order in Case No. PUE-1999-00002, to bring a water treatment facility on line for Long Island Estates customers. The Hearing Examiner noted from the reports of the Receiver and Staff, accepted on February 5, 2003, that based upon the aforesaid completed financing and installation of the Long Island Estates treatment facility, Case No. PUE-1999-00002 should be closed and the interim rates made final. The Hearing Examiner recommends that the Commission enter an Order closing Aubon's general rate case in Case No. PUE-1999-00002, thus eliminating the outstanding requirement that the Company maintain a separate escrow account. The Commission finds that the recommendation of the Hearing Examiner should be accepted and it is so ordered.

On February 21, 2003, the Report of Michael D. Thomas, Hearing Examiner, was filed in Case No. PUE-2000-00567. The Hearing Examiner noted from the Staff Report received in evidence on February 5, 2003, that Staff recommended that the Stipulation on Recommended Case Settlement, filed September 13, 2000 ("Stipulation"), in Case No. PUE-2000-00567 be approved by the Commission and that this case be closed. The Hearing Examiner concluded that the Stipulation represented a reasonable means to settle the issue of the under-funded escrow account and recommends that the Commission enter an Order approving the Stipulation and closing Case No. PUE-2000-00567. The Commission now finds the recommendation of the Hearing Examiner should be accepted and it is so ordered.

There now remains open the Receivership docket in Case No. PUE-2001-00072.⁶ During the hearing convened on February 5, 2003, the Hearing Examiner heard testimony on the current condition of Aubon's water systems and called for the record made in the hearing to be supplemented with evidence of the Virginia Department of Health Groundwater Systems Sanitary Survey Reports ("VDH Reports") assessing the condition of Aubon Water Company's water systems. The Hearing Examiner also called for a supplemental Staff Report to be filed which would provide an agreed calculation of an increased surcharge for Long Island Estates customers to cover engineering expenses not financed by the loan that were identified by the Receiver and Staff in the hearing. On March 3, 2003, the VDH Reports and supplemental Staff Report were admitted into the record of Case No. PUE-2001-00072 as Exhibits 4 and 5 respectively.

On March 12, 2003, the Report of Michael D. Thomas, Hearing Examiner, was filed in Case No. PUE-2001-00072 ("Hearing Examiner Report"). The Hearing Examiner Report identifies four major issues which the Hearing Examiner considers remaining before the Commission: (1) whether to approve the Petrus Petition to acquire Aubon; (2) whether to approve the surcharge that was filed on an emergency basis; (3) whether to increase the surcharge for one year to pay off the amount owed to Spectrum for engineering services provided on the water treatment facility; and (4) whether to continue this case so that all matters related to the receivership estate may be heard in one case for matters of judicial economy. We will address the Hearing Examiner Report in that order.

The Hearing Examiner concludes from the Receiver's Report⁷ and Staff Report that, notwithstanding the interim general rate increase and emergency surcharge in effect, the Receiver still lacks sufficient revenue to operate Aubon's three water systems remaining after the sale of the Company's Franklin Heights system to the Town of Rocky Mount. The Hearing Examiner agrees with the Receiver (Petrus) that the Commission should continue to defer ruling on the Petrus Petition until the Receiver has obtained adequate rates to support Aubon's current operations. The Hearing Examiner recommends that ruling on the Petrus Petition be deferred and the Commission accepts this recommendation.

The Hearing Examiner recommends adoption of surcharges to Long Island Estates customers as calculated in his Report. The initial emergency surcharge for the Long Island Estates customers first approved by the Commission, derived from the Receiver's formula for monthly calculation based upon customers served, was $12.34. The Hearing Examiner found that the customer notice given to the Long Island Estates customers informed that the "[s]urcharge may be adjusted per billing cycle using the above formula based on changes in the number of connected customers, or revisions to the construction costs."⁸ Subsequent revisions to the engineering design of the Long Island Estates water treatment plant (i.e., increasing the filter size from a 30-inch filter to a 42-inch filter) which VDH required, meant that the total amount of the loan obtained rose from a projected $93,671.00 to $141,000.00. However, certain engineering design services performed by Spectrum to engineer the system were still not included in the increased loan amount of $141,000.00, which the Hearing Examiner explained was not the fault of the Receiver.⁹ The Hearing Examiner found that Aubon is presently collecting a monthly surcharge of $18.59 from its Long Island Estates customers, based upon the emergency surcharge formula approved. The Hearing Examiner recommends that this surcharge be increased by an additional $6.58 per month (as calculated by Staff in Ex. 5) for a period of one year to fully pay Spectrum for design expenses that were excluded from the loan. Thereafter, the Hearing Examiner recommends that a monthly surcharge of $18.59 be imposed on the Long Island Estates customers until the loan is paid off.

At the hearing on February 5, 2003, the Staff expressed concerns over the adequacy of notice given to support the Hearing Examiner's then-contemplated two-phase surcharge. The Hearing Examiner later reviewed the Notice of Surcharge given the Long Island Estates customers and concluded

⁶ In addition to the Commission's review of the receivership, there also remains pending in this docket Petrus Environmental Services' Petition to Acquire Aubon Water Company ("Petrus Petition"). The Receiver has requested that the Commission continue to hold the Petrus Petition under consideration until adequate rates are in place to support Aubon's operating expenses. (See Report of Michael D. Thomas, Hearing Examiner, Discussion at p. 7, filed March 12, 2003, Case No. PUE-2001-00072.)

⁷ See Financial Summary of the Receiver's Report.

⁸ Hearing Examiner Report at p. 8.

⁹ The debt to Spectrum that was not included in the loan dates back to when Mr. Boone, Aubon's President, operated the system. The Virginia Department of Health was prohibited from including these costs which were not competitively bid and thus could not be financed without violating applicable Federal bid procedures.

that it adequately informed these customers that they would be responsible for paying off the total cost of the water treatment facility. Specifically, the Hearing Examiner found that these customers were notified that the cost of the facility might increase because of required engineering changes.¹⁰

The Hearing Examiner determined the recommended one-year surcharge necessary to pay off Spectrum by crediting the accumulated surcharges previously collected (in the amount of $5,391.63) against the amount outstanding owed to Spectrum in the sum of $9,103.98 (including finance charges of $849.23), leaving $3,712.35 to be paid off in one year by the Long Island Estates customers. This amount is found by the Hearing Examiner to satisfy the unfinanced Spectrum debt and minimize further interest charges. The Hearing Examiner relied upon Staff's calculation (Ex. 5) of an additional monthly surcharge of $6.58 for one year to achieve this result, which was made by Staff in response to instructions by the Hearing Examiner given at the hearing. Thus, the Hearing Examiner recommended that the Receiver be authorized to use the accumulated excess amounts collected since the surcharge was first placed into effect to reduce the outstanding debt owed to Spectrum. Secondly, the Hearing Examiner recommended that the Commission authorize a surcharge of $25.17 for the period of April 1, 2003, through March 31, 2004, adjusted monthly for the number of customers actually served by the Long Island Estates water system. Thereafter, the Hearing Examiner recommended that the emergency surcharge be calculated by the formula previously approved (revised in the Hearing Examiner's Report to reflect monthly billing cycles) and assessed to the Long Island Estates customers until the loan is paid off.

The Commission finds that the Hearing Examiner was correct when he concluded that the Long Island Estates customers were adequately notified that the surcharge could change based on changes in the total cost of the project and the number of customers subject to the surcharge. Therefore, notice was given for the recovery in surcharge rates of both the financed portion of $141,000 as well as engineering design of $3,712.35, which was not included as part of the loan but is, nevertheless, a proper element of the cost of the project as the Hearing Examiner stated. The Commission finds, however, that the notice given by the Receiver did not indicate in any way that the 20-year period over which the costs would be recovered was subject to change as contemplated in the recommended two-phase recovery. Accordingly, the Commission finds that the unfinanced expense of $3,712.35 should be added to the financed amount of $141,000 to be recovered in a single surcharge. The surcharge should be collected from the Long Island Estates customers over the 20-year term of the loan, which is consistent with the customer notice given by the Receiver. Thus, the surcharge for the Long Island Estates customers is authorized at $18.92, adjusted monthly for the number of customers actually served by the Long Island Estates water system.

Having determined that the complete costs of the Long Island Estates water treatment facility will be recovered through a single surcharge to the Long Island Estates customers over the 20-year term of the financing loan, we next address Staff's recommended accelerated depreciation rate to be applied to this treatment facility. Staff recommends that the Commission require the Long Island Estates treatment facility be depreciated at a rate of 5%, as opposed to the composite rate of 3% generally applied to all plant. This would match the 20-year period of the loan to properly reflect the capital recovery period. Otherwise, Staff notes that a longer depreciation period (i.e., 3% rate) would result in all ratepayers funding more than the cost of the treatment plant. While the Receiver urged the Hearing Examiner at the hearing to apply the 3% depreciation rate to the treatment facility, we find no evidence or persuasive reasoning given in support of the Receiver's request. Accordingly, the Commission finds the depreciation rate for the Long Island Estates treatment facility should be booked at the annual rate of 5% as recommended by Staff.

Finally, the Hearing Examiner recommends that Case No. PUE-2001-00072 be continued to receive additional reporting by the Receiver as recommended by Staff and that the Commission make such reporting requirements an order of the Commission.¹¹ In the interest of judicial economy, the Hearing Examiner further recommends that the Receiver's next application for an increase in Aubon's rates be filed in Case No. PUE-2001-00072 and considered therein. The Commission finds that all recommendations by the Hearing Examiner should be accepted and approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The Receiver shall apply the excess surcharge revenue collected since the emergency surcharge was placed into effect to reduce the outstanding debt owed to Spectrum, in the manner recommended by the Hearing Examiner.

(2) The Receiver is hereby authorized to impose a monthly surcharge upon Aubon's Long Island Estates customers, effective on and after April 1, 2003, in the amount of $18.92, adjusted monthly for the number of customers actually served, until the loan from the Virginia Drinking Water State Revolving Fund Program for the Long Island Estates water treatment facility is paid off.

(3) The interim rates approved by the Commission by Final Order entered December 17, 1999, in Case No. PUE-1999-00002 are hereby made permanent, and the escrow account requirement ordered is hereby dismissed.

(4) The Receiver is hereby ordered to file a further report in Case No. PUE-2001-00072 setting forth the information called for in the Staff's recommendations and as recommended by the Hearing Examiner.

(5) The Receiver is hereby ordered to apply a 5% depreciation rate to the Long Island Estates treatment facility, consistent with the Staff's recommendation.

(6) The dockets in Case Nos. PUE-1998-00628, PUE-1999-00002, and PUE-2000-00567 are hereby closed and the papers placed in the files for ended causes.

(7) The Commission hereby retains jurisdiction of the receivership for Aubon Water Company through Case No. PUE-2001-00072. All further matters that may affect the receivership estate shall be addressed in this Case, which is continued until further order of the Commission.

JULY 17, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel

v.

WEST ROCKINGHAM WATER COMPANY, INC.

DISMISSAL ORDER

In an Order dated September 23, 1999, in the above-captioned proceeding, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") found that West Rockingham Water Company, Inc. (the "Company" or "West Rockingham"), failed to meet its obligations under § 56-265.13:4 of the Code of Virginia (the "Code") by failing to furnish reasonably adequate water services and facilities. The Commission directed the Company to correct such deficiencies, to provide a detailed plan of system improvements for the next five years, and to file certain progress reports on a continuing basis with the Commission's Staff.

Subsequently, by Order dated May 11, 2000, in Case No. PUA-2000-00026, the Commission, under §§ 56-89 and 56-90 of the Code, authorized West Rockingham to transfer its water utility assets to the County of Rockingham, Virginia. As the result of such transfer, the Commission, in an Order dated September 10, 2001, in Case No. PUE-2001-00474, cancelled Certificate No. W-282 authorizing West Rockingham to provide water services to the Lilly Gardens and Sunset Heights Subdivisions in Rockingham County, Virginia.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the matter, is of the opinion that this case should be dismissed from our docket of active cases.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT this case is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases and the papers placed in the file for ended causes.

In Ordering Paragraph (6) of the Commission's Order dated November 19, 1998, in Case No. PUE-1996-00129, Pelham Manor Water Supply Company, Inc. ("Pelham Manor"), was directed to submit certain plans to the Commission's Division of Energy Regulation ("Division") detailing a proposed solution to maintain water system reliability. Subsequently, in an Order dated May 10, 1999, in the above-captioned proceeding, the Commission granted Pelham Manor's request for an extension of time, until June 1, 1999, to submit such plans to the Division.

Pursuant to a filing dated July 23, 2003, Staff states that the required plans have been submitted to the Division and that this proceeding should be closed.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the matter, is of the opinion that this case should be dismissed from our docket of active cases.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT this case is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases and the papers placed in the file for ended causes.

The Company also advised the Commission Staff by letter dated that same day that the property owned by Meadowood Farms was sold in October of 2001 and that there were no sewer facilities installed on such property prior to its sale.

CASE NO. PUE-2000-00088
JANUARY 9, 2003

APPLICATION OF
RAPPAHANNOCK ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE

For Approval of an Electricity Retail Access Program

DISMISSAL ORDER

On July 28, 2000, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered its Final Order on an application by Rappahannock Electric Cooperative ("Rappahannock" or the "Cooperative") for approval of a pilot retail access program for electricity ("Pilot Program") pursuant to §§ 56-234 and -577 C of the Code of Virginia. In Ordering Paragraph (2) of the Final Order, the Commission directed that the Cooperative's Pilot Program, as modified by the Stipulation entered into by the case participants, and as revised to comply with the Commission's interim rules for retail access, adopted in Case No. PUE-1998-00812¹ shall begin as soon as possible after September 1, 2000, but in no event later than January 1, 2001, and shall end when the participants are permitted to choose their competitive suppliers on a non-pilot basis. Ordering Paragraph (5) of the July 28, 2000, Order left the matter open for the receipt of reports from Rappahannock and to address other matters concerning the Pilot Program as they may arise.

On October 31, 2002, the Commission entered its Final Order in Case No. PUE-2002-00419.² This application addressed Rappahannock's tariffs and terms and conditions of service filed in anticipation of commencing retail access in the Cooperative's retail service territory effective January 1, 2003. Ordering Paragraph (3) of the October 31, 2002, Order directed that all terms and conditions and any rate schedules applicable to Rappahannock's Pilot Program be terminated.

NOW, UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing and consistent with the provisions of Ordering Paragraph (2) of the July 28, 2000, Final Order in Case No. PUE-2000-00088 and Ordering Paragraph (3) of the October 31, 2002, Final Order in Case No. PUE-2002-00419, the Commission finds that Case No. PUE-2000-00088 should be dismissed from our docket of active proceedings because the participants in Rappahannock's Pilot Program may now choose their competitive suppliers on a non-pilot basis and because the tariffs for the Pilot Program have been superseded by the Cooperative's permanent retail access tariffs.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT the captioned matter should be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases and the papers filed therein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

MARCH 18, 2003

APPLICATION OF
ATMOS ENERGY CORPORATION d/b/a UNITED CITIES GAS COMPANY

For approval of the condemnation of an easement across the property and/or right-of-way at Norfolk Southern Railway Company

ORDER OF DISMISSAL

By way of background, in March 7, 2000, Atmos Energy Corporation d/b/a United Cities Gas Company ("United Cities" or "Company") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") pursuant to § 25-233 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), for authority to initiate condemnation proceedings for the acquisition of an easement over property and/or right of way owned by Norfolk Southern Railway Company ("Norfolk Southern") in Dublin, Virginia. United Cities' application stated that the Company desired to install a four-inch reinforcement gas pipeline across Norfolk Southern's property and/or right-of-way. On March 23, 2000, the Commission issued an Order Directing Response, providing the parties an opportunity to file pleadings on the matter and requesting the parties to address the applicability of §§ 56-17 through 56-19 of the Code. Both parties filed their respective pleadings pursuant to the March 23, 2000 Order. Thereafter, Staff was advised that the parties were involved in negotiations, and thus, no further proceedings in this case were conducted on behalf of the Commission.

Then, on June 20, 2002, Norfolk Southern filed with the Commission a motion indicating that it had discovered that United Cities had constructed gas pipeline facilities under and through its property, and requesting the Commission to provide various types of relief for the alleged actions. On July 10, 2002, United Cities filed a Response and Motion to Dismiss. In its motion, United Cities stated that while the parties were in negotiations, during the spring of 2000, the pipeline subject to the original application was inadvertently installed and became operational, but, subsequently, the original line was abandoned and replaced.

On August 2, 2002, Norfolk Southern filed a Motion for Leave to File Reply to United Cities' Response arguing, inter alia, that United Cities had failed to notify Norfolk Southern of the installation and/or removal of either of the pipelines. Thereafter, the parties advised the Staff that they had recommenced negotiations, and continued negotiations for several months. On March 5, 2003, the parties filed with the Commission a Joint Motion To Dismiss ("Joint Motion") stating that all matters in controversy between the parties as stated in the original application and all subsequent pleadings had been settled, and requesting the Commission to dismiss the case.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the parties' Joint Motion should be granted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The parties' Joint Motion to Dismiss is granted.
- (2) This case is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

OCTOBER 28, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA

v.
MICHAEL L. ATKINS T/A MIKE ATKINS EXCAVATING,
Defendant

FINAL ORDER

On July 22, 2003, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") issued a Rule to Show Cause ("Rule") against Michael L. Atkins t/a Mike Atkins Excavating ("Defendant"). The Rule was issued upon consideration of the recommendation of the Underground Utility Damage Prevention Advisory Committee and of allegations by the Commission's Division of Utility and Railroad Safety ("Division") that on or about June 5, 2000, the Defendant damaged a twenty-five pair telephone service line operated by GTE South Incorporated ("GTE") while excavating at or near the intersection of Route 619 and Route 637 in King William County, Virginia. The Division further alleged that on this occasion the Defendant failed to notify the notification center for the area before beginning his excavation, in violation of § 56-265.17 A of the Underground Utility Damage Prevention Act ("Act"), Chapter 10.3 (§ 56-265.14 et seq.) of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia.

The Rule assigned the matter to a Hearing Examiner; scheduled an evidentiary hearing; ordered the Defendant to appear at the hearing and show cause why he should not be penalized for the alleged violations of the Act as set forth in the Rule; and ordered the Defendant to file a responsive pleading on or before August 22, 2003. The Rule further stated that the Defendant shall be in default if he fails to file either a timely responsive pleading, or if he files such pleading and fails to make an appearance at the hearing.

On September 4, 2003, the matter was heard by Hearing Examiner Michael D. Thomas. The defendant appeared pro se at the hearing. At the commencement of the hearing, counsel for the Division stated that the Defendant had not responded by the August 22, 2003, deadline imposed by the Rule, but that the Defendant had spoken to Division counsel on the telephone. Division counsel further stated that he would like to proceed with the hearing.¹ The only persons testifying at the hearing were Division witness Andrew Kvasnicka, who had prefiled direct testimony in this matter, and the Defendant.

Mr. Kvasnicka testified that GTE reported to the Division that the Defendant damaged a twenty-five pair telephone service line and a fifty pair telephone service line on June 5, 2000, at or near the intersection of Route 619 and Route 637, King William County, Virginia. He further testified that GTE indicated that the Defendant struck the line with a backhoe and that the Defendant did not have a valid Miss Utility ticket. He stated that the Division searched the Notification Center's database for a ticket for the Defendant and did not find a valid ticket.² Upon questioning from counsel, Mr. Kvasnicka described the Division's search of the Notification Center's database for ticket as including searches by the address for the incident and by the Defendant's name, and stated that the period of the database search covered the months of May and June 2000.³

The Defendant testified that he called Miss Utility from the office of Frog Hollow Sod Farm on a Thursday or Friday at the end of May; that he was provided a ticket number; that persons came out the following Monday and marked one line close to the highway; that he started work on the following Wednesday; that while operating a machine, he hit a line located about 30 feet from the line that was marked; that he called the telephone company after damaging the line; and that he talked to the telephone company personnel who came to the site to repair the line.⁴ He further testified that:

[T]hey had seen the marks to the power cable and made the statement to me that the -- NOCUTS -- I assume it was NOCUTS, I think it was that did the marking, came out and marked and made a mistake, and not following terminal to terminal, to see how many lines were in the box. And the first line he detected was the only one. And the first line he detected was the only one. So he assumed there was no more.⁵

The Defendant testified that, when asked for the ticket number, he looked for it at the office from where he called Miss Utility but could not find it. He further testified that the owners of the Frog Hollow Sod Farm and two employees were either in the office when he called Miss Utility or were working at the site when the line was marked.⁶

On cross-examination, the Defendant stated that he spoke to one of the persons who came to the field to mark the line. The Defendant testified that this person told him that he would not mark a private line that fed an irrigation system.⁷ On questioning from the Hearing Examiner, the Defendant stated that in his twenty-five years in business he has had no other incidents where he cut a utility line, and has never failed to call Miss Utility.⁸

On September 12, 2003, the Hearing Examiner issued his Report. In his Report, the Hearing Examiner found that the Division failed to prove by clear and convincing evidence that the Defendant violated the Act. The Hearing Examiner was troubled by the "Marks Outdated" statement in the Incident Report filed by GTE.⁹ To the Hearing Examiner, this statement indicates that at some point in time the telephone line was marked, and supports the Defendant's theory of the case that he did call Miss Utility but that the ticket was lost. Because the ticket was apparently lost, the Hearing Examiner states that he has no way of verifying whether the Defendant may have excavated outside the period that the ticket was valid. He recommends that the Commission direct the Defendant to maintain a Log Book in which he shall record information regarding calls to Miss Utility.

On October 3, 2003, counsel for the Division filed comments in which he urges this Commission to not adopt the Hearing Examiner's recommendation, and instead impose a civil penalty of $2,500 and enjoin the Defendant from further violations of the Act. The Division asserts that the Hearing Examiner incorrectly interpreted the Incident Report's notation of "Marks Outdated," and that the notation should be construed as a contemporaneous reporting that the marks at the scene were too old. The Division contends that the Hearing Examiner erred in treating the Notification Center's records as being more fallible than the Defendant's memory of events that occurred three years earlier. The Division also opposes the Hearing Examiner's recommendation that the Defendant be required to maintain a log book. According to the Division, the manner that excavators keep track of their tickets is a matter of business discretion and should be left to the excavators. Finally, the Division expresses concern that the Hearing Examiner's findings, if adopted by this Commission, would allow an alleged violator of the Act to disregard the Act's enforcement process until the date of the hearing, at which time his assertions that he called Miss Utility, but lost all records of the call, could prevail.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the Rule, the record, the Hearing Examiner's Report, the Division's pleadings, and the applicable law, finds as follows.

The Rule provides that the Defendant would be in default if he failed to file timely responsive pleadings or failed to make an appearance at the hearing, and that if he is in default, the Defendant may have entered against him a judgment by default imposing some or all of the proposed penalties. In this matter, the record shows that the Defendant did not file a responsive pleading to the Rule. At the hearing, Division counsel did not object to the Defendant's testifying, and the effect of the Defendant's failure to file timely responsive pleadings was not addressed.

Much of the Defendant's testimony regarding his alleged call to Miss Utility, his meeting with the locators at the site, and his meeting with telephone company personnel on the site after the line was cut, was not challenged or rebutted at the hearing. If the Defendant's disregard of the enforcement process, prior to his unexpected pro se appearance at the hearing, allowed the Defendant to surprise the Division, Division's counsel could have moved for a continuance to allow the presentation of any rebuttal evidence at a later date.

In his filed comments, Division counsel contends that the Hearing Examiner mischaracterized the "Marks Outdated" notation on GTE's Incident Report. While the argument may have merit, we find that the record in this case does not include evidence that shows that the Hearing Examiner's interpretation is unreasonable.

With respect to the issue raised in the Division's comments regarding the Defendant's confusion about the dates of events three years ago, we observe that the Defendant was not questioned about this matter at the hearing. It is difficult to reconcile the Defendant's testimony that the incident occurred on a Wednesday with the Division's statement that the date of the incident, June 5, 2000, was a Monday. However, the Hearing Examiner did not expressly find that every statement uttered by the Defendant was unimpeachable. Rather, he found that the Division failed to prove by clear and convincing evidence that the Defendant violated the Act. We adopt this finding.

We agree with the Division's comment that the Defendant should not be required to maintain a Miss Utility log book. We find that imposing such a record-keeping regimen on the Defendant, who has not been found to have violated the Act, is inappropriate. Therefore, we decline to adopt this recommendation of the Hearing Examiner. However, we admonish the Defendant and all other excavators to maintain records of their contacts with notification centers. The factual dispute involving whether the Defendant contacted Miss Utility prior to excavating may have been resolved much more easily had he Defendant kept written records.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The finding of the Hearing Examiner that the Division failed to prove by clear and convincing evidence that the Defendant violated the Act is adopted.

(2) This matter is dismissed from the Commission docket of active cases, and the papers filed herein shall be placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

MAY 27, 2003

PETITION OF TXU ENERGY SERVICES

For waiver of licensing requirements

DISMISSAL ORDER

On October 10, 2000, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered an order granting a petition filed by TXU Energy Services ("TXU") requesting a waiver from compliance with the requirement in the Interim Rules Governing Electric and Natural Gas Retail Access Pilot Programs, 20 VAC 5-311-10 et seq. ("Interim Rules"), that any competitive service provider ("CSP") or aggregator participating in any natural gas retail access pilot programs previously approved by the Commission shall file an application for licensure as a CSP or aggregator.

As conditions of the granting of the petition, the Order required TXU to obtain a license should the contracts of its two customers, set to expire February 1, 2001, be renewed, or TXU provided services to new customers or to additional locations of current customers. If these conditions were not met, TXU was to file with the Commission notification that it had completed and terminated its service obligations.

A representative of TXU filed a letter on April 29, 2003, stating that TXU is not providing service in the Commonwealth.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the matter, is of the opinion that this docket should be closed.

ACCORDINGLY, IT IS ORDERED THAT the captioned matter should be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases and the papers filed therein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

FEBRUARY 5, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Ex Parte: In the matter concerning the application of Virginia Electric and Power Company d/b/a Dominion Virginia Power for approval of a plan to transfer functional and operational control of certain transmission facilities to a Regional Transmission Entity

DISMISSAL ORDER

On January 7, 2003, Virginia Electric and Power Company d/b/a Dominion Virginia Power ("Dominion Virginia Power" or the "Company") filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") a Motion to Dismiss its application for approval to transfer functional and operational control to a regional transmission entity ("RTE").

Sections 56-577 and 56-579 of the Virginia Electric Utility Restructuring Act (the "Restructuring Act"), Chapter 23 (§ 56-576 et seq.) of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia, require the Commonwealth's incumbent electric utilities to join or to establish RTEs by January 1, 2001, and to seek authorization from the Commission to transfer the management and control of their transmission assets to such RTEs.¹ Pursuant to the Restructuring Act, the Commission developed and established rules and regulations under which incumbent electric utilities owning, operating, controlling, or having an entitlement to transmission capacity within the Commonwealth may transfer all or part of such control, ownership, or responsibility to an RTE, 20 VAC 5-320-10 et seq. (the "RTE Rules").²

On October 16, 2000, Dominion Virginia Power submitted its application pursuant to the RTE Rules in order to meet the statutory deadline set forth in the Restructuring Act. The Company requested approval of the transfer of functional and operational control of its transmission facilities located in

[O]n or before January 1, 2001, each incumbent electric utility owning, operating, controlling, or having an entitlement to transmission capacity shall join or establish a regional transmission entity, which entity may be an independent system operator, to which such utility shall transfer the management and control of its transmission system, subject to the provisions of § 56-579.

Section 56-579 A 1 of the Restructuring Act provides in pertinent part that:

[N]o such incumbent electric utility shall transfer to any person any ownership or control of, or any responsibility to operate, any portion of any transmission system located in the Commonwealth without obtaining the prior approval of the Commission, as hereinafter provided.

the Commonwealth to the proposed Alliance Regional Transmission Organization ("Alliance RTO"). The Alliance RTO was to be created pursuant to federal regulations issued by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (the "FERC").³

The history of this proceeding is extensive. Since Dominion Virginia Power's application was filed with the Commission, numerous significant events have occurred both at the state and federal level that have resulted in delays in the approval of the transfer of the Company's transmission system to an RTE. The FERC issued several rulings in the Alliance RTO proceedings. On July 27, 2001, the Commission issued an order suspending the procedural schedule originally established in this proceeding based on anticipated Alliance Companies' filings at the FERC related to the Alliance RTO proposal and in the interest of conserving legal and regulatory resources.⁴

After over two years of consideration, including an initial ruling conditionally approving the Alliance RTO, the FERC disapproved the Alliance RTO on December 20, 2001, and dismissed in whole the Alliance Companies' proposal.⁵ In light of this ruling, on January 29, 2002, the Commission issued an order denying a motion by Dominion Virginia Power to reestablish a procedural schedule in this docket.

On April 25, 2002, the FERC issued an order directing the Alliance Companies to make compliance filings identifying which RTO they planned to join, and stating whether their participation would be collective or individual. Dominion Virginia Power made its compliance filing on May 28, 2002. The Company stated that it had filed a statement with the FERC on March 5, 2002, indicating that it was continuing the process of consulting with the Commonwealth and the State of North Carolina to determine their support for Dominion Virginia Power joining the Alliance Companies within the Midwest Independent System Operator or other RTO efforts. In addition, Dominion Virginia Power stated that the Company also was actively working with PJM Interconnection, LLC ("PJM"), on an individual basis, as well as collectively with the Alliance Companies.

Subsequently, Dominion Virginia Power and PJM entered into a Memorandum of Understanding dated June 24, 2002 to establish PJM South. Thereafter, on October 1, 2002, the Company and PJM entered into an agreement to implement PJM South. Under that agreement, Dominion Virginia Power would: (i) become a member of PJM; (ii) transfer functional control of its transmission facilities to PJM for inclusion in a new PJM South Region; (iii) integrate its control area into the PJM Interchange Energy Market and certain other PJM markets; and (iv) otherwise facilitate the establishment and operation of PJM as the RTO and, to the extent the FERC's final Standard Market Design rulemaking⁶ requires, the Independent Transmission Provider with respect to Dominion Virginia Power's transmission facilities.

As indicated above, Dominion Virginia Power filed its Motion to Dismiss this proceeding on January 7, 2003. In support of its motion, the Company states that the Alliance RTO failed to meet the characteristics specified in FERC Order 2000, and that the Alliance RTO effort is no longer viable.

Pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-110 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 5 VAC 5-20-10 et seq., interested parties were required to file any response to the Company's Motion to Dismiss on or before January 29, 2003. No responses were received.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the matter, we are of the opinion and find that the motion to dismiss should be granted as described herein.

As Dominion Virginia Power's motion indicates, the Company's plans to participate in the Alliance RTO are not feasible. Therefore, the application for our approval to transfer functional and operational control of Dominion Virginia Power's transmission facilities to the Alliance RTO is no longer viable. Accordingly, we will dismiss the application currently filed in this docket, Case No. PUE-2000-00551. We will, however, order this docket to remain open for a future application by Dominion Virginia Power for approval of the Company's participation in an RTE. Dominion Virginia Power simultaneously shall serve upon each individual who has filed a notice of participation as a respondent in this proceeding a copy of any application made to the Commission, as well as all other materials filed in this docket.

ACCORDINGLY, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The October 16, 2000, application filed by Dominion Virginia Power with the Commission for approval of the transfer functional and operational control of its transmission facilities located in the Commonwealth to the Alliance RTO is hereby dismissed.
- (2) This docket is to remain open for a future application by Dominion Virginia Power for approval of the Company's participation in an RTE.
- (3) Dominion Virginia Power shall serve upon each respondent a copy of its application and all other materials filed with the Commission in this proceeding.
- (4) This matter is continued generally.

³ See Alliance Companies, et al., Docket Nos. ER99-3144-003, ER99-3144-004 and ER99-3144-005. The proposed Alliance RTO was to consist of the following member companies: American Electric Power Service Corporation on behalf of Appalachian Power Company, Columbus Southern Power Company, Indiana Michigan Power Company, Kentucky Power Company, Kingsport Power Company, Ohio Power Company, and Wheeling Power Company ("AEP"); Consumers Energy Company; The Dayton Power and Light Company ("Dayton Power"); The Detroit Edison Company, FirstEnergy Corp. on behalf of The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, Ohio Edison Company, Pennsylvania Power Company, and the Toledo Edison Company; the Northern Indiana Public Service Company; and Dominion Virginia Power (collectively the "Alliance Companies"). The proposed Alliance RTO was to include incumbent electric utilities who provided service in the states of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia. Note that the phrases Regional Transmission Entity or RTE and Regional Transmission Organization or RTO may be used interchangeably.

⁶ Remedying Undue Discrimination Through Open Access Transmission Service and Standard Electricity Market Design, 67 Fed. Reg. 55,543 (to be codified at 40 C.F.R. pt. 35) (proposed Aug. 29, 2002).

CASE NO. PUE-2001-00011
DECEMBER 24, 2003

APPLICATION OF
APPALACHIAN POWER COMPANY d/b/a AMERICAN ELECTRIC POWER - VIRGINIA

For approval of a Functional Separation Plan under the Virginia Electric Utility Restructuring Act

ORDER GRANTING MOTION

On July 1, 2003, the Appalachian Power Company d/b/a American Electric Power –Virginia (hereafter "AEP-VA" or the "Company") filed with the Virginia State Corporation Commission (the "Commission") a Motion For Leave To Withdraw Request in this proceeding ("Motion"). In its Motion, AEP-VA requests to withdraw its request for legal separation at this time and the proceeding be closed without prejudice to any request for such legal separation that the Company might file by separate application in the future.¹

In its Motion, the Company notes that on June 18, 2002, the Commission granted, in part, a motion filed by the Company on April 30, 2003 that requested deferral of further proceedings in this case until no earlier than July 1, 2003. In that Order, the Commission directed AEP-VA to consult with the Commission Staff and other parties and to file a motion on July 1, 2003, proposing a schedule for further proceedings herein. The Company further states in its Motion that the principal issue outstanding in this proceeding is AEP-VA's proposal to transfer its generations assets to a separate affiliated legal entity and in light of developments in the industry since June 18, 2002, AEP-VA is not actively pursuing legal separation at this time. The Company seeks leave to withdraw, without prejudice, its current request for legal separation of the Company. The Company states that with the withdrawal of that request, this proceeding could be closed. The Company indicates that it consulted with the Staff, the Division of Consumer Counsel of the Virginia Attorney General's Office and the other parties. The Company further states as of the date of the filing, the Staff, the Division of Consumer Counsel, the Old Dominion Committee for Fair Utility Rates, the Town of Wytheville and VML/VACO APCO Steering Committee, the Blue Ridge Power Agency and the Virginia Cable Telecommunications Association advised that they had no objection to the Motion.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the foregoing, is of the opinion that the Company's Motion should be granted.

ACCORDINGLY, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) AEP-VA's Motion For Leave To Withdraw Request is hereby granted without prejudice.

(2) There being nothing further to done in this matter, this case is dismissed and shall be removed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings.

JANUARY 2, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.

v.
AUBON WATER COMPANY,
Defendant

ORDER EXTENDING EMERGENCY RATES, DIRECTING REPORTS BY RECEIVER AND STAFF, AND SETTING HEARING

On May 10, 2002, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") approved the application of Aubon Water Company ("Aubon") by its Receiver, David G. Petrus ("Receiver") for emergency rates, pursuant to Virginia Code § 56-245. The Commission further ordered the Staff to investigate the application and file a report on July 30, 2002, and directed Aubon to cooperate fully with the Staff investigation.

On July 31, 2002, the Commission granted Staff's Motion to Modify Procedure and vacated the filing date for Staff's Report, pending the closing of the loan to finance improvements for Aubon's Long Island Estates subdivision. The loan from the Virginia Drinking Water State Revolving Fund Program has now closed.

On December 4, 2002, the Receiver filed notice of surcharge adjustment for Long Island Estates water treatment filter upgrade. The Staff filed notice of acceptance of filing on a temporary basis on December 18, 2002.

The Receiver requested in his surcharge adjustment filing on December 4, 2002, that Case Nos. PUE-1998-00628 and PUE-1999-00002 be closed, due to completion of the Long Island Estates water treatment system in August 2002 and the loan closing.

The Commission finds that the Receiver should file a report in this case, consistent with the Commission's Order Extending Appointment of Receiver and Approving Amended Plan of Receivership, issued March 30, 2001, on or before January 16, 2003. The Receiver shall include in his report the information requested by Staff in the notice of acceptance of the surcharge for filing, which is repeated below:

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

- (1) A complete accounting of the revenues collected via the Long Island Estates surcharge by month since its approval on May 10, 2002;
- (2) When will the first payment on the VDH loan be due and payable;
- (3) A description of all improvements and repairs made to Aubon's systems. Please provide the cost of each item and separate the information pertaining to the greens and filters project at Long Island Estates from other Aubon operations;
- (4) A description of any remaining repairs needed at any of Aubon's systems;
- (5) The status of Aubon's debts (include any outstanding amounts owed to Petrus Environmental Services for management services);
- (6) The status of the transfer of Franklin Heights to the Town of Rocky Mount (has the final transfer been made?); and
- (7) The status of the $50,000 consideration to be paid by the Town of Rocky Mount for the Franklin Heights system (has any of this sum been paid?). What are your recommendations on how the $50,000 should be expended? Is it likely that Aubon may receive additional compensation from the Town of Rocky Mount if all of the customers have not migrated off of Aubon's system by January 1, 2003?

The Commission further finds that Staff should complete its investigation and file its Staff Report or testimony regarding its investigation of the emergency rates approved on or before January 27, 2003. Staff may also address any and all matters included in the Receiver's report ordered herein.

A public hearing should be convened in this case on February 5, 2003, at 10:00 a.m., in the hearing rooms of the Commission, located at 1300 East Main Street, Richmond, Virginia, to consider reports of the Receiver and Staff and to consider making the emergency rates permanent.

Pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-120, the Commission finds that Case No. PUE-2001-00072 should be assigned to a hearing examiner to conduct the hearing on February 5, 2005, and to conduct all further proceedings on behalf of the Commission in this case and in Case No. PUE-1998-00628, Case No. PUE-1999-00002, and PUE-2000-00567.

The Commission finds that a copy of this Order should be mailed directly by the Receiver to all customers served in the Long Island Estates subdivision, on or before January 16, 2003. The Receiver shall provide copies of the Receiver's report ordered herein to customers of the Long Island Estates subdivision upon request.

Copies of the Staff Report ordered herein are available for public inspection between the hours of 8:15 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, in the Commission's Document Control Center located on the first floor of the Tyler Building, 1300 East Main Street, Richmond, Virginia.

The Commission finds that the procedural schedule now established requires extension of the emergency rates presently approved on an interim basis. Pursuant to Virginia Code § 56-245, the Commission finds that the emergency rates approved in this case shall be extended until further order of the Commission but, in any event, no later than May 9, 2003.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The emergency rates approved on May 10, 2002, are hereby extended, pursuant to Virginia Code § 56-245, until further order of the Commission but, in any event, no later than May 9, 2003.
- (2) The Receiver is hereby ordered to file his Report to the Commission no later than January 16, 2003, consistent with the findings above.
- (3) The Staff is hereby directed to conclude its investigation and to file its Report or testimony on or before January 27, 2003, consistent with the findings above.
- (4) A public hearing will be convened on February 5, 2003, at 10:00 a.m. in the Hearing Rooms of the Commission located on the second floor of the Tyler Building, 1300 East Main Street, Richmond, Virginia, to receive the Report of the Staff investigation and the Report of the Receiver and to consider making the emergency rates permanent.
- (5) The Commission hereby assigns to a hearing examiner Case Nos. PUE-2001-00072, PUE-1998-00628, PUE-1999-00002, and PUE-2000-00567, pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-120 and consistent with the findings above.
- (6) The Receiver is ordered to give notice of the hearing on the Reports of the Receiver and Staff and on the emergency rates, to be convened on February 5, 2003, at 10:00 a.m., by mailing by U.S. mail, first class, postage prepaid, a copy of this Order to all customers served in the Long Island Estates subdivision, consistent with the findings above. The Receiver is directed to file proof of notice given on or before January 16, 2003.

JUNE 12, 2003APPLICATION OF
VIRGINIA ELECTRIC AND POWER COMPANY D/B/A DOMINION VIRGINIA POWER

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity for facilities in Loudoun County: Beaumeade-Beco 230 kV Transmission Line and Beaumeade-Greenway 230 kV Transmission Line

FINAL ORDER

On March 15, 2001, as revised on March 23, 2001, and amended on July 16, 2001, Virginia Electric and Power Company d/b/a Dominion Virginia Power ("Virginia Power" or "Company") filed an application for approval and certification of electric facilities in eastern Loudoun County. The Company sought approval and certification, pursuant to §§ 56-265.2, 56-46.1, and related provisions of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), to construct and operate two single-circuit 230 kV transmission lines, which are herein referenced as the Beco Line and the Greenway Line. Virginia Power plans to build two new substations – a Beco Substation and a Greenway Substation. The proposed transmission lines will connect each substation to the existing Beaumeade Substation.

On June 27, 2002, the Commission issued an Order Granting Approval and Remanding for Further Proceedings ("Order Granting Approval"). The Order Granting Approval, among other things, authorized Virginia Power to construct and operate the Beco Line and the Greenway Line as provided for in such order and granted Virginia Power's application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct the Beco and Greenway Lines, subject to specific conditions as set forth in the Order Granting Approval.

In addition, the Order Granting Approval addressed the two options recommended by Hearing Examiner Alexander F. Skirpan, Jr., for placing transmission facilities for the Greenway Line along a 0.6 mile portion of the Washington and Old Dominion Trail ("W&OD Trail"): (1) utilizing a looping structure for the Greenway Line; or (2) placing facilities south of the existing transmission lines that currently are on the W&OD Trail. The Northern Virginia Regional Park Authority ("Park Authority") supported both of these alternatives. Virginia Power opposed these options and, subsequent to the Examiner's recommendation, offered a third alternative that would place the four new poles needed for this 0.6 mile portion of the line approximately twenty feet inside the northern boundary of the Company's existing right-of-way along the W&OD Trail. The Order Granting Approval rejected the looping option for the Greenway Line and remanded this case to the Hearing Examiner for further proceedings limited to the specific placement of transmission facilities along the W&OD Trail.

On September 5 and 18, 2002, the Hearing Examiner issued rulings on remand that provided for the filing of comments, prepared testimony, and exhibits and for an evidentiary hearing. The Examiner expanded the service list in this case to include all property owners near the section of the W&OD Trail that is at issue on remand. On October 15, 2002, a public hearing was convened for receiving evidence in this case on remand. Guy T. Tripp, III, Esquire, appeared on behalf of Virginia Power. Charles L. Shumate, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the City of Fairfax ("City"). Cliona Mary Robb, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the Park Authority. Wayne N. Smith, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the Commission's Staff. Virginia Power, the Park Authority, and the City filed post-hearing briefs.

On January 10, 2003, the Hearing Examiner entered a Report on Remand in which the Examiner analyzed the evidence and issues in the remand proceeding. The Examiner recommended that the four new transmission poles for this portion of the Greenway Line be collocated with the existing distribution line south of the W&OD Trail ("southern route"). On January 31, 2003, Virginia Power, the Park Authority, and the City filed comments on the Examiner's Report on Remand. The Park Authority and the City support the Examiner's recommendation and urge the Commission's adoption thereof. Virginia Power opposes the Examiner's recommendation and requests that the Commission approve placement of the poles north of the W&OD Trail ("northern route"). In addition, if the Commission adopts the Examiner's recommendation, the Company requests the Commission to make clear that collocation of the distribution line onto the new transmission poles will not be required.

On February 11, 2003, the Park Authority filed a Motion for Leave to File Additional Comments ("Motion"), and its Additional Comments. On February 14, 2003, the City filed a response in support of the Motion. On February 20, 2003, Virginia Power filed a response to the Motion requesting that, if the Commission grants the Motion, the Company be granted 21 days to respond to the Park Authority's Additional Comments. By order dated March 5, 2003, the Commission granted the Motion, accepted the Park Authority's Additional Comments, and permitted Virginia Power to file any response to the Additional Comments by March 26, 2003. On March 26, 2003, the Company filed its response to the Additional Comments.

On June 5, 2003, Virginia Power filed a Motion for Extension of Time for Completion of Construction. The Order Granting Authority required, as a condition of the certificate, that the Greenway and Beco Lines be constructed and in-service by January 1, 2006. The Order Granting Authority also granted Virginia Power leave to apply for an extension for good cause shown. The Company stated that about one year has passed since the Commission issued the Order Granting Authority and set the January 1, 2006, deadline. Virginia Power is concerned that sufficient time may not be available for engineering and constructing the line as finally approved. Therefore, the Company requests that the Commission extend the January 1, 2006, deadline by an amount of time approximately equal to the time interval between the Order Granting Authority and the final order in this proceeding.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the pleadings, the Hearing Examiner's Report on Remand, the comments and responses filed in response thereto, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that the four new transmission poles along the W&OD Trail should follow the northern route proposed by Virginia Power, subject to the conditions discussed herein.

The Examiner explained that the issue on remand involves a choice between two options for placement of four transmission poles in or along 0.6 mile of the W&OD Trail. The first option, or northern route, is advocated by Virginia Power and would locate the transmission poles a little over twenty feet inside the northern boundary of the W&OD Trail. The second option, or southern route, is advocated by the Park Authority and the City and would locate the transmission poles in the distribution right-of-way just south of the W&OD Trail. The Company proposes to use an existing right-of-way for the northern route, the use of which the Park Authority and the City maintain would have greater environmental impacts than the southern route. The Examiner also noted that certain businesses located south of the W&OD Trail filed comments in opposition to the southern route, which they assert would have a detrimental impact on their businesses.

Although we will not discuss here all of the concerns expressed by each party regarding the proposed routes, we have reviewed the proposals and have considered and weighed the relevant factors raised in this proceeding. We have considered and weighed the factors set forth in §§ 56-265.2 A and 56-46.1 of the Code, factors that are, to a large extent, interrelated and overlapping. We have fully considered the adverse impact of the northern route, including its impact on the W&OD Trail and the City's water pipeline. We have considered each statutory criterion on an individual basis and as part of the whole, in light of all the relevant statutory criteria and with regard to other concerns raised by the participants. We find that the northern route, subject to the conditions required herein, satisfies §§ 56-265.2 A and 56-46.1 of the Code and best meets the Company's need to maintain adequate safety and reliability of service.

The northern route will be located on an existing easement, which Virginia Power preserved to build transmission and distribution lines when the Park Authority originally acquired land for the W&OD Trail from the Company. Virginia Power asserts that placement of four poles along the northern route will not prevent the Park Authority from continuing its current use of the W&OD corridor or from developing new uses that it has the legal right to conduct. We agree with the Examiner that the existence of this easement does not prohibit the Commission from evaluating other routes. The southern route, however, will require the purchase of an additional right-of-way. Although the Park Authority argued that the additional right-of-way should not require considerable expense due to the existing distribution line along the southern route, Virginia Power estimates that an additional right-of-way of 40 to 50 feet would be required at a cost of $3.0 to $3.5 million. In addition, existing businesses south of the W&OD Trail likely will be negatively impacted by the additional right-of-way obtained by the Company and the construction of the new transmission line therein.

The City has a twenty-foot easement along the northern boundary of the W&OD Trail; the City's water pipeline is located within this easement. The City asserts that the foundation for the transmission facilities along the northern route will be placed within a foot of this easement and, thus, the risk of damage to the City's water main will be lessened if the southern route is chosen. Earlier in this proceeding, however, the City entered into a letter agreement with Virginia Power that establishes procedures the parties will follow to protect the water pipeline. As a condition of the certificate granted in this case and as requested by the City, the Order Granting Approval requires Virginia Power to comply with such letter agreement. In addition, when the City obtained its easement for the water main from the Company, Virginia Power preserved the right for its electric lines and supports to overhang the City's easement, to install its facilities across the easement, and to use the easement for any purpose that does not interfere with or endanger the water pipeline. The transmission poles will not be placed within the City's easement. Furthermore, the Company recently installed 1.35 miles of new and rebuilt transmission line along the W&OD corridor with no impact on the City's water pipeline.

The Park Authority asserts that the Company should be able to leave the distribution line in place and collocate the new transmission line along the southern route while keeping the existing distribution circuits energized. Virginia Power argues, however, that it would be impractical to collocate the new transmission line with the existing distribution line along the southern route.¹ The Company states that installing a distribution line on a transmission structure creates concerns about lightning protection and maintenance and operational issues. Virginia Power also established that safety risks, construction problems, and maintenance difficulties would arise if the new four-pole section of the transmission line were constructed over the distribution line. The Company testified that the presence of a currently existing transmission line along the southern route, and the mechanics of attempting to spread all of the distribution conductors during construction of the new transmission line, would be extremely difficult, would create serious safety concerns, and would put life at risk. Moreover, the excavating equipment possibly could come in contact with the energized distribution line, and there are risks that the new transmission line may sag down into the energized distribution line while installing the new transmission conductors.

Accordingly, Virginia Power states that an attempt to erect the four new transmission poles while the distribution line is energized is unacceptably hazardous. The Company would de-energize the existing distribution line before constructing a new transmission line along the southern route. This would require the creation of new distribution facilities for use during the construction of the transmission line, and the Company estimates that this new distribution line would cost $300,000 to $400,000. In addition, if the transmission and distribution lines are collocated along the southern route, the new distribution facilities utilized during the construction of the transmission line would then be dismantled.

We recognize that these new transmission facilities will impact the W&OD Trail.² The new transmission line, whether placed on the northern or southern route, will be visible to users of the W&OD Trail. If placed on the northern route, the Examiner stated that the line would create something of a tunneling effect for users of this 0.6 mile portion of the trail. If collocated on the southern route, the transmission poles would be about 130 feet in height, as opposed to 110 feet along the northern route. The Examiner found that due to the temporary nature of the construction activities, the impact of construction-related disruptions to the W&OD Trail attendant to the northern route should be accorded relatively little weight. Neither route would require relocation of the paved path on the W&OD Trail. The northern route would necessitate relocation of the gravel path, which is used as a bridal trail; the Company would bear the expense of shifting the gravel path a few feet to avoid three new poles that would be in, or partially in, the gravel path. The Examiner concluded, however, that the gravel path would continue to be useable as a bridal trail after such relocation.

The northern route requires removal of the northern buffer along the impacted portion of the W&OD Trail. The Examiner concluded that elimination of the northern buffer will significantly and adversely impact this section of the trail. The Examiner found that the northern buffer provides substantial screening, virtually cutting off any view of the trail to the north, and that elimination of the buffer would expose this portion of the trail to any development that may take place to the north. Virginia Power stated that it would plant new screening on the property immediately north of the W&OD corridor, and that the owner of such property is receptive to such proposal. As a condition of the certificate granted in this proceeding, the Company must plant a new buffer immediately north of the W&OD Trail that screens this portion of the trail from view to the north. As a further condition of the certificate, prior to commencing any construction on this 0.6 mile portion of the Greenway Line, the Company must submit to the Director of the Commission's Division of Energy Regulation a detailed plan for erecting the new buffer that screens this portion of the trail from view to the north, along with verification that the Company has obtained any legal rights needed to implement such plan, and receive written acceptance of such submittal from the Division of Energy Regulation.

¹ The Company also asserts that the Commission lacks the authority to require collocation of the transmission and distribution lines along the southern route. We reject this contention. The Commission, inter alia, has the authority to establish conditions as may be desirable or necessary to minimize adverse environmental impact when approving the construction of transmission facilities. See Va. Code § 56-46.1.

Finally, we deny Virginia Power's Motion for Extension of Time for Completion of Construction. Although the Company states it is "concerned that sufficient time may not be available" to complete construction by January 1, 2006, Virginia Power has not established that it will be unable to meet the January 1, 2006, deadline. Pursuant to the Order Granting Authority, the Company may apply in the future for an extension for good cause shown.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Virginia Power is authorized to construct and operate transmission facilities for the Greenway Line along the W&OD Trail as provided for in this Order.

(2) Within thirty (30) days from the date of this Order, Virginia Power shall file with the Commission's Division of Energy Regulation two copies of an appropriate map or other document showing the location of facilities along the W&OD Trail as approved in this Order.

(3) As a condition of the certificate granted in this case, the Company will plant a new buffer immediately north of the W&OD Trail that screens this portion of the trail from view to the north.

(4) As a condition of the certificate granted in this case, prior to commencing any construction of the Greenway Line along the W&OD Trail, the Company will submit to the Director of the Commission's Division of Energy Regulation a detailed plan for erecting a new buffer that screens this portion of the W&OD Trail from view to the north, along with verification that the Company has obtained any legal rights needed to implement such plan, and receive written acceptance of such submittal from the Division of Energy Regulation.

(5) Virginia Power shall bear the expense of shifting the gravel path along the W&OD Trail such that the path will continue to be useable as a bridal trail after relocation.

(6) Virginia Power's Motion for Extension of Time for Completion of Construction is denied.

(7) This case shall be dismissed and removed from the list of pending cases.

CASE NO. PUE-2001-00169
APRIL 29, 2003

APPLICATION OF
CINCAP-MARTINSVILLE, LLC

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity for electric generation facilities in the City of Martinsville

DISMISSAL ORDER

Before the Commission in this proceeding is the Report of Deborah V. Ellenberg, Chief Hearing Examiner of April 15, 2003. As stated by Hearing Examiner Ellenberg, CinCap-Martinsville, LLC, had moved to dismiss its application, and she recommended that the Commission grant the motion.

The Commission will adopt the recommendation in the Report.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that Case No. PUE-2002-00165 be dismissed from the Commission's docket and that the case be closed in the records maintained by the Clerk of the Commission.

CASE NO. PUE-2001-00200
FEBRUARY 21, 2003

APPLICATION OF
DALE SERVICE CORPORATION

For a general increase in rates

FINAL ORDER

On April 6, 2001, Dale Service Corporation ("Dale Service" or "Company") completed its application for a general increase in rates for services. Those rates, due to become effective September 1, 2001, were designed to produce additional annual operating revenues of $4,356,888.

The Company represented that the additional annual operating revenues were necessary to cover increased operating expenses, debt service, and other costs associated with the debt related to upgrading its wastewater treatment facilities in order to meet the wastewater effluent limits in its wastewater discharge permits issued by the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality.

On April 12, 2001, Dale Service filed a Petition for Waiver of Rate Case Filing Requirements ("Petition") in which it requested that the Commission waive its Rules Governing Utility Rate Increase Applications¹ that require the filing of "jurisdictional" schedules.

On June 27, 2001, after discussions with the Staff of the State Corporation Commission ("Staff"), Dale Service filed its Amended Application in which it requested a phase-in of the proposed increased rates. Specifically, Dale Service asked for a Phase 1 increase of $1,835,433 to be effective, subject to refund, as of October 1, 2001, and for a Phase 2 increase of no more than $2,521,455 to be effective, subject to refund, as of October 1, 2002. For Phase 1, Dale Service proposed to increase current quarterly rates of $40.80 for residential customers and $51.00 for commercial units to $63.00 and $80.00, respectively.

On July 12, 2001, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Hearing. In this order, the Commission directed the Company to give notice of its application; established a local public hearing on September 24, 2001, for Phase 1; set the public evidentiary hearing for September 18, 2002, for Phase 2; authorized Phase 1 rates to become effective, subject to refund, on or after October 1, 2001; authorized Phase 2 rates to become effective, subject to refund, on or after October 1, 2002; adopted a procedural schedule for the case; and assigned the matter to a Hearing Examiner.

On July 24, 2001, the Commission issued an Amending Order, in which it directed that the public hearing scheduled for September 24, 2001, convene at both 2:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. in the Board Chambers Room of the James J. McCoart Administration Building, 1 County Complex Court, Prince William, Virginia 22192.

On August 1, 2001, Dale Service filed a Motion to Amend Order for Notice and Hearing. In its Motion, the Company requested that the Commission extend the date by which its newspaper publication must be completed from July 27, 2001, to August 3, 2001. A Hearing Examiner's Ruling dated August 2, 2001, granted Dale Service's Motion.

On September 24, 2001, local public hearings were held as scheduled in the Board Chambers Room of the James J. McCoart Administration Building, Prince William, Virginia. Six public witnesses appeared during the 2:00 p.m. hearing, and two public witnesses presented testimony during the 7:00 p.m. hearing.

On June 5, 2002, Dale Service filed a Motion for Leave to file Corrected Supplemental Application and Testimony. In its Corrected Supplemental Application, the Company requested confirmation of the procedural schedule set forth in Order for Notice and Hearing, and asked to be directed to publish notice of the Phase 2 rates, which it now requested to be set at $86.75 per quarter for residential service and $113.00 per quarter for commercial units. A Hearing Examiner's Ruling dated June 5, 2002 granted the Company's Motion. Additional notice was directed in a Hearing Examiner's Ruling dated August 29, 2002.

On September 18, 2002, the evidentiary hearing was convened as scheduled. Richard D. Gary, Esquire, and Renata M. Manzo, Esquire, appeared on behalf of Dale Service. Joseph W. Lee, III, Esquire, represented the Staff. One public witness appeared at the evidentiary hearing. A Stipulation, executed by the Company and Staff and designed to resolve all of the issues in this case, was presented at the hearing.²

On December 11, 2002, Hearing Examiner Alexander F. Skirpan, Jr. issued his Report recommending that the Commission adopt the findings in his Report, grant Dale Service an increase in gross annual revenues of $3,501,934, and dismiss this case from the Commission's docket of active cases. In his Report, the Hearing Examiner made the following findings:

- (1) The use of a test year ending December 31, 2000, is proper in this proceeding;
- (2) Dale Service's Phase 1 operating revenues, after all adjustments, were $3,437,612;
- (3) Dale Service's Phase 1 operating expenses, after all adjustments, were $3,264,093;
- (4) Dale Service's Phase 1 net operating revenues, and adjusted net operating income, after all adjustments were $173,519 and $171,219, respectively;
- (5) Dale Service's current rates produce a return on Phase 1 adjusted rate base of 0.92%, a DSC ratio of 0.18, and a return on common equity of -23.18%;
- (6) Dale Service's Phase 1 adjusted rate base is $18,628,487;
- (7) Based on the Stipulation, Dale Service requires $1,835,433 in additional gross annual revenues to earn a reasonable return on rate base. Thus, Dale Service's proposed Phase 1 rates are just and reasonable and should be made permanent for the Phase 1 rate period of October 1, 2001, through September 30, 2002;
- (8) Dale Service's Phase 2 operating revenues, after all adjustments, were $3,474,142;
- (9) Dale Service's Phase 2 operating expenses, after all adjustments, were $3,885,069;
- (10) Dale Service's Phase 2 net operating revenues, and adjusted net operating income, after all adjustments were ($410,928) and ($413,505), respectively;
- (11) Dale Service's current rates produce a return on Phase 2 adjusted rate base of -2.19%, a DSC ratio of 0.23, and a return on common equity of -37.25%;
- (12) Dale Service's Phase 2 adjusted rate base is $18,905,199;

² Stipulation is provided as Attachment A.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

(13) Based on the Stipulation, Dale Service requires $3,501,934 in additional gross annual revenues to earn a reasonable return on rate base. Thus, the Phase 2 rates provided in the Stipulation are just and reasonable and should be made permanent for the Phase 2 rate period beginning October 1, 2002;

(14) Dale Service should be required to refund, with interest, all revenues collected under its interim Phase 2 rates in excess of the amounts found just and reasonable herein;

(15) Dale Service should be required to file AIFs with the Commission with its AIF for 2002 due no later than May 1, 2003. Dale Service should be required to include a DSC calculation, fully adjusted, on a basis consistent with that utilized by the Staff in this proceeding and shall assume 400 new service connections, until otherwise agreed upon by the Company and Staff;

(16) If Dale Service's AIF calculates a DSC that exceeds 1.20, or if the Commission later adjusts Dale Service's AIF to produce a DSC above 1.20, Dale Service should be required to reduce its rates going forward as of the next quarterly billing to produce a 1.20 DCS;

(17) Dale Service should be required to implement a $1,800.00 capacity charge per new connection and treat such amounts as revenue. If in any test year Dale Service receives more than 400 capacity charges, Dale Service should be required to impute interest income on the capacity charges in excess of 400 as a going-forward adjustment to test year results, and not include such excess capacity charges as revenue for ratemaking purposes;

(18) Dale Services should be required to revise its tariff to include the rules and regulations set forth in Attachment B to the Stipulation, and maintain its books in accordance with the Uniform System of Accounts for Class C water utilities;

(19) Dale Service should apply a 5% depreciation rate to the portion of the new facilities supported by its bonds and shall apply a 3% composite rate to all other depreciable plant, CIAC, and any replacement plant; and

(20) Dale Service should be required to report promptly to the Commission the receipt of any additional grants related to the new facilities installed to comply with new environmental regulations and initiate discussions with the Staff as to the ratemaking effect of such grants.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the Stipulation, and the Hearing Examiner's Report, is of the opinion and finds that the Hearing Examiner's findings and recommendations should be approved. We will approve the proposed revenue increase, rates, refunds, and proposals set forth in the Stipulation and Attachment A attached hereto. Since the Company billed rates lower than the noticed amount and has implemented the rates contained in the Stipulation, there should be no refunds.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The findings and recommendations set forth in the December 11, 2002, Hearing Examiner's Report are hereby adopted.
- (2) The Stipulation ("Attachment A") referenced herein is adopted and its terms are incorporated herein by its attachment hereto.
- (3) Within 30 days of this Order and no less than once every 3 years, Dale Service shall give notice to its Commercial customers according to the format in Attachment B of this Order.
- (4) Dale Service shall be granted an increase in gross annual revenues of $3,501,934.
- (5) This case is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

NOTE: A copy of Attachments A and B are on file and may be examined at the State Corporation Commission, Clerk's Office, Document Control Center, Tyler Building, First Floor, 1300 East Main Street, Richmond, Virginia.

APPLICATION OF
DALE SERVICE CORPORATION

For a general increase in rates

AMENDING ORDER

On February 21, 2003, the Commission issued its Final Order in the above-captioned case. The Commission established in Ordering paragraph two (2) that: "The Stipulation ('Attachment A') referenced herein is adopted and its terms are incorporated herein by its attachment hereto." The Commission established in Ordering paragraph three (3) that: "Within 30 days of this Order and no less than once every 3 years, Dale Service shall give notice to its Commercial customers according to the format in Attachment B of this Order." Due to a clerical error, the foregoing attachments were inadvertently left off of the Commission's February 21, 2003, Final Order in the above-captioned case.

NOW THE COMMISSION finds that this omission should be corrected.

Accordingly, IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The February 21, 2003, Final Order shall be revised to include Attachment A and Attachment B.
- (2) All other provisions of the Commission's Final Order of February 21, 2003 shall remain in effect.

CASE NO. PUE-2001-00298
JULY 11, 2003

AT THE RELATION OF THE
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Ex Parte: In the matter of establishing rules and regulations pursuant to the Virginia Electric Utility Restructuring Act for competitive metering services

ORDER ADOPTING RULES

Pursuant to the provisions of the Virginia Electric Utility Restructuring Act, § 56-576 et seq. ("Act") of the Code of Virginia, specifically, § 56-581.1, and the Commission's December 10, 2002, Order issued in this docket, the Staff filed a report on February 25, 2003 ("Report"), with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") presenting proposed rules for competitive electricity metering relating to financial ownership of electricity meters for large commercial and large industrial customers.

In its Report, Staff states that the proposed rules specifically require the local distribution company to provide the choice of meter ownership to large industrial and large commercial customers. Staff indicates that the rules address the definition of "large" customers, meter criteria, local distribution company responsibilities, meter access, and how the local distribution company shall respond to requests for meter ownership. Staff indicates that the proposed rules on customer meter ownership follow rules previously adopted to implement competitive metering services on January 1, 2003, by providing for meter functionality choices and data access choices, including access to meter data on a near real-time, on-command basis. Staff states in its Report that any additional elements of metering services would remain the responsibility of the local distribution company until such time as the Commission determines the competitive provision of such services to be in the public interest, in accordance with the nine statutory implementation criteria set forth in Va. Code § 56-581.1 E. Staff further states that in developing the proposed electricity metering rules for its Report, the Staff relied primarily on the guidelines of the Commission's Order of December 10, 2002, as well as input from the competitive metering work group during meetings on July 31, 2002, and February 12, 2003. Staff recommends in its Report that the rules should be adopted and effective no sooner than six months after the final rules are published in the Virginia Register, in order that the affected local distribution companies have sufficient time to address the impacts on billing and meter tracking systems and to develop their tariffs for 2004.

On March 3, 2003, the Commission issued an Order Inviting Comments ("Order") providing interested parties an opportunity to comment and/or request a hearing on Staff's proposed competitive metering rules.

Comments on the Staff Report and proposed competitive metering rules were filed by New Era Energy, Inc. ("New Era"), Appalachian Power Company d/b/a American Electric Power-Virginia ("AEP"), Allegheny Power ("AP"), and Dominion Virginia Power ("DVP"). None of the parties requested a hearing on, or proposed revisions to, the proposed rules.

Some parties filed comments on issues not related to the proposed rules. New Era restated its belief that it would be appropriate for the Commission to conduct a study of price-signaling technologies. New Era clarified that its recommendation did not include a study of cost effectiveness of demand control. New Era states that the objective of the proposed study was far narrower than interpreted by Staff; the objective of the study was to explore whether it might be feasible to adopt one or more standards and/or to consider how to support the emergence of real-time signaling. New Era further recommended in its comments that the Commission request the appropriate authority and funding authorization to take a pro-active position toward promoting the emergence of cost-effective energy management in Virginia.

In its comments, among other things, DVP stated that the study of voluntary pilot programs for residential and small commercial customers should be deferred to such time as the LTF requests the Commission to convene a work group to study this and other energy management options.

As we have noted in previous orders, it is apparent that the market for competitive metering services is in the early stages of development. We directed the Staff to prepare proposed rules for meter ownership by large industrial and large commercial customers, as we found that to be the next appropriate step to take in the development of competitive metering services. The parties who filed comments on Staff's proposed rules did not recommend any revisions to the rules as written. Accordingly, we adopt in full Staff's proposed rules on customer meter ownership by large industrial and large commercial customers.

In its comments, New Era reiterates its request for the Commission to conduct a study of price-signaling technologies, and initiate funding efforts to do so. While we continue to believe that access to timely meter data may boost the development of the competitive generation market, we believe, however, at this time, that the competitive market should drive these technologies. We note, as well, that in the 2003 General Assembly session, the LTF deferred action on a proposal to study short-term and long-term approaches to encourage voluntary and cost-effective energy management options to Virginia consumers.

We have previously directed the competitive metering work group to continue to meet to address additional implementation efforts. The development of the competitive metering market is intrinsically tied to advancements in metering technologies. In that regard, we have directed the Staff to study expanded or voluntary Time-Of-Use programs. We believe that the Staff with the assistance of the working group should continue these efforts, and that these efforts should be expanded to include looking at new meter technology. Such investigation could include examining the types of meters the utilities use. We want to seek to ensure that the technologies being used do not block the use of price signals or retard the development of a competitive metering market. We will direct the Staff and the work group to investigate these issues, and the Staff to file a report on or before May 1, 2004, providing the results of its investigation.

We take note of Staff's recommendation, which was supported by DVP in its comments,¹ that the rules should be adopted and effective no sooner than six months after the final rules are published in the Virginia Register, to provide the utilities sufficient time to address the impacts on billing and meter tracking systems and to develop their tariffs for 2004. We find, however, that if we provide timely service of this Order and the adopted rules on all affected utilities, those utilities should have sufficient time for system impacts to be addressed in order that the rules may become effective on January 1, 2004.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Regulations for competitive metering services are hereby adopted as set forth in Sections F through H, 20 VAC 5-312-20, of Attachment A to this Order.

(2) On or before August 30, 2003, each investor-owned distribution electric utility in Virginia shall file tariffs for competitive metering services reflecting the adopted regulations.

(3) A copy of this Order and the rules adopted herein shall be forwarded promptly for publication in the Virginia Register of Regulations. The rules shall be effective as of January 1, 2004.

(4) The Commission Staff shall proceed with the assistance of the work group to address those issues identified in this Order, issues we have identified in previous orders, as well as issues that arise during the efforts of the work group.

(5) On or before May 1, 2004, the Commission Staff shall file a report providing the results of its investigation of additional implementation efforts, including those issues identified in this Order.

(6) This matter shall be continued for further proceedings consistent with this Order.

AUGUST 26, 2003

APPLICATION OF
HENRY COUNTY POWER, LLC

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity for electric generation facilities in Henry County, Virginia

DISMISSAL ORDER

On May 10, 2001, as supplemented July 5, 2001, Henry County Power, LLC ("Henry County Power" or the "Company") filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for a new generating facility to be located in Henry County, Virginia. A hearing on the application was held on December 19, 2001.

By Ruling dated June 13, 2002, all proceedings in the case were suspended, at the request of the Company, to allow it to review the project and its ability to compete effectively in the wholesale power markets.

On July 31, 2003, the Company, by counsel, filed a Motion to Withdraw Application and Terminate Proceeding. The Company states that it will no longer pursue the proposed power generation project that is the subject of this proceeding. Company requests leave to withdraw the application, and asks that this proceeding be terminated.

On August 1, 2003, the Hearing Examiner filed his Report finding that the Company's Motion should be granted and recommending that the Commission enter an order dismissing this matter. No objections or comments to the Hearing Examiner's Report have been filed. The Commission concurs with the recommendation of the Hearing Examiner.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT this case is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases and the papers shall be placed in the file for ended causes.

SEPTEMBER 23, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA
At the relation of the
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Ex Parte: In the matter of considering requirements relating to wires charges pursuant to the Virginia Electric Utility Restructuring Act

FINAL ORDER

On November 19, 2001, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered an Order ("November 19, 2001, Order") in this docket establishing generation market price methodologies for purposes of establishing wires charges for Dominion Virginia Power ("DVP" or the "Company"), and Appalachian Power Company, d/b/a American Electric Power ("AEP-VA"). Subsequently, on May 24, 2002, the Commission also entered an order establishing wires charge methodologies for Virginia electric distribution cooperatives¹ ("Cooperatives").

The November 19, 2001, Order, inter alia, directed in Ordering Paragraph five (5) thereof, that incumbent electric utilities seeking to impose wires charges in calendar year 2003 and beyond make annual filings by July 1 of each year for any proposed revisions in their fuel factor, "and corresponding changes in capped rates, and for market price proposals." Ordering Paragraph six (6) of that Order kept this docket open for consideration of other matters concerning market price determinations and wires charges, as they may arise.

On July 1, 2003, DVP filed its Application to Revise Its Market Prices for Generation and Resulting Wires Charges for Calendar Year 2004 and to Revise Its Competitive Service Provider Coordination Tariff ("Application"). Attached to its Application as Appendices 1 through 12 are schedules and workpapers reflecting the illustrative calculations of DVP's market prices and wires charges for 2004 based on the current market as assessed during the May 12 through May 23, 2003 time period. According to the Company, the illustrative calculations are based on ten days selected by DVP. DVP states that its Appendices and workpapers reflect that the wires charges were determined using the same methodology that the Commission approved for the Company for 2002 and 2003 in this docket.

In its Application, DVP also proposes certain revisions to its Competitive Service Provider ("CSP") Coordination Tariff, and requests that they become effective on January 1, 2004. The Company proposes four changes to its CSP Coordination Tariff in order to minimize the risks associated with inclusion of a capacity adder, which was permitted by the Commission in its October 11, 2002, Final Order in this docket.² The proposed changes are as follows: (1) In Section 6.8 – Coordination of Customer Activities, the Company proposes the following changes: (a) deleting the phrase, "on a best efforts basis,"; (b) changing the notice requirement from "at least 30 calendar days advanced notice" to "at least 60 calendar days written advanced notice"; and (c) adding the following new sentence: "With regard to termination of service, a large volume of customer activity shall be defined as loads greater than or equal to 10 MW returned to capped rate service during a 30-day period"; and (2) In Section 8.2 – Events of Non-Compliance, the Company proposes to add the following new subsection: "8.2.10 CSP's failure to provide 60 days written advance notice of a large volume of customer terminations as defined in Subsection 6.6 and Subsection 6.8."

Also on July 1, 2003, AEP-VA filed a letter with the Commission advising that it had decided not to request wires charges for any of its customers during calendar year 2004, and stating that no change in its tariffs is necessary because the current applicable tariffs reflect wires charges set at zero for all customers. In addition to its letter, AEP-VA submitted a Report on 2004 Wires Charges, both for informational purposes to maintain continuity with previous years' reports and to show the basis for its decision not to seek wires charges during 2004. In its letter, AEP-VA states that it recognizes that there is an outstanding issue regarding the appropriate transmission expense adjustment to use in calculating any wires charges it seeks to impose in future calendar years. Given its decision not to seek to impose wires charges in 2004, AEP-VA states that it was not necessary for it to prepare the information related to transmission expense adjustments set forth on page 13 of the October 11, 2002, Final Order in this docket. AEP-VA commits to providing that information, subject to any modifications that the Commission may order as a result of changed circumstances (as envisioned in the Commission's November 11, 2002, Order on Reconsideration in this case), in the first required July 1 report it files in the future that seeks to impose wires charges during the following calendar year. AEP-VA further states that it reserves the right to propose a transmission expense adjustment methodology that reflects the circumstances in effect at that time.

The Cooperatives also filed comments in this proceeding on July 1, 2003. In its comments, the Cooperatives state that they continue to support the general methodology by which changes in their wholesale power and fuel costs, and corresponding change in their capped rates, can be recognized and calculated monthly, and also continue to support the Commission's method of establishing market prices based on forward price data from relevant trading hubs and data collected through on-line exchanges. The Cooperatives further state that each cooperative either has or will file specific adjusted price and wire charge information at least 150 days prior to commencing retail choice in its respective service territory.

On July 24, 2003, the Commission issued an Order setting a procedural schedule and hearing date for the determination of market prices in conjunction with the establishment of wires charges for incumbent electric utilities in calendar year 2004. The Virginia Independent Power Producers, Inc., Strategic Energy, LLC, and the Division of Consumer Counsel of the Office of the Attorney General filed notices of participation as respondents in the case. No respondents filed any testimony.

² Although the Commission's October 11, 2002, Final Order permitted DVP's inclusion of a capacity adder in its proposed market prices for generation, the Commission declined to adopt the Company's proposed tariff changes.

On August 20, 2003, the Staff filed its testimony in this proceeding. The Staff recommended no changes in the methodologies employed by DVP and AEP-VA beyond those required for AEP-VA by the Commission's October 11, 2002, Final Order. The Staff found DVP's proposed tariff revisions to be reasonable, and noted that DVP did not propose a deficiency charge for non-compliant CSPs, as it did in last year's proceeding. Further, Staff notes its continued objection to DVP's potential recovery of any lost revenues resulting from implementation of the capacity adder through the fuel factor, but states that DVP's current proposal makes no mention of such an intention. Therefore, Staff assumes that DVP does not propose to recover any lost revenues due to implementation of the capacity adder through a subsequent fuel factor proceeding. Finally, the Staff concluded that the use of published price indices obtained from Platt's in the Commission's approved market price determination methodology is appropriate.

DVP did not file any rebuttal testimony in this proceeding.

The hearing to receive evidence on the market price determination issues was convened at the Commission on September 10, 2003. Appearances were made by counsel for the Commission's Staff, DVP, AEP-VA, the Cooperatives, and the Division of Consumer Counsel. All material contained in both DVP's Application and the Staff's testimony were stipulated by the parties, and no witnesses testified.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the record and the applicable statutes and rules, is of the opinion and finds that the wires charge proposal of DVP should be adopted for the 2004 calendar year, and the Company's proposed tariff revisions should be accepted. We also find that AEP-VA shall provide the detailed transmission expense information required by our October 11, 2002, Final Order in this docket if it wishes to collect wires charges in 2005.

We note that in its testimony, the Staff interpreted DVP's Application and interrogatory response to exclude any proposal to recover lost revenues due to the capacity adder through the fuel factor. DVP did not rebut this assumption by the Staff. We therefore conclude that DVP does not disagree with the Staff's conclusions on this point. We will prohibit utilizing the fuel factor to recover any lost revenues that may accrue under the tariff provisions approved in this proceeding. Accordingly, we will prohibit DVP from seeking recovery of any such lost revenues due to non-compliance of a CSP in a future fuel factor proceeding; DVP must instead rely on its approved tariff provisions to ensure adequate recovery.

Finally, we will not designate in this Order the ten days on which the base forward market information will be collected. In order to have the benefit of the most current data, we will designate the ten days in the order regarding DVP's fuel factor application, Case No. PUE-2003-00285.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The generation market price methodologies for purposes of establishing wires charges for DVP for 2002 established in our November 19, 2001, Order, as further modified by our October 11, 2002, Final Order, are hereby approved for calendar year 2004, and DVP's proposed revisions to its CSP Coordination Tariff are hereby accepted.

(2) Incumbent electric utilities seeking to impose a wires charge in calendar year 2005 and beyond shall make annual filings by July 1 of each year for any proposed revisions in their fuel factor and corresponding changes in capped rates, and for market price proposals.

(3) This docket shall remain open for the receipt of reports to be filed herein and for consideration of other matters concerning market price determination and wires charges, as they may arise.

APRIL 2, 2003

APPLICATION OF
VIRGINIA NATURAL GAS, INC.

For an Annual Informational Filing

ORDER ACCEPTING AGREEMENT AND DISMISSING PROCEEDING

On May 24, 2001, Virginia Natural Gas, Inc. ("VNG" or the "Company") filed a Motion requesting that it be permitted to change the test year for its Annual Informational Filing ("AIF") for 2001. In support of its request, VNG stated that it had been purchased by AGL Resources Inc. ("AGL" or "AGLR") on October 1, 2000, and that AGL conducted its business on a fiscal year ending September 30. VNG averred that it had modified its business and accounting policies and practices to be consistent with those of its new corporate parent and requested permission to file its AIF for twelve months ending September 30, 2001. It requested permission to file its AIF for the period ending September 30, 2001, with the Company filing no later than January 28, 2002. The Company represented that modification of its AIF reporting requirement to a test year ending September 30, 2001, and every September 30, thereafter would not result in any significant changes in the data reported.

On July 5, 2001, the Commission docketed VNG's request and granted VNG's motion. The Commission also directed the Company to file its AIF for the twelve months ending September 30, 2001, by no later than January 28, 2002, or no more than 120 days after the close of its modified test year.

On January 28, 2002, VNG filed its AIF for the twelve months ending September 30, 2001, with the Commission. In a letter filed with its AIF, VNG requested a waiver of the portion of 20 VAC 5-200-30 A 9 and 20 VAC 5-200-30 B2 of the Commission's Rules Governing Utility Rate Increase Applications and Annual Informational Filings ("Rules") requiring VNG to submit ratemaking adjustments in Schedules 12 and 17 of its AIF to reflect an amortization of costs incurred by AGLR, as part of the total costs of acquiring VNG. The Company acknowledged that a grant of its waiver request did not imply Commission endorsement of the ratemaking adjustments proposed by the Company.

On February 7, 2002, the Commission entered an Order granting a waiver of Rules 20 VAC 5-200-30 A 9 and 20 VAC 5-200-30 B2 for this case alone. The Commission stated that the waiver it granted did not constitute the acceptance or adoption of any of VNG's adjustments to its cost of service.

On October 31, 2002, the Commission Staff filed its Report in this proceeding. That Report included a financial and accounting analysis. In its financial analysis, the Staff noted that the Company proposed to use a hypothetical Consolidated Natural Gas ("CNG") capital structure, based on an average of the dollar amount of each component of CNG's capital structure from 1997 through 2000. The resulting capitalization ratios were then applied to the total dollar amount of AGL's test year capitalization. Thereafter, AGL's total capitalization was apportioned in a manner reflecting CNG's average capitalization from 1997 through 2000. This capital structure produced an overall cost of capital of 8.91%, based on the 10.9% midpoint of the authorized return on equity range.

Staff also reported that in the Joint Agreement adopted in the Commission's Order approving AGL's acquisition of VNG,¹ AGL and VNG represented that the proposed acquisition would not materially impact the cost of total capitalization used for ratemaking purposes for VNG. AGL and VNG further agreed that if adverse impacts to the cost of capital did occur, AGL and VNG would not seek to recover any of the resulting cost of capital increases from VNG's ratepayers. In its July 28, 2000 Final Order approving AGL's acquisition of VNG, the Commission directed that the acquisition be subject to the terms and conditions of the Joint Agreement. Acquisition Case, 2000 S.C.C. Ann. Rep. at 218.

The Staff also noted that in the Commission's Order Approving Experiment entered in Case No. PUE-2002-00237, the Commission lowered the bottom of VNG's return on equity range by 40 basis points for future AIF filings, resulting in a new range of 10.0% to 11.4%.² Further, in the September 27, 2002 Order Approving Experiment, the Commission accepted the provision of VNG's offer of settlement wherein VNG agreed not to file a base rate case or any non-gas revenue neutral rate design proposals applicable to residential and general service classes before July 1, 2004, except under the emergency conditions set forth in § 56-245 of the Code of Virginia. In consideration of the Commission's September 27, 2002 Order in Case No. PUE-2002-00237, Staff recommended that the hypothetical CNG capital structure employed in Exhibit 2-A of the Report and by the Company in its AIF be used until the issues of capital structure and return on equity could be addressed in VNG's next rate case.

In the accounting analysis portion of its Report, Staff described the differences between its accounting adjustments and those included by VNG in its cost of service. Staff's analysis focused on VNG's proposals to adjust cost of service to reflect the acquisition of VNG by AGLR. According to Staff, VNG deferred transition costs in the amount of $20,663,948, that it sought to amortize over three years. These transition costs included charges such as capitalized software, employee severances, AGL costs of acquisition, and gross receipts taxes. The Company's adjustment to amortization expense amounted to $6,587,667 on a jurisdictional basis.

The Staff also observed that in Case No. PUA-1999-00020, the Dominion Resources, Inc. ("DRI") and CNG Petition for merger, DRI and CNG submitted a stipulation that was adopted by the Commission.³ The Staff reported that in Paragraph 4 of the Stipulation, VNG waived its right to recover from its jurisdictional customers any costs directly or indirectly related to the disposition of VNG. Paragraph 5 of the Stipulation required VNG to inform any purchaser of VNG of the provisions of Paragraph 4. Based upon the terms of the Stipulation accepted in Case No. PUA-1999-00020, the Staff proposed to eliminate transition costs from VNG's cost of service.

Additionally, Staff asserted that severance and capitalized software costs have been recovered. Staff maintained that it has been Commission policy that transition costs be matched with related savings, such as those from reduced payroll, benefits, and payroll taxes. According to Staff, the Company's cumulative savings in payroll, benefits and payroll taxes in the test year and pro forma year were over $13.2 million and were in excess of the deferred severance and computer software costs of $11.5 million. Staff maintained that since the severance and computer software costs had been recovered, it was inappropriate to seek continued amortization of these costs through deferred transition costs.

Staff also maintained that gross receipts taxes of $1.1 million that were charged to the acquisition adjustment had also been recovered. It explained that rates paid by the consumers through December 31, 2000, included gross receipts tax expense incurred by the Company. Effective January 1, 2001, gross receipts taxes were eliminated and state income taxes were initiated. Staff reasoned that since consumers have effectively reimbursed the Company for its gross receipt tax expense, it is inappropriate to charge the acquisition adjustment for this amount.

VNG also proposed to recover amortization costs related to the acquisition adjustment, and that the acquisition adjustment be amortized over 39 years. The acquisition adjustment amounts to $156,101,656.

Staff recommended that before the Commission determines whether the amortization of an acquisition adjustment should be reflected in VNG's rates, it should be assured that there were permanent savings that exceed total merger-related costs and that a net benefit accrued to the ratepayer. Staff concluded that the costs related to the acquisition outweighed the benefits to the ratepayers, citing the lost benefit of a reduction to rate base generated by accumulated deferred income taxes ("ADIT")⁴ as well as the tax credit amortization generated by the deferred investment tax credit, and the increase in intercompany billings since VNG's acquisition by AGLR.

Staff therefore eliminated the per book amount of the acquisition adjustment of $3,725,991 on a jurisdictional basis and advised that if the amortization of the acquisition adjustment and related ADIT were included in cost of service and rate base, return on equity would be depressed by 103 basis points.

Finally, the Staff analyzed the Company's regulatory asset related to the implementation of Other Pension Employee Benefits ("OPEB") and determined that VNG's actual earnings resulted in a 7.81% return on equity on a regulatory basis, a return below the bottom of the Company's authorized return on equity range. Staff concluded that the Company had not recovered charges relating to regulatory assets beyond the authorized level of amortization reflected in rates and that no further action as to the Company's base rates or regulatory assets were required in this proceeding.

On November 25, 2002, VNG, by counsel, filed the "Response of Virginia Natural Gas, Inc. to Staff Report Dated October 31, 2002" ("Response"). In its Response, VNG addressed the accounting treatment of the acquisition adjustment, the related analysis of merger costs versus merger savings, and the accounting treatment of merger transition costs. VNG recommended revisions to the Staff's adjustments to recognize that inflation accounts for a portion of the increase in intercompany billings and to recognize that in addition to operation and maintenance reductions, savings have occurred in the form of reductions to capitalized costs. VNG calculated a net cost of the acquisition to be $0.8 million rather than Staff's net cost of $1.5 million.

VNG requested that the Commission allow the Company to include the amortization of the acquisition adjustment in its current and future AIFs until the Commission considers the adjustment in a general rate case. With regard to the treatment of merger transition costs, VNG asserted that it should be permitted to recover $11.5 million of deferred severance and computer software costs. It argues that since Staff's earnings test shows that VNG realized a 7.81% test year return on equity that is below the bottom of the Company's return on equity range, VNG failed to recover sufficient revenue during the test year to offset deferred acquisition transition costs. It maintains that Staff's exclusion of the amortization of the merger transition costs is not consistent with the fact that VNG's current rates include recovery of these employee salaries, payroll and benefits. It maintained that VNG should be allowed to continue its three year amortization of these costs and include the amortization in current and future AIFs. It stated that if the Commission did not accept VNG's position based on its Response that VNG be given an opportunity to be heard on these matters.

On December 11, 2002, the Staff filed its Reply wherein the Staff urged the Commission to adopt the Staff's recommendations in its October 31, 2002 Report, including the Staff's recommendations that a final determination regarding VNG's recovery of amortization costs related to VNG's acquisition by AGLR as a result of AGLR's purchase of VNG stock from CNG, be determined in the context of a rate case after the Commission has assured itself there are permanent savings that exceed total merger-related costs. Staff maintained, among other things, that no hearing on the application was necessary since the Staff was not recommending any change in the Company's rates.

Additionally, Staff asserted that it was improper to include an inflationary factor in the calculation of additional intercompany billings incurred by VNG from AGLR, as compared with VNG's former parent CNG. It asserted there were other countervailing factors at work besides inflation. Staff explained that it did not reflect a reduction to capitalized amounts resulting from employees whose employment by VNG was terminated ("severed") because capitalized costs would continue to accrue and the work performed by employees who had been severed would continue to be performed by outside contractors or through increased overtime work performed by VNG's remaining employees.

Staff observed that the balance used by VNG on Schedule 3, line 2 of its Response was static, and maintained that this balance could be expected to grow prospectively. Further, when calculating the change in ADIT prospectively, any ADIT relating to the step up in basis resulting from the merger must be excluded since the acquisition adjustment has been excluded from rate base.

With regard to the Company's assertion that its transition costs have not been recovered because its earnings test indicates that the Company has underearned, Staff noted that earnings tests are used to determine whether a regulatory asset should be established or if there has been accelerated recovery of a regulatory asset. The Staff maintained that the issue of matching severance costs and associated payroll and other savings is distinct from issues relating to an earnings test, citing a case where the Commission matched severance costs and savings outside of rather than as part of an earnings test. Staff contended that the cumulative savings from reduced payroll benefits and payroll exceeded the severance and software costs and therefore should be deemed recovered.

On March 12, 2003, VNG filed the "Amended Response of Virginia Natural Gas, Inc. to Staff Report Dated October 31, 2002" ("Amended Response"). In its Amended Response, VNG noted that after discussions with Staff, the Company had re-evaluated the proper accounting treatment of the acquisition adjustment and proper methodology for measuring merger costs and savings. The Amended Response represents that the Company and Staff agreed to an alternative methodology to measure the operating and maintenance ("O&M") savings and the plant reductions related to the Company's acquisition by AGL. The O&M methodology is set out on Appendix A to the Amended Response. Appendix B to the Amended Response sets forth the methodology for calculating rate base reductions and includes plant net of accumulated depreciation less the effects of the acquisition premium and ADIT. Appendix C provides a summary of merger savings for 2001, using an arithmetic average growth rate.

With respect to the purchase premium, VNG represented that it and Staff agree for AIF purposes to continue the amortization of the purchase premium associated with VNG's acquisition by AGLR over a 39-year period and associated transition costs, i.e., employee severance and capitalized software costs, over a three year period. VNG stated that it did not propose any amortization of acquisition transaction costs, e.g., consulting and advisory services, legal, accounting and banking fees and outstanding gross receipts taxes. VNG proposes to calculate the merger costs and savings and proposes to include those calculations in the filed AIF workpapers. In the event that in a future rate case, the Commission allows rate recovery of a portion of the purchase premium in recognition of the acquisition savings, VNG would follow the accounting guidelines provided by FAS 71 and 142.

VNG expressly acknowledged that its proposed accounting for AIF purposes did not bind the Commission, Staff, or any other party in future rate cases from considering other methods to measure savings or costs and did not obligate any of the foregoing to accept the methodology proposed in the Response. The Company recognized that the Staff may evaluate the Company's methodology on an ongoing basis and acknowledged that the Staff reserved the right to recommend a different methodology in AIFs or in other future proceedings. VNG also stated that the recovery of an acquisition adjustment would be "subject to a future rate proceeding."

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the Company's application, and the pleadings hereto, is of the opinion and finds that the Company should use the hypothetical CNG capital structure set out in Exhibit 2-A of the Staff Report until the issues of capital structure and return on equity can be addressed in VNG's next rate case; that the methodology set out in the Appendices to the Amended Response to measure merger costs and savings and to account for VNG's acquisition premium for AIF purposes is hereby adopted; that in accordance with the representations of the Amended Response, the methodology accepted herein does not bind the Staff, any party or this Commission in future proceedings when considering the issue of measuring merger costs and savings and the issue of an acquisition adjustment; that by accepting the proposed accounting for AIF purposes, the Commission has not decided the issues of VNG's entitlement to and recovery of an acquisition adjustment; that those issues should be reserved for decision in a rate proceeding; and that this case should be dismissed from Commission's docket of active proceedings.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) In accordance with Staff's recommendations, VNG shall continue to use the hypothetical CNG capital structure described in Exhibit 2-A of the Staff Report until the issues of capital structure and return on equity are addressed in VNG's next rate proceeding.

(2) The methodology to measure costs and savings and to account for VNG's acquisition premium as described in the Appendices to the March 12, 2003 Amended Response is hereby accepted for this and subsequent AIFs filed by the Company with the Commission. Acceptance of this methodology does not obligate the Commission, Staff, or others who are not participating in this case to accept this methodology, and instead, represents how VNG may present its measurement of costs and savings and account for an acquisition premium when filing its AIFs.

(3) The acceptance of this methodology for purposes of presentation in an AIF does not constitute approval of VNG's acquisition adjustment or recovery thereof in rates. These issues shall be addressed in VNG's next rate proceeding.

(4) There being nothing further to be done herein, this case shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings, and the papers filed herein shall be placed in the Commission's files for ended causes.

JANUARY 14, 2003

APPLICATION OF
VIRGINIA GAS DISTRIBUTION COMPANY

For an Annual Informational Filing

ORDER ADOPTING RECOMMENDATIONS
AND DISMISSING PROCEEDING

On January 22, 2002, Virginia Gas Distribution Company ("VGDC" or the "Company"), by counsel, filed a motion with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to request additional time in which to file its Annual Informational Filing ("AIF") for 2001. In that motion, VGDC noted that the Commission had previously granted an extension for the Company to file its AIF for 2001, but asserted that it required a further extension to May 31, 2002, to gather the appropriate information for filing this AIF.

In its January 25, 2002 Order Granting Further Extension, among other things, the Commission directed VGDC to file its 2001 AIF using the test period January 1, 2001, through September 30, 2001, for all of its AIF schedules with the exception of Schedules 9, 10, and 12, no later than May 31, 2002. The Company was also directed to file by May 31, 2002, Schedules 9, 10, and 12, using the twelve months ending September 30, 2001, as the test period for these Schedules.

On May 3, 2002, the Company, by counsel, filed a motion requesting a waiver of Rule 20 VAC 5-200-30 A 9, requiring the filing of Schedules 9 through 14, and that part of Schedule 21 (Workpapers for Earnings Test and Ratemaking Adjustments) related to the foregoing Schedules. In support of its motion, VGDC stated that Schedules 9 through 14 address the Company's earnings test and regulatory assets and that the Company had no regulatory assets or capitalized interest subject to the earnings test required by these Schedules.

On May 10, 2002, the Commission granted a waiver of Rule 20 VAC 5-200-30 A 9 and directed that VGDC could omit Schedules 9 through 14, and that portion of Schedule 21, relating to the omitted schedules, from its AIF for the test year ending September 30, 2001.

On June 7, 2002, VGDC, by counsel, filed a motion requesting that its 2001 AIF delivered to the Commission on June 5, 2002, be accepted out of time. The Company explained that it was unable to file its AIF on May 31, 2002, because of extenuating family circumstances experienced by its regulatory compliance officer.

On June 14, 2002, the Commission granted VGDC's motion and accepted the Company's 2001 AIF out of time, subject to a review of the documents accompanying the application for completeness in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules Governing Utility Rate Increase Applications and Annual Informational Filings ("Rate Case Rules"). The Company's application was determined to be complete on June 11, 2002.

On November 22, 2002, the Staff filed its audit report in the captioned matter, which included a financial and accounting analysis. In its report, Staff noted that it had used an 11.5% cost of equity in VGDC's capital structure since the Company does not have an authorized point or range for its return on equity. Staff explained that the lack of actual operating data made it necessary for the Company to base its application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, docketed as Case No. PUE-1993-00013, on the rates derived from its estimate of revenues and costs.

Staff reported that VGDC filed an application for its first rate increase in August 1999, in Case No. PUE-1999-00531. VGDC elected not to seek an authorized return on equity which would have supported a higher rate increase than it requested in its application. The February 22, 2000 Order entered in Case No. PUE-1999-00531 permitted VGDC's proposed rate increase to take effect on January 23, 2000, under the terms of the Joint Stipulation reached between the Company and Staff. The Joint Stipulation specifically provided that no authorized return on equity range would be identified as part of that case.

In its report, the Staff supported the use of NUI Corporation's ("NUI's") capital structure for purposes of the captioned AIF. NUI was the company that acquired Virginia Gas Company ("VGC"), VGDC's former parent, and VGDC. Staff explained that it generally supports the use of the capital structure of the entity that raises debt capital in capital markets because the entity raising capital is subject to market constraints and scrutiny. With NUI's acquisition of VGC and VGDC, NUI became the entity that supplied capital to VGDC. Staff therefore used NUI's ratemaking capital structure for its report and determined that the consolidated NUI ratemaking capital structure has an equity ratio of 36.973% and produces a cost of capital of 7.69% for the test year. For comparative purposes, the Staff noted that the consolidated NUI ratemaking capital structure was not significantly different from the consolidated VGC capital structure, which had an equity ratio of 35.54% and produced an overall cost of capital of 7.557%. Staff further commented that VGDC should file Schedules 1, 2, and 3, in any future AIF consistent with the Commission's Rate Case Rules by including information for the test year and four prior fiscal years.

In its accounting analysis, Staff reported that it had corrected several of VGDC's accounting adjustments. Staff noted that the Commission had issued an Order, docketed as Case No. PUA-2001-00041, on September 6, 2002, approving a comprehensive affiliates agreement between VGDC, VGC, Virginia Gas Storage Company ("VGSC") and Virginia Gas Pipeline Company. During the test year, the costs associated with that agreement were not distributed. Since the Commission's September 6, 2002 Order was issued at the end of the Company's pro forma year, Staff did not make any adjustments to the Company's cost of service for these expenses. Staff recommended that the Company reflect adjustments to the cost of service and rate base that incorporate the distribution of costs specified in the September 6, 2002 Order entered in Case No. PUA-2001-00041, in its next AIF or rate application.

Staff also proposed that the Company be required to write off capitalized interest booked in excess of the methodology agreed upon by Staff and Company in Case No. PUE-1998-00325. This methodology addressed the treatment of capitalized interest in rate base. Staff and Company had agreed, consistent with that methodology, that any interest capitalized on the Company's books in excess of the agreed upon methodology would be removed from rate base. Staff recommended that the Commission authorize the Company to write off excess capitalized interest from the books that the Company maintains for regulatory purposes.

By letter filed January 7, 2003, VGDC, by counsel, advised that it did not desire to respond to the Staff report.

NOW UPON consideration of the Company's application, the Staff report, and the applicable statutes, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the Staff's recommendations found in its November 22, 2002 report should be adopted, and that this application should be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Consistent with the findings made herein, the recommendations set out in the Staff's November 22, 2002 report are hereby adopted.
- (2) VGDC shall file Schedules 1, 2, and 3 in any future AIF consistent with the Commission's Rate Case Rules by including information for the test year and the four prior fiscal years.
- (3) The Company shall write off interest capitalized in excess of the amounts of interest capitalized in the Company's rate base in accordance with the agreed upon methodology delineated in Case No. PUE-1998-00325 from the books that the Company maintains for regulatory purposes.
- (4) VGDC shall reflect adjustments to its cost of service and rate base that incorporate the distribution of costs specified in the September 6, 2002 Order entered in Case No. PUA-2001-00041, in the Company's next AIF or rate application.
- (5) There being nothing further to be done in this proceeding, this application shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings, and the papers filed herein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

JANUARY 16, 2003

APPLICATION OF
VIRGINIA GAS STORAGE COMPANY

For an Annual Informational Filing

ORDER ADOPTING RECOMMENDATIONS AND DISMISSING PROCEEDINGS

In its January 28, 2002, Order, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") directed Virginia Gas Storage Company ("VGSC" or the "Company") to file its 2001 Annual Informational Filing ("AIF") by no later than May 31, 2002. In the same Order, the Commission authorized VGSC to use the test period January 1, 2001, through September 30, 2001, for all of its AIF Schedules with the exception of Schedules 9, 10, and 12. The Commission directed the Company to file Schedules 9, 10, and 12, using the twelve months ending September 30, 2001, as the test year for these Schedules, by no later than May 31, 2002.

On May 10, 2002, the Commission granted VGSC's request for a waiver of the portions of Rule 20 VAC 5-200-30 A 9 of the Commission's Rules Governing Utility Rate Increase Applications and Annual Informational Filings ("Rate Case Rules") requiring the filing of Schedules 9 through 14, and the part of Schedule 21 (Workpapers for Earnings Test and Ratemaking Adjustments) relating to the omitted Schedules.

On June 7, 2002, VGSC, by counsel, filed a motion requesting that its AIF delivered to the Commission on June 5, 2002, be accepted out of time. VGSC advised that it was unable to file its AIF on May 31, 2002, because of the extenuating family circumstances experienced by its regulatory compliance officer. VGSC represented in its motion that the Staff did not oppose the Company's request.

On June 14, 2002, the Commission issued its Order and granted VGSC's request to receive the Company's AIF out of time, subject to a further determination concerning the completeness of the documents accompanying VGSC's AIF.

The Company's application was determined to be complete on July 11, 2002.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

On December 11, 2002, the Staff filed its Report on the captioned application. This Report included a financial and accounting analysis. Staff noted in its Report that it employed a 11.5% return on equity for illustrative purposes. It explained that in VGSC's application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for a storage facility, the Company was not a going concern. Because actual operating data was not available, the Company's application was based on rates derived from estimates of revenues and costs. VGSC received authority from the Commission to provide gas storage service on the basis of the rates filed in its certificate application rather than on a specified return on equity range.

The Staff also explained that it used the consolidated capital structure of NUI Corporation ("NUI") in its Report because NUI is the ultimate source of any market capital available to VGSC. The Staff commented that it generally supports the use of the capital structure of the entity that raises capital on behalf of a utility company's operations. Prior to NUI's acquisition of Virginia Gas Company ("VGC") and VGSC, VGC was the entity whose capital structure Staff used for ratemaking purposes. After NUI's acquisition of VGC and VGSC, NUI became the entity that accessed capital markets to supply capital to VGSC. Consistent with the change in ownership and the Staff's general position regarding capital structures, Staff used NUI's consolidated capital structure for purposes of the Report. NUI's consolidated ratemaking capital structure has an equity ratio of 38.59% and produces a cost of capital of 7.69% for the test year. Staff reported that NUI's capital structure was not significantly different from the consolidated VGC capital structure, which has an equity ratio of 36.88% and produces an overall cost of capital of 7.56%. Staff requested that VGSC file Schedules 1, 2, and 3, required by the Rules Case Rules in any future AIF in accordance with the Rate Case Rules by including information for the test year and the four prior fiscal years for VGSC and NUI.

In its accounting analysis, the Staff observed there was a disparity between VGSC's filed nine-month total company return on common equity of 6.58% and VGSC's filed jurisdictional return on common equity of 17.78%. That disparity prompted Staff to examine the Company's jurisdictional allocation methodology, as well as VGSC's pricing for service closely. According to Staff, VGSC has always allocated expenses and rate base on contracted volumes, implying that the level of contracted therms is what drives the Company's expenses. To investigate the issue further, Staff recommended that the Commission direct VGSC to conduct a full review of its jurisdictional methodology and to report its findings in the Company's next AIF filing.

Staff noted that VGSC has received approval from the Commission in Case No. PUA-2001-00041, regarding the allocation of common costs and facilities among VGSC's affiliates. With the allocation of the operation and maintenance and facility-related expenses, VGSC's fully adjusted return on common equity would have been 14.20%, based on nine months of earnings. Since the approval of the affiliate application occurred on September 6, 2002, in the last month of the pro forma period examined by Staff, the Staff made no test period ratemaking adjustment to allocate costs among VGSC and its affiliates. Staff further explained that no costs originating at NUI have been allocated to its regulated subsidiaries and, at the time Staff concluded its Report, there was no affiliate agreement on file with the Commission concerning allocations of common costs from NUI to the regulated subsidiaries. Thus, no allocations from NUI were considered in Staff's accounting analysis.

Additionally, Staff reported that Atmos Energy Corporation ("Atmos") currently has a contract with VGSC for 180,000 therms of gas storage at the Company's Early Grove Storage Facility. Atmos and its affiliate, Woodward Marketing, L.L.C. ("Woodward"), have received approval from the Commission to take gas storage services for Atmos through Virginia Gas Pipeline Company's ("VGPC's") Saltville Storage Facility effective May 1, 2003. This arrangement would replace the current storage agreement for Atmos that uses VGSC's Early Grove Storage Facility. Staff commented that these circumstances could affect VGSC's earnings. Staff, therefore, recommended that VGSC be directed to report to Staff on the status of Atmos' storage arrangements as well as the impact of those arrangements on VGSC's cost of service as part of the Company's next AIF or rate proceeding.

Staff concluded that the results of the nine-month test period ending September 30, 2001, were not directly comparable to the prior twelve-month periods ending December 31, analyzed by Staff. Because of a number of unresolved circumstances, e.g., the change in the Atmos contract for storage, the Staff proposed that no action be taken regarding VGSC's rates until after consideration of the Company's next AIF.

On January 7, 2003, VGSC, by counsel, filed a letter advising that VGSC did not intend to file a response to the Staff's December 11, 2002, Report.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the Company's application, the December 11, 2002, Staff Report, and the applicable statutes, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the Staff's recommendations found in the December 11, 2002, Staff Report should be adopted and that the captioned application should be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Consistent with the findings made herein, the recommendations set out in the Staff's December 11, 2002, Report are hereby adopted.
- (2) VGSC shall file Schedules 1, 2, and 3, in any future AIF consistent with the Commission's Rate Case Rules by including information for the test year and the four prior fiscal years.
- (3) VGSC shall report to the Staff on the status of its provision of storage services to Atmos and the impact of Atmos' receipt of storage services from the Saltville Storage Facility rather than VGSC's Early Grove Facility on VGSC's cost of service in the Company's next AIF or rate proceeding.
- (4) With regard to VGSC's jurisdictional allocation methodology and storage pricing methodology, VGSC shall conduct a full review of its jurisdictional allocation methodology and report the results of such review in the Company's next AIF.
- (5) There being nothing further to be done in this proceeding, this application shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings, and the papers filed herein placed in the Commission's files for ended causes.

JANUARY 15, 2003

APPLICATION OF
VIRGINIA GAS PIPELINE COMPANY

For an Annual Informational Filing

ORDER ADOPTING RECOMMENDATIONS
AND DISMISSING PROCEEDING

On January 22, 2002, Virginia Gas Pipeline Company ("VGPC" or the "Company"), by counsel, filed a motion with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to request additional time in which to file its Annual Informational Filing ("AIF") containing financial and operating data for 2001. In its motion, VGPC noted that the Commission has previously granted the Company an extension for its AIF in the Commission's July 12, 2001, Order entered herein. The Company asserted that it required a further extension beyond February 27, 2002, to May 31, 2002, to gather the appropriate information for filing its AIF.

On January 28, 2002, the Commission entered an Order wherein, among other things, it granted VGPC's request for an extension of time, and directed the Commission to file its 2001 AIF using the test period January 1, 2001, through September 2001, for all of its AIF Schedules, with the exception of Schedules 9, 10, and 12, by no later than May 31, 2002. As to Schedules 9, 10, and 12, the Commission directed the Company to file these Schedules using the twelve months ending September 30, 2001, as the test year for these Schedules.

On June 5, 2002, VGPC delivered its AIF for the year 2001. On June 7, 2002, VGPC, by counsel, filed a motion requesting that its filing be received out of time. To support its request, the Company alleged that it was unable to file its 2001 AIF on May 31, 2002, because of extenuating family circumstances experienced by its regulatory compliance officer.

On June 14, 2002, the Commission issued its Order and granted VGPC's request to receive the Company's AIF out of time subject to a further determination concerning the completeness of the documents accompanying the AIF, and subject further to VGPC completing Schedules 9, 10, and 12, by providing data for the twelve months ending September 30, 2001.

The Company's application was determined to be complete on July 17, 2002. This application included financial and operating data for the twelve months ended September 30, 2001, for Schedules 9, 10, and 12. The remaining Schedules were provided for the nine months ended September 30, 2001.

On December 11, 2002, the Staff filed its Report on the captioned application. Staff noted in its Report that it employed a 13.5% return on equity for illustrative purposes only. It explained that in VGPC's application for certificates of public convenience and necessity for the Company's storage and pipeline facilities, the Company assumed a cost of equity of 13.5%.

The Staff used the consolidated capital structure of NUI Corporation ("NUI") in its Report because NUI is the ultimate source of market capital available to VGPC. Prior to NUI's acquisition of Virginia Gas Company ("VGC"), VGPC's parent, and VGPC, VGC was the entity whose capital structure Staff used for ratemaking purposes. After NUI's acquisition of VGC and VGPC, NUI became the entity that accessed capital markets to supply capital to VGPC. Consistent with the change in ownership and Staff's general position regarding capital structures, Staff used NUI's consolidated capital structure for purposes of its Report. This capital structure has an equity ratio of 38.59% and produces a cost of capital of 7.69% for the test year.

Staff reported that NUI's capital structure was not significantly different from the consolidated VGC capital structure, which has an equity ratio of 36.88% and produces an overall cost of capital of 7.58%. Staff requested that, in its next AIF, the Company file Schedules 1, 2, and 3, required by the Rules Governing Utility Rate Increase Applications and Annual Informational Filings, 20 VAC 5-200-30 et seq., adopted in Case No. PUE-1999-00054 ("Rate Case Rules"), by including information for the test year and the four prior fiscal years for VGPC and NUI.

In its accounting analysis, the Staff noted that it had reached an agreement that had been accepted by the Commission in Case No. PUE-1998-00627 regarding the treatment of capitalized interest. Based on Staff's analysis of the Company's earnings for the test year, the Company had not recovered its interest costs. Staff used the agreed upon methodology from Case No. PUE-1998-00627 to calculate a jurisdictional amount of capitalized interest to be removed from rate base. In its adjustment, VGPC removed $647,471 of cumulative jurisdictional capitalized interest from rate base, using the agreed upon methodology versus Staff's adjustment of $647,605. According to Staff, the difference between the Company's and Staff's adjustments was created by VGPC's use of incorrect plant and construction work in progress allocation factors.

Staff also commented that the agreed upon treatment regarding capitalized interest is an exception to the Commission's long standing approach regarding capitalized interest. Staff acknowledged that there may come a time when it may no longer be appropriate to capitalize VGPC's interest. It observed that inclusion of capitalized interest in VGPC's rates should continue to be scrutinized in VGPC's next AIF or rate case, and that the Company should reflect capitalized interest at a level consistent with the use of the agreed upon methodology in its future filings.

As to the Company's earnings test, the Staff noted that VGPC is not earning above the 13.50% return on equity benchmark that Staff has used in prior AIFs. Additionally, Staff did not recommend any write-off of the Company's regulatory assets related to Segment 5 of the Company's P-25 Pipeline.

Further, Staff noted that on September 6, 2002, the Commission issued an Order Granting Approval in Case No. PUA-2001-00041 dealing with approval of a comprehensive affiliate agreement among VGPC, VGC, Virginia Gas Storage Company ("VGSC") and Virginia Gas Distribution Company. Since the Order Granting Approval was issued at the end of the Company's pro forma year, Staff did not make any adjustments to cost of service for the expenses related to the approval of the agreement. Staff recommended that in the Company's next AIF for the test year ended September 30, 2002, the Company should reflect adjustments to VGPC's cost of service and rate base that incorporate the distribution of costs specified in the September 6, 2002, Order.

Staff's Report also noted that on August 30, 2002, VGPC, Saltville Gas Storage Company, L.L.C., NUI Saltville Storage, Inc., and VGC filed an application with the Commission pursuant to Chapters 4 and 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia. This application requested authority for the companies to transfer and receive certain assets from both regulated and non-regulated affiliated entities of VGPC and for a reduction in service territory.

On November 22, 2002, the Commission issued its Order Granting Authority in the application docketed as Case No. PUE-2002-00458. The Commission instructed the Staff to address the transfer process for the subject real property and assets in the Company's next rate proceeding. Staff noted its intent to address these issues in the first AIF or rate case following the transfer of the assets and recommended that VGPC include with its next AIF or rate application all journal entries made to reflect the transfer of assets and real property, as well as the justification supporting the transfer price of the assets transferred in that case.

Finally, Staff also recommended that the Company capitalize property taxes on amounts relating to its property under construction.

In a letter filed with the Commission on January 7, 2003, the Company, by counsel, advised that VGPC did not intend to file a response to the December 11, 2002, Staff Report.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of VGPC's application, the Staff Report, and the applicable statutes, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the Staff's recommendations found in the December 11, 2002, Report should be adopted, and this application should be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Consistent with the findings made herein, the recommendations set out in the Staff's December 11, 2002, Report are hereby adopted.
- (2) VGPC shall file Schedules 1, 2, and 3, in any future AIF consistent with the Commission's Rate Case Rules by including information for the test year and the four prior fiscal years.
- (3) VGPC shall reflect adjustments to cost of service and rate base in its subsequent AIFs or its next rate application that incorporate the distribution of costs specified in the Commission's September 6, 2002, Order Granting Approval, entered in Case No. PUA-2001-00041.
- (4) Consistent with the Staff's recommendation, the Company shall include with its next AIF or rate application all journal entries made to reflect the transfer of assets and real property addressed in Case No. PUE-2002-00458, together with the justification of the transfer price.
- (5) The Company shall reflect capitalized interest at a level that is consistent with the use of the agreed upon methodology for capitalized interest reached in Case No. PUE-1998-00627 in future AIFs.
- (6) VGPC shall capitalize property taxes on amounts relating to property under construction, consistent with the recommendations in the accounting analysis in the December 11, 2002, Staff Report.
- (7) There being nothing further to be done in this proceeding, this application shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings and the papers filed herein placed in the Commission's files for ended causes.

JULY 16, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
v.
ROANOKE GAS COMPANY,
Defendant

ORDER VACATING DIRECTIVE TO PAY THE BALANCE OF PENALTY AND DISMISSING PROCEEDING

On July 8, 2002, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered an Order of Settlement that required Roanoke Gas Company ("Roanoke" or the "Company") to take certain remedial actions and pay a fine of $85,800. The sum of $5,800 was tendered contemporaneously with the entry of the Order. The Order provided that the remaining $80,000 may be suspended and vacated, provided the Company timely undertook the actions required by the Order and filed timely certifications for the remedial actions outlined in the Order.

On December 31, 2002, the Commission granted Roanoke's request for an extension of time in which to take over the operation and maintenance of six natural gas master meter systems served by Roanoke, and extended the time in which the Company had to provide an affidavit certifying that the Company had taken over the operation and maintenance of the master meter systems.

On July 14, 2003, the Commission Staff filed a Motion that advised that the Company had complied with the requirements of the July 8, 2002, Order of Settlement, as revised by the Commission's December 31, 2002, Order on Motion. The Staff requested that the Commission vacate its directive requiring the Company to pay the remaining $80,000 penalty, and asked that the Commission dismiss the case from the docket of active proceedings. Staff advised that Roanoke concurred with the Staff's requests.

NOW, UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the Staff's July 14, 2003, Motion should be granted; that the requirement that Roanoke pay the remaining $80,000 penalty should be vacated; and that this matter should be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The Staff's July 14, 2003, Motion is hereby granted.

(2) The requirement that Roanoke Gas Company pay the $80,000 penalty provided for in Ordering Paragraph (5) of the July 8, 2002, Order of Settlement is hereby vacated.

(3) This case is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings, and the papers filed herein shall be made a part of the Commission's files for ended causes.

CASE NO. PUE-2001-00429
JANUARY 9, 2003

APPLICATION OF
TENASKA VIRGINIA II PARTNERS, L.P.

For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Va. Code Section 56-265.2, an exemption from Chapter 10 of Title 56, and interim approval to make financial commitments and undertake preliminary construction work

FINAL ORDER

On August 15, 2001, Tenaska Virginia II Partners, L.P. ("Tenaska II" or the "Company") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to § 56-265.2 of the Code of Virginia (the "Code") to construct and operate a 900 MW natural gas-fired, combined cycle generating facility in Buckingham County, Virginia (the "Facility"). Tenaska II requested an exemption from the provisions of Chapter 10 of the Code, §§ 56-232 et seq. The Company also requested interim authority under § 56-234.3 of the Code to allow it to make financial expenditures and undertake preliminary construction work.

On September 13, 2001, the Commission entered an order scheduling a public hearing in this matter. The Commission required Tenaska II to provide public notice of its application, provided interested persons with an opportunity to participate in the matter, established a procedural schedule, and assigned a Hearing Examiner to conduct further proceedings.

On October 3, 2001, Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc. ("Columbia Gas"), filed a notice of participation as a respondent.

Interested parties, including local businesses and federal, state, and local officials, filed comments in support of the Facility by the November 1, 2001, deadline.

The Department of Environmental Quality ("DEQ") coordinated an environmental review of the application by DEQ and other interested state agencies, the regional planning commission, and Buckingham County, Virginia. DEQ prepared a report on the potential impacts from construction and operation of the Facility, as well as recommendations for minimizing those impacts, which was filed on November 19, 2001 ("DEQ Report").

On November 26, 2001, the Commission Staff ("Staff") filed direct testimony regarding its analysis of Tenaska II's application. The DEQ Report was attached to this testimony.

Tenaska II filed rebuttal testimony on December 3, 2001.

The Company, Staff, and Columbia Gas entered into a stipulation regarding the supply of natural gas to the Facility ("Stipulation"). The Stipulation was filed on December 6, 2001.

An evidentiary hearing was held on December 10, 2001, before Hearing Examiner Howard P. Anderson, Jr. Richard D. Gary, Esquire, John M. Holloway, III, Esquire, and Angie Jenkins, Esquire, appeared on behalf of Tenaska II. Tenaska II presented the testimony of T. R. Ownby, Project Manager for Tenaska II, and Dr. Greg Kunkel, Manager of Environmental Affairs for Tenaska, Inc. Katharine A. Hart, Esquire, and C. Meade Browder, Jr., Esquire, appeared on behalf of Staff. Staff presented the testimony of Mark K. Carsley and Lawrence T. Oliver of the Division of Economics and Finance, and Marc A. Tufaro, of the Division of Energy Regulation. M. Renae Carter, Esquire, appeared on behalf of Columbia Gas. Three public witnesses testified at the hearing in support of the Facility. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Hearing Examiner directed the Company and Staff to file post-hearing briefs on the issue of water discharge. These briefs were filed on January 31, 2002.

On March 26, 2002, the Hearing Examiner issued a ruling reopening this proceeding to receive additional evidence regarding the environment.¹ The Hearing Examiner requested additional evidence regarding three issues: (1) the cumulative impact of existing and proposed electric generating facilities on air quality in Buckingham County and surrounding counties; (2) the environmental impact of the lateral natural gas pipeline that will connect the Facility with the interstate gas pipeline of Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corporation; and (3) the effects on transmission reliability of interconnecting the Facility to Dominion Virginia Power's transmission grid.

¹ In Application of Tenaska Virginia Partners, L.P. For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Virginia Code § 56-265.2, an exemption from Chapter 10 of Title 56, and interim approval to make financial commitments and undertake preliminary construction work, Case No. PUE-2001-00039, Order (January 16, 2002) ("Tenaska"), a majority of the Commission remanded that case for further proceedings and recommendations with respect to consideration of the environment, specifically the cumulative impact of proposed facilities on existing air quality.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

On April 25, 2002, Tenaska II filed supplemental testimony and exhibits on the issues identified by the Hearing Examiner. Staff filed its additional testimony and exhibits on May 9, 2002. Columbia Gas indicated in a letter filed on May 21, 2002, that it would not be participating in the receipt of additional evidence, but that Columbia Gas continued to support the adoption of the Stipulation.

A hearing was held on May 28, 2002, with Richard D. Gary, Esquire, John M. Holloway, III, Esquire, and Kevin Finto, Esquire, appearing on behalf of Tenaska II and Katharine A. Hart, Esquire, appearing on behalf of Staff. Tenaska II presented the testimony of Scott Helyer, Director of Transmission for Tenaska, Inc., and Dr. Kunkel. Staff did not present any witnesses.

On July 12, 2002, Tenaska II submitted a brief addressing the evidence presented at the May 28, 2002, hearing.

On September 10, 2002, the Hearing Examiner entered a Report summarizing the record and analyzing the evidence and issues in this proceeding. The Report makes the following findings:

- (1) The [Facility] will have no material adverse effect upon the rates paid by customers of any regulated utility in the Commonwealth;
- (2) The [Facility] will have no adverse effect upon the reliability of electric service provided by any regulated public utility;
- (3) The current level of air quality in Buckingham County is good, and is in attainment of all National Ambient Air Quality Standards;
- (4) The cumulative impact air analysis is reasonable;
- (5) The cumulative impact air analysis adequately demonstrates that the emissions, when combined with the emissions from other existing or proposed facilities, will have no material adverse effect on air quality in Buckingham County and the surrounding area;
- (6) The [Facility] will not adversely impact any private residences;
- (7) The [Facility] is not contrary to the public interest;
- (8) The [Facility] should enhance competition at the wholesale level;
- (9) Tenaska II should be directed to file with the Commission any tolling agreements pertaining to the [Facility];
- (10) The evidence supports a finding that the [Facility] will provide a positive economic benefit to Buckingham County and the Commonwealth;
- (11) The Commission should grant Tenaska II a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate the [Facility] conditioned upon receipt of all permits required to construct and operate the [Facility];
- (12) The certificate of public convenience and necessity issued to Tenaska II should contain a provision that it will expire two years from the date issued, if construction on the [Facility] has not commenced;
- (13) Tenaska II should be directed to report to the Commission any changes in its business plan; and
- (14) The Stipulation between Staff, Tenaska II, and Columbia Gas should be approved.

Therefore, the Hearing Examiner recommended that the Commission adopt the findings contained in his Report and grant Tenaska II a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to § 56-580 D of the Code to construct and operate the Facility.²

In response to a Staff request, on November 21, 2002, DEQ filed a letter pursuant to § 10.1-1186.2:1 of the Code ("DEQ Letter"). Among other things, this Code section requires that, prior to the close of the Commission's record on an application for certification of an electric generating facility pursuant to § 56-580 of the Code, the DEQ shall provide the Commission with certain information about environmental issues identified during the review process. The DEQ Letter indicated, among other things, that all environmental issues identified during the DEQ's review process were addressed in the DEQ Report previously filed.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the pleadings, the Hearing Examiner's Report, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate the Facility should be granted to Tenaska II.

² On September 19, 2002, Tenaska II filed a letter making a factual correction to the Hearing Examiner's Report that does not affect the Hearing Examiner's recommendations. The Company otherwise did not object to the Hearing Examiner's Report.

As we have indicated in previous orders,³ the Code establishes six general areas of analysis applicable to electric generating plant applications: (1) reliability;⁴ (2) competition;⁵ (3) rates;⁶ (4) environment;⁷ (5) economic development;⁸ and (6) public interest.⁹ We have evaluated the Facility according to these six areas.

We find that the Facility will have no material adverse effect upon reliability of electric service provided by any regulated public utility. We further find that the Facility is not otherwise contrary to the public interest in that, among other things, rates for the regulated public utility will not be impacted. In addition, we find that the Facility will provide economic benefit.

Pursuant to §§ 56-46.1 A and 56-580 D of the Code, we have given consideration to the effect of the Facility on the environment. On April 30, 2002, Tenaska II received from the DEQ a Prevention of Significant Deterioration Permit, Registration No. 32004, authorizing the Company to construct and operate an electrical power generation facility. On September 5, 2002, Tenaska II filed with the Commission a copy of Virginia Water Protection Permit No. 01-1282 ("VWPP") issued to East Cost Transport, Inc., authorizing it to construct water intake facilities and withdraw water from the James River to serve the Facility.

The DEQ Letter explains that four of the recommendations contained in the DEQ Report were included as a part of the above-mentioned VWPP. These four recommendations involve: (1) precautions for in-stream work; (2) correlating flow conditions with downstream water withdrawals; (3) addressing cumulative impacts of the Tenaska II Facility and the Tenaska Virginia Partners, LP, project in Fluvanna County; and (4) wetland protection practices. We note that effective July 1, 2002, §§ 56-46.1 A and 56-580 D of the Code provide, among other things, that any valid permit or approval regulating environmental impact and mitigation of adverse environmental impact, "whether such permit or approval is granted prior to or after the Commission's decision," shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of §§ 56-46.1 A and 56-580 D of the Code "with respect to all matters that (i) are governed by the permit or approval or (ii) are within the authority of, and were considered by, the governmental entity in issuing such permit or approval, and the Commission shall impose no additional conditions with respect to such matters." Therefore, pursuant to §§ 56-46.1 A and 56-580 D of the Code, the Commission shall impose no additional conditions with respect to these four recommendations.

The DEQ Letter identifies four other recommendations contained in the DEQ Report that "could have been included as conditions of" the VWPP, but were not. The record reflects that Tenaska II has agreed to comply with three of these four recommendations, which pertain to: (1) a monitoring program in Fluvanna; (2) wildlife and waterfowl habitat areas; and (3) spill prevention measures.¹⁰ We will require the Company to comply with these three recommendations. The fourth recommendation involves consideration of alternative wastewater discharge, such as routing the effluent into a water storage reservoir rather than directly into the James River, to address concerns regarding the thermal effects of the effluent. The DEQ Letter states that this recommendation was not included in the VWPP, which pertains to water withdrawal, because the DEQ Water Permits Support Office believed that it lacked the requisite authority.

The record is clear, however, that this fourth recommendation will be addressed as part of the process for receiving a Virginia Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit ("VPDES") from the DEQ. Witnesses for both the Department of Conservation and the DEQ testified that thermal effects on the James River and alternative wastewater discharge would be addressed by the VPDES permitting process.¹¹ Thus, the recommendation on wastewater discharge is within the authority of, and is being considered by, the permitting agency. Pursuant to §§ 56-46.1 A and 56-580 D of the Code, the Commission shall impose no additional condition with respect to this recommendation.

Finally, the DEQ Letter of November 21, 2002, notes that three recommendations contained in the DEQ Report of November 19, 2001, pertain to matters not governed by permits or approvals. These recommendations involve: (1) protection of individual trees; (2) pollution prevention practices; and (3) limiting the use of pesticides and herbicides. Tenaska II agreed to implement these recommendations. We will require Tenaska II to comply with these recommendations as a condition of the certificate.

In addition, the Commission will condition the certificate granted herein upon the Company's receipt of all environmental and other permits necessary to construct and operate the Facility. We also will provide that the certificate will expire two years from the date of this Order if construction on the Facility has not commenced.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to § 56-580 D of the Code, Tenaska II is hereby granted authority and a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate the Facility described in this proceeding.
- (2) The certificate granted herein shall be conditioned upon the receipt of all environmental and other permits necessary to construct and operate the Facility.
- (3) As a condition of the certificate, Tenaska II shall comply with the recommendations made by DEQ in the DEQ Report filed in this proceeding, except for the five recommendations identified herein on which the Commission shall impose no additional conditions: (a) precautions for in-stream work; (b) correlating flow conditions with downstream water withdrawals; (c) addressing cumulative impacts of the Tenaska II Facility and the Tenaska Virginia Partners, LP, project in Fluvanna County; (d) wetland protection practices; and (e) alternative wastewater discharge.
- (4) The certificate granted herein shall expire in two years from the date of this Order, if construction of the Facility has not commenced.
- (5) The Stipulation between Staff, Tenaska II, and Columbia Gas is hereby approved and adopted.
- (6) There being nothing further to come before the Commission in this proceeding, this case shall be removed from the docket and the papers transferred to the file for ended causes.

MOORE, Commissioner, Concurs:

Given the statutory change effective July 1, 2002, I concur with my colleagues in the decision to approve construction and operation of the proposed facility. While the necessary permits from all other agencies have not been issued, as reflected in the order, there appears to be nothing further for this Commission to consider. I continue to be extremely concerned that the environmental studies, analyses, and reviews prior to the issuance of permits and approvals may not be adequate or as thorough as they should be.¹ If the studies, analyses, and reviews of the state are inadequate, Virginia may suffer unnecessarily, causing harm not only to the environment, but to the health of the citizens and the economy of the Commonwealth.

¹ Examples of areas where, based on the records before the Commission, additional analysis and study should be required are discussed in my prior concurrences and dissents. See Commissioner Moore concurrence, Application of Old Dominion Electric Cooperative, For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity for electric generating facilities, Case No. PUE-2002-00003, Final Order (November 6, 2002); Commissioner Moore concurrence, Application of CPV Cunningham Creek LLC, For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Va. Code §56-265.2, for an exemption from Chapter 10 of Title 56, and for the interim authority to make financial expenditures, Case No. PUE-2001-00477, Final Order (October 7, 2002); Commissioner Moore concurrence, Application of Old Dominion Electric Cooperative, For a certificate of public convenience and necessity for electric generation facilities in Louisa County, Case No. PUE-2001-00303, Final Order (July 17, 2002); Commissioner Moore dissent, Application of Buchanan Generation, LCC, For permission to construct and operate an electrical generating facility, Case No. PUE-2001-00657, Final Order (June 25, 2002) ("Buchanan, Moore dissent"); Commissioner Moore dissent, Application of Tenaska Virginia Partners, L.P., For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Virginia Code §56-265.2, an exemption from Chapter 10 of Title 56, and interim approval to make financial commitments and undertake preliminary construction work, Case No. PUE-2001-00039, Final Order (April 19, 2002) ("Tenaska, Moore dissent").

This case presents another example based on the data and explanations provided to the Commission. The most critical area in this proceeding appears to be ozone where the current background ozone concentration level in the area of the proposed plant is already at 117 ppb, which is almost equal to the present NAAQS for ozone. The cumulative impact study puts the ozone concentration level at 121 ppb, above the current NAAQS of 120, but below the violation threshold. Ozone concentration levels under the more stringent revised standard were not provided although it was said that the area would be in attainment under both standards. Although not stated, it certainly appears that those involved in the permitting process act as though if there is no violation, then Virginia's environment and people are safe. This is incorrect. There is no safe level of ozone, and exceedences under the revised standard (eight-hour, 80 ppb) have been more than fifteen times greater statewide than under the one-hour standard (one-hour, 120 ppb). See Tenaska, Moore dissent at 6-8 and Buchanan, Moore dissent at 3-4. Given these facts and the current ozone level in the area, more data should be provided and analyzed, and the impacts of ozone on the health of people and the environment should be studied and considered carefully before the Commonwealth decides whether to approve the construction and operation of the proposed facility.

DECEMBER 16, 2003

APPLICATION OF
MIRANT DANVILLE, LLC

For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Va. Code § 56-265.2, an exemption from Chapter 10 of Title 56 and interim approval to make financial commitments and undertake preliminary construction work

DISMISSAL ORDER

On November 3, 2003, counsel for Mirant Danville, LLC ("Mirant"), requested to withdraw its application for approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct a 550 MW electric generating facility in Danville, Virginia (the "Project"). Mirant had filed its application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") on August 16, 2001. On January 31, 2002, following the public hearing on the application, Mirant publicly announced that it had indefinitely deferred the construction of the Project. On February 4, 2002, a Hearing Examiner's report was issued recommending that the Commission approve construction and operation of the Project; however, recognizing the recent announcement, it was also recommended that Mirant advise the Commission of its intent concerning the Project. Mirant advised the Commission on February 6, 2002, that it was not abandoning the Project and had initiated the process to find a suitable developer for the Project and requested that the Commission continue to process its application. On November 3, 2003, Mirant filed a letter with the Commission stating that its attempts to identify a new developer for the Project have been unsuccessful and requests permission to withdraw its application. On November 12, 2003, a Hearing Examiner's report was issued recommending that the Commission grant Mirant's request to withdraw the application and remove the case from the Commission's docket.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the request, finds that it is reasonable and should be granted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT Mirant's request to withdraw its application is granted, and this case is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

JUNE 24, 2003

APPLICATION OF
AEP RETAIL ENERGY, LLC

For permanent licenses to conduct business as a natural gas and electric competitive service provider and as an aggregator

DISMISSAL ORDER

On October 5, 2001, AEP Retail Energy, LLC ("AEP" or the "Company"), was issued License Nos. E-2, G-3, and A-3, by the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide competitive electric, natural gas, and aggregation services to all classes of retail customers throughout Virginia as the Commonwealth opens up to retail access and customer choice.

By letter dated June 12, 2003, ("Letter"), AEP advised that it did not wish to retain its licenses to supply electric, natural gas, and aggregation services.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of AEP's Letter and having been advised by its Staff, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the Company's current licenses, License Nos. E-2, G-3, and A-3, are terminated. As a result, AEP is no longer authorized to act as a competitive service provider and aggregator in Virginia.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) AEP's license, License No. E-2, is hereby terminated without prejudice to the Company should it reapply to the Commission for a new license as a CSP.
- (2) AEP's license, License No. G-3, is hereby terminated without prejudice to the Company should it reapply to the Commission for a new license as a CSP.
- (3) AEP's license, License No. A-3, is hereby terminated without prejudice to the Company should it reapply to the Commission for a new license as a CSP.
- (4) This case is hereby dismissed.

APPLICATION OF
AMERICA'S ENERGY ALLIANCE, INC.
and
NOVEC ENERGY SOLUTIONS, INC.

For licenses to conduct business as an electric and natural gas competitive service provider and aggregator

ORDER REISSUING LICENSES

On November 30, 2001, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") issued to America's Energy Alliance, Inc. ("Alliance"), License Nos. E-9, G-11 and A-10. These licenses authorized Alliance to provide competitive electric and natural gas service and aggregation services to residential, commercial and industrial customers in retail access programs throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia as the Commonwealth opens up to retail access and customer choice.

On April 15, 2002, Alliance made a filing with the Commission advising that it had changed its corporate name to NOVEC Energy Solutions, Inc. On January 29, 2003, Alliance filed an official request for an update to its licenses to reflect its new corporate name.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of this matter, finds that Alliance's License Nos. E-9, G-11 and A-10 to conduct business as a competitive electric and natural gas service provider and as an aggregator, shall be canceled and reissued in the name of NOVEC Energy Solutions, Inc.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) License No. E-9 authorizing America's Energy Alliance, Inc. to provide competitive electric service to residential, commercial and industrial customers in conjunction with the retail access programs is hereby canceled, and shall be reissued as License No. E-9A in the name of NOVEC Energy Solutions, Inc.

(2) License No. G-11 authorizing America's Energy Alliance, Inc. to provide competitive natural gas service to residential, commercial and industrial customers in conjunction with the retail access programs is hereby canceled, and shall be reissued as License No. G-11A in the name of NOVEC Energy Solutions, Inc.

(5) This case shall remain open for consideration of any subsequent amendments or modifications to these licenses.

APRIL 3, 2003

PETITION OF
and
COMMONWEALTH PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATION

For Annual Informational Filings

ORDER ADOPTING RECOMMENDATIONS
AND DISMISSING PROCEEDING

On October 2, 2001, Roanoke Gas Company ("Roanoke" or "RGC") and Commonwealth Public Service Corporation ("CPSC" or "Commonwealth") (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Petitioners" or the "Companies") filed a letter with the Clerk of the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting that the Commission waive the requirement that the Petitioners file Annual Informational Filings ("AIFs"), using as their test periods the twelve months ended September 30, 2001. These AIFs would ordinarily be due to be filed with the Commission on January 28, 2002.

In support of their request, the Petitioners maintained that they intended to file a consolidating general rate case based on a new test period ended March 31, 2002, with new rates to be effective December 1, 2002. The Companies anticipated filing their general rate application on or around the first week in July 2002.

On October 17, 2001, the Commission entered an Order granting the Petitioners' request for waiver. Among other things, the Commission docketed the proceeding and directed that in the event the Companies determined not to file a consolidated rate application on or around July 5, 2002, they file their AIFs for the twelve months ending September 30, 2001, by no later than July 5, 2002. The Commission cautioned that the waiver it granted did not relieve the Companies of their obligation to file the reports on their respective Distribution System Renewal Surcharges ("DSR surcharges" or "DSRS"), required as part of the stipulations accepted by the Commission in Case No. PUE-1998-00626¹ and Case No. PUE-1999-00438.² Additionally, the Commission ordered the Companies to file with the Clerk of the Commission an earnings test for RGC and CPSC respectively for the twelve months ended September 30, 2001, on or before January 28, 2002. The Commission further directed the Companies to file with the Commission earnings tests for RGC and CPSC, respectively, for the twelve months ended September 30, 2002, on or before December 3, 2002. The Commission left the captioned case open to receive the earnings tests required to be filed herein.

On June 17, 2002, Roanoke filed its application for a general increase in rates with the Commission. In this application, docketed as Case No. PUE-2002-00373, among other things, RGC sought to terminate the DSR surcharges for itself and Commonwealth.³

On February 5, 2002, Roanoke and CPSC filed their respective earnings test with the Commission. On May 2, 2002, the Staff filed its Report in the proceeding. In its Report, the Staff utilized the earnings tests filed by the Companies to evaluate the appropriateness of their DSR surcharges as well as the deferral of their extraordinary test year uncollectible expenses.

² Application of Commonwealth Public Service Corporation, For a general increase in rates and revision in tariffs, Case No. PUE-1999-00438, 1999 S.C.C. Ann. Rep. 504, 505 (hereinafter referred to as "Case No. PUE-1999-00438").

³ A Final Order in Case No. PUE-2002-00373 was entered on January 7, 2003. See Application of Roanoke Gas Company, For a general increase in rates, Case No. PUE-2002-00373, Doc. Con. Cen. No. 030110332, slip. op. (Jan. 7, 2003 Final Order).

The Staff reported that as a result of Case No. PUE-1998-00626 for Roanoke and Case No. PUE-1999-00438 for Commonwealth, the Companies' rates were frozen through November 30, 2002. It explained that the stipulations accepted in these cases allowed Roanoke and CPSC to make timely recoveries of plant renewal investment outside the context of a rate case through their respective DSR surcharges. These stipulations required that DSRS recoveries would be subject to annual earnings tests. As provided in these agreements, for Roanoke, there would be three annual earnings tests addressing the periods for the twelve months ended September 30, 2000, through the twelve months ended September 30, 2002.⁴ For CPSC, there would be two annual earnings tests, for the periods encompassing the twelve months ended September 30, 2001, through the twelve months ended September 30, 2002. At the end of the annual earnings tests, cumulative DSR surcharge recoveries would be subject to refund to the extent that they exceeded cumulative underearnings net of DSR surcharge recoveries.

For purposes of evaluating Roanoke's DSRS for the test year ended September 30, 2001, the Staff included all of the adjustments utilized in the earnings test evaluation of the uncollectible deferral, including the deferral of $288,447 of test year uncollectible costs. Staff made adjustments to remove the impact of test year DSRS collections. As provided in the stipulation accepted in Case No. PUE-1998-00626, the Staff removed test year DSR surcharge revenues so DSRS recoveries for the three-year surcharge period could be measured against underearnings exclusive of DSR surcharge recoveries. Staff also removed the federal and state income tax, gross receipts tax, and uncollectible account impact of the test year DSRS recoveries.

After considering these adjustments, Roanoke earned an 8.22% return on rate base and a 9.18% return on common equity. Relative to the 10.25% benchmark return on common equity, Roanoke underearned during the second collection year by $387,052. DSR surcharge collections during the second year were $434,191. The two year cumulative underearnings were $1,186,685, while the two year cumulative DSR surcharge collections were $632,107. As provided in Case No. PUE-1998-00626, surcharge collections would be refundable to the extent they exceeded any net underearnings determined over the three earnings test periods.

With regard to uncollectible expenses, the Staff reported that Roanoke and CPSC experienced substantial increases in their respective uncollectible expenses, primarily as a result of high natural gas costs. Staff reached an agreement with both Companies to provide for regulatory asset deferral of their respective excessive uncollectible costs arising from unpaid gas bills. The deferral was equal to the excess of the test year net charge-off level relative to the 5-year average net charge-off level from 1996-2000. For Roanoke, the regulatory asset amount related to uncollectible expense was $288,447, and for CPSC the amount was $28,519. Staff proposed that amortization of the new regulatory assets would occur over a three-year period and would commence, effective with the rates resulting from Roanoke's general rate application docketed as Case No. PUE-2002-00373. Staff evaluated recovery of the excessive uncollectible cost regulatory assets based on earnings as compared to the midpoint of the authorized range of return on common equity.

Based on its evaluation of the earnings test, and prior to the deferral of excess test year uncollectible costs, Staff reported that Roanoke earned an 8.41% return on rate base and a 9.58% return on common equity after limited adjustments. With the deferral of $288,447 of uncollectible costs, RGC earned an 8.80% return on rate base and a 10.41% return on common equity. Since establishment of the regulatory asset resulted in earnings which were below the 10.50% midpoint of the authorized return on common equity range, no reduction of the newly created regulatory asset was recommended by Staff.

With regard to CPSC's earnings, Staff noted that prior to the deferral of test year uncollectible costs, Commonwealth earned a 4.59% return on rate base and a 2.13% return on common equity after limited adjustments. Staff noted that following the deferral of the uncollectible costs, the Company earned a 5.55% return on rate base and a 4.17% return on common equity. Staff concluded that since CPSC's earnings were below the authorized 10.50% midpoint of the return on equity range, no reduction of the newly created regulatory asset was required.

With regard to the evaluation of CPSC's DSR surcharge collections, Staff reported that, based upon the stipulated benchmark of 10.25%, and after adjustments including the deferral of $28,519 of test year uncollectible costs, CPSC underearned during the initial collection year by $95,849. DSR surcharge collections during the initial year were $4,559. Staff reported that CPSC's cumulative underearnings to date were $95,849, and its cumulative undercollections to date through its DSR surcharges were $91,290.

Staff concluded that neither Roanoke nor CPSC had overearned with respect to the test year uncollectible cost deferral. Staff advised that it would make a recommendation on the appropriateness of Roanoke's and CPSC's cumulative DSR surcharge collections after evaluating the September 30, 2002, earnings tests for these Companies.

By its letter filed on June 14, 2002, the Company advised that it did not intend to file a response to the Staff's May 2, 2002 Report.

On December 12, 2002, the Companies, by counsel, filed a "Motion to Accept Late Filing", together with their earnings tests for the twelve months ended September 30, 2002. According to the Companies, inclement weather delayed the filing of these earnings tests with the Commission.

On December 17, 2002, the Commission entered an Order accepting the earnings tests for Roanoke and Commonwealth for the twelve months ended September 30, 2002, out of time.

On March 12, 2003, the Staff filed its Report on the Companies' earnings tests for the twelve months ending September 30, 2002. In its Report, the Staff noted that in Roanoke's general rate case, Case No. PUE-2002-00373, the Companies requested termination of their respective DSR surcharges following the expiration of these surcharges on November 30, 2002. Staff reported that continued amortization of the uncollectible regulatory asset, established in the captioned matter (Case No. PUE-2001-00535) was considered in Case No. PUE-2002-00373, and would be considered in each subsequent rate application or AIF.

With regard to Roanoke's DSR surcharge collections, Staff employed the stipulated benchmark of 10.25%. In addition to Roanoke's adjustments, Staff removed the test year DSR surcharge collections and the federal and state income tax and uncollectible account impacts of the test year DSR surcharge recoveries. Staff synchronized interest and the related tax impact because a consolidated capital structure was used. Roanoke earned a 6.84% return on rate base and a 7.37% return on common equity. Relative to the 10.25% benchmark on common equity, Roanoke underearned during the second collection year by $1,056,461. DSR surcharge collections during the second year were $494,895. The three-year cumulative underearnings were $2,243,146, while the three-year cumulative DSR surcharge collections were $1,127,002. Since Roanoke had a net undercollection in relation to the DSR surcharge collections through the three years ended September 30, 2002, Staff recommended that no further action be taken.

⁴ The Staff evaluated Roanoke's earnings test for the twelve months ending September 30, 2000, in Case No. PUE-2001-00067, and determined that Roanoke was not overearning.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

With regard to CPSC's DSR surcharge collections, the Staff reported that CPSC earned a 3.03% return on rate base and a (0.74%) return on common equity. Relative to the 10.25% benchmark return on common equity, CPSC underearned during the two-year collection period by $278,952. DSR surcharge collections during the two-year collection period were $11,701. Exhibit 6 of the Staff Report demonstrated that CPSC had a net undercollection in relation to DSR surcharge collections through the two years ended September 30, 2002. Staff therefore recommended that no further action was necessary and that the DSR surcharge collections for Roanoke and CPSC were appropriate.

By letter dated March 17, 2003, the Companies, by counsel, advised that they had reviewed the March 12, 2003, Report and agreed with its conclusions.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the Companies' application, the Staff Reports filed herein, and the Companies' March 17, 2003 Response thereto, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that since the Companies' cumulative DSR surcharge recoveries did not exceed the cumulative underearnings net of DSR surcharge recoveries, the Staff's recommendation that no refunds of these charges were necessary should be accepted; and that this case should be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Staff's recommendation that no refunds are necessary as a result of CPSC's and RGC's respective DSR surcharges is hereby accepted.
- (2) There being nothing further to be done in this case, this application shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings, and the papers filed herein shall be made a part of the Commission's files for ended causes.

APPLICATION OF ENERGY CONSULTANTS, INC.

For a permanent license to conduct business as an electric aggregator

DISMISSAL ORDER

On November 30, 2001, Energy Consultants, Inc. a Virginia corporation ("Energy Consultants" or the "Company"), was issued a license, License No. A-9, by the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") to provide competitive electric aggregation services to residential and commercial retail customers throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia as the Commonwealth opens up to retail access and customer choice.

On February 3, 2003, Energy Consultants filed with the Commission articles of termination of corporate existence. The Company's corporate existence was terminated on February 3, 2003, pursuant to a certificate of termination issued by the Commission on that date.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the termination of Energy Consultants as a corporation in Virginia and having been advised by its Staff, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the Company's current license, License No. A-9, is revoked. As a result, Energy Consultants is no longer authorized to act as a competitive service provider in Virginia.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Energy Consultants' license, License No. A-9, is hereby revoked without prejudice to the Company should it reapply to the Commission for a new license as a CSP.
- (2) This case is hereby dismissed.

On September 22, 2003, Constellation NewEnergy, Inc. ("Constellation" or "the Company"), filed an application with the Virginia State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for a license to provide competitive natural gas services. The Company intends to serve commercial and industrial customers in the retail access program throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia as the Commonwealth opens up to retail access and customer choice. The Company attested that it would abide by all applicable regulations of the Commission as required by 20 VAC 5-3 12-40 B of the Commission's Rules Governing Retail Access to Competitive Energy Services, 20 VAC 5-312-10 am. ("Retail Access Rules").

On October 6, 2003, the Commission issued its Order for Notice and Comment, establishing the case and requiring that this Order be served upon appropriate persons. The Order also required the Commission's Staff to analyze the reasonableness of the Company's application and present its findings in a Staff Report.

No comments from the public on Constellation's application were received.

The Staff filed its Report on October 27, 2003, concerning Constellation's fitness to provide competitive natural gas services. In its report, Staff summarized Constellation's proposal and evaluated its financial condition and technical fitness and found the Company to be technically and financially qualified. The Company filed comments on October 30, in response to the Staff Report supporting Staff's recommendations.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the application and Staff's report, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that Constellation's request should be granted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Constellation shall be granted License No. G-18 for the provision of competitive natural gas services to commercial and industrial retail customers in the retail access program throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia.

(2) This license is not valid authority for the provision of any product or service not identified within the license itself.

(3) Failure of Constellation to comply with the Retail Access Rules, the provisions of this Order, other State Corporation Commission orders and rules, or other applicable state or federal laws may result in an enforcement action by the Commission including, without limitation, the revocation, suspension, or modification of the license granted herein, the refusal to renew such license, the imposition of appropriate fines and penalties, or such other additional actions as may be necessary to protect the public interest.

(4) This matter shall remain open pending the receipt of any reports required by the Retail Access Rules, as well as any subsequent amendments or modifications to the license granted herein.

SALTVILLE GAS STORAGE COMPANY, L.L.C.

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity under the Utility Facilities Act

ORDER ISSUING CERTIFICATES

On August 6, 2002, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered an order which, among other things, directed that, upon execution of appropriate Virginia Department of Transportation county road maps, and subject to the conditions set forth in Ordering Paragraph three (3), certificates of public convenience and necessity be issued to Saltville Gas Storage Company, L.L.C. ("Saltville", "LLC", or the "Company").

On December 13, 2002, the Staff of the Division of Energy Regulation ("Staff") filed with the Clerk of the Commission a Memorandum indicating that Staff's geotechnical expert had completed his review of Saltville's mechanical integrity testing of the caverns at the Storage Facility. A copy of Staff expert's final report was attached to said filing. Furthermore, Staff indicated it was of the opinion that Saltville had satisfied the materials integrity testing portion of the conditions specified in the Commission's August 6, 2002, Order Granting Certificate.

On December 19, 2002, Saltville filed its letter indicating that it has complied with all of the requirements imposed on the Company by either the Commission's August 6, 2002, Order Granting Certificate or October 7, 2002, Order For Clarification.

On December 20, 2002, Virginia Gas Pipeline Company ("VGPC") filed its letter indicating that it has complied with all of the requirements imposed on the Company by either the Commission's August 6, 2002, Order Granting Certificate or October 7, 2002, Order For Clarification.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED:

(1) That certificate of public convenience and necessity be issued to Saltville as follows:

Certificate No. GS-3.

(2) That amended certificate of public convenience and necessity be issued to VGPC as follows:

Certificate No. GS-2(a)

(3) That there being nothing further to be done herein, this case shall be dismissed and removed from the list of pending cases.

CASE NO. PUE-2001-00587
OCTOBER 3, 2003

APPLICATION OF
COLUMBIA GAS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

To Change Rates, Charges, Rules, and Regulations

Phase II

ORDER

On January 2, 2002, Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc. ("Columbia" or "Company"), filed an application for approval of its proposed Retail Supply Choice Plan ("Choice Plan") pursuant to § 56-235.8 B of the Code of Virginia ("Code") and to change certain of the Company's rates, charges, rules and regulations of service. In addition to rates, charges, and terms and conditions for service pursuant to the Choice Plan, the application also included proposals the Commission determined not to be essential to retail access for residential and small commercial customers. These proposals included changes to Rate Schedule Transportation Service 1 and 2 ("TS-1/TS-2"), Rate Schedule Large Volume Transportation Service ("LVTS"), Rate Schedule Large Volume Economic Development Transportation Service ("LVEDTS"), Rate Schedule Large General Service ("LGS"), corresponding amendments to Service Agreements, a new Rate Schedule Transportation Service 3 and 4 ("TS-3/TS-4"), a new Rate Schedule Aggregation Service ("AS"), a new Industrial/Commercial Competitive Service Provider Coordination Agreement, and a Gas Cost Incentive Mechanism ("GCIM") proposal.

On February 7, 2002, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and for Filing Comments and Requests for a Hearing, which docketed the application and established a procedural schedule. On February 12, 2002, the Company moved for an extension of time for publishing notice and filing testimony. On February 14, 2002, the Commission issued an Order Revising Schedule, which granted the requested relief and modified the procedural schedule. The Orders of February 7 and 14, 2002, among other things, directed the Commission Staff ("Staff") to investigate the Company's proposed changes to rates, charges, rules, and regulations for transportation and other services, and to file an analysis and recommendations on or before April 17, 2002. On April 4, 2002, Staff filed a motion requesting that the proposals not essential to retail access for residential and small commercial customers be separately considered. On April 9, 2002, the Commission issued an Order on Motion suspending the filing date for Staff's report and allowing responses to Staff's motion.

On June 6, 2002, the Commission entered an Order bifurcating the proceeding into Phase I and Phase II. We explained that § 56-235.8 B of the Code required a decision on the Choice Plan by July 1, 2002, and determined that we would consider the Choice Plan in Phase I. The Commission assigned a Hearing Examiner to conduct Phase II, which would consider the proposed tariff revisions and proposed new services.

On July 12, 2002, following a settlement approved by the Commission in a separate case on related issues,¹ the Company filed a Motion for Leave to Withdraw and Reinstate Certain Rate Schedules. By ruling dated July 30, 2002, and in accordance with the Declaratory Judgment case, the Hearing Examiner granted the Company's motion to amend proposed Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2 and Rate Schedule AS and to withdraw Rate Schedules TS-3/TS-4.

A hearing was convened on September 4, 2002, to receive testimony from public witnesses. On September 16, 2002, the Virginia Industrial Gas Users' Association ("VIGUA") filed a Motion to Dismiss the Proposed TS-1/TS-2 Schedule. Evidentiary hearings were held on September 26 and 27, 2002. At the hearing on September 26, 2002, Columbia and Stand Energy ("Stand") submitted an Offer of Settlement modifying the Company's proposals in this case and resolving all issues between Stand and the Company. On September 27, 2002, Columbia proposed "improvements" to the Offer of Settlement, which further modified the Company's proposed changes to rates, charges, rules, and regulations for transportation and other services.

On October 10, 2002, the Hearing Examiner heard oral argument on VIGUA's motion to dismiss and ruled that he would take the motion under advisement to be addressed in his report to the Commission. The evidentiary hearing was reconvened on November 6 and 8, 2002. Counsel appearing at the hearings were Stephen H. Watts, II, and Edward L. Flippen for the Company; Guy T. Tripp, III, and Renata M. Manzo for Stand; Louis R. Monacell for VIGUA; Anthony Gambardella for MeadWestvaco Corporation; C. Meade Browder, Jr., and Raymond L. Doggett, Jr., for the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Counsel ("Consumer Counsel"); and Wayne N. Smith and Sherry H. Bridewell for Staff. Donald S. Wheeler appeared pro se. More than twenty public witnesses testified regarding numerous concerns with many of the Company's proposals. Post-hearing briefs were filed on January 30, 2003.

On March 13, 2003, the Company filed substitute tariff sheets for Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2 and Rate Schedule AS. With these tariff revisions, implementation of the Company's proposals was delayed until November 1, 2003.

Hearing Examiner Howard P. Anderson, Jr., issued his report on May 16, 2003 ("Report"). The Examiner, among other things, denied VIGUA's motion to dismiss, summarized and analyzed the record, and made the following findings:

1. Daily Banking and Balancing should not be approved at this time;
2. The Company should offer bank volumes of 0% to 3% of the customer's annual volume, and the maximum and default bank volume should be 3% of a transportation customer's annual volume;
3. The $0.35 excess bank tolerance fee existed prior to this case and should be continued;
4. The Company should have the authority to impose daily and seasonal Balancing Service Restrictions ("BSRs") and Nomination Restrictions ("NRs");

¹ Petition of Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc., For Declaratory Judgment, Case No. PUE-2002-00070, 2002 S.C.C. Ann. Rep. 514 ("Declaratory Judgment case").

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

5. A daily tolerance band of 90% to 110% during periods that BSRs are in effect should be approved;
6. During periods that BSRs are in effect, customers should be able to access their banks to satisfy up to 10% of their daily consumption;
7. A customer with a zero or negative bank as a result of an NR should have a one-month grace period to build a positive bank;
8. The waiver provision applicable to penalties pertaining to BSRs should be reinstated and extended to the pools of customers in aggregation groups;
9. The Company should notify customers and agents at least one day in advance of imposing a BSR or NR;
10. Primary notification of BSRs and NRs should be made by means of the Company's Electronic Bulletin Board;
11. Mandatory secondary notification of BSRs and NRs should be made by means of email, fax, or phone call as elected by the customer or agent;
12. The customer or agent should be responsible for providing and maintaining accurate contact information with the Company, and the Company will have fulfilled its duty if it makes the required secondary notification using the information provided by the customer or agent;
13. The Company's proposed Rate Schedule AS – Aggregation Service should be approved;
14. The proposed aggregation service fee of $0.02/Mcf is cost based, and therefore just and reasonable, and should be approved;
15. The Company's proposal to require financial assurance and a service agreement from agents that do not form aggregation groups should not be approved;
16. Aggregation Service Agreements should be approved as long as no financial assurance is required;
17. To the extent that it does not conflict with the findings made by the Examiner, the Offer of Settlement between the Company and Stand should be approved;
18. Rate Schedule DPPS – Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service should be approved;
19. With regard to Rate Schedule DPPS, a one-time fee of $120.00 for pulse signal service and a monthly fee of $15.00 for demand polling service is appropriate and should be approved;
20. The Company's proposed Rate Schedule GPLS - Gas Parking and Lending Service should be approved on an experimental basis for a three-year period;
21. The Company should compile and maintain the requisite data required by Staff to monitor the Gas Parking and Lending Service;
22. The Company's proposed GCIM is not in the public interest and should be rejected;
23. Staff's proposed language regarding security deposits for large volume customers should be approved; and
24. The Company's proposal to close Limited Sales Service, Special Agency Service, and Natural Gas Vehicle Service rate schedules should be approved.

Comments on the Examiner's Report were filed by Columbia, VIGUA, Staff, Stand, Consumer Counsel, and Donald S. Wheeler.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the pleadings, the Hearing Examiner's Report, the comments thereon, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds as follows.

Daily Balancing, Bank Volumes, BSRs, and NRs

Phase II of this case primarily involves the ability of Columbia to manage its gas supply and the concomitant impact on transportation and firm service customers. The Company's proposals for daily banking and balancing, bank volumes, BSRs, and NRs are significantly interrelated and must be considered as a whole.

The Company has modified its proposals throughout this proceeding, such that the currently proposed tariffs have traveled a circuitous route. The Company did not file these proposals as part of a rate application. Rather, as discussed above, Columbia's changes to its transportation services for large customers originally were submitted as part of its Choice Plan for residential and small commercial customers. As a result, certain cost of service data associated with these proposals, and how such proposals relate to the Company's overall cost of service, are absent from this proceeding.

In addition, at least a portion of the Company's proposals constitutes a rate increase. For example, the Company's current daily banking and balancing proposal requires customers to deliver on a daily basis 80% to 120% of actual demand on that day and assesses daily balancing fees for certain failures to stay within the 80% to 120% band. Daily balancing previously was not limited to any specific daily imbalance. Thus, Columbia's proposal requires customers to pay more for the same service that they previously were receiving. That is, the Company is seeking to assess a new charge for a service that was included in a previously approved tariff. Columbia, however, has not submitted cost data necessary for us to approve a rate increase.

Columbia's BSR/NR proposal also represents a rate increase. This proposal permits the Company, for example, to issue a BSR such that all transportation customers are required to match their usage and deliveries within a daily tolerance band of 90% to 110%, and to limit all transportation customers' ability to bank excess deliveries when an NR is in effect. In addition, the Company proposes to issue BSRs/NRs for economic, as well as capacity or supply, reasons. As found by the Examiner, however, Columbia's previously approved tariff "did not specifically address BSRs or NRs."² The previously approved tariff also did not permit the proposed banking and balancing restrictions for economic reasons when there were no capacity limitations. Thus, the transportation service restrictions contemplated by the BSR/NR proposal represent a reduction in the level of banking and balancing service provided to transportation customers, while continuing to charge those customers the same basic rate.

The Company also has failed at this time to establish that its proposed changes to daily banking and balancing are just and reasonable. For example, the Company has not adequately studied the impact of these changes on its revenues, has not sufficiently shown the impact on the purchased gas adjustment ("PGA"), and has not established the effect on the Company's costs of providing service (such as on its storage costs for injections, withdrawals, and related transportation).

Furthermore, the Examiner explained that the daily balancing requirement should be rejected at this time, finding that "to approve such a dramatic change as daily balancing, the Company first must prove it can provide the necessary reliable technical and customer service support."³ We agree. Similarly, the Company has not established that it has the ability to provide the necessary technical and customer support attendant to BSRs and NRs at this time. We will not approve these tariff modifications until there is a record before us establishing that the Company has the ability to implement its proposals.

In addition, rejecting the Company's daily banking and balancing proposal, and finding that such proposal is significantly interrelated with the other transportation changes and that these proposed services need to be evaluated as a whole, also results in the rejection at this time of the bank volume, BSR, and NR proposals. Moreover, with respect to the revised bank volume service, Columbia has not shown that its $0.35 per Mcf fee for excessive bank volumes remains reasonable in connection with the new banking and balancing proposals, including the proposed elimination of the 4% and 5% bank volume options.

The Company has not provided cost and revenue data associated with the bank volume services, an evaluation of the cost and revenue impact of modifying daily balancing and implementing its proposed BSRs and NRs, nor an analysis of how its new proposals relate to the Company's overall cost of service. In addition, the extent to which firm service customers and transportation customers pay Columbia for storage service is relevant to the reasonableness of the Company's proposals.⁴ The Company, however, does not provide the cost data or analyses necessary to examine this question.

The transportation schedules could result in both risks and benefits for firm service and transportation customers. For example, certain banking and balancing practices of transportation customers may shift risks to firm sales customers without compensation. In other instances, firm sales customers may benefit from banking and balancing activities by transportation customers.

We also recognize that, compared to the recent price and volatility of wellhead gas, the average wellhead price of gas was relatively low and stable when the Company's previous banking and balancing procedures were approved in Case No. PUE-1995-00033. With additional data and analyses, Columbia may establish that modifications to its transportation schedules are justified. The Company may, in fact, need to implement tighter banking, balancing, and other transportation requirements to maintain adequate operational control of its system. Columbia, however, has not presented sufficient evidence here to support its requested changes. Further, such proposals cannot be adequately considered outside of a proceeding where all rate case information is provided and rates can be adjusted as necessary considering the individual rates and costs as well as aggregate revenues and costs.

In sum, we cannot conclude, based on this record, that the Company's proposed transportation schedules, including daily banking and balancing, revised bank volumes, BSRs, and NRs, are just and reasonable. In addition, based on the interrelated nature of these services, we find that we need cost data that is absent in this proceeding in order to evaluate whether the new proposals, taken as a whole, are just and reasonable. We cannot adequately assess, based on the case currently before us, the impact of the various new tariffs on each other and the benefits and costs to customers and to the Company's operation as a whole.

Based on the current record, however, we find that modifications to Columbia's transportation schedules should be considered further. The Company is directed to file, within 120 days from the date of this Order, proposed transportation tariffs with supporting documentation as discussed herein.⁵ Columbia and the participants to this case are encouraged to discuss this matter prior to such filing, with the goal of reaching agreement on what is filed with the Commission.⁶ The Staff is requested to coordinate the discussions in this regard.

Having rejected at this time the Company's proposed new transportation schedules, Columbia's previously approved transportation tariffs in effect on June 30, 2002, should be implemented, except as otherwise provided herein, for service rendered on and after the date of this Order. We note that these previously approved tariffs provide the Company with the authority to curtail certain services and to take protective actions in the event of supply or capacity problems.

⁶ Other interested persons may, of course, participate in such discussions. While Columbia's new filing will be noticed for public comment and participation, it will be helpful if interested persons can find areas of agreement prior to such filing.

Finally, in accordance with the foregoing, Columbia is directed to recalculate forthwith, using the rates approved in this Order, each bill it rendered to its customers that used in whole or in part the interim rates being replaced by the rates made effective herein. In each instance where the application of the rates being established by this Order yields a reduced bill to the customer, the Company is directed to refund with interest the difference to its customers as directed herein.

Rate Schedule AS – Aggregation Service

The Hearing Examiner approved in part the Company's proposed Rate Schedule AS – Aggregation Service. Specifically, the Examiner rejected Columbia's additional financial assurance provisions and approved the proposed $0.02 per Mcf aggregation service fee, finding that the Company submitted a cost analysis supporting such fee. The Examiner explained that Rate Schedule AS is a new optional service available as a companion to Rate Schedule TS 1/TS-2. Consistent with our discussion above, we find that Rate Schedule AS, as a companion to Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2, should be reviewed in relation to the proposed transportation changes as a whole. Thus, as with Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2, Rate Schedule AS is rejected at this time.

Rate Schedule DPPS - Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service

The Company proposes to provide transportation customers or their agents access to daily demand measurement information pursuant to the terms and conditions of proposed Rate Schedule DPPS – Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service. The Examiner recommended approval of this tariff. The Examiner also found that the Company provided adequate justification for a one-time fee of $120.00 for pulse signal service and a monthly fee of $15.00 for demand polling service. The Examiner, however, determined that the "Company's ability to provide this service on a reliable and accurate basis again comes into question."⁷ In our discussion above on banking and balancing services, we explained that we will not approve a tariff change until there is a record before us establishing that the Company has the ability to implement its proposal. Likewise, we will not approve Rate Schedule DPPS at this time.

Gas Cost Incentive Mechanism

Columbia states that its proposed GCIM would change its traditional PGA to a more competitive market model, while maintaining the advantages of a regulated company serving the role of a gas supplier of last resort. The Company asserts that the GCIM will foster innovative portfolio management with the goals of: (1) acquiring gas supplies for Columbia's PGA customers at prices that are below recognized purchasing benchmarks; and (2) developing skills and products related to upstream markets. Columbia also explains that the Company, Staff, and Consumer Counsel have agreed to a revised GCIM to be effective from July 1, 2002, until June 30, 2005.⁸

The Hearing Examiner found that the GCIM should be rejected. The Examiner explained that this mechanism represents a major change in the way gas costs are allocated and, for the Company to improve its gas procurement performance, it would have to engage in off-system sales, options, and hedging. The Examiner expressed concern about inter-company sales between different NiSource (which owns Columbia and other local distribution companies) companies to create artificial profits. The Examiner stated that off-system sales currently provide a direct benefit to the PGA customers as a means of off-setting commodity costs. Under the GCIM, the Company would share in the benefits of off-system sales, thereby providing a new source of revenue for Columbia.

In addition, and most troubling to the Examiner, ratepayers would be responsible for at least part of the cost of hedging and other risk-taking actions by the Company: "The entire purpose of the GCIM is to give the Company incentives to engage in taking risks with ratepayers bearing at least part of the cost if unsuccessful."⁹ The Examiner also found that implementation of the GCIM is so dramatic a change to the PGA that it should not be approved. We agree that the Company has not established that the proposed GCIM is just and reasonable.

Rate Schedule GPLS – Gas Parking and Lending Service

The Company's proposed Rate Schedule GPLS – Gas Parking and Lending Service is an optional load management service generally available to competitive service providers that provide gas commodity sales to residential and small commercial retail choice customers served off the Columbia distribution system and to large volume transportation customers and their marketers. The Hearing Examiner explained that this tariff would allow eligible customers to store (i.e., park) or borrow (i.e., loan) gas from the Company on a short-term basis, subject to capacity availability.

The Hearing Examiner recommended approval of this rate schedule on a three-year experimental basis. The Company, however, states that absent the GCIM, Rate Schedule GPLS would not provide an incentive for Columbia to pursue actively opportunities for Gas Parking and Lending Service during the experiment. This is because the Company currently proposes that revenues from Gas Parking and Lending Service would flow through the GCIM sharing mechanism of the PGA. Thus, if the Commission does not approve the GCIM, the Company requests that it be allowed to withdraw its proposal for Rate Schedule GPLS to redesign and refile it as an independent load management service in the future.

⁷ Report at 33.

⁸ The Company states that Staff and Consumer Counsel agreed to a revised GCIM at the hearing. The Company complains, however, that Staff's post-hearing brief recommends against the GCIM. We have reviewed the pre-filed testimony and the hearing transcript and, taken as a whole, find that the record on this point is less than clear. Specifically, it is unclear whether Staff and Consumer Counsel agreed to support the revised GCIM, or whether these parties agreed to support the revised GCIM in the event that the Commission did not reject the GCIM proposal. For example, in comments on the Examiner's Report, Consumer Counsel states that "[we] did not advocate that the GCIM be adopted, and thus, we do not object to the recommendation made by Hearing Examiner Anderson" to reject the GCIM. Consumer Counsel then asserts "that the safeguards [in the revised GCIM] are necessary to protect the interests of consumers in the event that the Commission allows [Columbia] to implement its GCIM." Similarly, it is unclear whether Staff witness Henderson supported the revised GCIM, or whether she agreed with the revisions to the GCIM in the event that the Commission did not reject its implementation. We have found it unnecessary to rely on the contentions in Staff's post-hearing brief regarding this tariff proposal.

⁹ Report at 41.

As discussed above, we have rejected the proposed GCIM. Accordingly, we will permit the Company to withdraw its currently proposed Rate Schedule GPLS.

Rate Schedules LSS, SAS, and NGVS

The Hearing Examiner recommended that the Commission approve the Company's request to close Rate Schedules LSS – Limited Sales Service, SAS – Special Agency Service, and NGVS – Natural Gas Vehicle Service. The Examiner found that these rate schedules have no customers, that comparable service is available under other rate schedules, and that eliminating these schedules does not impact rates. We adopt the Examiner's recommendation in this regard and permit the Company to close Rate Schedules LSS, SAS, and NGVS.

Security Deposits

The Company proposed tariff language for Section 7.1(c) of its General Terms and Conditions regarding the collection of security deposits from large volume customers prior to providing sales or transportation service. The Hearing Examiner recommended that the tariff also include specified language for the return of, and for the payment of interest on, such deposits. We adopt the Examiner's recommendation in this regard.

Waiver of Penalties

On July 28, 2003, Columbia filed an application requesting the Commission to grant a waiver of certain penalties incurred by transportation customers under the currently effective Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2, which was filed on October 2, 2002, and became effective on an interim basis and subject to refund on November 1, 2002. Columbia asks the Commission to allow it to waive penalties associated with BSRs and interruptions that took place during the 2002-2003 winter season. On August 21, 2003, Mr. Wheeler filed a response, and on September 30, 2003, VIGUA filed a response. Based on the instant Order, which denies the aforementioned penalties and requires refunds, the Company's request for waiver is deemed moot.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Company's proposed Gas Cost Incentive Mechanism is hereby rejected for the reasons set forth herein.
- (2) Consistent with the findings made herein, the Company may withdraw Rate Schedule GPLS – Gas Parking and Lending Service.
- (3) The Company may close Rate Schedules LSS – Limited Sales Service, SAS – Special Agency Service, and NGVS – Natural Gas Vehicle Service.
- (4) The Company's proposed tariff language for Section 7.1(c) of its General Terms and Conditions regarding the collection of security deposits from large volume customers is hereby approved, as modified by the Hearing Examiner.
- (5) Consistent with the findings made herein, the Company's proposed revisions to Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2, together with the revisions to the terms and conditions of service associated with these schedules, are hereby rejected.
- (6) The Company's proposed Rate Schedule AS – Aggregation Service is hereby rejected for the reasons set forth above.
- (7) Proposed Rate Schedule DPPS – Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service is hereby rejected for the reasons set forth above.
- (8) Consistent with the findings made herein, the Company shall forthwith file with the Commission's Division of Energy Regulation revised tariffs, effective for service rendered on and after the date of this Order.
- (9) Columbia is directed to recalculate, forthwith, using the rates being established by this Order, each bill it rendered that used in whole or in part the interim rates, charges, fees, penalties, and proposals being replaced by the rates, charges, fees, penalties, and provisions of terms and conditions of service established by this Order. In each instance where application of the rates, charges, fees, penalties, and provisions of terms and conditions of service established by this Order yields a reduced bill to the customer, Columbia shall refund with interest as directed below, the difference.
- (10) Interest upon the ordered refunds shall be computed from the date payment of each monthly bill was due during the interim period until the date refunds are made, at an average prime rate for each calendar quarter. The applicable average prime rate for each calendar quarter shall be the arithmetic mean, to the nearest one-hundredth of one percent, of the prime rate values established in the Federal Reserve Bulletin, or in the Federal Reserve's Selected Interest Rates ("Selected Interest Rates") (Statistical Release G.13), for the three months of the preceding quarter.
- (11) The interest required to be paid herein shall be compounded quarterly.
- (12) The refunds ordered above may be accomplished by credit to the appropriate customer's account for current customers (each refund category shown separately on each customer's bill). Refunds to former customers shall be made by check to the last known address of such customers when the refund amount is $1.00 or more. Columbia may offset the credit or refund to the extent no dispute exists regarding the outstanding balances for its current customers or customers who are no longer on its system. To the extent that outstanding balances of such customers are disputed, no offset shall be permitted for the disputed portion of these balances. The Company may retain refunds owed to former customers when the refund amount is less than $1.00. However, Columbia shall prepare and maintain a list detailing each of the former accounts for which refunds are less than $1.00, and in the event such former customers contact Columbia and request refunds, such refunds shall be made promptly. All unclaimed refunds shall be handled in accordance with § 55-210.6:2 of the Code of Virginia.
- (13) On or before December 1, 2003, Columbia shall file with the Commission's Division of Energy Regulation a document showing that all refunds have been lawfully made pursuant to this Order, and itemizing the cost of the refund and accounts charged. Such itemization of costs shall include, inter alia, computer costs, personnel-hours, associated salaries, and costs for verifying and correcting the refunds directed in this Order.

(14) Columbia shall bear all costs associated with the refunds directed herein.

(15) The Company is directed to file, within 120 days from the date of this Order, proposed transportation tariffs with supporting documentation as identified herein, including certification as to whether the Company has the technical means to implement the proposed changes to its transportation tariffs.

(16) The Staff is requested to coordinate the discussions among the Company and interested persons as discussed herein.

(17) Based on the findings in this Order, Columbia's request for a waiver of the penalty language of Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2 for the 2002-2003 winter is now moot.

(18) This matter is dismissed.

CASE NO. PUE-2001-00587
OCTOBER 22, 2003

APPLICATION OF
COLUMBIA GAS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

To Change Rates, Charges, Rules, and Regulations

Phase II

ORDER ON RECONSIDERATION

On October 3, 2003, we entered an Order, wherein among other things, we directed Columbia Gas of Virginia ("Columbia" or "Company"), pursuant to ordering paragraph 15 of the Order, to file, within 120 days from the final date of the Order, proposed transportation tariffs with supporting documentation as identified in the Order. The 120-day period ends on January 31, 2004.

On October 20, 2003, the Company, by counsel, filed a Petition for Reconsideration. In its Petition for Reconsideration, the Company requested this Commission to revise Ordering Paragraph (15) of our Order dated October 3, 2003, in order to provide the Company with the opportunity to use its Annual Information Filing, which must be filed on or before April 29, 2004, in the required filing of proposed tariffs. The Company specifically requests that the "120 days" in ordering paragraph 15 of the Order be revised to "209 days."

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered Company's Petition for Reconsideration, is of the opinion and finds that:

(1) The Company's request for reconsideration of our Order dated October 3, 2003, should be granted for the purpose of amending ordering paragraph (15) as provided herein.

(2) The Company's request to postpone the deadline for filing the required tariffs and supporting documentation from January 31, 2004, to April 29, 2004, in order to allow the Company to utilize information that it is required to provide in its Annual Informational Filing in the preparation of such filings, is reasonable and should be granted.

(3) The Company is admonished to include with the tariffs and supporting documentation filed in this matter all relevant information relating to the schedules that are filed with respect to the tariffs, in order to avoid the likelihood that Commission Staff and interested parties will be required to request further information through the discovery process, so that the Commission may conclude its consideration of these tariffs in advance of the commencement of the 2004-2005 heating season. As noted in footnote 6, at page 13 of our October 3, 2003, Order, we anticipate providing an opportunity for further public notice and participation relative to this new filing.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Ordering Paragraph (15) of our October 3, 2003, Order is amended to read:

(15) The Company is directed to file, not later than April 29, 2004, proposed transportation tariffs with supporting documentation as identified within the October 3, 2003, Order, including certification as to whether the Company has the technical means to implement the proposed changes to its transportation tariffs.

(2) With the exception of the amendments made herein, the findings and Ordering Paragraphs set out in the Order dated October 3, 2003, shall remain in effect.

(3) This matter is dismissed.

OCTOBER 23, 2003

APPLICATION OF
COLUMBIA GAS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

To Change Rates, Charges, Rules, and Regulations

Phase II

ORDER GRANTING RECONSIDERATION

On January 2, 2002, Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc. ("Columbia" or "Company"), filed an application for approval of its proposed Retail Supply Choice Plan ("Choice Plan") pursuant to § 56-235.8 B of the Code of Virginia ("Code") and to change certain of the Company's rates, charges, rules and regulations of service. In addition to rates, charges, and terms and conditions for service pursuant to the Choice Plan, the application also included proposals the Commission determined not to be essential to retail access for residential and small commercial customers. These proposals included changes to Rate Schedule Transportation Service 1 and 2 ("TS-1/TS-2"), Rate Schedule Large Volume Transportation Service, Rate Schedule Large Volume Economic Development Transportation Service, Rate Schedule Large General Service, corresponding amendments to Service Agreements, a new Rate Schedule Transportation Service 3 and 4, a new Rate Schedule AS - Aggregation Service, a new Industrial/Commercial Competitive Service Provider Coordination Agreement, and a Gas Cost Incentive Mechanism proposal.

On June 6, 2002, the Commission entered an Order bifurcating the proceeding into Phase I and Phase II. We explained that § 56-235.8 B of the Code required a decision on the Choice Plan by July 1, 2002, and determined that we would consider the Choice Plan in Phase I. The Commission assigned a Hearing Examiner to conduct Phase II, which would consider the proposed tariff revisions and proposed new services. Hearing Examiner Howard P. Anderson, Jr., issued his report on May 16, 2003.

On October 3, 2003, the Commission issued an Order that, among other things, rejected the Company's proposed: (1) revisions to Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2, together with the revisions to the terms and conditions of service associated with these schedules; (2) Rate Schedule AS – Aggregation Service; and (3) Rate Schedule DPPS – Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service. The Order also found that, based on the record in this case, modifications to Columbia's transportation schedules should be considered further and directed the Company to file, within 120 days from the date of the Order, proposed transportation tariffs with supporting documentation as identified in the Order, including certification as to whether the Company has the technical means to implement the proposed changes to its transportation tariffs.

On October 21, 2003, Stand Energy Corporation ("Stand") filed a Petition for Reconsideration ("Petition"). Stand requests reconsideration of Ordering Paragraphs (6) and (7) of the October 3, 2003, Order, which rejected Rate Schedule AS – Aggregation Service and Rate Schedule DPPS – Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service, respectively. Stand asks that the Commission provide for the continuation, subject to refund, of Aggregation Service and Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service until such time as the Commission makes a final determination with respect to transportation tariffs to be filed by Columbia in accordance with the October 3, 2003, Order. Stand states that Rate Schedules AS and DPPS have been in effect, subject to refund, since November 1, 2002.

Stand asserts that the absence of Aggregation Service, which is an optional service, during the coming winter will be disadvantageous to transportation customers and likely will result in their incurring unnecessary gas acquisition costs, as well as possible imbalance penalties assessed by Columbia. Stand also contends that Aggregation Service will not disadvantage firm customers and could make additional storage capacity available for firm customers.

Stand states that Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service provides important information in enabling transportation customers and their marketers to monitor customer usage and to manage gas supply effectively. Stand asserts that, without such information, customers and their marketers will be unable to match gas deliveries with gas usage.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the pleadings, the record, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds as follows. We grant the Petition for purposes of continuing our jurisdiction over this matter, considering such Petition, and allowing other parties and Staff to respond to the Petition.

The other parties to this case and Commission Staff may file comments addressing the matters raised in the Petition on or before November 7, 2003. Finally, Ordering Paragraphs (6) and (7) of the October 3, 2003, Order, are hereby suspended pending the Commission's reconsideration. All of the other directives set out in the October 3, 2003, Order for which no reconsideration has been granted, remain in effect.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petition for Reconsideration filed by Stand Energy Corporation is hereby granted for purposes of continuing our jurisdiction over this proceeding.
- (2) Ordering Paragraphs (6) and (7) of the October 3, 2003, Order, are hereby suspended pending the Commission's reconsideration. All of the other findings and directives set out in the October 3, 2003, Order for which no reconsideration has been granted, remain in effect.
- (3) On or before November 7, 2003, any other party and Commission Staff may file comments addressing the matters raised in the Petition for Reconsideration.
- (4) This matter is continued pending further order of the Commission.

CASE NO. PUE-2001-00587
NOVEMBER 24, 2003

APPLICATION OF
COLUMBIA GAS OF VIRGINIA, INC.

To Change Rates, Charges, Rules, and Regulations

PHASE II

ORDER ON RECONSIDERATION

On January 2, 2002, Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc. ("Columbia" or "Company"), filed an application for approval of its proposed Retail Supply Choice Plan ("Choice Plan") pursuant to § 56-235.8 B of the Code of Virginia ("Code") and to change certain of the Company's rates, charges, rules and regulations of service. In addition to rates, charges, and terms and conditions for service pursuant to the Choice Plan, the application also included proposals the Commission determined not to be essential to retail access for residential and small commercial customers. These proposals included changes to Rate Schedule Transportation Service 1 and 2 ("TS-1/TS-2"), Rate Schedule Large Volume Transportation Service, Rate Schedule Large Volume Economic Development Transportation Service, Rate Schedule Large General Service, corresponding amendments to Service Agreements, a new Rate Schedule Transportation Service 3 and 4, a new Rate Schedule AS - Aggregation Service, a new Industrial/Commercial Competitive Service Provider Coordination Agreement, and a Gas Cost Incentive Mechanism proposal.

On June 6, 2002, the Commission entered an Order bifurcating the proceeding into Phase I and Phase II. We explained that § 56-235.8 B of the Code required a decision on the Choice Plan by July 1, 2002, and determined that we would consider the Choice Plan in Phase I. The Commission assigned a Hearing Examiner to conduct Phase II, which would consider the proposed tariff revisions and proposed new services. Hearing Examiner Howard P. Anderson, Jr., issued his report on May 16, 2003.

On October 3, 2003, the Commission issued an Order that, among other things, rejected the Company's proposed: (1) revisions to Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2, together with the revisions to the terms and conditions of service associated with these schedules; (2) Rate Schedule AS – Aggregation Service; and (3) Rate Schedule DPPS – Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service. The Order also found that, based on the record in this case, modifications to Columbia's transportation schedules should be considered further and directed the Company to file, within 120 days from the date of the Order, proposed transportation tariffs with supporting documentation as identified in the Order, including certification as to whether the Company has the technical means to implement the proposed changes to its transportation tariffs.

On October 21, 2003, Stand Energy Corporation ("Stand") filed a Petition for Reconsideration ("Petition"). Stand requests reconsideration of Ordering Paragraphs (6) and (7) of the October 3, 2003, Order, which rejected Rate Schedule AS – Aggregation Service and Rate Schedule DPPS – Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service, respectively. Stand asks that the Commission provide for the continuation, subject to refund, of Aggregation Service and Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service until such time as the Commission makes a final determination with respect to transportation tariffs to be filed by Columbia in accordance with the October 3, 2003, Order. Stand states that Rate Schedules AS and DPPS have been in effect, subject to refund, since November 1, 2002.

Stand asserts that the absence of Aggregation Service, which is an optional service, during the coming winter will be disadvantageous to transportation customers and likely will result in their incurring unnecessary gas acquisition costs, as well as possible imbalance penalties assessed by Columbia. Stand also contends that Aggregation Service will not disadvantage firm customers and could make additional storage capacity available for firm customers.

Stand states that Demand Polling and Pulse Signal Service provides important information in enabling transportation customers and their marketers to monitor customer usage and to manage gas supply effectively. Stand asserts that, without such information, customers and their marketers will be unable to match gas deliveries with gas usage.

On October 23, 2003, the Commission issued an Order granting the Petition for purposes of continuing our jurisdiction over this matter, considering the Petition, allowing other parties and Staff to respond to the Petition, and suspending Ordering Paragraphs (6) and (7) of the October 3, 2003, Order pending the Commission's reconsideration.

On November 5, 2003, Donald S. Wheeler filed comments on the Petition. Mr. Wheeler asserts "[i]f the Commission allows for the continuation of Rate Schedules AS and DPPS, then the Commission should also require Columbia to honor its commitment to perform Daily Imbalance Trading beginning November 1, 2003." Daily Imbalance Trading permits Columbia's customers and suppliers to trade daily imbalances before Columbia levies any penalties. Mr. Wheeler states that the majority of Columbia's transportation customers are not participating in Aggregation Service, and that Columbia must allow these customers and their suppliers additional flexibility through Daily Imbalance Trading to avoid onerous penalties.

On November 5, 2003, the Virginia Industrial Gas Users' Association ("VIGUA") filed a response to the Petition. VIGUA states that it takes no position on whether the Commission should change and reverse its prior ruling on Rate Schedules AS and DPPS. VIGUA, however, offers the following comments in the event the Petition is granted: (1) the rates for such services should be on an interim basis, subject to refund, and without a finding of cost justification; and (2) the Commission should find, consistent with recent Commission precedent,¹ that Columbia's cost justification for Rate Schedules AS and DPPS is procedurally deficient.

On November 7, 2003, Columbia filed comments on the Petition ("Comments"). The Company supports approval of Rate Schedule AS, subject to certain modifications: (1) remove references to provisions contained in proposed Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2, which has been rejected by the Commission; (2) eliminate financial assurance requirements as recommended by the Hearing Examiner; (3) entitle Aggregation Nomination Groups to elect up to a maximum bank tolerance of 5%, consistent with the Commission's October 3, 2003, Order; and (4) implement comparable conforming modifications to the Aggregation Service Service Agreement.

Columbia asserts, however, that it would not be appropriate for the Commission to approve Rate Schedule AS on an interim basis, subject to refund. Columbia contends that Rate Schedule AS will provide a new, incremental service at an entirely new rate of $0.02 per Mcf, which was found by the Hearing Examiner to be just and reasonable based on cost data provided by the Company. The Company also argues that VIGUA's reliance on Virginia-American is misplaced.

In addition, Columbia responds to Stand's request for approval of Rate Schedule DPPS. In lieu of such approval, Columbia proposes to continue to afford access to pulse signals in the same manner as contemplated in the Offer of Settlement adopted by the Commission in our August 26, 2002, Final Order in Petition of Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc., for a Declaratory Judgment, Case No. PUE-2002-00070 ("Declaratory Judgment Case"). Columbia asks the Commission to confirm continuation of this commitment as an appropriate resolution of Stand's request.

The Company opposes Mr. Wheeler's request for the Commission to require Columbia to perform Daily Imbalance Trading. Columbia states that: (1) it has no commitment to provide such service, contrary to Mr. Wheeler's claim; (2) the Commission's October 3, 2003, Order rejected all of Columbia's transportation proposals; (3) Mr. Wheeler did not file a petition for reconsideration; and (4) Mr. Wheeler is precluded by Rule 220 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure from obtaining the relief he seeks.

Columbia also explains that the Commission's previous suspension of Ordering Paragraphs (6) and (7) of the October 3, 2003, Order had the effect of suspending Columbia's obligation to make refunds of fees and charges specified in Rate Schedule AS. In the event the Commission denies Stand's Petition, the Company requests the Commission to extend, until sixty (60) days from the date of issuance of an order on the Petition, the time for Columbia to complete refunds of fees and charges under Rate Schedule AS and for Columbia to file a Refund Report with respect to those fees and charges.

Finally, Columbia explains that it is authorized by Stand to state that Stand supports the Company's Comments and that Stand requests the Commission to grant the relief requested by Columbia in its Comments.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the pleadings, the record, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds as follows. We grant the Petition as provided below.

We approve a modified Rate Schedule AS, which shall not remain a companion to previously proposed Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2. Accordingly, we adopt Rate Schedule AS with the following changes as requested by Columbia: (1) remove references to provisions contained in proposed Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2, which has been rejected by the Commission; (2) eliminate financial assurance requirements as recommended by the Hearing Examiner; (3) entitle Aggregation Nomination Groups to elect up to a maximum bank tolerance of 5%, consistent with the Commission's October 3, 2003, Order; and (4) implement comparable conforming modifications to the Aggregation Service Service Agreement.

Rate Schedule AS, as modified herein, will remain effective on an interim basis, subject to refund. The Company has explained that this is a new, incremental service at an entirely new rate. As found in our October 3, 2003, Order, Columbia's proposed transportation schedules, including Rate Schedule AS, must be evaluated as whole. We cannot adequately assess, based on the case currently before us, the impact of Aggregation Service on other tariffs, on the Company's operation as a whole, and on the Company's aggregate revenues and costs.²

As requested by Columbia and supported by Stand, we direct Columbia to continue its commitment to afford access to pulse signals as contemplated in the Offer of Settlement adopted by the Commission in the Declaratory Judgment Case. Finally, consistent with our October 3, 2003, Order, we do not adopt Daily Imbalance Trading as part of this proceeding.

Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Stand's Petition for Reconsideration is granted as provided for in this Order.
- (2) Ordering Paragraph (6) of the October 3, 2003, Order is vacated.
- (3) Ordering Paragraph (7) of the October 3, 2003, Order is no longer suspended.
- (4) Proposed Rate Schedule AS – Aggregation Service shall remain in effect on an interim basis, subject to refund, with the following modifications: (1) remove references to provisions contained in proposed Rate Schedule TS-1/TS-2, which has been rejected by the Commission; (2) eliminate financial assurance requirements as recommended by the Hearing Examiner; (3) entitle Aggregation Nomination Groups to elect up to a maximum bank tolerance of 5%, consistent with the Commission's October 3, 2003, Order; and (4) implement comparable conforming modifications to the Aggregation Service Service Agreement.
- (5) The Company shall continue its commitment to afford access to pulse signals in the same manner as contemplated in the Offer of Settlement adopted by the Commission in our August 26, 2002, Final Order in Petition of Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc., for a Declaratory Judgment, Case No. PUE-2002-00070.
- (6) Daily Imbalance Trading is not adopted in this proceeding.

² However, we reject VIGUA's assertion that Columbia's cost justification for Rate Schedule AS is deficient under Virginia-American. The instant proceeding is fundamentally different from the rate increase request in Virginia-American. For example, in this case Rate Schedule AS is an optional service, is desired by customers, is proposed by the Company, and is subject to refund. The principles stated in Virginia-American remain unaltered by this case.

- (7) Columbia shall file Rate Schedule AS, revised as required herein, within 30 days from the date of this Order.
- (8) This matter is dismissed.

CASE NO. PUE-2001-00663
JANUARY 21, 2003

APPLICATION OF
VIRGINIA ELECTRIC AND POWER COMPANY D/B/A DOMINION VIRGINIA POWER

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity for facilities in Fluvanna County: Two parallel 500 kV transmission lines to provide service to Tenaska Virginia Partners, L.P.'s electric generating facility

ORDER GRANTING AMENDED CERTIFICATE

On November 29, 2001, as revised on December 4, 2001, Virginia Electric and Power Company d/b/a Dominion Virginia Power ("Dominion" or "Company") filed an application ("Application") with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for approval and certification of electric facilities in Fluvanna County. Dominion proposes to construct and operate two parallel 500 kV transmission lines, extending the length of approximately 0.91 mile, to provide service to a new 900 MW natural gas-fired combined-cycle power plant to be constructed by Tenaska Virginia Partners, L.P. ("Tenaska"), in Fluvanna County.¹ Approximately 0.76 mile of the right-of-way needed to construct both transmission lines is on property owned by Tenaska, and the remaining 0.15 mile is on private property. Dominion proposes to cut its existing Dooms-Elmont 500 kV transmission line and loop new lines in and out of a new switching station as the most practical and least cost option for interconnecting the Tenaska facility.

On March 22, 2002, the Commission issued an Order for Notice and Hearing docketing this case, directing the Company to provide public notice of its Application, establishing a procedural schedule, setting hearings on this matter, directing Commission Staff ("Staff") to investigate the Application, and appointing a Hearing Examiner to conduct further proceedings.

On June 3, 2002, public hearings were convened in Palmyra to receive public witness testimony. Rebecca W. Hartz, Esquire, appeared on behalf of Staff, and M. Renae Carter, Esquire, appeared for the Company. No public witnesses offered comment at the hearing.

On June 7, 2002, Staff filed a report on the Application. Staff also attached to its report a coordinated review of the Application prepared by the Department of Environmental Quality ("DEQ") dated May 21, 2002, which contained the DEQ's recommendations, for the Commission's consideration in issuing a certificate, of environmental mitigation measures to be taken by Dominion ("DEQ Recommendations"). Staff recommended that the Commission approve the Application, and that the DEQ Recommendations be required as conditions of the certificate. Dominion filed rebuttal testimony on June 17, 2002.

On June 27, 2002, a public hearing was convened in Richmond. M. Renae Carter, Esquire, James C. Dimitri, Esquire, and Jill C. Hayek, Esquire, appeared for the Company. Rebecca W. Hartz, Esquire, appeared on behalf of Staff. No public witnesses offered comment at the hearing.

On November 5, 2002, Chief Hearing Examiner Deborah V. Ellenberg entered a Report summarizing the record and analyzing the evidence and issues in this proceeding. The Examiner recommended that the Commission grant Dominion an amended certificate of public convenience and necessity for the Dooms-Elmont transmission line, and made the following findings:

- (1) The proposed transmission lines are necessary to interconnect the approved Tenaska facility to Dominion's transmission system;
- (2) The proposed lines will have no adverse impact on system reliability, and may increase the reliability of the Dooms-Elmont line on a per-mile basis;
- (3) The proposed route will reasonably minimize adverse impacts on the scenic assets, historic districts, and the environment of the area concerned;
- (4) The proposed route minimizes acquisition of additional right-of-way;
- (5) The proposed transmission lines will have no adverse impact on economic development in Fluvanna County;
- (6) The Company should be required to comply with the DEQ Recommendations; and
- (7) The proposed project is in the public convenience and necessity and therefore should be approved.

On November 13, 2002, the Company submitted a response to the Report. The Company supported the findings and recommendations of the Report, with a clarification and requested modification. The Company explained that the average span between towers, based on the design presented at the hearing, was 1100 feet for the lines constructed between the existing 500 kV line and the Company's switching station. For the lines between the switching station and the Tenaska facility, the approximate average span was estimated to be 750 feet. The Company stated, however, that the final design likely will yield average span lengths of approximately 750 feet for the entire length of the line, and that the average height of the structures will be approximately 100 feet, which is lower than the design presented at the hearing.

¹ The Tenaska facility was approved by a majority of the Commission on April 19, 2002. Application of Tenaska Virginia Partners, L.P., Case No. PUE-2001-00039, Final Order (April 19, 2002).

In its November 13, 2002, response, the Company also noted certain developments that have taken place since the hearing with respect to environmental issues raised in this case. Dominion stated, among other things, that environmental site assessments have been prepared by Burgess and Niple for the entire Tenaska property. Dominion further asserted that the assessments have been discussed with Mr. Thomas Modena of the DEQ Office of Remedial Programs, who advised the Company that additional hazardous waste studies will not be required. Thus, the Company requested the Commission to recognize that the recommendation by the DEQ's Waste Program's Division regarding an environmental site assessment has been satisfied based on the availability of the assessments prepared by Burgess and Niple.

On December 9, 2002, Staff filed a reply to the Company's response of November 13, 2002. The reply stated that Staff has no concern with the final design of the transmission line as set forth in the Company's response, as long as the conductor clearance requirements and all other applicable requirements of the National Electrical Safety Code ("NESC") continue to be met. Staff also attached a December 3, 2002, letter from the DEQ replying to the Company's explanation of the final design of the line and the Company's November 13, 2002, response. The DEQ explained in such letter that it appears, under the final design, that the maximum number of transmission towers would increase by one. The DEQ also noted that it does not wish to change the recommendations contained in its coordinated review dated May 21, 2002. Finally, the DEQ stated that, provided the Company adheres to the DEQ Recommendations, the DEQ has no objection to the new configuration of transmission line towers proposed in Dominion's response of November 13, 2002. The Company has not objected to the recommendations contained in Staff's reply of December 9, 2002, and in the DEQ's letter of December 3, 2002.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the pleadings, the Hearing Examiner's Report, the Company's response thereto and the Staff's reply,² and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds as follows.

We adopt the Hearing Examiner's findings listed above. We find that the proposed project satisfies §§ 56-46.1 and 56-265.2 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"). Pursuant to the Utility Facilities Act, Chapter 10.1 (§§ 56-265.1 et seq.) of Title 56 of the Code, we grant Dominion an amended certificate of public convenience and necessity for the Dooms-Elmont transmission line.

The transmission project that we approve today is based on the final design as set forth in the Company's November 13, 2002, response to the Hearing Examiner's report. This design differs from the design presented at the hearing and will yield average span lengths of approximately 750 feet for the entire length of the line and average structure heights of approximately 100 feet, which is lower than the design presented by the Company earlier. We note that the Company did not submit this final design in the normal course of the proceeding. Rather, the Company submitted the final design after the evidentiary hearings and after issuance of the Hearing Examiner's report. The only participants in this case, however, are Staff and, as facilitated by Staff, the DEQ. In its December 9, 2002, reply, Staff stated that it has no objection to the final design as long as the Company complies with all applicable NESC requirements. As a condition of the amended certificate, we will require the Company to comply with the conductor clearance requirements, and all other applicable requirements, of the NESC. Staff's December 9, 2002, reply also included a letter from the DEQ, wherein the DEQ stated that it has no objection to the final design as long as Dominion adheres to the DEQ Recommendations. As noted above, we have adopted the Hearing Examiner's findings, including that the Company should comply with the DEQ Recommendations.

Finally, Dominion's November 13, 2002, response to the Hearing Examiner's report also requests the Commission to recognize that the DEQ recommendation regarding an environmental site assessment has been satisfied based on the availability of the assessments prepared by Burgess and Niple. We will neither confirm nor deny the Company's request based solely on its November 13, 2002, response. The Company must comply with all the conditions that we place on the amended certificate granted herein.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) Dominion is authorized to construct and operate two parallel 500 kV transmission lines in Fluvanna County as proposed in this case and provided for in this Order.

(2) Pursuant to §§ 56-265.2, 56-46.1, and related provisions of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia, the Company's application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct two parallel 500 kV transmission lines in Fluvanna County is granted as set forth in this Order.

(3) Pursuant to the Utility Facilities Act, Chapter 10.1 (§§ 56-265.1 et seq.) of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia, Dominion is issued the following amended certificate of public convenience and necessity for the Dooms-Elmont transmission line:

Certificate No. ET-81g which authorizes Virginia Electric and Power Company under the Utility Facilities Act to operate presently constructed transmission lines and facilities in Fluvanna County, and to construct and operate the proposed 500 kV transmission lines as authorized in Case No. PUE-2001-00663, all as shown on the detailed map attached to the certificate; this Certificate No. ET-81g will replace Certificate No. ET-81f previously issued to Virginia Electric and Power Company.

(4) As a condition of the certificate granted in this case, Dominion will comply with the recommendations contained in the Department of Environmental Quality's coordinated review, dated May 21, 2002.

(5) As a condition of the certificate granted in this case, Dominion will comply with the conductor clearance requirements, and all other applicable requirements, of the National Electrical Safety Code.

(6) As a condition of the certificate granted in this case, the transmission lines must be constructed and in-service by January 1, 2006; however, the Company is granted leave to apply for an extension for good cause shown.

(7) This case shall be dismissed and removed from the list of pending cases.

² We will accept Staff's December 9, 2002, reply, which has not been opposed by the Company.

CASE NO. PUE-2001-00716
JUNE 27, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
TERRY L. STROCK, et al.
v.
B&J ENTERPRISES, L.C.

FINAL ORDER

By letter dated October 26, 2001, B&J Enterprises, L.C. ("B&J" or the "Company") notified its customers and the State Corporation Commission's ("Commission") Division of Energy Regulation of its intent, pursuant to the Small Water or Sewer Public Utility Act, Va. Code ("Code") § 56-265.13:1 et seq., to increase its monthly sewer rates from $40.00 to $95.00,¹ effective for service rendered on and after December 13, 2001. On November 21, 2001, approximately 90% of the Company's customers filed a petition with the Commission objecting to the Company's proposed rate increase. On December 12, 2001, pursuant to Va. Code § 56-265.13:6, the Commission issued a Preliminary Order suspending the Company's proposed rates for 60 days.² The Preliminary Order further directed the Company and Staff to file a response to address an issue raised by a customer, Joan G. Moore, who asserted that the Company was barred by Va. Code § 56-265.13:6 B from implementing a rate increase until April 2002.³

On January 30, 2002, the Commission issued an Order finding that final approval of rates in March 2001 that differed from those proposed by the Company and implemented on an interim basis and subject to refund in September 1999 did not constitute a separate rate increase implemented by the Company within the meaning of § 56-265.13:6 B of the Code. The Commission, therefore, permitted B&J to implement its proposed rate increase in this case effective February 11, 2002, on an interim basis, and subject to refund with interest. The Commission's Order also appointed a Hearing Examiner to conduct all further proceedings in this matter.

The Hearing Examiner issued a Ruling dated March 8, 2002, setting forth a procedural schedule in this case which provided interested persons an opportunity to participate and file testimony and exhibits; scheduled a hearing for June 17, 2002, in Blacksburg, Virginia; and directed the Company to provide public notice of the application and the hearing on its proposed rates. On March 19, 2002, counsel for B&J filed a Motion for Extension of Procedural Schedule. The Hearing Examiner issued a Ruling on March 22, 2002, which rescheduled the hearing to July 15, 2002.

The hearing was convened as scheduled on July 15, 2002, in Blacksburg, Virginia. Edward L. Flippen, Esquire, and Paige G. Lester, Esquire, appeared as counsel for the Company. Joan G. Moore appeared pro se. N. Reid Broughton, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the Blacksburg Country Club Estates Homeowners' Association ("Homeowners' Association"). Rebecca W. Hartz, Esquire, appeared as counsel to the Commission Staff. In addition, testimony was received from three public witnesses. Pursuant to a bench ruling, post-hearing briefs were filed by the parties and Staff on August 26, 2002.

Hearing Examiner Howard P. Anderson, Jr., issued his report on December 19, 2002 ("Report"). In his Report, the Examiner determined that a monthly sewer rate for B&J of $50.00 was reasonable and made the following findings:

1. The use of a test year ending December 31, 2001, is proper in this proceeding;
2. The Company's test year operating revenues, after all adjustments, were $63,720;
3. The Company's test year operating revenue deductions, after all adjustments, were $67,267;
4. The Company's test year operating income, after all adjustments, was $(3,547);
5. The Company's proposal to recalculate the value of land transferred to the Company in consideration of, among other things, completing the sewer system to certain lots should be denied;
6. The Company's adjusted end of test period rate base is $175,597;
7. The Company's current rates produced a return on adjusted end of test period rate base of -2.02% during the test year;
8. The Company requires additional gross annual revenues of $15,930 which will provide a return on rate base of 7.05%;
9. The Company's monthly rate should be set at $50.00;
10. A cash working capital allowance is not appropriate and should not be permitted because the Company bills in advance;
11. The Company should be required to promptly refund, with interest, all revenues collected under its interim rates in excess of the amount found just and reasonable by the Examiner;

² Virginia Code § 56-265.13:6 provides that the Commission may suspend the proposed rates for no more than 60 days.

12. The Company's proposed tariff changes should not be allowed to take effect because the Company failed to provide the proper notice as required by law;
13. Staff's booking recommendations, except as adjusted by the Examiner, are reasonable and should be implemented;
14. The Commission should order the Company to maintain its accounting system in accordance with Uniform System of Accounts ("USOA") requirements for Class C Utilities and direct the Company to file a letter of compliance with the Commission within three months of the final order in this proceeding; and
15. A loan value of $175,597 attributable to capital improvements is reasonable and the principal should be paid with connection fee proceeds, beginning with any amounts currently escrowed on the Company's books. Once the $175,597 is paid in full, the Company should place connection fee proceeds in escrow to be used for future capital improvements. The remaining balance of the note (above $175,597) should be immediately taken off the Company's books.

The Hearing Examiner recommended we enter an order adopting the findings in his report and dismissing the case from the active docket. The Examiner further directed that comments on the Report were to be filed within twenty-one days from the date of the Report, or on or before January 9, 2003. On December 30, 2002, the Company filed a Motion for Extension of time for filing comments to the Report. On January 7, 2003, the Commission issued an Order granting the Company's motion and extending the date for filing comments to January 22, 2003. Comments on the Report ("Comments") were filed by the Homeowners' Association, Joan G. Moore, Staff, and the Company.

The Hearing Examiner also provided a review of the Company's history, including the Company's prior case, Case No. PUE-1999-00616 ("Prior Proceeding").⁴ On December 14, 1995, B&J and Blacksburg Country Club, Inc. ("BCC"), entered into a sales contract ("sales contract"). The sales contract provided that B&J would receive a number of undeveloped lots in Blacksburg Country Club Estates ("BCC Estates") in return for: (1) paying off a $42,000 construction loan; (2) upgrading and/or building the roads in the BCC Estates subdivision to Virginia Department of Transportation standards; (3) operating the sewer system to provide sewer service; and (4) assuming all of BCC's real estate development and operations obligations with regard to all phases of BCC Estates.⁵ On September 2, 1999, B&J filed an application with the Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to operate the sewer system. In its prior application, B&J proposed a monthly rate of $34.00, an availability charge of $20.00 per month, a service connection fee of $17,500, and a disconnection and reconnection fee of $5,000.⁶

On March 20, 2001, the Commission issued an Order in the Prior Proceeding, granting B&J a certificate of public convenience and necessity and establishing a monthly sewer rate of $40.00. On April 10, 2001, B&J filed a Petition for Reconsideration ("Petition"). In its Petition, B&J requested that the Commission clarify the proper use of connection fee proceeds and a $2,500 capital contribution from certain designated lot owners. B&J further requested in its Petition that if the Commission's findings were not consistent with the original intent of the Commission's March 20, 2001, Order, that the Commission reconsider its decision on those issues.⁷

By Order issued May 14, 2001, the Commission denied B&J's request to apply connection fee proceeds to debt repayment and directed B&J to maintain all collected connection fees in an escrow account. The Commission found the record to be insufficient to conclude that B&J had, as the Company asserted, borrowed sizable amounts in order to complete the sewer infrastructure. The Commission further found that B&J could supplement the record on the use of connection fees for debt repayment in its next rate proceeding. The Commission also permitted the Company to collect a one-time capital contribution from owners of lots individually owned at the time the Company acquired the system under the sales contract.⁸ As noted above, on October 26, 2001, B&J notified its customers and the Commission of its intent to increase its monthly sewer rates from $40.00 to $95.00.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the pleadings, the Hearing Examiner's Report, the responses thereto, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds as follows herein. We adopt the findings of the Hearing Examiner except as modified by this Order.

In the Prior Proceeding, we explained that "this has been a uniquely complicated proceeding, owing in large measure to the contract under which the current owners of the sewer system acquired it."⁹ Approximately five months after the Prior Proceeding ended, B&J notified its customers and the Commission's Staff of its intent to increase monthly sewer rates from $40.00 to $95.00. Our discussion in the Prior Proceeding is equally applicable here:

In choosing to enter this transaction, the Company undertook a calculated business risk that it could profitably develop and operate the sewer treatment system in conjunction with its other development activities. However, unlike the business of real property development, operation of a sewer utility is a public service function and subject, under the Code of Virginia, to regulation by the Commission and other agencies of the Commonwealth. When the Company acquired the system it knew, or should have known, that our approval of the rates and terms of the service it could offer its customers in Country Club Estates was needed.¹⁰

The Code establishes the standards that must be met in setting the Company's rates, which include the following:

Reasonable and just charges for service within the meaning of this section shall be the lowest charges as shall produce sufficient revenues to pay all lawful and necessary expenses incident to:

1. The operation of the system, including maintenance costs, operating charges, and interest charges on bonds or other obligations;
2. The providing for the liquidation of bonds or other evidence of indebtedness and the attraction of capital;
3. The providing of adequate funds to be used as working capital, as well as reasonable reserves and funds for making replacements, which may be escrowed and used only as working capital if the Commission so directs as a result of a proceeding conducted pursuant to § 56-265.13:6;
4. The providing for the payment of taxes that may be assessed against the small water or sewer utility or its property; and
5. Compensation of owners of the utility for their capital or property invested in the system, if any, and for their time and other resources expended in the operation of the system not otherwise recovered under subdivisions 1 through 4 of this section.¹¹

In this proceeding as in a typical rate case, the Commission must ascertain rates on a prospective basis. As part of this rate setting process, the Commission must identify the revenues needed by the Company to pay all lawful and necessary expenses as referenced in the statute above. Regulatory commissions perform such function by, among other things, undertaking a thorough examination and appraisal of total company costs in a recent, "test" year.¹² This involves identifying expenses most representative of the future and determining a proper level of expense for the Company on a going-forward basis. This process generally includes examining costs, normalizing for non-recurring expenses, adjusting for known future changes in costs, and providing a fair return on the capital invested in the system providing the utility service.

Management Fee

The Company requests a management fee of $28,033 for Mr. Reynolds.¹³ Mr. Reynolds is employed by CSW Associates ("CSW"), an affiliate of B&J. Mr. Reynolds holds a Class IV Wastewater Works Operators Certificate and his duties with B&J include daily operation and oversight of the sewer system.¹⁴ The Examiner correctly found that "[a]lthough B&J is a small sewer company and not subject to the Affiliates' Act, affiliate expenses are nonetheless closely scrutinized" because the two entities do not deal at arms' length.¹⁵ Similar to our discussion below regarding rate case expense, the Company kept no detailed records of the time spent by Mr. Reynolds for management service,¹⁶ and we may disallow all or some portion of that cost.¹⁷

It is clear, however, that Mr. Reynolds devoted time to operation and oversight of the sewer system. Staff calculated a management fee expense of $28,033 after investigating this matter. The Examiner concluded that Staff's proposed management fee expense should be reduced by $6,030, which represents B&J's payments to Messrs. Lovern and Stiltner to check on the system and perform required tests.¹⁸ We do not find, however, that the Staff's proposed management fee is duplicative of the services provided by Messrs. Lovern and Stiltner. We approve a management fee expense of $28,033.

Rate Case and Regulatory Expense

The Examiner found that the Company should not be permitted to recover additional rate case expense attendant to the Prior Proceeding.¹⁹ In the Prior Proceeding, the Commission allowed an estimated $24,000 in rate case expense to be amortized over a five-year period.²⁰ The Company requests that, based on actually incurred expenses from the Prior Proceeding, it be permitted to increase its recovery of rate case expense by an additional $52,948 to be amortized over a five-year period.²¹ We deny this request. The $24,000 was found to be a reasonable level of rate case expense for the Prior Proceeding in that case. Consistent with the discussion below, we find that the additional $52,948 is exorbitant. In addition, as noted above, the rate making process involves fixing rates for the future – to produce sufficient revenues for the Company to pay all lawful and necessary expenses pursuant to § 56-265.13:4 of the Code. The additional Prior Proceeding rate case expense requested by B&J is, at best, a past expense. Acceptance of such expense is inappropriate for determining the proper level of expenses in this case.

Next, the Examiner recommended approval of $5,000, amortized over a three-year period, for rate case expense for the current proceeding.²² The Company initially estimated the rate case expense for the current case to be $51,000.²³ However, taking into account only the rate case expense incurred to date, B&J now requests permission to amortize $38,670 over three or five years.²⁴ The Company provided evidence prior to the hearing of actual rate case expenses of $23,885.²⁵ B&J asserts in its Comments that its rate case expenses, to date, have increased such that the $23,885 should be increased by $14,785.²⁶

The requested rate case expense encompasses services provided by Mr. Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds is an employee of CSW, which is an affiliate of B&J. As stated above, given that CSW and B&J are affiliates and, thus, do not deal at arms length, these expenses must be carefully scrutinized, and the Company is required to meet a stringent burden of proof to justify the reasonableness of its affiliate rate case expense. The Hearing Examiner found that B&J's cost estimate included $18,000 for "Company," and "[n]o further data was provided."²⁷ The Company asserts, however, that the "totality of [Mr. Reynolds'] testimony demonstrates that his involvement is daily and continuous ... [and] took considerable time."²⁸ The Company provided evidence that Mr. Reynolds' average rate is approximately $35 per hour and the market price for certified operator services is $85 per hour; thus, B&J concludes that ratepayers received a substantial benefit from the use of Mr. Reynolds' services.²⁹

The Company did not, however, adequately support the charges made to it by Mr. Reynolds.³⁰ There is a lack of specific evidence or records regarding the amount of time spent by Mr. Reynolds on various rate case activities.³¹ We find that B&J has not proven the amount of time spent by Mr. Reynolds working on the rate case. Given this lack of proof, we do not find that the amount of time attributed to Mr. Reynolds in providing services to B&J for this case is reasonable. In addition, the Company's identification of hourly rates for similar services does not alter our finding. Although B&J provided evidence of comparative hourly rates, there is insufficient evidence on the total hours, or total rate case expense, that reasonably may have been incurred by a non-affiliated service provider for the services performed by Mr. Reynolds in this proceeding.³²

As recognized by B&J, the Supreme Court of Virginia permits disallowance of "any part of expenses actually incurred where the evidence shows such expenses are exorbitant, unnecessary, wasteful or extravagant."³³ Thus, a public utility's rate case expense must bear some reasonable relationship to the utility and to the utility's rate request. The business of a public utility is not risk free, and the utility cannot expect ratepayers to serve as guarantors for all rate case expenses.

We find that the Company's estimated rate case expense of $51,000, which was provided for the first time in its rebuttal testimony and represents approximately 80% of its current annualized revenues, is exorbitant.³⁴ Even if B&J had kept meticulous records of its expenses, ratepayers cannot be the guarantors of whatever the Company might choose to spend for rate case expense.³⁵ There must be a reasonable limit. Here, no matter how the issue is

The Company states, however, that it should not be penalized in the evaluation of rate case expense for its "prior failure to maintain a log when no such requirement previously existed." analyzed, the limit has been breached not only by the $51,000 estimate, but also by the Company's currently requested amount of $38,670, which represents approximately 60% of annualized revenue. Without an extraordinary showing, not present here, we find these amounts exorbitant.

The difficult task is to determine what a reasonable level is in such a case. The currently requested amount is beyond reason, and the Company has failed to justify the expense. There is no detailed information on affiliate expenses, and other expenses are estimates with little support.

We find that the Company has not met its burden of proof to justify the reasonableness of its affiliate rate case expense; thus, we have the authority to disallow all or some portion of that cost.³⁶ Further, we will not consider evidence of $14,785 in additional actual rate case expense submitted by B&J in its response to the Hearing Examiner's Report. Neither the participants in this case, nor the Examiner, have had an opportunity to analyze or to litigate this alleged amount.³⁷ The Company presented evidence at the hearing of $12,736 for legal and accounting support incurred prior to the hearing. In addition, it is clear that Mr. Reynolds spent time on this proceeding, though the exact amount of time has not been sufficiently established. In addition, B&J has incurred rate case expenses subsequent to the hearing. Rather than disallow all of these expenses, we will add $12,000 of estimated expenses to the $12,736 noted above. We find that $24,736 of rate case expense amortized over a period of four years, although high for a utility the size of B&J, is within the range of reasonableness in this instance.

Operation and Maintenance Expense

The Hearing Examiner evaluated whether certain expenditures should be capitalized or treated as operation and maintenance ("O&M") expenses. The Examiner capitalized $22,513 of costs from eight invoices collectively marked as Exhibit 18.³⁸ This represents approximately $8,825 more in capitalized costs than recommended by Staff.³⁹ The Company asserts, however, that its expensing of certain items is correct and supported by Staff witness Armistead.⁴⁰ As discussed above, the Commission must determine the proper level of expenses on a going-forward basis. We find that the Examiner properly capitalized the eight invoices totaling $22,513. The repairs made and items purchased will enhance the operational aspects of the system such that these costs should be depreciated over a reasonable period and not included in current O&M expense.

The Company opposes Staff witness Armistead's elimination of $1,647 of expenses that he concludes are non-recurring. The Company states that eliminating such expenses denies it the opportunity to recover these types of normal costs, and that these small expense items do not distort the level of O&M expense that B&J will incur in the future.⁴¹ We find that these expenditures are non-recurring in nature and should not be allowed in future rates.⁴²

The Hearing Examiner concluded that the cost of the lawn mower ($218.41) and weed eater ($208.00) should be eliminated. The Examiner found that a contractor performed the work for which this equipment was purchased.⁴³ The Company opposes the Examiner's elimination of these two items, which it classifies as an expense.⁴⁴ Staff reclassified the cost of the lawn mower and weed eater as capital expenditures.⁴⁵ We will capitalize these two items, which reasonably may be necessary to perform routine maintenance tasks other than those performed by the contractor. Finally, we reject the changes proposed by Ms. Moore to O&M expense and utility plant in service, finding that such modifications are not appropriate.⁴⁶

Uniform System of Accounts

The Company must conform its accounting system to USOA requirements for Class C Wastewater Utilities, as required by Commission Order in the Prior Proceeding and by Commission rules.⁴⁷ The Company does not object to conforming to the USOA requirements for a Class C Wastewater ³⁶ See, e.g., Virginia Suburban, 1993 S.C.C. Ann. Rep. at 255 (citing Commonwealth Gas Services, Inc. v. Reynolds Metals Co., 236 Va. 362, 367, 374 S.E.2d 35, 38 (1988)).

³⁷ The Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 5 VAC 5-20-10 et seq., generally prohibit the introduction of evidence subsequent to the evidentiary hearing. The Company has not requested a waiver of those rules nor provided any justification for us to consider new evidence at this late stage of the proceeding. We find that it is neither necessary nor appropriate to accept new evidence contained in B&J's Comments.

³⁸ Report at 15-16. Utility.⁴⁸ The Company, however, opposes the Hearing Examiner's recommendation to deny an annual expenditure of $1,200 for accounting assistance from a non-affiliated entity to meet these requirements. We find that this is a reasonable expense for the Company at this time and will grant B&J's request. We will reevaluate this finding in any subsequent rate proceeding for B&J.

Booking Clarification

The Company seeks clarification on certain booking recommendations by the Hearing Examiner, recommendations to which the Company does not object.⁴⁹ We find that the Company should comply with these recommendations, which are clearly delineated in the Examiner's Report. In addition, contrary to B&J's request, we find that it is appropriate to restate on its books plant, accumulated depreciation, contributions in aid of construction, ("CIAC"), and accumulated amortization of plant as of December 31, 2001.

Cash Working Capital Allowance

The Company requests a cash working capital allowance. The Hearing Examiner stated that the Company bills in advance and, thus, concluded that a cash working capital allowance is not appropriate.⁵⁰ The Company responds, however, that customers are not paying bills in a timely manner, and that the Company is not receiving the benefit of billing in advance. B&J also asserts that its threat of disconnection is a hollow threat: "Absent the ability to pass the complete cost of disconnection to its customers, the Company would potentially have to incur a greater cost to disconnect the customer than would be recovered, even assuming the disconnection caused the customer to pay in full."⁵¹ B&J further states that it is required to pay for certain items immediately, such as capitalized expenses and rate case expenses, but must recover the amounts outlaid over a longer period.

We will permit the Company a cash working capital allowance, which is reflected by an increase to rate base. Specifically, we will increase rate base by an amount equivalent to 1/9th of B&J's O&M expenses approved in this Order. We note, however, that a cash working capital allowance is not a substitute for properly addressing B&J's uncollectible amounts. Following the USOA requires accrual accounting, wherein B&J should book revenue based on the amount billed and should record uncollectible expense to its bad debt expense account. Thus, one manner in which to address uncollectibles is for the Company to request, and to justify, an uncollectible allowance in rates and to record uncollectibles as an expense on its books. B&J has not sought such treatment in this proceeding.

Availability Fee

An availability fee for the owners of undeveloped lots was not included in the Company's proposed tariff changes.⁵² Thus, the Hearing Examiner found that the imposition of an availability fee cannot be considered in this proceeding.⁵³ The Examiner also found, however, that the Company should pursue an availability fee in a future proceeding. The Examiner concluded that the availability of sewer service has greatly enhanced the value of the undeveloped lots, that the owners of the undeveloped lots have received a benefit for which the current residents are paying, and that this is inequitable and should be corrected.⁵⁴

The Company requests the Commission to conclude, in this proceeding, that an implied equitable servitude or easement, or the like, exists and that all "lot owners have notice as a matter of law and therefore are eligible to be charged an availability fee in the event such tariff change is noticed" in a future proceeding.⁵⁵ B&J asserts that it would be "inefficient to require unnecessarily the review of this legal issue at a later time."⁵⁶ The Homeowners' Association requests that the Commission direct the Company to give proper notice and request authority for an availability fee on the remaining undeveloped lots.

In the Prior Proceeding, we found as follows:

[T]he Commission has concluded earlier that imposition of availability fees is permissible only 'through contract or restrictive covenant in order that purchasers of property have notice of such fees. Notice is required so that a prospective purchaser not be made a customer of the utility involuntarily.' The record is devoid of evidence that indicates the existence of any contract clause in deeds of purchase or any restrictive covenant that would alert prospective purchasers of lots in Country Club Estates that the purchase of a lot comes with an obligation to support, through payment of an availability fee, the sewer utility.⁵⁷

⁴⁸ B&J Comments at 20.

⁴⁹ B&J Comments at 26. The recommendations are: (1) maintain all invoices in the Company's file that pertain to expenses and to capital disbursements; (2) maintain property records on all capitalized plant items; (3) maintain a log of miles driven and reason for the trip when using a truck owned by an affiliated company; and (4) maintain a log of Mr. Reynolds' time and work performed for B&J. ⁵⁷ B&J Enterprises, L.C., Case No. PUE-1999-00616, 2001 S.C.C. Ann. Rep. 386, 388.

We will not modify our finding from the Prior Proceeding. We do not find, based on the record before us, that an implied equitable servitude or easement exists which would permit an availability fee to be imposed absent an express contract or restrictive covenant.

Next, the Homeowners' Association requests that B&J assess the availability fee on its own undeveloped lots and that rates be reduced to reflect those revenues.⁵⁸ Ms. Moore states that there should be an availability fee on B&J's lots as allowed by the Commission in the Prior Proceeding, and that B&J should not be allowed to discontinue an availability fee on its own lots without having provided notice to its customers.⁵⁹ In the Prior Proceeding we rejected an availability fee for undeveloped lots not owned by the Company and permitted, but did not require, an availability fee for lots owned by B&J and for which it can develop appropriate legal instruments to notify potential purchasers of the existence of an availability fee.⁶⁰ The Company chose not to implement an availability fee solely on its own lots. We will not mandate an availability fee for B&J's lots as part of this case, but we will reconsider this issue in any subsequent rate case. If the Company chooses not to assess an availability fee on its own lots (and on those who subsequently purchase these lots), we will consider imputing such revenues to B&J if requested again by participants in a subsequent rate case and the evidence warrants such imputation.

Connection and Disconnection Fees

The Hearing Examiner found that, as with the availability fee, the Company failed to provide notice of tariff changes regarding connection and disconnection fees.⁶¹ The Company, however, "requests confirmation that, if properly amended and noticed, the Company could specify in the tariff that the connection fee is due from a lot owner when the lateral is installed and the lot has the option of obtaining service, even if the lot does not choose to make use of the lateral immediately (i.e., there is no structure on the lot)."⁶² B&J also states that "[b]ecause of both the varying nature of the [disconnection] cost and the significance of the cost, it is prudent for the Company to establish in advance that the Commission concurs in the application of the [disconnection] charge and other collection costs to the delinquent ratepayer, assuming the tariff language is amended accordingly."⁶³ We will not rule on these matters in this case, where notice has not been given of the Company's request to modify its tariff regarding connection and disconnection fees. The Company must provide adequate notice.

Next, the Hearing Examiner concluded that the Company failed to collect $40,500 in connection fees for 2000 and 2001, and found that these additional connection fees should be reflected by reducing the Company's rate base.⁶⁴ B&J states that its classification of connection fees withstood an extensive audit and review of the Company's books by Staff, and that the Examiner's attribution of such fees "is not appropriate and has no foundation and should be rejected."⁶⁵ In addition, B&J explains that it has not approached the collection of connection fees in an aggressive manner.⁶⁶ The Company states that the connection fee issue was not settled until the Commission's May 2001 Order in the Prior Proceeding, that B&J recognized it is not unusual for people to need some time to gather a lump sum payment or to make arrangements to pay over a period of time, and that B&J has tried to accommodate reasonable timing requests.⁶⁷

We do not accept, for purposes of this proceeding, the Examiner's recommendation to reduce rate base by the additional $40,500 in uncollected connection fees. In future proceedings, however, the Company is directed to file detailed information on the process it has put in place to bill, book, and collect these fees and the results of such action. Connection fees represent customer-provided capital and serve to reduce rate base. These connection fees, if booked when billed, would result in an increase to CIAC by the billed connection fees and would serve as a reduction to rate base. The collection of this additional CIAC would reduce B&J's need to borrow funds necessary to make system improvements and would reduce interest costs. While we may appreciate B&J's accommodation of customer payment arrangements, not billing and collecting these fees could have the effect of shifting costs to other ratepayers.

The Homeowners' Association and Ms. Moore assert that CIAC should be further increased to reflect additional uncollected connection fees from 2002 and earlier.⁶⁸ We agree with the Examiner that there is insufficient evidence to justify such treatment, and that uncollected connection fees for periods beyond the end of the test year (i.e., December 31, 2001) should not be reflected in CIAC for this case.

Finally, the Hearing Examiner found that there is a sufficient basis to support the use of escrowed connection fees to pay a portion of the Company's debt.⁶⁹ The Company asserts that the escrowed connection fees should be used to pay the portion of the debt that is equivalent to rate base.⁷⁰ As discussed below, we do not adopt the Company's proposed rate base. We will permit the Company, however, to use escrowed connection fees to pay utility-related debt.⁷¹

Recalculation of CIAC

In the Prior Proceeding the Commission found that the lots transferred to B&J from the BCC should be attributed as CIAC and, therefore, should serve to reduce rate base.⁷² B&J asserts, however, that the Commission erred in the Prior Proceeding when we concluded that the Company received the undeveloped lots from BCC at no cost.⁷³ Thus, B&J states that its CIAC should be adjusted "to reflect the elimination of the consideration of the value of the mains installed to individually owned lots."⁷⁴ If the Commission does not make this adjustment, the Company requests that the methodology from the Prior Proceeding be retained with corrections as to the actual cost and actual numbers of lots to which laterals and mains were extended.⁷⁵ Specifically, B&J states that the calculation should be updated to reflect: (1) final actual cost information; and (2) 42 lots, as opposed to 73, that required sewer mains to be constructed.⁷⁶

The Hearing Examiner rejected the Company's requests in this regard. The Examiner also found that Staff and the other parties had insufficient time for discovery or proper analysis of the Company's new calculation, which B&J proposed after Staff and the other parties had filed testimony in this case.⁷⁷

We find, as we did in the Prior Proceeding, that it is appropriate to reduce rate base by the amount of CIAC attributed to the lots transferred to B&J from BCC. Based on the record in this proceeding, we again conclude that $210,605 reasonably represents that value. We find that the evidence presented in this proceeding is insufficient for us to reduce CIAC as requested by the Company. The Company, however, may present evidence in a future case on its proposed recalculation of this amount, and B&J should provide Staff and the other parties a full opportunity to evaluate and respond thereto.

Rate Base

In determining rate base, we will start with Staff's recommended rate base, after certain adjustments, of $206,321.⁷⁸ We will make further adjustments to Staff's recommended rate base pursuant to our findings above: (1) an increase of $9,251, which represents additional capitalized items; and (2) a reduction of $278, which represents accumulated depreciation. This results in a total net plant of $215,294. After including $8,125, which represents a cash working capital allowance, total rate base is $223,419.

The determination of rate base is guided by fundamental rate making tenets. Rate base, in general, represents the total investment in the facilities of a utility employed in providing its service. Moreover, establishment of the rate base requires a determination of the dollar amount of property used and useful in rendering utility service. The utility is entitled to a reasonable rate of compensation on the rate base. Thus, rate base will not necessarily equate to the utility's capital investment – especially when not all of such investment is used to render utility service.

We have adopted a rate base that reasonably represents the dollar amount of property used and useful in rendering utility service. The Company proposed a rate base of $308,228,⁷⁹ which differs from Staff's proposal in two primary areas: (1) a reduction in CIAC attributed to the sales contract in the amount of $98,021; and (2) inclusion of a cash working capital allowance of $13,122. As discussed above, we have not recalculated CIAC attributed to the sales contract, and we have provided a cash working capital allowance.

Utility-Related Debt

The Hearing Examiner also recommended that the Company immediately take off its books the amount of its debt obligation with Grundy National Bank ("GNB") that exceeds the level of rate base determined herein.⁸⁰ The Company asserts, among other things, that such proposed ⁷¹ As discussed below, we find that the utility-related debt is equal to the net plant balance, which is $215,294.

B&J proposes to restructure the note, the face value of which is $735,813.57, to allocate a portion of the original face value to the development company as part of the consideration already received by that company, resulting in a debt obligation for the utility of $555,935.⁸² The Company states that the utility's debt obligation includes the total amounts borrowed by the Company in order to complete the infrastructure of the sewer system and to complete upgrades to the plant, and includes the amounts borrowed during the years in which the Company operated at a loss.⁸³ B&J further states that "[t]hrough the Company acknowledges that the recovery of past losses cannot be obtained from future ratepayers, that amount is still an obligation of the Company that is secured in part by the Company's assets pursuant to an enforceable instrument."⁸⁴ Staff, however, recommends that the utility's debt obligation should be equal to the net utility plant approved by the Commission.⁸⁵

The Commission has the authority to establish the booking standards for public utilities, such as B&J, which are subject to the Commission's jurisdiction. For example, as noted above, we have required the Company to conform its accounting system to the USOA requirements for Class C Wastewater Utilities. Moreover, we can direct a utility to reflect on its books investment, debt, and expenses that we have permitted for rate making purposes. In the Prior Proceeding, we found that "[t]he record shows that the Company's principals did make certain borrowings, but does not permit a finding as to which, if any, of these borrowed funds were used for the sewer and which were used for road construction, bridge construction, or other development activities."⁸⁶ Again, in this proceeding, the record does not support a finding as to which of these borrowed funds were used for the sewer and which were used for road construction, bridge construction, or other development activities.

We will not permit rates and ratepayers to be impacted by the portion of the debt that does not represent investment in facilities employed in providing utility service. The Company has not fully substantiated its requested loan balance for the utility. The Company has not provided information "tracing the funds into the sewer construction."⁸⁷ The Company has not established that its proposed debt obligation for the utility of $555,935 supports only sewer operations, with the exception of an amount attributable to the net plant found reasonable herein. Thus, the debt obligation for the utility proposed by B&J is not attributed to the sewer system and should not be supported by utility customers. As a result, it is inappropriate to maintain a debt balance of $555,935, as requested by B&J, on the books of the utility.

Accordingly, we find that the amount of debt in excess of the net plant balance should be transferred off of the books of the utility. Contrary to the Company's assertions, this booking adjustment does not reduce the total debt obligation reflected by the note, reduce the loan balance, or modify the loan agreement. Rather, we are requiring a booking adjustment for the utility to reflect proper recognition of the rate making implications of such debt. This debt obligation originally was on the books of the utility's parent company.⁸⁸ Indeed, as discussed above, B&J already has proposed in this proceeding to re-allocate a portion of the note in excess of $555,935, which would result in transferring the amount of debt in excess of $555,935 off of the books of the utility. Likewise, our requirement herein will result in transferring the amount of debt in excess of the net plant balance off of the books of the utility.⁸⁹

Monthly Rate

The Examiner noted that prior to May 1999, B&J's monthly rate was $29.00. In the Prior Proceeding, the Company requested and implemented a $34.00 rate effective May 1999. In March 2001, the Commission authorized a monthly rate of $40.00. In October 2001, B&J notified its customers that it would impose a monthly rate of $95.00 effective December 13, 2001. At the hearing, the Company reduced its rate request to $90.00.⁹⁰ Staff proposed a rate of $58.00. The Hearing Examiner concluded that the Company's proposed rate of $90.00 clearly constitutes rate shock and found that a rate of $50.00 per month is reasonable.⁹¹ The Company now seeks a rate of $84.00.⁹²

The Company asserts that the $50.00 rate recommended by the Examiner "is completely insufficient to enable the Company to pay its proper expenses, much less provide the owners with the statutorily required compensation for the cost of capital."⁹³ B&J states that § 56-265:13.4 of the Code requires that "the utility receive a rate of return in addition to receiving sufficient revenues to cover operating expenses, the cost of debt, and the cost to attract capital," and that its revenues must enable the Company to make principal repayments on its debt.⁹⁴ The Company asserts that the Examiner's rate of return of 7.05% "is deceiving, however, because this positive rate of return is only reached by artificially depressing the expenses of the Company."⁹⁵ B&J further states that "GNB, the holder of the note representing the utility's debt, has indicated that B&J must begin to make principal repayments on the Company's note; otherwise, the Company runs the risk that the bank will call the loan."⁹⁶

The Company also states that the Hearing Examiner's "Report constitutes the taking of private property without just compensation, which is constitutionally impermissible."⁹⁷ B&J notes the basic ratemaking principle that utility rate regulation can result in an improper taking if rates are set at a level found to be unjust or confiscatory.⁹⁸ The Company asserts that the setting of rates "is impacted by the recognition of revenues, the consideration of expenses and the setting of a reasonable rate of return," and that the "illusion of a positive rate of return by denying the Company reimbursement of operational expenses and interest expense mandated by the statute is a 'manipulation' that cannot pass Constitutional muster."⁹⁹ B&J also states that the "utility benefited from the rate base portion of the debt in its capital expansion and improvement," and that it "benefited from the non-rate base portion of the debt because, absent those borrowed amounts, the utility would have been unable to operate and pay its expenses in the ordinary course of business."¹⁰⁰

We approve a monthly rate of $60.00. We find that this rate satisfies the requirements of § 56-265.13:4 of the Code, which entitles the Company "to recover a level of revenues sufficient to pay for its lawful and necessary expenses, and to compensate its owners for their investment in the system."¹⁰¹ The Company proposes a rate of return of 7.42%.¹⁰² We find that a monthly rate of $60.00 results in a reasonable rate of return of 7.41%.¹⁰³

We disagree with B&J's assertion that the approved rate of return is an "illusion" resulting from "manipulation."¹⁰⁴ We have not denied the Company revenues to pay operational and interest expenses mandated by Virginia statute. Section 56-265:13.4 of the Code does not mandate that the Company receive sufficient revenues to pay all expenses it chooses to incur. Rather, the Commission must establish the "lowest charges" sufficient for the Company to pay all "lawful and necessary expenses."¹⁰⁵ Thus, in this case, we have determined the Company's lawful and necessary expenses.

In addition, § 56-265:13.4 of the Code does not require a rate that enables the Company to make principal payments on any debt obligation it chose to assume. Rather, the rate that we establish herein permits the Company to make principal payments on that portion of its debt which we have found represents investment in facilities that are used and useful in providing utility service. Moreover, to the extent any portion of B&J's debt was utilized for prudent operational expenses in the ordinary course of business, such expenditures have been properly recognized in the rate making process as operational expenses.

We are not required to assume a rate base equal to a particular capital investment regardless of what the funds are used for. Rather, investors are entitled to earn a return only on the investments that are used and useful in providing utility service.¹⁰⁶ As discussed above, we have adopted a rate base that reasonably represents the dollar amount of property used and useful in rendering utility service. Thus, we have found that the amount of capital upon which B&J is entitled to earn a return is not equivalent to the rate base requested by the Company.

¹⁰⁶ See, e.g., Duquesne Light Co., 488 U.S. 299, 317 (1989) ("We cannot determine whether the payments a utility has been allowed to collect constitute a fair return on investment, and thus whether the government's action is confiscatory, unless we agree upon what the relevant 'investment' is. For that purpose, all prudently incurred investment may well have to be counted.") (Scalia, J., concurring); Missouri Southwestern Bell v. Public Service Commission of Missouri, et al., 262 U.S. 276, 289 (1923) (An order of a state commission is confiscatory if it "prevents the utility from earning a fair return on the amount prudently invested in it" (footnote omitted).) (Brandeis, J., dissenting).

Finally, no rate of return or cost of capital analyses have been performed in this case. We previously have explained, in establishing rates under § 56-265:13.4 of the Code, that "since no rate of return or cost of capital analyses were performed in this proceeding, we should not use rate of return as the primary determinant of rates going forward."¹⁰⁷ Accordingly, we need not primarily rely upon rate base/rate of return to establish future rates for the Company. The monthly rate that we approve herein provides an increase in operating revenue of $31,860, which produces operating income of $16,553 after operating expenses, depreciation, and taxes found reasonable herein. We find that the rates established herein are "just and reasonable and will provide sufficient revenues for [the Company] to serve its customers."¹⁰⁸ In sum, pursuant to statutory requirements, we have determined the charges that shall produce sufficient revenues to pay the Company's lawful and necessary expenses. We cannot, however, ensure that B&J conducts its business in a manner that produces net operating income or net revenues.¹⁰⁹

Request for Oral Argument

Finally, we will deny the Company's request for oral argument. B&J states that "[g]iven the nature and complexity of the issues discussed herein, the Company respectfully requests that the Commission schedule oral argument to hear the issues."¹¹⁰ This case, however, has been "fully litigated and argument presented both in brief and comment on the Examiner's Report."¹¹¹ We find that oral argument is not necessary.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Company's request for oral argument is denied.
- (2) The findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner, as modified herein, are hereby adopted.
- (3) The Company may assess a monthly charge of $60.00 for sewer service.
- (4) The remaining charges, fees, and terms and conditions of service shall be as approved in this Order or, if not addressed in this Order, as recommended by the Hearing Examiner.
- (5) Within thirty (30) days from the date of this Order, the Company shall file with the Commission's Division of Energy Regulation rates, rules, and regulations of service consistent with the terms of this Order.
- (6) On or before August 1, 2003, B&J shall commence refunds, with interest as directed below, all revenues collected from the application of the interim rates that were effective for service beginning on February 11, 2002, to the extent that such revenues exceed the revenues produced by the rates approved herein.
- (7) Interest upon the ordered refunds shall be computed from the date payment of each monthly bill was due during the interim period or the date payment of the connection fee was due until the date refunds are made, at an average prime rate for each calendar quarter. The applicable average prime rate for each calendar quarter shall be the arithmetic mean, to the nearest one-hundredth of one percent, of the prime rate values published in the Federal Reserve Bulletin, or in the Federal Reserve's Selected Interest Rates (Statistical Release G.13), for the three months of the preceding calendar quarter.
- (8) The interest required to be paid shall be compounded quarterly.
- (9) The refunds ordered herein may be accomplished by credit to the appropriate customer's account for current customers (each such refund category being shown separately on each customer's bill). Refunds to former customers shall be made by a check to the last known address of such customers when the refund amount is $1 or more. B&J may offset the credit or refund to the extent no dispute exists regarding the outstanding balances of its current customers, or customers who are no longer on its system. To the extent that outstanding balances of such customers are disputed, no offset shall be permitted for the disputed portion. B&J may retain refunds owed to former customers when such refund amount is less than $1; however, B&J will prepare and maintain a list detailing each of the former accounts for which refunds are less than $1, and in the event such former customers contact the Company and request refunds, such refunds shall be made promptly. All unclaimed refunds shall be handled in accordance with § 55-210.6:2 of the Code of Virginia.
- (10) On or before June 1, 2004, B&J shall file with the Staff a document showing that all refunds have been lawfully made pursuant to this Order and itemizing the cost of the refund and accounts charged. Such itemization of costs shall include, inter alia, computer costs, and the personnel-hours, associated salaries and cost for verifying and correcting the refund methodology and developing the computer program.
- (11) B&J shall bear all costs of the refunding directed in this Order.
- (12) There being nothing further to come before the Commission, this matter shall be removed from the docket and the papers placed in the file for ended causes.

ORDER ON MOTION

By letter dated October 26, 2001, B&J Enterprises, L.C. ("B&J" or the "Company") notified its customers and the State Corporation Commission's ("Commission") Division of Energy Regulation of its intent, pursuant to the Small Water or Sewer Public Utility Act, Va. Code ("Code") § 56-265.13:1 et seq., to increase its monthly sewer rates effective for service rendered on and after December 13, 2001. On November 21, 2001, approximately 90% of the Company's customers filed a petition with the Commission objecting to the Company's proposed rate increase.

On January 30, 2002, the Commission issued an Order permitting B&J to implement its proposed rate increase effective February 11, 2002, on an interim basis and subject to refund with interest. The Commission's Order also appointed a Hearing Examiner to conduct further proceedings in this matter. On June 27, 2003, the Commission issued a Final Order in this proceeding.

On July 17, 2003, B&J and the Blacksburg Country Club Homeowners' Association filed a Joint Motion for Clarification and Reconsideration ("Joint Motion"), which "petition[s] the [Commission] for clarification and, if necessary, reconsideration of the Commission's Final Order dated June 27, 2003, ... to specify that B&J may, in the future, request consideration of the imposition of an availability fee on all lot owners in BCC Estates."

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the Joint Motion, is of the opinion and finds as follows. The Final Order in this proceeding does not preclude B&J, in the future, from requesting consideration of the imposition of an availability fee on all lot owners in BCC Estates. Rather, the Final Order states: "We do not find, based on the record before us, that an implied equitable servitude or easement exists which would permit an availability fee to be imposed absent an express contract or restrictive covenant." Final Order at 19 (emphasis added). We reiterate that our finding on this matter is explicitly limited to the record developed in this case.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Final Order in this proceeding does not preclude B&J, in the future, from requesting consideration of the imposition of an availability fee on all lot owners in BCC Estates.
- (2) This matter is hereby dismissed.

ORDER ON RECONSIDERATION

By letter dated October 26, 2001, B&J Enterprises, L.C. ("B&J" or the "Company") notified its customers and the State Corporation Commission's ("Commission") Division of Energy Regulation of its intent, pursuant to the Small Water or Sewer Public Utility Act, Va. Code ("Code") § 56-265.13:1 et seq., to increase its monthly sewer rates effective for service rendered on and after December 13, 2001. On November 21, 2001, approximately 90% of the Company's customers filed a petition with the Commission objecting to the Company's proposed rate increase.

On January 30, 2002, the Commission issued an Order permitting B&J to implement its proposed rate increase effective February 11, 2002, on an interim basis and subject to refund with interest. The Commission's Order also appointed a Hearing Examiner to conduct further proceedings in this matter. On June 27, 2003, the Commission issued a Final Order in this proceeding ("Final Order").

On July 16, 2003, Joan G. Moore filed a Petition for Reconsideration ("Petition"). Ms. Moore requests that: (1) a reduction of the total allowed B&J for management and operations personnel be considered, consistent with the findings of the Hearing Examiner; (2) a reduction of the total allowed B&J for rate case expenses for this case be considered, consistent with the findings of the Hearing Examiner, the position of the Commission's Staff ("Staff"), and the laws of Virginia; (3) the Commission reconsider its decision to allow B&J a cash working capital allowance; (4) the Commission consider requiring B&J to record contributions in aid of construction ("CIAC") for the year 2001, $25,000 in sewer connection fees that the evidence shows was paid but not recorded; and (5) the Commission consider now, as part of this case, the inequity to ratepayers that arises from allowing B&J a rate of return on the costs of sewer mains and laterals installed for the benefit of B&J lot owners, but not yet compensated for by recorded sewer connection fees on these lots. Ms. Moore is not seeking reconsideration of the $60.00 monthly rate established in the Final Order. On July 18, 2003, the Commission issued an Order Granting Reconsideration for the purpose of continuing our jurisdiction over this proceeding and considering the Petition.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the pleadings, the record, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds as follows. We deny the Petition as discussed below. We also provide clarification on certain matters raised in Ms. Moore's well-reasoned Petition.

Ms. Moore requests that the Commission reduce the approved management fee of $28,033 by $6,030, which represents B&J's payments to Messrs. Lovern and Stiltner to check on the system and to perform required tests. Ms. Moore contends that these services represent unnecessary duplication.

Based on the record before us, we do not find that the $28,033 management fee is duplicative of the services provided by Messrs. Lovern and Stiltner. We also note that B&J agreed in this proceeding to maintain a log of Mr. Reynolds' time and work performed. Consistent with our discussion in the Final Order, if the Company does not keep detailed records of the time spent by Mr. Reynolds for management service, in the future we may disallow all or some portion of that cost.

Ms. Moore also asks the Commission "to significantly reduce the rate case expense allowed."¹ Ms. Moore states: "If the $24,736 in rate case expenses is allowed to stand, it will be a travesty of justice sending the message to customers that merely complaining about a rate increase will cost $180 per customer, and that is before the customers' own cost of representing themselves or hiring counsel to represent them is considered."² For the reasons set forth in the Final Order, we find that $24,736 of rate case expense amortized over a period of four years is within the range of reasonableness in this instance. In response, however, to Ms. Moore's concern regarding future cases, the Final Order establishes that B&J does not possess an entitlement to the recovery of similar rate case expenses in future proceedings. The Final Order explains that the business of a public utility is not risk free and that "a public utility's rate case expense must bear some reasonable relationship to the utility and the utility's rate request."³ Furthermore, the Final Order admonishes that "[e]ven if B&J had kept meticulous records of its expenses, ratepayers cannot be the guarantors of whatever the Company might choose to spend for rate case expense."⁴

Ms. Moore requests that the Commission reject a cash working capital allowance for B&J. Ms. Moore asserts that "[u]nless B&J wishes to change from billing in advance, to billing after service is rendered, a [cash working capital allowance] is not justified."⁵ As found in the Final Order, however, we conclude that a cash working capital allowance is appropriate based on the record in this case. For example, in addition to B&J's claim that it currently is not receiving the benefits of advance billing, a cash working capital allowance will be used for certain expenses that must be paid for immediately but will be recovered over a longer period.⁶

Ms. Moore asserts that the Company collected $25,000 in sewer connection fees that it has not recorded on its books. Thus, Ms. Moore requests that the Commission require B&J to record this $25,000 as CIAC. Ms. Moore also asks that the Commission consider taking certain steps to correct the inequity resulting from "the shifting of costs from B&J lot owners to other ratepayers which arises from uncollected sewer connection fees."⁷ We will not modify our findings on these matters for the reasons contained in the Final Order. We note, however, that the Final Order directed B&J to file detailed information in future proceedings on the process it has put in place to bill, book, and collect connection fees. The Final Order explained that collection of CIAC would reduce B&J's need to borrow funds necessary to make system improvements and would reduce B&J's interest costs. Moreover, connection fees represent customer-provided capital and, if booked when billed, connection fees would result in an increase to CIAC by the billed connection fees and would serve as a reduction to rate base. In future proceedings the Commission's Staff will audit the Company's books to verify that connection fees are properly billed, booked, and collected. If the Company cannot establish that such fees have been properly billed, booked, and collected, we may impute such for ratemaking purposes in future cases.

Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Petition for Reconsideration filed by Joan G. Moore is denied.
- (2) This matter is dismissed.

⁵ Petition at 9.

⁶ In addition, the Final Order explained that a cash working capital allowance is not a substitute for properly addressing B&J's uncollectible amounts. Following the Uniform System of Accounts requires accrual accounting, wherein B&J should book revenue based on the amount billed and should record uncollectible expense to its bad debt expense account. Thus, one manner in which to address uncollectibles is for the Company to request, and to justify, an uncollectible allowance in rates and to record uncollectibles as an expense on its books.

JANUARY 14, 2002

APPLICATION OF
KINDER MORGAN VIRGINIA, LLC

For authority to construct and operate an electric generating facility in Cumberland County

DISMISSAL ORDER

On December 27, 2001, Kinder Morgan Virginia, LLC ("Kinder Morgan" or "Company"), filed with the Clerk of the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") its application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate an electric generating facility pursuant to § 56-580 D of the Code of Virginia. In addition, the Company sought interim approval to make financial expenditures and to undertake preliminary construction work.

Under this application, Kinder Morgan proposed to construct a 560 megawatt natural gas-fired electrical generation plant ("facility") at a site in Cumberland County, Virginia, to commence operations by the third quarter of 2004. The facility was proposed to be constructed on a site of approximately 34 acres that is owned by Cumberland County ("County"), and is located adjacent to a now-closed County landfill.

Electricity produced by this generation facility was proposed to be transferred through an energy conversion services arrangement to a major power marketing company not affiliated with Kinder Morgan, or the power would have been sold on a wholesale basis. The Company also stated in its application that energy produced by this facility would not be sold by the Company to retail electric customers in the Commonwealth.

Finally, the application stated that construction of the proposed facility would enhance the competitive market for wholesale electricity in Virginia. Additionally, the application declared that the proposed facility would aid the delivery and reliability of electric power in the Commonwealth.

Pursuant to this Commission's Order for Notice and Hearing dated February 26, 2002, a procedural schedule for this proceeding was established; such schedule included a hearing date of July 9, 2002. At the subsequent request of the Company, and by order dated May 8, 2002, the Commission's hearing examiner assigned to this matter postponed the hearing date to December 17, 2002. Thereafter, and by ruling dated October 21, 2002, the hearing examiner continued the matter generally. The Company requested this continuance and suspension of the procedural schedule in a motion dated October 17, 2002.¹

Finally, on October 30, 2002, the Company filed a motion denominated, Motion to Withdraw Application. In support of its motion, the Company stated that it had decided not to proceed with construction of the generating facility that is the subject of this application. Thereafter, Howard P. Anderson, Jr., the hearing examiner assigned to this matter issued a report dated October 31, 2002, in which he (i) directed that the Company's Motion to Withdraw Application be granted, and (ii) recommended that the Commission enter an order dismissing this application from its docket of pending proceedings.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the Motion is of the opinion and finds that Kinder Morgan Virginia LLC should be allowed to withdraw its application for the proposed facility. We will grant the Motion and dismiss this matter without prejudice.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Motion to Withdraw Application is hereby granted.
- (2) This matter is hereby dismissed without prejudice from the Commission's docket of active proceedings, and the papers herein shall be placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

¹ The hearing examiner's October 21, 2002, ruling noted that the Company had requested suspension of the procedural schedule because "the market for new energy generation facilities in Virginia and nationwide has failed to improve and Kinder Morgan Virginia believes it is no longer prudent to continue with the procedural schedule established for this case."

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00002
AUGUST 1, 2003

APPLICATION OF
ATMOS ENERGY CORPORATION d/b/a UNITED CITIES GAS COMPANY-VIRGINIA

For an Annual Informational Filing

ORDER ADOPTING RECOMMENDATIONS AND DISMISSING PROCEEDING

On December 28, 2001, Atmos Energy Corporation, formerly known as United Cities Gas Company - Virginia ("Atmos" or the "Company"), delivered its Annual Informational Filing ("AIF") for the test period ended September 30, 2001, to the State Corporation Commission ("Commission"). The Company completed its application on January 14, 2002.

On May 15, 2002, the Staff filed its review and analysis of the 2001 AIF. Staff's accounting analysis demonstrated that Atmos earned a fully adjusted test year return on common equity of 9.73%, a return below the Company's authorized return on equity range of 10.50% to 11.50%, established in Case No. PUE-2000-00171, in the Commission's May 22, 2001 Final Order. Staff's accounting analysis addressed two principal issues. The first issue involved the establishment of a new regulatory asset for excessive uncollectibles expense incurred during the 2000-2001 winter heating season. Through its earnings test establishing the deferral, Staff reported that Atmos earned a test year return on common equity of 11.48%, which was 48 basis points above the benchmark return of 11.00%, the midpoint of the Company's authorized return on equity range. Staff, therefore, asserted that Atmos did not meet the criteria for establishing the full deferral balance of $492,363, and recommended a $72,210 write-down of the requested deferral balance to $420,153, as of September 30, 2001.

The second issue identified by the Staff in its Report related to the appropriate ratemaking treatment for Atmos' merger and integration ("M&I") cost regulatory asset. The Company proposed to allocate 100% of the M&I deferral to its regulated business unit and to amortize the deferral over seven years. Staff, on the other hand, allocated a portion of the initial M&I deferral to Atmos' non-regulated units, netted cumulative merger savings, and allowed a 50/50 sharing of ongoing savings between Atmos' ratepayers and shareholders.

Staff's M&I cost-savings analysis demonstrated that Atmos underamortized the jurisdictional M&I deferral by $1,623,937, through the end of the 2001 test year. Staff's 2001 earnings test analysis also revealed that Atmos generated sufficient excess earnings to absorb another $75,942, of the M&I deferral. Staff recommended that the Commission direct Atmos to write down the Virginia jurisdictional portion of the M&I deferral by $1,699,879 to reflect the appropriate unamortized regulatory balance of $738,080, as of September 30, 2001.

On July 12, 2002, Atmos, by counsel, filed a Motion for Hearing with the Commission, together with its "Responses to Staff's Accounting Analysis" ("Response"). In its Response, Atmos took issue with Staff's adjustment to weather normalization revenues and with Staff's adjustments to uncollectible expense, other benefits expense, other postretirement benefits ("OPEB") expense, customer deposits, interest on customer deposits, supplier refunds, interest on supplier refunds, accumulated deferred income taxes ("ADIT") and M&I costs. In addition, the Company asserted that the Staff employed a point-in-time rather than a 13-month average capital structure in Staff's earnings test. Atmos contended that its analysis did not indicate a need for a write-down of either the excess uncollectibles deferral or the M&I regulatory asset.

On July 15, 2003, the Staff, by counsel, filed a Motion whereby it requested leave to supplement the May 15, 2002, Staff Report. In support of its Motion, Staff noted that it had met with Atmos to discuss the captioned AIF, and that as a result of the meeting, the Company modified its position on certain issues and agreed to provide additional information relating to various accounting adjustments. Staff also related that it had received and analyzed the information provided by the Company, and that this information would likely result in the modification of certain of Staff's recommendations and schedules that appeared in its May 15, 2002, Report. Staff represented that it had contacted Atmos' counsel, and that Atmos did not oppose the Staff's request to supplement the May 15, 2002 Report.

On July 17, 2003, the Commission entered an Order granting Staff's Motion to file a Supplemental Report. This Order directed Staff to file its Supplemental Report by no later than August 8, 2003.

On July 18, 2003, the Staff filed its Supplemental Report. In this Report, Staff represented that after the August 30, 2002, meeting with Staff, Atmos accepted Staff's weather normalization adjustment as well as Staff's adjustments to other benefits expense, customer deposits, supplier refunds, interest on supplier refunds, and ADIT-Capitalized Selling. In turn, Staff accepted Atmos' position that ADIT-Deferred Gain-United Cities Gas Storage was a non-jurisdictional item, and that the earnings test capital structure should be revised.

With regard to uncollectibles expense, Staff reported that Atmos argued that the Staff's methodology of calculating going forward expense, which applies a net charge off rate to fully adjusted gas and nongas margins based on actual experience, could misstate the going forward level of uncollectibles expense if gas prices were volatile during the test year. The Company asserted that Staff's methodology should be applied only to nongas margins, while the uncollectibles expense related to gas costs should be left at a per book level. Staff acknowledged that while the Company's position on this issue may have merit, such a significant change in ratemaking methodology needed to be made in the context of a rate proceeding. The Company agreed to use Staff's methodology for calculating going forward uncollectibles expense in AIFs until its next rate application is filed with the Commission. Regarding the M&I asset issue, Staff commented that the AIF was not the appropriate docket in which to resolve that issue. Staff and the Company agreed to defer resolution of the M&I regulatory asset issue until the Company's next rate case filing.

As noted in the Supplemental Report, the sole issue remaining in the 2001 AIF was the question of OPEB funding. Staff continued to assert that the Commission's December 30, 1992 Final Order in Case No. PUE-1992-00003 (the "OPEB Order"), required the Company to fund the OPEB accrued fully in order to recover it fully in rates.¹ Staff reported that if the OPEB accrued is not funded, the OPEB expense must be reduced to a pay-as-you-go level and rate base must be reduced for the cumulative funding shortfall. Staff represented that since the August 30, 2002, meeting, Atmos had provided additional documentation regarding its funding of the OPEB accrual. Staff therefore revised its OPEB adjustments in the 2001 earnings test to increase expense by $15,369, and rate base by $144,560. As of September 30, 2001, Atmos still had a jurisdictional funding deficit of $55,502, which translated into an average rate base deduction, net of tax, of $23,225, in the 2001 earnings test.

After all revisions, Staff's supplemental accounting analysis reveals that Atmos has a fully adjusted return on common equity of 9.34% for the fiscal year 2001. Staff's revised earnings test demonstrates that Atmos earned a return on common equity of 10.64%, which is an 84 basis point decrease compared to Staff's initial earnings test return. According to the Staff, since Atmos' revised return is below the 11% benchmark return, no earnings test write-down is necessary for the excess uncollectibles deferral. Staff reflected a $21,484 write-down of the M&I asset in the 2001 AIF's earnings test to reduce Atmos' regulatory earnings to the bottom of the approved range, which left an unamortized balance of $786,591, for the M&I regulatory asset as of September 30, 2001. Staff noted that the Company and the Staff have agreed to delay the resolution of the M&I asset issue until Atmos' next rate proceeding. Staff also reported that it and Atmos have agreed on the following to monitor OPEB funding on a prospective basis: (i) Atmos will establish a formal policy such that once voluntary employees beneficiary association ("VEBA") trust funds are committed to funding the Virginia OPEB accrual, those funds cannot be transferred to another account without notice and explanation to Staff; and (ii) Atmos will provide an annual reconciliation of the Virginia OPEB accrual to the actual Virginia VEBA trust funding, to be included in the annual AIF or rate application.

On July 25, 2003, Atmos, by counsel, filed a letter stating that it did not intend to file a response to the Supplemental Staff Report, and wished to withdraw its request for hearing in this matter. In its letter, the Company indicated that it concurred with the entry of an order adopting the Staff's recommendations in that Report and closing the proceeding.

Now, upon consideration of the record made in this case, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that Atmos and Staff's agreement to defer resolution of the issues related to the remaining balance of the M&I regulatory asset until Atmos' next rate proceeding appears appropriate, especially inasmuch as no change in rates has been recommended in this proceeding. Our acceptance of this Staff recommendation must be understood as merely reserving judgment on this issue and should not be construed as either approval of the recovery of any deferred expenses or as agreement as to any sharing of these expenses between the Company's ratepayers and shareholders. We further find that Staff and Atmos' proposals to monitor the level of Atmos' OPEB funding prospectively appear appropriate, and we will direct Atmos to establish a formal policy so that once VEBA trust funds are committed to funding the OPEB accrual for Virginia, these funds cannot be transferred to another account without notice and explanation to the Staff. Additionally, we direct Atmos to provide for an annual reconciliation of the Virginia OPEB accrual to the Virginia VEBA trust funding in its subsequent AIF or rate application. Adoption of these proposals should permit the Commission, Staff or any interested case participant to evaluate the Company's compliance with the requirements of the OPEB Order.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The proposal of Staff and Company to delay the consideration of the M&I regulatory asset issue until the Company's files its next rate proceeding is hereby adopted.
- (2) The recommendations found on pages 5-6 of the Staff's July 18, 2003 Supplemental Report are hereby accepted.
- (3) Atmos shall be permitted to withdraw its request for a hearing.
- (4) There being nothing further to be done herein, this proceeding shall be dismissed from the Commission docket of active proceedings, and the papers filed herein shall be filed in the Commission's files for ended causes.

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00075
MARCH 13, 2003

APPLICATION OF
CPV WARREN, LLC

For a certificate of public convenience and necessity for electric generation facilities in Warren County, Virginia

FINAL ORDER

On February 4, 2002, CPV Warren, LLC ("CPV", "CPV Warren", or the "Company") filed an application in both confidential and public versions with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for approval pursuant to § 56-580 D of the Code of Virginia and the revised provision of 20 VAC 5-302-10 and -20 of the Virginia Administrative Code to construct, own, and operate a 520 MW combined cycle electric generating facility ("Facility") in Warren County, Virginia. As explained in the application, the Facility will interconnect on-site with a 500 kV transmission line owned by Dominion Virginia Power and a 138 kV transmission line owned by Allegheny Power Systems. The Facility will be powered by natural gas and will use low-sulfur distillate oil as a backup fuel for no more than 720 hours per year. CPV requested confidential treatment of commercially sensitive information related to the Facility that CPV Warren deemed confidential.

On March 5, 2002, the Commission issued an Order docketing the matter, and setting forth the procedure under which confidential information could be accessed and used by Staff and parties to the proceeding.

On March 18, 2002, the Commission entered an Order scheduling a public hearing in the matter. The Commission required CPV to provide public notice of its application, provided interested persons with an opportunity to participate in the matter, established a procedural schedule for the filing of testimony, and assigned a Hearing Examiner to conduct further proceedings on the application. A public hearing was scheduled for July 24, 2002.

On April 15, 2002, Washington Gas Light Company ("WGL") filed its Notice of Participation herein. Further, in providing notice of this proceeding pursuant to the March 18, 2002 Order, CPV inadvertently served notice on Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc., instead of Columbia Gas Transmission Corporation ("TCo"). CPV notified TCo of the proceeding on June 26, 2002, after the deadline for filing notices of participation had passed.

On July 12, 2002, TCo, by counsel, filed a Notice of Participation as a Respondent out of time. In its Notice of Participation, TCo represented that it would accept the record "as is", without further modification and that it was not seeking to delay the procedural schedule for the proceeding. On July 16, 2002, CPV filed a "Motion in Support of Notice of Participation as a Respondent Out-of-Time," asserting that no parties would be prejudiced by permitting TCo to participate in granting the Company's motion. CPV's motion was granted by the July 17, 2002 Hearing Examiner's Ruling.

No comments from the public opposing the Facility were filed with the Commission by the June 14, 2002, deadline established by the March 18, 2002, Order for Notice and Hearing.

The Department of Environmental Quality ("DEQ") coordinated an environmental review of the application conducted by itself and other interested state agencies, the Northern Shenandoah Valley Regional Commission, and Warren County, Virginia. DEQ prepared a report on the potential impacts from construction and operation of the facility as well as recommendations for minimizing those impacts, which was filed on May 29, 2002 ("DEQ Report").

On June 26, 2002, the Commission Staff ("Staff") filed direct testimony regarding its analysis of CPV's application. The DEQ Report was attached to this testimony and was identified at Exhibit 10 in the proceeding. CPV filed rebuttal testimony on July 12, 2002.

An evidentiary hearing was convened as scheduled on July 24, 2002, before Hearing Examiner Alexander F. Skirpan, Jr. James R. Barrett, Esquire, George D. Cannon, Jr., Esquire, and Cassandra Sturkie, Esquire, appeared on behalf of CPV. CPV presented the testimony of Thomas E. Eiden, CPV's Vice President for Project Development, Glen Harkness, President for TRC Environmental Corporation,¹ the supplemental testimony of Frederick M. Sellars, Vice President and National Director of Energy Facilities Permitting for TRC Environmental Corporation ("TRC"), and Harry Vidas, Vice President of Energy and Environmental Analysis, Inc. ("EEA").²

² On April 29, 2002, the Commission issued orders in three other certificate proceedings remanding those applications for, among other things, further consideration of cumulative air quality impacts. See Application of Mirant Danville, LLC. For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Va. Code § 56-265.2, an exemption from Chapter 10 of Title 56 and interim approval to make financial commitments and undertake preliminary construction work, Case No. PUE-2001-00430, Order (April 29, 2002); Application of CinCap Martinsville, LLC. For a certificate of public convenience and necessity for electric generation facilities in the City of Martinsville, Case No. PUE-2001-00169, Order (April 29, 2002); Application of Kinder Morgan

Sherry H. Bridewell, Esquire, and William H. Chambliss, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the Staff. Staff presented the testimony of Gregory L. Abbott of the Division of Energy Regulation, and Mary E. Owens and Mark Carsley of the Division of Economics and Finance. William Orndorff of the Department of Conservation and Recreation ("DCR"), Division of Natural Heritage, and Thomas F. Wilcox of the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries ("VDGIF" or "DGIF") appeared and presented testimony on the effect of the project on the Madison Cave Isopod.³ In addition, Charles Turner, Director of DEQ's Office of Air Permit Programs, provided testimony on the effect of the project on air quality and testimony responsive to the testimony presented by Daniel R. Holmes, who appeared as a public witness on behalf of Piedmont Environmental Council ("PEC"). Neither TCo nor WGL appeared at the hearing.

Three public witnesses testified at the hearing, one of which opposed construction of the proposed facility. Richard Traezyk, a resident of Front Royal, testified that he was the Chairman of the Warren County Planning Commission at the time CPV presented its petition for local approval of the Facility. He testified that the Planning Commission unanimously voted to approve CPV's proposed Facility. He noted that he and the Planning Commission had conferred with professionals about the technical aspects of CPV's Facility and visited a similar facility in Hanover, Virginia, to observe its operations. Based on his research, Mr. Traezyk concluded that CPV's power generation facility was superior to coal-fired and nuclear power plants. Among other things, Mr. Traezyk testified that CPV's facility would benefit Warren County by contributing millions of dollars to that County's tax base, diversifying the County's businesses, and bringing high-skilled jobs to the community.

Douglas P. Stanley, a resident of Front Royal and the Warren County Administrator and planning director, appeared as a public witness in support of the proposed facility. He testified that the site, located in the middle of Warren County's industrial corridor, had been zoned for industrial use since 1977, and was "ideally suited" for CPV's facility because of its proximity to interstate gas lines and electric transmission lines. Mr. Stanley addressed the process by which Warren County officials evaluated and approved the conditional use permit ("CUP") for the proposed facility. He noted that both the Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors unanimously approved the CUP, subject to 54 conditions.

On cross-examination, Mr. Stanley maintained that CPV's commitment to utilizing dry-cooling technology to reduce water consumption distinguished CPV's application from other potential power facility projects. Mr. Stanley confirmed that when the County officials approved the CUP they did not factor in the presence of the Madison Cave Isopod on the land near the facility's proposed site.

Daniel R. Holmes, Special Projects Coordinator for PEC, also appeared as a public witness. Among other things, Mr. Holmes' testimony focused primarily on the impact of the Facility on air quality. Mr. Holmes raised the concern that Warren County was included within the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's ("EPA's") presumptive boundaries for non-attainment with the eight-hour ozone standards as illustrated by a map he offered (Exhibit 1). He questioned whether CPV's commitment to obtain offsets of nitrogen oxide ("NO_x) emissions was possible and enforceable. He asserted that CPV should use lowest achievable emission rate ("LAER") technology rather than best available control technology at its proposed Facility. Mr. Holmes questioned whether DEQ had addressed Prevention of Significant Deterioration ("PSD") increments for the Facility and expressed concern as to the cumulative impacts of all proposed facilities. He expressed concern that Virginia's PSD program had not been subject to a periodic comprehensive review as prescribed by federal law.

Regarding CPV's commitments to Warren County, Mr. Holmes expressed concerns over whether CPV intends to operate the proposed facility and whether commitments made by CPV to Warren County would be enforceable if CPV sold the facility.

On cross-examination, Mr. Holmes clarified that two of the proposed plants shown on his map (Exhibit 1) purporting to identify preliminary ozone nonattainment areas, existing air quality monitoring and proposed power plants as of June 2001, should be removed because those projects have been withdrawn. Further, he explained that there was a dispute between DEQ and EPA over the classification of Warren County, with DEQ holding that the County should not be considered as an area in non-attainment under the eight-hour ozone standard.

During the proceeding, CPV witness Eiden agreed to the recommendations made in the May 29, 2002, DEQ Report (Exhibit 10), subject to further discussions with DCR and VDGIF regarding the Madison Cave Isopod. Transcript at 114-115.⁴ A late filed exhibit (Exhibit 8) was reserved for the Company to report on the status of its continued dialogue with DCR and VDGIF on this and stormwater runoff concerns. Tr. at 98-100. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Hearing Examiner accepted an offer by the Company and Staff to prepare a summary of the record in lieu of post-hearing briefs in the matter. Tr. at 215-216.

On October 15, 2002, CPV filed Exhibit 8, wherein the Company indicated that it had resolved all outstanding issues regarding the Madison Cave Isopod to the satisfaction of both VDGIF and DCR. In Exhibit 8, CPV committed to the following:

- Contribution To Help Fund Conservation Easement. DCR has expressed its interest in either developing a conservation easement over Madison Cave Isopod habitat located on a parcel currently owned by Fishnet Ministries, Inc., nearby the Project site, or purchasing the property. CPV, with DCR's concurrence, has agreed to contribute $47,250 toward a fund that will be administered by DCR to acquire the conservation easement or purchase the property.

Virginia, LLC. For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Va. Code § 56-265.2, an exemption from Chapter 10 of Title 56 and interim approval to make financial commitments and undertake preliminary construction work, Case No. PUE-2001-00423, Order (April 29, 2002).

To respond to the Commission's interest in developing a factual record regarding potential cumulative air quality impacts, CPV filed a motion on June 27, 2002, to supplement its application with the prefiled testimonies of Mr. Sellars and Mr. Vidas, responsive to the cumulative air quality impacts issue. CPV's unopposed motion was granted by the Hearing Examiner's July 17, 2002 Ruling.

⁴ Hereafter references to the transcript will be to "Tr. at ____".

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

- Contribution To Help Fund Monitoring. DGIF has recommended that CPV contribute toward a fund that would be used to monitor potential impacts to the Madison Cave Isopod resulting from the construction and operation of the Project. CPV, with DGIF's concurrence, has agreed to contribute $10,000 to a monitoring program developed by DGIF for this purpose.
- Stormwater Detention System. DGIF has recommended that the Project's stormwater detention system be designed to withstand a 100-year storm event. The Project's engineer has confirmed the Project's stormwater detention pond and landscaping plan are designed to withstand a 100-year storm event. CPV has further committed to enhance the design of the drainage ditches at the Project site.

On October 18, 2002, a Summary of the Record was filed jointly by Staff counsel and counsel for the Company.

On November 25, 2002, the Hearing Examiner entered a Report ("Report") summarizing the record and analyzing the evidence and issues in this proceeding. The Report made the following findings:

1. The Facility will have no material adverse effect upon the reliability of electric service provided by any regulated public utility;
2. The Facility advances the goal of electric competition in the Commonwealth;
3. The Facility will have no adverse effect upon the rates paid by customers for electric, natural gas, water, or sewer service from any regulated public utility in the Commonwealth;
4. The Facility will have no material adverse effect on any threatened or endangered plant or animal species, any wetlands, air quality, water resources, or the environment generally;
5. The Facility will have a positive impact on economic development;
6. Construction and operation of the Facility will not be contrary to the public interest;
7. Any Certificate issued by the Commission in this case should include a requirement that CPV Warren report to the Clerk of the Commission the name and corporate affiliation of any company joining CPV as an equity partner, and the name and corporate affiliation of any company that purchases all or part of the capacity or output of the Facility on a long-term basis of six months or more;
8. Any Certificate issued by the Commission in this case should include a sunset provision that calls for the Certificate to expire if construction has not commenced within two years from the date of issuance;
9. Any Certificate issued by the Commission in this case should require CPV Warren to comply with all recommendations of the DEQ as agreed to by CPV Warren during this proceeding; and
10. Any Certificate issued by the Commission in this case should include a requirement for CPV Warren to meet its commitments with regard to the Madison Cave Isopod as set forth in Exhibit No. 8.

Based upon his findings, the Hearing Examiner recommended that the Commission: (i) grant CPV authority and a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to § 56-580 D of the Code of Virginia to construct and operate an electric generation facility, and its associated facilities in Warren County as described in the Report and based upon the record developed in the proceeding; (ii) direct the Company to report to the Clerk of the Commission the name and corporate affiliation of any company joining CPV as an equity partner, and the name and corporate affiliation of any company that purchases all or part of the capacity or output of the Facility on a long-term basis of six months or more; (iii) provide that the certificate will sunset if construction has not begun within two years from the date of a Commission final order granting approval of the Facility; (iv) direct CPV Warren to comply with the recommendations of the DEQ as agreed to by CPV Warren during this proceeding; (v) direct CPV to meet its commitments with regard to the Madison Cave Isopod as set forth in Exhibit 8; (vi) provide that the certificate is conditioned on the receipt of all permits necessary to operate the Facility and direct the Company to provide a complete list of these permits to the Division of Energy Regulation; and (vii) dismiss the case from the Commission's docket of active proceedings.

The Hearing Examiner invited the parties to the proceeding to file written comments to the Report within twenty-one days from the date of the Report, i.e., by December 16, 2002. Although no comments were filed by the parties to this case, the National Parks Conservation Association ("NPCA"), the Sierra Club, the Blue Ridge Environmental Defense League ("BREDL"), and PEC each registered concerns through written comments received by the Commission's Office of the Clerk on December 16, 2002.

On January 13, 2003, Douglas K. Morris, Superintendent of Shenandoah National Park, filed a letter in the Clerk's Office on behalf of the National Park Service. Mr. Morris filed this same letter on August 14, 2002. The letter stated that "[d]ue to significant unresolved issues surrounding the potential environmental impacts of this proposed power plant on the Class I Shenandoah National Park and . . . [PSD] increments, I request that the . . . [Commission] keep its Case No. PUE 2002-0075 (sic) file open until VA DEQ completes its PSD permit processing in consideration of our comments."

On December 27, 2002, the Commission Staff filed a "Motion to Receive Letter from Department of Environmental Quality into the Record" ("Motion"). This Motion noted that DEQ filed a letter, dated November 26, 2002 ("DEQ Letter"), in response to a Staff request pursuant to § 10.1-1186.2:1 C of the Code of Virginia. The DEQ Letter discussed the recommendations contained in the DEQ Report of May 29, 2002. The DEQ Letter stated that some of the recommendations in the DEQ Report pertain to matters that are not governed by permits or approvals, some of the recommendations pertain to matters that could be or could have been made into permit conditions depending on the interaction between the agency making the recommendation and the permitting authority, and one recommendation may or may not appear in a permit condition.

Among other things, § 10.1-1186.2:1 C of the Code of Virginia requires that, prior to the close of the Commission's record on an application for certification of an electric generating facility pursuant to § 56-580 of the Code of Virginia, the DEQ shall provide the Commission with certain information about environmental issues identified during the DEQ's review process. The Motion indicated that in view of § 10.1-1186.2:1 C and the provisions of § 56-580 D, it was important to make the attached letter a part of the record to provide information relevant to agency approvals for the proposed Facility. Staff counsel represented that she was authorized to state that none of the parties to the proceeding opposed Staff's Motion, and that the next available exhibit number was Exhibit 18.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the pleadings, the Hearing Examiner's Report, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate the Facility should be granted to CPV Warren.

The Commission must decide this case on the evidence properly presented in the record. We will not consider the separate comments filed on December 16, 2002, by NPCA, the Sierra Club, BREDL, and PEC, all of which offer evidence and all of which were untimely filed.⁵ We encourage the participation of these entities, and all interested persons or entities, in Commission proceedings. We must, however, ensure that our procedures remain fair to the applicant and to those who participate in accordance with the Commission's orders and regulations.

In this proceeding, adequate notice was provided and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to file written comments on the Company's application in a timely manner, to become parties to the case, or to appear as public witnesses. Our Order for Notice and Hearing, issued March 18, 2002, clearly explained that written comments could be filed on or before June 14, 2002, that persons desiring to participate in the case as a respondent needed to file a notice of participation⁶ on or before May 22, 2002, and that any person not participating as a respondent could present oral testimony at the public hearing on July 24, 2002. In addition, as directed by the Commission, the Company published notice of this proceeding as display advertising in a newspaper or newspapers of general circulation in Warren County, which also set forth the above options in which to participate in this case.

Accordingly, interested persons or entities had three avenues through which to voice their views in this matter: (1) by filing written comments on or before June 14, 2002; (2) by filing a notice of participation and subsequently submitting evidence and/or pleadings as a party; or (3) by submitting evidence as a public witness. The Sierra Club, NPCA, BREDL, and PEC did not appear as parties (i.e., respondents) in this case or file comments by June 14, 2002. Further, the December 16, 2002, comments from these entities were submitted more than six months after the deadline for filing written comments, and subsequent to the evidentiary hearing and issuance of the Hearing Examiner's Report.

The procedures set forth above for participation require issues and evidence to be raised in a manner that permits the applicant and other parties an opportunity to address the same. The Sierra Club, NPCA, BREDL, and PEC did not provide any reason as to why their comments and evidence were not timely presented, why we should consider their comments and evidence out-of-time, or why consideration of their untimely comments and evidence would not unreasonably prejudice the applicant or other participants in the case. We do not find that accepting these comments and evidence is necessary to serve the ends of justice in this proceeding. See Rule 5 VAC 5-20-10. If we accepted these filings in this case, we would need to provide the applicant, Staff, and DEQ an opportunity to reply and present evidence in response to material filed months after the deadline for presenting such comments and evidence and after the Hearing Examiner issued his Report. This could require the applicant to undergo another entire hearing process similar to what was concluded with the Hearing Examiner's Report in November of 2002. This is fundamentally unfair given the notice and earlier opportunities afforded these entities to participate.

In addition, we note that Mr. Holmes, Special Projects Coordinator for PEC, chose to participate as a public witness, not as a party.⁷ The Commission's Rules state that "[p]ublic witnesses may not otherwise participate in the proceeding, be included in the service list, or be considered a party to the proceeding." Rule 5 VAC 5-20-80 C. Accordingly, Mr. Holmes' participation as a public witness does not provide a basis for us to consider PEC's comments and evidence of December 16, 2002, signed by Mr. Holmes, as a response to the Hearing Examiner's Report.

As we have indicated in previous orders,⁸ the Virginia Code establishes six general areas of analysis applicable to electric generating plant applications: (1) reliability;⁹ (2) competition;¹⁰ (3) rates;¹¹ (4) environment;¹² (5) economic development;¹³ and (6) public interest.¹⁴ We have evaluated the Facility according to these six areas.

⁵ We will not consider these comments as late-filed written comments or as responses to the Hearing Examiner's Report.

⁶ A notice of participation simply needs to contain: (i) a precise statement of the interest of the respondent; (ii) a statement of the specific action sought to the extent then known; and (iii) the factual and legal basis for the action. Rule 5 VAC 5-20-80 B of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure ("Rules").

⁷ The Commission's Rules permit a person to represent herself or himself in proceedings before the Commission. See Rule 5 VAC 5-20-20. As discussed above, a person desiring to become a party to this case simply had to file a notice of participation as a respondent, in accordance with Rule 5 VAC 5-20-80 B, on or before May 22, 2002.

¹² Va. Code §§ 56-46.1 A and 56-580 D.

We find that the Facility will have no material adverse effect upon reliability of electric service provided by any regulated public utility. We further find that the Facility is not otherwise contrary to the public interest in that, among other things, rates for the regulated public utility will not be impacted. In addition, we find that the Facility will provide economic benefits.

Pursuant to §§ 56-46.1 and 56-580 D of the Code of Virginia, we have given consideration to the effect of the Facility on the environment. During the hearing, Charles Turner, Director of the Office of Air Permit Programs for DEQ, testified on the status of CPV's PSD application:

This particular facility has submitted an application to us. However, we have not completed a draft permit. And right now, relative to the modeling requirements for this facility, the Class I analysis modeling protocol has only recently been agreed upon. So we have not seen that. We have not received their modeling analysis for the Class II areas either. At this time, we cannot state what the specific standard would be. We can make speculation, but the permit won't be finalized until we receive -- see the results of that modeling and know that the emissions levels do not allow for a violation of the NAAQS standard.

Tr. at 157.

Sections 56-580 D and 56-46.1 A of the Virginia Code direct us to give consideration to the effect of the proposed Facility "on the environment and establish such conditions as may be desirable or necessary to minimize adverse environmental impact." In this regard, however, the 2002 General Assembly passed legislation to amend §§ 56-580 D and 56-46.1 of the Code of Virginia "to avoid duplication of governmental activities" effective July 1, 2002. These statutes provide, among other things, that any valid permit or approval regulating environmental impact and mitigation of adverse environmental impact, "whether such permit or approval is granted prior to or after the Commission's decision," shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of §§ 56-46.1 A and 56-580 D of the Code of Virginia "with respect to all matters that (i) are governed by the permit or approval or (ii) are within the authority of, and were considered by, the governmental entity in issuing such permit or approval, and the Commission shall impose no additional conditions with respect to such matters."

CPV Warren has agreed to implement all of the recommendations contained in the May 29, 2002, DEQ Report (Exhibit 10), as modified by Exhibit 8, as a condition of its certificate from the Commission.¹⁵ The record in this case does not establish that any of the recommendations in the DEQ Report: (1) are governed by a permit or approval issued by a governmental entity; or (2) are within the authority of, and were considered by, the governmental entity in issuing such permit or approval.¹⁶ Accordingly, as agreed to by CPV Warren, we will require the Company to comply with the DEQ recommendations in Exhibit 10, as modified by Exhibit 8.

Further, the Commission will condition the certificate granted herein upon the Company's receipt of all environmental and other permits necessary to construct and operate the Facility. We also will provide that the certificate will expire two years from the date of this Order if construction on the Facility has not commenced.

Finally, we must deny the request of Superintendent Morris of the Shenandoah National Park to keep this case open until DEQ completes its PSD permitting process. Mr. Morris's concerns involve matters that are within the authority of, and are being considered by, DEQ in the PSD permitting process. Thus, in accordance with § 56-580 D of the Virginia Code, the matters of concern to Mr. Morris must be addressed by the DEQ, not by this Commission.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to § 56-580 D of the Code of Virginia, in accordance with the record developed herein, CPV Warren is hereby granted authority and a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate the Facility described in this proceeding.
- (2) The certificate granted herein shall be conditioned upon the receipt of all environmental and other permits necessary to construct and operate the Facility.
- (3) As a condition of the certificate granted herein and as agreed to by CPV Warren in this proceeding, CPV Warren shall comply with the recommendations made by the DEQ in Exhibit 10, as modified by the commitments set forth in Exhibit 8.
- (4) The certificate granted herein shall expire in two years from the date of this Order, if construction of the Facility has not commenced.
- (5) Staff's December 27, 2002, "Motion to Receive Letter from Department of Environmental Quality into the Record" is granted, and the November 26, 2002, letter from DEQ attached to that Motion will be received as Exhibit 18.
- (6) There being nothing further to come before the Commission in this proceeding, this case shall be removed from the docket and the papers transferred to the file for ended causes.

¹³ Va. Code §§ 56-46.1 and 56-596 A.

¹⁴ Va. Code § 56-580 D(ii).

¹⁵ See Exhibit 10 at 2-3; Report at 56; Motion at 4. As noted above, the Company reached an agreement with VDGIF and DCR on the DEQ recommendation addressing the Madison Cave Isopod (Exhibit 8).

¹⁶ Consistent with § 10.1-1186.2:1 C of the Virginia Code, we will grant Staff's Motion and accept the DEQ Letter of November 26, 2002, as Exhibit 18.

MOORE, COMMISSIONER, CONCURS:

Given the statutory change effective July 1, 2002, I must concur with my colleagues in the decision to approve construction and operation of the proposed facility. I do so because the issues that would cause me to deny the application without further data and analysis are within the jurisdiction of the DEQ and other agencies rather than this Commission.

I write separately to express my continued concern and mounting alarm at the apparent failure of the Commonwealth to address adequately the impact of power plants on the environment of the Commonwealth.¹ This case is of particular concern because the proposed facility is within five miles of the Shenandoah National Park, a Class I area. While it may be laudable that the applicant has agreed to NO_x offsets that may leave the area in no worse condition than it is now, the fact remains that a major new power plant may be allowed to be constructed in an extremely sensitive area without adequate analysis and review.² At least two areas should raise serious questions, ozone³ and fine particulate matter.⁴

Applicants before the Commission continue to maintain that if the current NAAQS standard is not exceeded, the plant should be approved. No consideration appears to be given to how close the current pollution level is to the limit or the impact of EPA's revised limits that will be implemented over the next few years. The DEQ must go beyond the data and platitudes presented to this Commission,⁵ and ensure that Virginia, her citizens and environment are protected.

¹ Examples of areas where, based on the record before the Commission, additional analysis and study should be required are discussed in my prior concurrences and dissents. See Commissioner Moore concurrence, Application of Old Dominion Electric Cooperative, For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity for electric generating facilities, Case No. PUE-2002-00003, Final Order (November 6, 2002); Commissioner Moore concurrence, Application of CPV Cunningham Creek LLC, For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Va. Code § 56-265.2, for an exemption from Chapter 10 of Title 56, and for the interim authority to make financial expenditures, Case No. PUE-2001-00477, Final Order (October 7, 2002); Commissioner Moore concurrence, Application of Old Dominion Electric Cooperative, For a certificate of public convenience and necessity for electric generation facilities in Louisa County, Case No. PUE-2001-00303, Final Order (July 17, 2002); Commissioner Moore dissent, Application of Buchanan Generation, LCC, For permission to construct and operate an electrical generating facility, Case No. PUE-2001-00657, Final Order (June 25, 2002) ("Buchanan, Moore dissent"); Commissioner Moore dissent, Application of Tenaska Virginia Partners, L.P., For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Virginia Code § 56-265.2, an exemption from Chapter 10 of Title 56, and interim approval to make financial commitments and undertake preliminary construction work, Case No. PUE-2001-00039, Final Order (April 19, 2002) ("Tenaska, Moore dissent").

² There was no evidence cited by the Hearing Examiner or that I could find in the record that the actual NO_x "offsets" would, in fact, offset the impact of the NO_x emissions of the proposed facility on the air quality in the Class I area.

Also, with respect to ozone levels in Warren County, there appears to be a dispute between the DEQ and the EPA as to whether Warren County will have a "non-attainment" designation under the new eight-hour ozone standard. Tr. at 41, 51-56; Exhibit 13 at pp. 11-12. While Mr. Sellars stated the area was within attainment limits, he failed to provide data with respect to the new eight-hour standard. The Company's failure to provide these data means we do not know how close Warren County is to the new, lower eight-hour standard. Under the less stringent one-hour standard, according to the Company, the ozone level in Warren County is already at more than 85% of the NAAQS. As noted in my dissent in Buchanan, exceedances under the eight-hour standard were more than 15 times greater (783 compared to 50) than under the one-hour standard for the 1996-2000 period. Buchanan, Moore dissent at 3-4. It could be that Warren County is above or just below the non-attainment level under the new standard. Again, this is alarming because there is no "safe" level of ozone.

⁴ In response to my concern about fine particulate matter, specifically, PM_{2.5}, Mr. Sellars states that maximum annual concentration data available for Virginia indicate a range of between 12 and 15.1 µg/m³ as compared to the PM_{2.5} NAAQS of 15 µg/m³. Mr. Sellars states that Warren County should be "represented by monitors falling in the middle of the 12 to 15.1 µg/m³ spectrum . . ." Exhibit 13 at p. 29. There was no explanation by Mr. Sellars of why we should not be concerned when PM_{2.5} concentrations in the area in question are, by his estimate, already approximately 90% of the NAAQS. This is particularly alarming since there is no "safe" level of particulate matter. Tenaska, Moore dissent at p. 10.

⁵ Indeed, to the extent certain issues are beyond the jurisdiction of this Commission as a result of the July 1, 2002, amendments to the Virginia Code, it would not appear necessary for the applicant to present evidence on these issues. While this case was filed before July 1, 2002, future applicants may want to consider whether presentations on matters not before the Commission should be included in their applications.

APRIL 9, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA
At the relation of the
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Ex Parte: In the matter concerning the aggregation of retail electric customers under the provisions of the Virginia Electric Utility Restructuring Act

ORDER ADOPTING REVISED REGULATIONS

By Order dated March 18, 2002, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") initiated this proceeding for the purpose of developing and refining policies, rules, and regulations for the provision of aggregation service.¹ We directed our Staff to conduct an investigation with respect to further refinement of the Commission's rules concerning aggregation, with input from a workgroup comprised of interested parties and stakeholders previously assembled in the Commission's proceeding that developed proposed rules governing retail access to competitive energy services.² Additionally, we directed our Staff to file a report on or before August 1, 2002, concerning the results of its investigation, together with any proposed changes to the Commission's Rules Governing Retail Access to Competitive Energy Services ("Retail Access Rules") 20 VAC 5-312-10 et seq.

On August 1, 2002, Staff filed its report ("Staff Report") outlining the issues examined in the course of its investigation along with the sole recommendation that 20 VAC 5-312-20 D of the Retail Access Rules be amended to require licensed suppliers and aggregators to maintain information in their books and records identifying persons or entities with whom they have marketing relationships. Subsequent to the Staff filing its Report, we issued an Order dated September 20, 2002, by which we directed interested parties to file comments in response to Staff's Report. We received comments from three parties.

After having considered the Staff's Report and the comments filed in response thereto, by Order dated November 1, 2002, the Commission directed the publication of Staff's proposed change to 20 VAC 5-312-20 D in the Virginia Register of Regulations and established a procedural schedule to receive comments on Staff's Report. In our November 1, 2002, Order, after considering comments attached to Staff's Report filed by workgroup participants, we also directed Staff to file two reports on or before July 1, 2004. One report would encompass the impact on the development of a competitive market, of incumbent-affiliated aggregators and their activities in affiliated local distribution companies' service territories. The second report would assess the impact of aggregation contracts (particularly exit fees) on the development of competitive retail markets in the Commonwealth.

In response to our November 1, 2002, Order, we received comments from one party, Dominion Retail Inc. ("Retail"). Retail's comments did not take issue with the adoption of Staff's proposed change to 20 VAC 5-312-20 D. Rather, Retail argued that the two July 1, 2004, reports required of Staff were unnecessary.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the comments filed by workgroup participants, Staff's Report, and comments filed in response thereto, is of the opinion and finds that Staff's proposed changes to 20 VAC 5-312-20 D are reasonable and should be adopted. Further, while Retail's arguments concerning the July 1, 2004, Staff Reports are outside the scope of comments requested by our November 1, 2002, Order, we would simply reiterate that both reports will be beneficial to our assessment of aggregation's impact on the development of a competitive retail generation market.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The proposed amendments to 20 VAC 5-312-20 D are adopted as set forth in Attachment A to this Order.
- (2) A copy of this Order and the rules attached hereto as Attachment A shall be forwarded promptly for publication in the Virginia Register of Regulations.
- (3) This docket shall remain open for the receipt of Staff's Report due on or before July 1, 2004, and for further Orders of the Commission.

NOTE: A copy of Attachment A entitled "Chapter 312. Rules Governing Retail Access to Competitive Energy Services" is on file and may be examined at the State Corporation Commission, Clerk's Office, Document Control Center, Tyler Building, First Floor, 1300 East Main Street, Richmond, Virginia.

² Commonwealth of Virginia, ex rel. State Corporation Commission, Ex Parte: In the matter of establishing rules for retail access, Case No. PUE-2001-00013 (Commission Order adopting rules entered on June 19, 2001).

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00181
JUNE 27, 2003

PETITION OF VIRGINIA ELECTRIC AND POWER COMPANY
and
DOMINION RETAIL, INC.

For an exemption of agreement for wholesale sales of power from the filing and prior approval requirements of Chapter 4, Title 56 of the Code of Virginia or, in the alternative, for approval of wholesale power service agreement under Chapter 4, Title 56 of the Code of Virginia, and for expedited consideration

FINAL ORDER

On April 1, 2002, Virginia Electric and Power Company ("Dominion Virginia Power") and Dominion Retail, Inc. ("Dominion Retail") (collectively, "Companies"), filed a petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") under Chapter 4 (§ 56-76 et seq.) of Title 56 ("Chapter 4") of the Code of Virginia ("Code") for exemption from the prior approval and filing requirements thereof or, in the alternative, for approval of Dominion Virginia Power's wholesale sales of power at cost-based rates to Dominion Retail.

On June 28, 2002, the Commission issued an Order denying the Companies' request for an exemption from the filing and prior approval requirements of Chapter 4, and approving the proposed arrangement for wholesale sales subject to certain conditions. The Order of June 28, 2002, among other things, required the Companies to revise the Master Power Purchase and Sale Agreement ("Agreement") to include the following terms:

The Virginia State Corporation Commission has continuing supervisory control over the power agreements between Dominion Virginia Power and Dominion Retail and has the authority to exercise the provisions of §§ 56-78 and 56-80 of the Code of Virginia in the future with respect to such agreements and transactions thereunder, including the authority to terminate such agreements and transactions.

If the Virginia State Corporation Commission determines by order that this agreement and/or all agreements and transactions entered into hereunder must be terminated to protect and promote the public interest, then this agreement and/or all agreements and transactions entered into hereunder shall terminate 30 days after the date of the Virginia State Corporation Commission's order.

In addition, the Commission's approval under Chapter 4 was conditioned upon affirmative approval of the revised Agreement by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC").

On July 17, 2002, the Companies filed a Petition for Reconsideration ("Petition for Reconsideration"). On July 18, 2002, the Commission issued an Order Granting Reconsideration and Suspending Prior Order. The July 18, 2002, Order granted reconsideration for purposes of continuing our jurisdiction over this proceeding and suspended our Order of June 28, 2002. On September 27, 2002, the Commission issued an Order On Reconsideration, which granted the Companies' request to keep this docket open pending completion of FERC's review of the revised Agreement, and otherwise denied the Petition for Reconsideration.

On May 23, 2003, the Companies submitted a Supplemental Filing in this docket, renewing their petition for approval of the Agreement ("Supplemental Filing"). The Companies state that on November 5, 2002, Dominion Virginia Power filed with FERC a revised service agreement that included the terms and conditions required by the Commission. The Companies attached to their Supplemental Filing a May 2, 2003, FERC letter order on the revised service agreement (FERC Docket Nos. ER03-159-000, -001, and -002). FERC's letter order conditionally accepted the service agreement for filing subject to one modification: FERC rejected the language required by the Commission and directed Dominion Virginia Power to make a compliance filing, within 15 days of the FERC letter order, to remove such language from the service agreement.

The Companies state that Dominion Virginia Power is making the compliance filing as required by FERC, but that Dominion Virginia Power "will not engage in any transactions with Dominion Retail pending a decision by the Commission in this proceeding." Supplemental Filing at 4. The Companies also state that they "agree to a Commission condition that they will exercise the termination provision of the Master Power Purchase and Sale Agreement (Section 10.1), if directed to do so by the Commission." Id. The Companies assert that this proposed condition allows them "to engage in affiliate power transactions subject to FERC's jurisdiction over terms and conditions while retaining this Commission's authority to terminate such transactions, if necessary." Id.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the pleadings and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that the Companies may not engage in the proposed affiliate transactions and the agreements related thereto are not valid or effective.

As explained in our orders of June 28, 2002, and September 27, 2002, § 56-80 of the Code provides that "the Commission shall have continuing supervisory control over the terms and conditions of such contracts and arrangements as are herein described so far as necessary to protect and promote the public interest" (emphasis added). That same section also requires that "[e]very order of the Commission approving any such contract or arrangement shall be expressly conditioned upon the reserved power of the Commission to revise and amend the terms and conditions thereof, if, when and as necessary to protect and promote the public interest" (emphasis added). In addition, § 56-590 G of the Virginia Electric Utility Restructuring Act ("Act") states that, except as provided in § 56-590 B 5, nothing in the Act "shall be deemed to abrogate or modify the Commission's authority under Chapter 3 (§ 56-55 et seq.), 4 (§ 56-76 et seq.) or 5 (§ 56-88 et seq.) of Title 56 (emphasis added).

The Companies previously stated in this case that the Commission "has continuing supervisory control over the power agreement between the Companies and has the authority to exercise the provisions of §§ 56-78 and 56-80 of the Code of Virginia in the future with respect to the agreement and transactions thereunder." See, e.g., Response of Petitioners to Staff Report at 8. In the orders of June 28 and September 27, 2002, we concluded, as the Companies had, that if the Commission later determines continuation of such affiliate arrangement is no longer in the public interest, then the Commission should have the authority to take corrective action.

Accordingly, in the June 28, 2002, and September 27, 2002, orders, we rejected requests by the Virginia Committee for Fair Utility Rates, Washington Gas Energy Services, and Staff to deny the Companies' proposed wholesale transactions. Rather, we approved the request subject to certain monitoring requirements and conditions to protect and promote the public interest. We found that, to protect and promote the public interest, the Commission must retain authority over the affiliate arrangement pursuant to Chapter 4, including the authority to revoke our approval of such arrangement.

For example, the Commission may be required to exercise this authority if needed to ensure the continued provision of reliable service to retail customers in the Commonwealth, to advance competition if the arrangement places Dominion Retail in a better position than its competitors to successfully bid for Dominion Virginia Power's output, or to protect Virginia retail customers from negative impacts on the fuel factor margin-sharing mechanism. Given the critical importance of the Commonwealth's continuing jurisdiction over this particular arrangement and the sales of power proposed in this case, we found it necessary for the Commission's continuing authority to be recognized in the Agreement between affiliates in order to protect and promote the public interest under Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code.

FERC's letter order, however, explicitly rejected the language required by the Commission to be placed in the Agreement. FERC stated that Virginia is preempted by federal law from reviewing rates, terms and conditions for sales of electric energy at wholesale in interstate commerce. FERC also stated that when it sets a rate, term or condition for such sale, Virginia may not exercise its jurisdiction over a retail rate to review the reasonableness of the wholesale rate, term or condition set by FERC.

In response, the Companies stipulate that, irrespective of FERC's letter order, the Companies will exercise the termination provision of the Agreement if directed to do so by the Commission. Such a stipulation, however, cannot confer jurisdiction to the Commonwealth or this Commission. Such a stipulation also does not provide the Commonwealth with supervisory control and reserved power over this affiliate arrangement as required to protect and promote the public interest under Chapter 4. Moreover, the transactions under the Agreement will be part of the competitive wholesale market. Those transactions will not only impact the Companies, but may impact third parties that are not parties to any stipulation by the Companies. These third parties could actively oppose the Commission's authority and contest the Commonwealth's jurisdiction to take continuing steps that may be necessary to protect and promote the public interest. In such a situation, FERC may assert that it has the authority to prohibit a termination of the Agreement.

Having made the findings required of the Commission under Chapter 4, as explained above, it would be improvident and unwise for the Commission to approve the proposed transactions after FERC has explicitly stated that the Commonwealth cannot exercise its supervisory control and reserved power over this affiliate arrangement as provided for by Virginia statute. Accordingly, the Companies do not have approval to enter into the affiliate transactions proposed in this case, and the agreements related thereto are not valid or effective.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Dominion Virginia Power's request for an exemption from the requirements of § 56-77 A of the Code of Virginia for its proposed wholesale power agreements with Dominion Retail is hereby denied.
- (2) The conditional approval granted in this proceeding by Order dated June 28, 2002, for Dominion Virginia Power to enter into affiliate transactions with Dominion Retail is hereby withdrawn.
- (3) Pursuant to § 56-77 of the Code of Virginia, Dominion Virginia Power's request for approval of wholesale sales of power at cost-based rates to Dominion Retail is hereby denied.
- (4) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it is hereby dismissed.

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00235
FEBRUARY 20, 2003

JOINT APPLICATION OF
J.W. HOLDINGS, INC.
and
MARINERS LANDING WATER & SEWER COMPANY, INC.

For authority to acquire and dispose of utility assets pursuant to the Utility Transfers Act and for the issuance of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Va. Code §§ 56-265.2 and 56-265.3

FINAL ORDER

On April 16, 2002, J.W. Holdings, Inc. ("J.W. Holdings"), and Mariners Landing Water & Sewer Company, Inc. (the "Company"), (collectively, the "Joint Applicants"), filed an application ("Application") seeking authority pursuant to the Utility Transfers Act, Chapter 5 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), and § 56-265.2 of the Code for J.W. Holdings to dispose of, and for the Company to acquire, certain water system assets pursuant to a license agreement between the two parties.

The Joint Applicants also request that the Commission, pursuant to § 56-265.3 of the Code, issue the Company a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide water service to the residents of Mariners Landing community and approve the Company's proposed rates, rules, and regulations of service.

On May 6, 2002, the Joint Applicants filed a Motion for Expedited Hearing arguing that the Company needed to make capital improvements, and that the pending Application with the Commission could impact its ability to obtain financing. The Joint Applicants requested that a hearing be scheduled as expeditiously as possible.

The Commission entered a Preliminary Order on May 10, 2002, declaring the Company's rates to be interim and subject to refund while the Staff investigated the reasonableness of such rates. The Commission also directed the Staff to respond to the Motion for Expedited Hearing. A Hearing Examiner was assigned to conduct all further proceedings.

The Staff's Response to the Motion for Expedited Hearing was filed on May 20, 2002. Explaining its role in reviewing the Application and noting that no separate financial information for the water system existed, the Staff stated that it would be unable to perform its review and participate in any hearing scheduled before September 2002.

On June 19, 2002, the Hearing Examiner issued a ruling denying the Motion for Expedited Hearing, scheduling the matter for hearing on September 19, 2002, and establishing a procedural schedule.

On August 27, 2002, the Staff filed a Motion for Extension of Procedural Schedule stating that the employee responsible for conducting the audit of the Joint Applicants' financial records had health issues that precluded him from completing the audit until mid-September 2002. The Joint Applicants had no objection to the modification of the procedural schedule.

The Hearing Examiner granted the Staff Motion for Extension of Procedural Schedule on August 28, 2002. The hearing was rescheduled for November 14, 2002, and the procedural schedule was modified accordingly. Notice of the change was given to the Company's customers.

On November 14, 2002, the evidentiary hearing was convened as scheduled. Wilburn C. Dibling, Jr., Esquire, appeared on behalf of the Joint Applicants, and Katharine A. Hart, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the Staff. Counsel for the Joint Applicants and the Staff presented a Stipulation Agreement ("Stipulation") resolving all of the contested issues between them.

Under the Stipulation, the prefiled direct and rebuttal testimony of the Joint Applicants and the prefiled direct testimony of the Staff were admitted into the record without cross-examination. The Stipulation further provides that:

- (1) The Joint Applicants accept Staff Witness Armistead's accounting recommendations on page 11 of his prefiled testimony and Staff Witness Tufaro's recommendations on pages 12-13 of his prefiled testimony, with the exception of his first recommendation;
- (2) The Joint Applicants and the Staff agree the $30 monthly service charge for water service, set forth in the Rate Schedule for the Company's proposed tariff, should be increased to $33 per month;
- (3) The Joint Applicants and the Staff agree to the Total Net Utility Plant figure of $99,865 in Mr. Armistead's prefiled direct testimony and further agree this figure will be used as the Company's loan balance as of June 30, 2002, upon which interest will be calculated;
- (4) The Joint Applicants and the Staff agree the issue of the management fee claimed by the president of the Company will be deferred to a subsequent rate proceeding; and
- (5) The Company agrees to refund amounts collected during the interim rate period in excess of the final rates approved in this proceeding.

Two public witnesses appeared at the hearing and testified in opposition to the Application. In addition to expressing concern about the proposed rate and fee increase, Larry Sedell, Vice President of the Mariners Village Condominium Association, indicated that he believed that under the current metering scheme that the year-round occupants effectively subsidize the operations of the rental management company which cleans linens for certain units that are rented out between June and September. Mr. Sedell alleges that when there is a turnover in occupancy in one of the units owned by J.W. Holdings, the rental management company launders the sheets and towels in one of the units. He believes that during the months of July and August, this usage caused water bills for him and his neighbor to exceed the allocation per unit and incur an additional usage fee. A second public witness, Norman Mattson, vice president and treasurer and a member of the Board of Directors of the Monoacan Shore Homeowners Association, testified regarding his concerns about the proposed rates and fees.

The Hearing Examiner issued his report on January 8, 2003, finding that:

- (1) Adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates will not be impaired or jeopardized by the transfer of water utility assets from J.W. Holdings to the Company;
- (2) Pursuant to the Utility Transfers Act, the Commission should approve the transfer of water utility assets from J.W. Holdings to the Company;
- (3) Pursuant to § 56-265.2 of the Code, the Commission should issue the Company a certificate of public convenience and necessity to acquire the water utility facilities from J.W. Holdings;
- (4) The Commission should require the Joint Applicants to file a report with the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting within 30 days of the transfer of utility assets from J.W. Holdings to the Company notifying the Commission that such transfer has taken place;
- (5) The rates, fees, and terms of service resulting from the Stipulation are reasonable;
- (6) The Commission should adopt the Stipulation agreed to by the Joint Applicants and the Staff; and
- (7) The Commission should require the Company to implement the Staff's recommendations agreed to in the Stipulation.

The Hearing Examiner recommended that the Commission adopt the findings contained in his Report, approve the transfer of utility assets from J.W. Holdings to the Company pursuant to the terms of the license agreement between the two companies, and grant the Company a certificate of public convenience and necessity to operate a water utility. With regard to Mr. Sedell's complaint concerning the rental management company's laundry practices resulting in full-time residents incurring an average charge, the Hearing Examiner stated that the Staff should continue to investigate whether each condominium unit is being billed for the correct monthly minimum allocation in accordance with the Company's tariff.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the Application, the Hearing Examiner's Report, the Stipulation, and applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that the findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner's Report should be adopted. We find that the transfer of water utility assets should be approved pursuant to the Utility Transfers Act. We find that such transfer will not jeopardize or impair the provision of adequate water services at just and reasonable rates. We further find pursuant to §§ 56-265.2 and 265.3 of the Code, that the public convenience and necessity require us to issue a certificate to the Company to provide water service to Mariners Landing residents. We will adopt the Stipulation and approve the Company's proposed rates, charges, rules, and regulations of service as modified therein. We will direct the Company to implement the Staff's recommendations agreed to in the Stipulation.

Further, we find that concerns voiced by Mr. Sedell that he and other year-round residents are billed for excessive usage during the summer months when the rental management company does laundry for certain rental units appear to have merit. We will direct the Staff to study the issue raised in this proceeding of whether the billing allocations are being made appropriately and report to the Commission.

Finally, as noted on May 10, 2002, we declared the Company's rates to be interim and subject to refund while the Staff investigated the reasonableness of such rates. For service connections for other than a single-family dwelling, the interim rate was $1,400 for a multi-family unit and $6,800 for 1 inch, $12,000 for 1.5 inch, $22,000 for 2 inch, $44,000 for 3 inch, $68,000 for 4 inch, and $137,000 for 6 inch service connections. The Stipulation requires that for connections other than a single-family dwelling, the connection charge to be the actual cost to the Company to complete the connection. We will direct the Company to refund with interest any amounts above the actual cost to the Company received for service connections other than for single-family dwellings.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The findings contained in the Hearing Examiner's Report are hereby adopted.
- (2) J.W. Holdings is hereby granted authority to dispose of the assets of its water system as described in the Application.
- (3) The Company is hereby granted authority to acquire from J.W. Holdings the assets of its water system as described in the Application.
- (4) A report shall be submitted to the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting no later than 30 days after the transfer of utility assets from J.W. Holdings to the Company notifying the Commission that such transfer has taken place. The report shall detail the date of transfer, sales price, and accounting entries reflecting the transfer.
- (5) The Company shall be granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, Certificate No. W-310, authorizing it to provide water service to the Mariners Landing community.
- (6) The Stipulation between the Joint Applicants and the Staff is hereby adopted. The Company shall implement the Staff's recommendations agreed to in the Stipulation.
- (7) The Company's proposed rates, charges, and terms of service as modified by the Stipulation are hereby approved.
- (8) On or before April 18, 2003, the Company shall refund with interest to its customers any amounts above the actual cost to the Company received for service connections other than for single-family dwellings. Refunds to former customers shall be made by check to the last known address of such customers. All unclaimed refunds shall be handled in accordance with § 55-210.6:2 of the Code of Virginia.
- (9) Interest upon the ordered refunds shall be computed from the date payment of each bill was due during the interim period until the date refunds are made, at an average prime rate for each calendar quarter, compounded quarterly. The applicable average prime rate for each calendar quarter shall be the arithmetic mean, to the nearest one-hundredth of one percent, of the prime rate values published in the Federal Reserve Bulletin, or in the Federal Reserve's Selected Interest Rates ("Selected Interest Rates") (Statistical Release G.13), for the three months of the preceding calendar quarter.
- (10) On or before May 16, 2003, the Company shall file with the Division of Energy Regulation a document showing that all refunds have been lawfully made pursuant to this order, and itemizing the costs of the refund and accounts charged. Such itemization of costs shall include, inter alia, computer costs, the personnel hours, associated salaries, and costs for verifying and correcting the refunds directed in this Order.
- (11) The Staff shall study the issue of billing allocation and provide a report to the Commission.
- (12) There being nothing further to be done, this matter is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00239
JUNE 24, 2003

JOINT APPLICATION OF CASCADE MOUNTAIN PROPERTY OWNERS ASSOCIATION, INCORPORATED
and
CASCADE MOUNTAIN WATER COMPANY, INC.

For authority to acquire and to dispose of utility assets pursuant to the Utility Transfers Act and for the issuance of certificates of public convenience and necessity pursuant to §§ 56-265.2 and 56-265.3

FINAL ORDER

On April 19, 2002, Cascade Mountain Property Owners Association, Incorporated ("Association"), and Cascade Mountain Water Company, Inc. (the "Company"), (collectively, "Joint Applicants"), filed a joint application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting authority, pursuant to the Utility Transfers Act, for the Company to acquire and for the Association to dispose of certain water utility assets pursuant to a license agreement. Such assets serve the subdivision known as the Cascade Mountain Resort located in Carroll County, Virginia.

The Joint Applicants also request that the Commission issue the Company certificates of public convenience and necessity pursuant to §§ 56-265.2 and 56-265.3 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"). In addition, the Company requests approval of its proposed rates and rules and regulations of service.

Specifically, the Company proposes to charge a $450.00 service connection fee and a $150.00 annual minimum service charge for water service. The minimum service charge is payable in advance.

In addition, the Company will charge an annual availability fee of $100.00,¹ a bad check charge of $6.00, and a turn-on charge of $35.00 to restore service for non-payment of any bill or for violation of the Company's rules and regulations of service. Finally, there is a $35.00 charge to terminate water service at the customer's request, a maximum customer deposit equal to the customer's estimated liability for two months' usage, and a 1½% per month late payment charge.

On May 22, 2002, the Commission issued an Order directing the Company to give customers and public officials within its proposed service territory notice of the joint application and to provide interested persons with an opportunity to comment and request a hearing. The Commission also directed its Staff to review and analyze the joint application and to file a report detailing the results of its investigation.

The Company filed the required proofs of notice and service with the Commission on July 18, 2002. There were no comments or requests for hearing.

Pursuant to Commission Orders dated August 21, 2002, and January 21, 2003, Staff filed its Report on April 25, 2003.

In its Report, Staff found that there was no indication that the proposed transfer would have any adverse impact on the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates. Staff, therefore, recommended approval of the proposed transfer of the water utility assets from the Association to the Company pursuant to a license agreement. Staff also recommended that the Company file a report detailing the date the transfer took place within 30 days of such transfer.

In addition, Staff recommended that the Commission grant the Company certificates of public convenience and necessity pursuant to §§ 56-265.2 and 56-265.3 of the Code. Staff found that the Company's proposed rates were just and reasonable and recommended approval of such rates and the Company's proposed miscellaneous fees, charges, and rules and regulations of service.

Finally, Staff recommended that the Commission adopt Staff's accounting adjustments, booking recommendations, and reporting requirements. Specifically, Staff recommended that the Commission order the Company to do the following:

- (1) Maintain its books and records separately from those of the Association and in accordance with the USOA for Class C Water Companies;
- (2) Depreciate plant and amortize contributions in aid of construction ("CIAC") at the 3% composite rate;
- (3) Capitalize the cost of service connections and record such connection fees in Account 271;
- (4) Maintain all invoices and other records for revenues, expenses, and plant;
- (5) Restate plant, CIAC, accumulated depreciation, and accumulated amortization of CIAC as of December 31, 2002, to the levels reflected in Column (3) of Staff's Statement II;
- (6) Maintain property records for all capitalized costs;
- (7) Exclude the Company from the Association's state tax return;
- (8) Submit to the Commission's Division of Public Utility Accounting an Annual Financial and Operating Report based on calendar year information by April 1 of each year; and
- (9) Record future supplies to Account 151.

¹ Availability fees may be imposed only by agreement, such as through a contract or restrictive covenant.

By letter dated May 28, 2003, the Company stated that it has no objection to the recommendations detailed in the above-referenced Report, including the accounting adjustments and booking recommendations.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the joint application, Staff's Report, the Response thereto, and applicable law, is of the opinion that the above-captioned joint application, should be approved. We find that the public convenience and necessity requires that the Company acquire the assets of the Cascade Mountain Water System. We also believe that such transfer will not impair or jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates.

Moreover, we find that it is in the public interest for the Company to provide water service to the subdivision known as the Cascade Mountain Resort and that the Company's proposed rates are just and reasonable. We will, therefore, approve those rates and the Company's proposed charges, fees, and rules and regulations of service. We will also accept Staff's accounting adjustments, booking recommendations, and reporting requirements as detailed herein.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to §§ 56-89 and 56-90 of the Code, Cascade Mountain Property Owners Association, Incorporated, is hereby granted authority to convey to Cascade Mountain Water Company, Inc., the water utility assets serving the Cascade Mountain Resort, as described in the joint application.
- (2) Cascade Mountain Water Company, Inc., is hereby granted authority to acquire from Cascade Property Owners Association, Incorporated, the water utility assets serving the Cascade Mountain Resort, as detailed in the joint application.
- (3) The granting of the above-referenced authority shall have no ratemaking implications.
- (4) The Company shall file with the Commission a Report of Action no later than 30 days after the transfer; such Report shall detail the date of the transfer, sales price, and accounting entries reflecting the transfer.
- (5) The Company's proposed rates, charges, fees, and rules and regulations of service are hereby approved.
- (6) Cascade Mountain Water Company, Inc., shall be granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity, Certificate No. W-312, authorizing it to furnish water service to the subdivision known as Cascade Mountain Resort in Carroll County, Virginia, all as shown on the map attached to the certificate, at the rates, charges, fees, and rules and regulations approved herein.
- (7) The Company shall correct its books and records to reflect Staff's accounting adjustments and booking recommendations as detailed herein.
- (8) This matter is hereby dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00305
JULY 31, 2003

APPLICATION OF
WHITE OAK POWER COMPANY

For authority to construct and operate an electric generating facility

FINAL ORDER

On May 9, 2002, White Oak Power Company, LLC ("White Oak" or "Company"), filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate an electric generating facility pursuant to §§ 56-46.1 and 56-580 D of the Code of Virginia ("Code"). White Oak proposes to construct a 680 MW peaking, electrical power generation facility and related piping at a site in Pittsylvania County, near Dry Fork ("Facility"). The Facility will consist of four simple-cycle combustion turbine units ("CTs"), each with a nameplate rating of 170 MW.

The primary fuel for the project will be natural gas, with fuel oil low in sulfur and nitrogen as a back-up fuel source. In its application, the Company committed to limit its total annual operating hours to 10,000 hours on natural gas, or an average of 2,500 hours per CT, and 2,000 hours on fuel oil, or an average of 500 hours per CT. The Facility will obtain its natural gas from Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Company ("Transco"), which has a natural gas pipeline located about 3,000 feet from the proposed site. The Company plans to build a new lateral natural gas pipeline ("Lateral") to connect the site with Transco. Approximately one-half, or 1,500 feet, of the 3,000-foot Lateral will be located on White Oak's property (i.e., "on-site portion").

On June 21, 2002, the Commission entered an Order for Notice and Hearing, requiring White Oak to provide notice of its application, establishing a procedural schedule, scheduling an evidentiary hearing, and assigning this matter to a hearing examiner. On July 16, 2002, Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc. ("Columbia"), filed a Notice of Participation.

The evidentiary hearing was convened on October 24, 2002. Patrick A. O'Hare, Esquire, appeared on behalf of White Oak. James S. Copenhaver, Esquire, appeared on behalf of Columbia. Arlen Bolstad, Esquire, and Joseph Lee, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the Commission's Staff ("Staff"). Two public witnesses, William D. Sleeper, County Administrator for Pittsylvania County, and Robert Myers, President of the Virginia State Building Trades Council, testified at the hearing.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

On March 31, 2003, Hearing Examiner Alexander F. Skirpan, Jr., entered a Report ("Report") summarizing the record and analyzing the evidence and issues in this proceeding. The Hearing Examiner issued a ruling correcting the Report on April 3, 2003. The Examiner made the following findings and recommendations:

1. The Facility will have no material adverse effect upon the reliability of electric service provided by any regulated public utility;
2. The Facility advances the goal of electric competition in the Commonwealth;
3. The Facility will have no adverse effect upon the rates paid by customers for electric, natural gas, water, or sewer service from any regulated public utility in the Commonwealth;
4. The Facility will have no material adverse effect on any threatened or endangered plant or animal species, any wetlands, air quality, water resources, or the environment generally;
5. The Facility will have a positive impact on economic development;
6. Construction and operation of the Facility will not be contrary to the public interest;
7. Any certificate issued by the Commission in this case should be conditioned to reflect White Oak's commitment to fund any necessary system upgrades;
8. Any certificate issued by the Commission in this case should include a requirement that White Oak report to the Clerk of the Commission the name and corporate affiliation of any company entering a tolling agreement for the Facility;
9. Any certificate issued by the Commission in this case should include a sunset provision that calls for the certificate to expire if construction has not commenced within two years from the date of issuance;
10. Any certificate issued by the Commission in this case should require White Oak to comply with all recommendations of the Department of Environmental Quality ("DEQ") as agreed to by White Oak during this proceeding;
11. The Commission should enjoin White Oak from constructing the Lateral to connect with Transco's interstate pipeline; and
12. Any certificate issued by the Commission in this case should be conditioned on the receipt of all permits necessary to operate the Facility, and White Oak should provide a complete list to the Commission's Division of Energy Regulation.

On April 21, 2003, Columbia filed comments on the Report. Columbia requests that the Commission enjoin White Oak from constructing the proposed 3,000-foot Lateral until the Company obtains a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to the Utility Facilities Act, § 56-265.1 et seq., of the Code. If the Commission determines, however, that § 56-580 D of the Electric Utility Restructuring Act applies to the on-site portion of the Lateral, Columbia still requests that the Commission enjoin construction of the entire Lateral due to, among other things, White Oak's failure to supply information to enable the Commission to determine the Company's ability to construct, operate, and maintain the Lateral.

On April 21, 2003, White Oak filed comments on the Report. The Company asserts that the entire Lateral is an "associated facilit[y]" under § 56-580 D of the Code. White Oak states that it included the entire Lateral as part of its application and that it provided necessary information regarding the Lateral. Accordingly, the Company requests that the Commission approve the entire Lateral as part of the certificate it requests herein. If the Commission determines, however, that an additional application and approval is necessary for some portion of the Lateral, White Oak requests that the Commission not withhold its approval of the application for the remainder of the Facility. The Company explains that construction of most of the Facility will take more than a year, whereas construction of the Lateral can be completed in a matter of weeks.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the pleadings, the Hearing Examiner's Report, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate the Facility, including the on-site portion of the Lateral, should be granted to White Oak.

As we have indicated in previous Orders,¹ the Code establishes six general areas of analysis applicable to electric generating plant applications: (1) reliability;² (2) competition;³ (3) rates;⁴ (4) environment;⁵ (5) economic development;⁶ and (6) public interest.⁷ We have evaluated the Facility according to these six areas.

¹ See, e.g., Application of Tenaska Virginia II Partners, L.P., For approval of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Va. Code Section 56-265.2, an exemption from Chapter 10 of Title 56, and interim approval to make financial commitments and undertake preliminary construction work, Case No. PUE-2001-00429, Final Order at 6 and n. 3 (Jan. 9, 2003); Application of Old Dominion Electric Cooperative, For a certificate of public convenience and necessity for electric generation facilities in Louisa County, Case No. PUE-2001-00303, Final Order at 6 and n. 1 (July 17, 2002).

² Va. Code §§ 56-46.1 A and 56-580 D(i).

³ Va. Code § 56-596 A.

⁴ Va. Code § 56-580 D(ii). See also 20 VAC 5-302-20 14; Commonwealth of Virginia, At the relation of the State Corporation Commission, Ex Parte: In the matter of amending filing requirements for application to construct and operate electric generating facilities, Case Nos. PUE-2001-00313 and PUE-2001-00665, Order Adopting Rules and Prescribing Additional Notice, 2001 S.C.C. Ann. Rep. 585, 586 (Dec. 14, 2001).

⁵ Va. Code §§ 56-46.1 A and 56-580 D.

⁶ Va. Code §§ 56-46.1 and 56-596 A.

We find that the Facility will have no material adverse effect upon reliability of electric service provided by any regulated public utility. We further find that the Facility is not otherwise contrary to the public interest in that, among other things, rates for the regulated public utility will not be impacted. In addition, we find that the Facility will provide economic benefits.

As noted above, the certificate granted herein encompasses the on-site portion of the Lateral. Staff testified that it did not oppose granting a certificate under § 56-580 D of the Code for the Facility, including the Lateral to the extent that the Lateral was on White Oak's property. The Hearing Examiner found that if § 56-580 D of the Code is applicable to the Lateral, then it is applicable only to the on-site portion. The Examiner also found that if § 56-580 D of the Code is applicable to the Lateral, then the Lateral should be approved as part of the Facility. We find that the on-site portion of the Lateral is an associated facility under § 56-580 D of the Code and that the Company has satisfied the applicable statutory requirements for the certificate granted herein to include this associated facility.

We agree with the Examiner that the 1,500-foot portion of the Lateral that will not be located on White Oak's property (i.e., "off-site portion") remains subject to the requirements of the Utility Facilities Act. The Examiner explained that in cases granting certificates for generating facilities subsequent to the enactment of § 56-580 D of the Code, natural gas laterals have been completely on-site or have been constructed, owned, and operated by the interstate natural gas pipeline or the local natural gas distribution company. We also agree with the Examiner that White Oak has failed to provide adequate support in this proceeding to grant a certificate under the Utility Facilities Act.

We find that White Oak must obtain a certificate under the Utility Facilities Act prior to constructing the 1,500-foot off-site portion of the Lateral. We also find, however, that it is unnecessary to issue an injunction prohibiting the Company from constructing the off-site portion until it obtains such certificate. There is no evidence in this proceeding suggesting that White Oak intends to violate this Order and construct the off-site portion of the Lateral without the necessary certificate from the Commission as required herein.

As agreed to by the Company and as a condition of the certificate, White Oak will be required to fund any necessary system upgrades to interconnect the Facility with the transmission grid. In addition, the certificate will expire two years from the date of this Order if construction on the Facility has not commenced.

Sections 56-580 D and 56-46.1 A of the Code direct us to give consideration to the effect of the proposed Facility "on the environment and establish such conditions as may be desirable or necessary to minimize adverse environmental impact." In this regard, the 2002 General Assembly passed legislation to amend §§ 56-580 D and 56-46.1 of the Code "to avoid duplication of governmental activities" effective July 1, 2002. These statutes provide, among other things, that any valid permit or approval regulating environmental impact and mitigation of adverse environmental impact, "whether such permit or approval is granted prior to or after the Commission's decision," shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of §§ 56-46.1 A and 56-580 D of the Code "with respect to all matters that (i) are governed by the permit or approval or (ii) are within the authority of, and were considered by, the governmental entity in issuing such permit or approval, and the Commission shall impose no additional conditions with respect to such matters."

In this proceeding, DEQ reported that its South Central Regional Office approved a permit for the Facility that combines the requirements of a Prevention of Significant Deterioration permit with the preconstruction permit requirements of the State Air Pollution Control Board Regulations for the Control and Abatement of Air Pollution. DEQ also requested in this proceeding that White Oak comply with the following eight recommendations, which DEQ stated pertain to matters that are not governed by permits:

1. Take precautions to avoid and minimize indirect impacts and temporary impacts to wetlands;
2. Conduct field surveys to identify undocumented intermittent and perennial streams;
3. Reduce solid waste at the source, re-use it, and recycle it to the maximum extent practicable;
4. Coordinate with the Department of Game and Inland Fisheries concerning planting guidelines to enhance wildlife habitat;
5. Continue to work with the Department of Historic Resources to develop mitigation measures to address visual and noise impacts on significant architectural resources;
6. Follow the principles and practices of pollution prevention to the maximum extent practicable;
7. Limit the use of pesticides and herbicides as recommended; and
8. Protect any mature, individual trees that remain on the project site.

White Oak agreed to comply with these eight recommendations as part of this proceeding. The record in this case does not establish that any of these recommendations: (1) are governed by a permit or approval issued by a governmental entity; or (2) are within the authority of, and were considered by, the governmental entity in issuing such permit or approval. We will require the Company to comply with these eight recommendations by DEQ as a condition of the certificate granted herein.

Further, we will condition the certificate granted herein upon the Company's receipt of all environmental and other permits necessary to construct and operate the Facility.

As noted above, given the amendments to §§ 56-580 D and 56-46.1 of the Code that became effective July 1, 2002, we must approve the construction and operation of the proposed facility. A majority of the Commission does so because the issues that would cause us to deny the application without further data, analysis, and explanation are within the jurisdiction of the DEQ and other agencies rather than this Commission.

⁷ Va. Code § 56-580 D(ii).

We note our concern and mounting alarm at the apparent failure of the Commonwealth to address adequately the impact of power plants on the environment of the Commonwealth and the health of her citizens. The environmental studies, analyses, and reviews that have been presented to us, including, in some cases, copies of filings with the DEQ, are not as thorough as they should be, particularly with respect to levels of particulate matter and ozone.

With approval of this application, this Commission has approved the issuance of certificates of public convenience and necessity for eight electric generating facilities since April 19, 2002. The eight planned facilities, if constructed, will add 4,769 MW to Virginia's electricity generation capacity, which is nearly 24% of the approximately 20,000 MW existing in this Commonwealth.

None of the eight applications before this Commission provided data showing what the effect of the planned operation of the proposed facility will have upon the eight-hour ozone standard or the PM_{2.5} standard adopted by the Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA"). Instead, data are provided with respect to the one-hour ozone standard and the PM₁₀ standard. In both cases, there is cause for serious concern that has not been addressed.

First, with respect to ozone, based on the one-hour standard, current levels are close to the National Ambient Air Quality Standard ("NAAQS") limit of 120 ppb. The existing background levels of ozone (before the consideration of any new source) representative of the eight plant locations range from 104 ppb to 120 ppb.⁸ These limits represent 86.67% to 100% of the NAAQS under the one-hour standard. This fact is important because even low levels of ozone can be dangerous to human health as well as flora; low levels can cause permanent lung damage and trigger a variety of human health problems including aggravated asthma, reduced lung capacity, and increased susceptibility to illnesses like pneumonia and bronchitis. In fact, EPA has concluded that there is no safe level of ozone.⁹

In its 1997 ozone review, EPA found that adverse health effects occurred at ozone levels allowed by the current one-hour standard.¹⁰ As a result of its review, EPA adopted a new, eight-hour, 80 ppb standard to reduce the risk of ozone impacts on public health.¹¹ Although the new eight-hour standard was adopted by EPA in 1997, the standard is not yet enforced. Data have been collected and "non-attainment" areas under the eight-hour standard are being identified. In the next few years, the new standard will replace the one-hour NAAQS.

Evidence of background levels of ozone under the eight-hour standard were not presented in a single one of the cases before us, including White Oak. The one-hour data can be converted to eight-hour data, but were never presented. As a result, we do not know whether the background levels of ozone at the eight plant locations involved are at, or even exceed, the NAAQS with the eight-hour test.

While we may not have data with respect to these specific locations, we do know that the new standard is more strict and it appears that it will create many more "exceedances" than the one-hour standard. Specifically, DEQ's internet site shows Virginia data for eight-hour ozone exceedances for 1990 – 2002, along with the exceedances under the one-hour standard for the period 1987 – 2002. While it has been generally understood that changing from the one-hour 120 ppb standard to the eight-hour 80 ppb standard would almost certainly increase the number of times the ozone standard would be exceeded in Virginia, the DEQ data may give an idea of the scale of the increase. On a statewide basis, the number of exceedances in Virginia under the one-hour standard totaled 74 in the five years from 1998 – 2002; using the eight-hour standard, there were 1,007 exceedances during the same period. Statewide, there were 121 exceedances in the ten years from 1993-2002 using the one-hour standard and 1,632 exceedances using the eight-hour standard.¹² When we know the ozone standard was tightened to protect the public health and see this indication of possible extraordinary increases of ten fold or more in exceedances as a result of the application of the revised standard, the people of the Commonwealth are entitled to the eight-hour data and an explanation. This is particularly true where, even without the impact of any new plants, background levels range from nearly 87% to 100% of the NAAQS for ozone under the one-hour standard at the sites proposed for the new plants.

The story with respect to particulate matter is similar to that for ozone. As with ozone, the new standard was adopted in 1997. In addition, the new standard was adopted because of particulate matter related public health effects in areas that were within the current NAAQS. Also, as with ozone, EPA has determined that there is no safe level of fine particulate matter, PM_{2.5}. Finally, like ozone, the new PM_{2.5} standards are not yet in effect, but will soon be a new standard.¹³

Unlike ozone, background levels of PM_{2.5} are not readily available in all areas of the Commonwealth. However, when PM_{2.5} has been discussed, we have been advised that the maximum annual concentration data available for Virginia indicates a range of between 12 and 15.1 µg/m³, while the new PM_{2.5} NAAQS is 15 µg/m³.¹⁴ This means that current background levels range from 80% to more than 100% of the new standard, before considering the impact of any of the new plants. Again, Virginia and Virginians are entitled to an explanation and all the data available. Neither has been provided in any of these eight cases.

We note that the record in this case includes less data than a number of prior proceedings. The critical point, however, is that none of the applications before us have really addressed these new standards with respect to ozone and PM_{2.5}. There are no safe levels of either pollutant, and every plant approved will add to the already significant level of each pollutant currently in the atmosphere at the proposed sites of these plants. Virginia should look forward and address these issues before the plants are built and the health and welfare of Virginia and her citizens are further imperiled.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Pursuant to § 56-580 D of the Code of Virginia, in accordance with the record developed herein, White Oak is hereby granted authority and a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate the Facility as described in this proceeding and this Order.
- (2) White Oak shall obtain a certificate under the Utility Facilities Act, § 56-265.1 et seq., of the Code of Virginia, prior to constructing or acquiring the 1,500-foot portion of the proposed natural gas lateral that will not be located on White Oak's property.
- (3) The certificate granted herein shall be conditioned upon the receipt of all environmental and other permits necessary to construct and operate the Facility.
- (4) As a condition of the certificate granted herein and as agreed to by White Oak in this proceeding, White Oak shall comply with the eight recommendations made by the DEQ in this case.
- (5) As a condition of the certificate granted herein and as agreed to by White Oak in this proceeding, White Oak shall fund any necessary system upgrades to interconnect the Facility with the transmission grid.
- (6) The certificate granted herein shall expire in two years from the date of this Order, if construction of the Facility has not commenced.
- (7) There being nothing further to come before the Commission in this proceeding, this case shall be removed from the docket and the papers transferred to the file for ended causes.

MORRISON, Commissioner, Concurring Opinion

I agree that White Oak Power Company should be granted authority and a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate the proposed facility, and that it should comply with the directions and conditions contained in the ordering paragraphs hereof.

I must disassociate myself from that portion of this Order consisting of its last ten (10) paragraphs immediately preceding the concluding ordering paragraphs.

In the first of these paragraphs, the Majority correctly recognizes that this Commission has no jurisdiction over ". . . the issues that would cause us to deny the Application without further data . . ." Thereafter follows a lengthy discussion of matters which are none of our jurisdictional business.

That discussion suggests a serious failure to protect public health by unnamed branches, departments or agencies of government. The Majority's "concern and mounting alarm" may be justified, but there are more constructive channels through which to communicate with those who hold the authority to correct the shortcomings in public policy perceived by the Majority. To do so instead through the medium of a Commission order smacks of unseemly judicial activism.

MARCH 25, 2003

APPLICATION OF
THE POTOMAC EDISON COMPANY D/B/A ALLEGHENY POWER

To revise its cogeneration tariff pursuant to PURPA § 210

FINAL ORDER

On June 12, 2002, the Potomac Edison Company d/b/a Allegheny Power ("AP" or "Company") filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") an application, written testimony and exhibits to support its proposal for the year 2002 to change its cogeneration and small power production rates under its Schedule CO-G. Schedule CO-G establishes payments, based on the Company's avoided costs for energy and capacity, for purchases from cogenerators and small power producers with a design capacity of 100 kW or less. The Company proposes to revise its Schedule CO-G to replace its currently approved administratively-determined avoided cost pricing methodology with a market-based pricing methodology for determining the Company's payments to qualifying generating facilities for electricity purchased under § 210 of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 ("PURPA").

By order issued August 15, 2002 ("Order"), the Commission established this proceeding, and set a procedural schedule whereby it provided interested persons an opportunity to file comments and/or requests for hearing on the application on or before September 17, 2002, and directed the Commission Staff to file a report or testimony on or before October 18, 2002. No comments or requests for hearing were filed. Pursuant to the Order, the Staff filed the testimony of Jarilaos Stavrou of the Commission's Division of Economics and Finance on October 18, 2002. On February 6, 2003, Hearing Examiner Howard P. Anderson, Jr. issued his report in this proceeding.

The Company proposes to change the methodology it presently uses to calculate payments to its QFs under Schedule CO-G, eliminate capacity payments, revise contract duration terms, and revise certain customer and metering charges. At the present, the Company employs the Differential Revenue Requirements ("DRR") methodology to forecast its avoided costs. The Company has restructured and no longer owns generating facilities. By Order dated July 11, 2000, the Commission approved Potomac Edison's plan to transfer its generating units to an affiliate in Application of The Potomac Edison Company d/b/a Allegheny Power, For Approval of a Functional Separation Plan, Case No. PUE-2000-00280, 2000 S.C.C. Ann. Rep. 530.

The new Schedule CO-G proposes to utilize market-based pricing to determine the Company's avoided costs, rather than the traditional DRR methodology. The Company proposes an avoided cost energy payment to cogenerators and small power producers based on market-determined firm energy prices from the PJM Interconnection wholesale electric market region. The Company states that it will purchase from the market the energy and capacity it requires to supply its customers, and therefore, the Company's future avoided costs will be determined by the cost of its avoided market purchases of power. AP proposes to revise and update its cogeneration rates annually hereafter based on current projections of forward energy prices. The Company also proposes to eliminate a separate capacity payment component. AP states that QFs that qualify under Schedule CO-G have too small a design capacity to have significant value in the PJM capacity market and further that PJM prices used to estimate its avoided costs already contain an intrinsic capacity payment component.

This proceeding concerns wholesale payments AP will make to cogeneration facilities and small power producers under PURPA. Under PURPA, this Commission, as well as other states commissions, are granted the authority to establish utility payments to PURPA-qualified cogeneration facilities and small power producers ("qualifying facilities" or "QFs") on the basis of costs avoided by AP by obtaining power from these QFs, rather than acquiring such power from other sources.

AP states in its application that Virginia's energy markets have gone through significant changes since the Commission last reviewed AP's cogeneration rates in Case No. PUE-1998-00055.¹ The Company emphasizes that it no longer owns generating facilities, nor does it plan to build or purchase new generation in the future, but purchases electric generation supply under contract to meet its default service obligations. Currently there are no QFs or pending applications from QFs, in the Company's Virginia jurisdictional service territory, to which AP's Schedule CO-G applies.

Staff's testimony states given that the Company expects to purchase energy for its regulated customers in the PJM market, and that its forecasting methodology will be refined as more data become available, that the methodology employed by the Company in this proceeding to forecast firm energy prices was acceptable for the purposes of the Company's instant application. The Staff recommends that as the Company refines its forecasting methodology, it should obtain market price data from the sources listed in the Commission's Final Order in Case No. PUE-2001-00306, and as modified by its Final Order of October 11, 2002, and perform calculations consistent with the calculations set forth in the Final Order of October 11, 2002. Staff further recommends that when appropriate, the market price information should be adjusted to reflect the fact that the electrical production will take place in the Company's Virginia service territory rather than at the price points reflected in the market data.

The Staff also found that the avoided energy cost estimates proposed by the Company to be used in setting the cogeneration tariff rates were reasonable. Staff also supports the Company's proposal to offer contracts with a maximum duration of three years and update avoided cost rates annually using market prices, because it will allow the Company more flexibility in adapting its costs to market conditions. The Staff also accepts the Company's proposed updates to metering and customer charges, including the proposal to eliminate simple time-of-use meters. Staff believes these charges are cost-based.

In his Report the Hearing Examiner found based on the evidence that the Company's proposed methodology was appropriate for this case, and its proposed avoided energy costs and other proposed changes were reasonable. The Hearing Examiner further adopted the Staff's recommendations relative to the Company updating its pricing methodology and Schedule CO-G.

NOW THE COMMISSION, in consideration of this matter, finds that the findings and recommendations included in Hearing Examiner Howard P. Anderson's Report dated February 6, 2003, should be adopted in full.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The findings and recommendations set forth in the Hearing Examiner's February 6, 2003, Report are hereby adopted and approved.
- (2) This matter is dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00364
DECEMBER 18, 2003

APPLICATION OF
WASHINGTON GAS LIGHT COMPANY
and
SHENANDOAH GAS DIVISION OF WASHINGTON GAS LIGHT COMPANY

For general increase in natural gas rates and charges and approval of performance-based rate regulation methodology pursuant to Va. Code § 56-235.6

FINAL ORDER

On June 14, 2002, Washington Gas Light Company ("Washington Gas" or "WGL") and the Shenandoah Gas Division ("Shenandoah") of WGL (hereafter collectively referred to as the "Company" or the "Applicant") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for a general increase in rates and charges for natural gas. In its application, the Company requested an increase of $23,809,086 in WGL's and Shenandoah's combined annual operating revenues, based on a test year for the twelve months ended December 31, 2001.

According to the Company, one of the purposes of its application is the merger of the rates, terms and conditions, and purchased gas charges ("PGCs") of WGL and Shenandoah. However, as explained in its application, the Company proposes a single set of rate schedules applicable to all customers but different rates for customers of Washington Gas and former customers of Shenandoah where these rates have not been completely merged.

Also, as part of its application, the Company proposes to combine the Risk Sharing Mechanism ("RSM") and Margin Sharing Mechanism ("MSM") provisions of WGL and Shenandoah into a single RSM based on the combined interruptible cost of service of WGL and Shenandoah. This Company proposal incorporates the provision in Shenandoah's MSM to exclude revenues from new interruptible customers.

WGL and Shenandoah propose to merge their PGC provisions so that former customers will be charged their pro rata share of all system resources. The Company proposes to recover carrying charges on prepaid storage gas inventory through the PGC and to remove storage gas inventory from rate base. Additionally, the Applicant proposes to include in the PGC carrying charges associated with the month-to-month over- or under-collection of purchased gas costs as well as carrying charges on the Actual Cost Adjustment ("ACA") balances outstanding.

In accordance with § 56-235.6 of the Code of Virginia, the Company requested approval of an incentive rate plan ("IRP"). As explained by the Company's application, this plan would permit a 50/50 sharing of Virginia-regulated, weather-normalized earnings 100 basis points above, and a 50/50 sharing of responsibility for an earnings deficiency 100 basis points below, the midpoint of the Company's authorized return on equity range, while maintaining the PGC and ACA mechanisms. The Company also proposed an earnings sharing mechanism to implement the sharing of excess earnings or an earnings deficiency under its incentive rate plan.

On July 10, 2002, the Commission issued its Order for Notice and Hearing in which, among other things, it docketed the application, found that the complexity of the issues presented in the application did not support a conclusion that the increases were likely to be justified upon full investigation and hearing, and determined that the proposed tariff revisions, other than those related to the incentive rate plan, should be suspended pursuant to § 56-238 of the Code of Virginia, to and through November 11, 2002. The Commission specifically noted in its Order that until it made the findings required under Subsection B of § 56-235.6 of the Code of Virginia, the Company had no authority to implement an incentive rate plan form of regulation and the associated earnings sharing mechanism to provide for the sharing of excess earnings or earnings deficiencies.

The Commission assigned the application to a hearing examiner to conduct all further proceedings in the matter and to issue a final report therein, directed the Company to give notice of its application, and established a procedural schedule providing for the participation of interested parties, and the filing of testimony by the Company, respondents, and Staff. The Commission set the matter for hearing on December 16, 2002, before a hearing examiner.

In a November 4, 2002, letter filed with the Commission, the Company gave notice of its intent to place its proposed rates in effect on an interim basis, for service rendered on and after November 12, 2002. In its letter, the Applicant represented that it had removed proposed provisions relating to the incentive rate plan from the tariff it proposed to implement. The Company further advised that it proposed to implement and prorate the revised PGC effective, on an interim basis, for service rendered on and after November 12, 2002.

In her November 8, 2002, Ruling, Deborah V. Ellenberg, Chief Hearing Examiner ("Hearing Examiner" or "Examiner") accepted the Company's bond, accepted the interim tariff for filing, and authorized the Company to implement and prorate the revised PGC effective, on an interim basis, for service rendered on and after November 12, 2002. The Hearing Examiner further directed the Company to keep accurate records of all amounts received under the interim rates in the event the Commission modified or rejected the Company's proposed rates.

On the appointed day, the application was heard by the Examiner. Counsel appearing were Donald R. Hayes, Esquire, and Paul S. Buckley, Esquire, counsel for the Company; Frann Francis, Esquire, and Timothy B. Hyland, Esquire, counsel for the Apartment and Office Building Association of Metropolitan Washington ("AOBA"); Dennis R. Bates, Esquire, counsel for the Board of Supervisors of Fairfax County ("Fairfax County"); Raymond L. Doggett, Jr., Esquire, counsel for the Division of Consumer Counsel, Office of the Attorney General ("Consumer Counsel"); and Sherry H. Bridewell, Esquire, and Rebecca W. Hartz, Esquire, counsel for the Commission Staff ("Staff").

During the hearing, the Company requested leave to withdraw its IRP subject to certain provisions identified in a partial stipulation accepted into the record as Exhibit 1. This partial stipulation provided that the Company agrees to withdraw its IRP proposal for consideration in this proceeding, and that Staff and the interested parties (AOBA, Consumer Counsel, and Fairfax) "agree to meet with the Company within six months following the issuance of a Final Order in this proceeding and the submission of an alternative plan by the Company to discuss issues related to performance-based rate plans and service quality standards."¹ The partial stipulation provided that these discussions would not bind the Staff or any party to support the final proposal for a performance-based rate plan that may be developed through the process.

The partial stipulation also provided that the Company could submit actuarial studies supporting the reasonableness of the updated pension and other post-employment employee benefits ("OPEB") expenses proposed by the Company, and that Staff, the Company, and the parties would be permitted to supplement the record related to pension and OPEB expenses, through written comments or additional public hearings, if necessary.

Finally, the partial stipulation provided that the Company agreed to revise its Interruptible Delivery Service tariff, Rate Schedule No. 7, to state that any customer who is eligible for interruptible sales service under Rate Schedule No. 4 is also eligible for interruptible delivery service under Rate Schedule No. 7.

The Hearing Examiner granted the Company's request to withdraw its IRP and received the partial stipulation into the record.

Two public witnesses appeared in the proceeding. Both witnesses appeared on behalf of entities that were associated with AOBA. David C. Farmer, a utilities administrator for Grady Management, Incorporated testified that his firm operates over 11,000 rental units of residential apartment units and 400,000 square feet of office space in the Washington metropolitan area. Mr. Farmer expressed his concern about the magnitude of the increase proposed by the Company for interruptible delivery service accounts and the Company's practice of charging nontariffed rates for the installation of equipment that would allow interruptible delivery service customers to obtain information regarding gas usage on a real time basis. Mr. Farmer requested that the Commission either regulate the charges for these services or allow competitors to install such equipment.

Mr. Alan F. Molleur, Director of Energy and Engineering for Southern Management Corporation of Vienna, Virginia, testified that his firm was a member of AOBA and operates over 25,000 residential apartment units and a few hundred thousand square feet of office space in the Washington metropolitan area. Mr. Molleur expressed concern over the magnitude of the interruptible delivery service rate increase and the charges being levied by the Company for the installation of usage data gathering devices. He complained about the cost of WGL's installation of real time usage monitoring devices and that WGL was no longer allowing independent contractors to install such devices. Mr. Molleur requested the Commission to regulate the charges for these services or allow other contractors to perform work on a competitive bid basis.

On January 16, 2003, the Company filed a motion to reduce its miscellaneous service charges. The Applicant requested leave to substitute miscellaneous charges consistent with the recommendations made by Staff witness Henderson for those that became effective on an interim basis on November 12, 2002. According to the Company, the new miscellaneous service charges reflect reductions in several of the charges from the levels that had been in effect, on an interim basis, since November 12, 2002. Counsel for the Company represented that none of the parties opposed the Company's request.

The Hearing Examiner granted the Company's January 16, 2003, Motion in her Ruling dated January 21, 2003.

On September 16, 2003, the Hearing Examiner issued her Report. In her Report, among other things, she found that:

- (1) The use of a test year ending December 31, 2001, is proper in this proceeding;
- (2) The Company's test year operating revenues, after all adjustments, were $340,109,078 for WGL and $26,440,551 for the Shenandoah division.
- (3) Test year operating revenue deductions, after all adjustments, were $297,318,943 for WGL and $22,590,526 for the Shenandoah division.
- (4) Test year adjusted net operating income, after all adjustments, were $42,670,445 for WGL and $3,841,915 for the Shenandoah division;
- (5) Current rates produce a return on adjusted rate base of 7.57 percent for WGL and 10.18 percent for the Shenandoah division;
- (6) Current rates produce a return on equity of 8.80 percent for WGL and 13.93 percent for the Shenandoah division;
- (7) The Company's current cost of equity is within a range of 10.00-11.00 percent, and rates for WGL and for the Shenandoah division should be established based on the 10.50 percent midpoint of the equity range;
- (8) The Company's overall cost of capital, using the midpoint of the equity range and the capital structure as proposed by Staff, is 8.44 percent;
- (9) The Company's adjusted test year rate base is $563,487,126 for WGL and $37,722,914 for the Shenandoah division; and
- (10) The Company requires $6,846,439 in additional gross annual revenues to earn a reasonable return on rate base for WGL, and a reduction of $1,136,591 in gross annual revenues for the Shenandoah division.

Additionally, the Examiner accepted the Staff's recommendation regarding the Company's capital structure. She found that it is based on known and measurable data, while incorporating known and recent changes. That actual capital structure as of March 31, 2002, includes long-term debt of 39.721 percent, short-term debt of 6.423 percent, preferred stock of 1.802 percent, common stock of 50.957 percent, and investment tax credits of 1.097 percent.

The Examiner accepted Staff's cost rates of 7.010 percent for long-term debt and 1.868 percent for short-term debt. The Company had proposed use of 6.89 percent for long-term debt and 2.23 percent for short-term debt. The Examiner found Staff's recommendation to be more reasonable because it is based on known, updated information and not speculative estimates of financing rates in the future.

With regard to the Company's return on equity, the Examiner determined that the record supports a cost of equity in the range of 10.00 percent to 11.00 percent with the mid-point of 10.50 percent to be used for calculating the revenue requirement.

The Examiner found that it was reasonable to analyze the cost of service separately for WGL and Shenandoah, especially since the cost of service studies for the two divisions do not tie back to the combined cost of service study because of allocation differences. The Hearing Examiner found that the conservation adjustment proposed by the Company should be rejected as speculative and, instead, accepted the Staff's adjustment based on lower usage patterns for customer additions. The Hearing Examiner accepted the Company's calculations for establishing transportation revenue challenged by AOBA. Based on the Staff late-filed Exhibit 50 and Staff's filed comments, the Hearing Examiner accepted Staff's revised adjustment to the Company's pension and OPEB as reasonable, known and measurable, and not speculative.

The Examiner also accepted the Company's proposed adjustment for insurance expense of $1,513,246. The Examiner found that the Company had recorded an expense related to the Company's settlement of costs to investigate and remediate environmental contamination attributable to a manufactured gas plant in the City of Alexandria, observing that WGL had recorded the expense prior to the test year ending December 2001, and that these expenses have already been incorporated in previous Annual Informational Filings ("AIFs") in Virginia and filings in its Maryland and Washington, D.C. jurisdictions.

As to the Company's mercury regulators replacement program costs, the Hearing Examiner accepted the Company's adjustment based on the replacement of 5,377 mercury regulators per year, or an average of 448 units per month. The Examiner eliminated costs related to the Company's Achieving Operational Excellence Program from the Company's cost of service. The Hearing Examiner found that the Company did not offer proof of savings associated with the cost of this program.

With regard to depreciation, the Hearing Examiner accepted Staff's adjustment regarding the Company's depreciation reserve deficiency, based on a finding that the Company's accumulated depreciation balances have been artificially lowered due to the inclusion in these balances of plant that no longer provide service. Finding that the Company's failure to file a timely depreciation study resulted in a large depreciation reserve deficiency, the Examiner accepted Staff's adjustment to reduce the Company's rate base.

The Hearing Examiner recommended that the Company commence recording depreciation expense using the new rates as of November 12, 2002, which is the date that the Company's proposed tariff went into effect in this proceeding on an interim basis.

The Hearing Examiner determined that the Company should investigate creating a separate small commercial schedule and large industrial schedule to serve the merged Commercial-Industrial Schedules, and also investigate the customer makeup of the interruptible delivery schedules. The Examiner accepted the Company's revenue apportionment and rate design.

AOBA proposed that the Company terminate interruptible sales service, asserting that the competitive market for the supply of natural gas service has matured to the point where that service was no longer necessary. The Hearing Examiner observed that no notice had been provided to interruptible sales customers that the supply of natural gas from the Company could be terminated. Consequently, the Hearing Examiner adopted Staff's recommendation that the Company should evaluate the necessity for continuing the commodity gas supplied to interruptible customers in its next rate case.

Further, the Hearing Examiner recommended that the Commission accept the revisions to the miscellaneous fees and charges proposed by Staff in Exhibit 34, Statement RMH-3 at 1. The Hearing Examiner found that these fees and charges supported by the Company, Staff, and Fairfax County were reasonable. She cited with approval the Staff's recommendation that no formal language permitting the Company to revise its PGC, ACA, and refund and RSM factors with prior notice to Staff was necessary.

The Examiner observed that AOBA and two public witnesses raised concerns about the charges imposed by the Company related to the installation of equipment that permits real-time monitoring of energy usage. The Examiner recommended that Staff investigate these complaints and initiate a complaint proceeding if the Company's treatment and pricing of the energy management equipment were not satisfactorily resolved.

The Hearing Examiner declined to adopt the Company's asset management sharing proposal, pursuant to which the Company would enter into an alliance with an unidentified asset manager, and share asset management revenues with its customers. The Hearing Examiner cautioned that if the Commission approves the Company's asset management program, it must address the sharing of revenue. The Company proposed that asset management revenues be shared equally by ratepayers and shareholders. Staff proposed that if the asset management program is approved, 90 percent of the revenues go to firm ratepayers through the ACA in recognition of the Company's unknown alliance and its benefits to the ratepayers.

With regard to the weather normalization adjustment, the Examiner found that the Company should be required to continue to prepare separate adjustments for the WGL and Shenandoah operations based on the measuring locations now used to record degree-day data as rates continue to be merged. The Examiner noted that there are substantial differences in the degree days for these two measuring stations reflecting regional differences.

With regard to various booking and accounting classification changes, the Examiner found that the Company should seek approval from other jurisdictions in which it provides service to make the booking changes recommended by Staff and advise the Staff when these changes are completed.

The Examiner recommended that the Commission enter an order that adopts the findings in her Report, grants the Company an increase in gross annual revenues of $5,709,948, and dismisses the case from the Commission's docket of active cases. The Examiner invited the case participants to file comments responsive to her Report within four weeks of the Report's issuance because of the complexity of the issues presented by the application.

Comments responsive to the Report were filed by the Company, Staff, and Fairfax County.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the pleadings, the Hearing Examiner's Report, the comments thereon, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that the analysis, findings, and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner's Report are reasonable, supported by the record, and should be adopted, except to the extent that we specify otherwise in the discussion below.

Capital Structure

We agree with the Hearing Examiner's recommendation that an actual capital structure should be accepted for this case.

AOBA's proposal that we adopt a five-quarter average through December 31, 2001, should be rejected because it includes a capital structure based on the consolidated parent of WGL operations, the Company, including unregulated operations.

The Company's proposal would adopt a pro-forma capital structure that includes adjustments for changes through February 28, 2003. The Hearing Examiner noted that the projections through February 28, 2003, included in the Company's proposal were not based on any publicly available data.

While the capital structure should be representative of the actual capital structure that will be in place during the rate-effective period, we have in the past rejected a hypothetical capital structure.² The Hearing Examiner found that Staff's recommended capital structure is based on known and measurable data and incorporates known and recent changes. A capital structure that is objectively grounded on known, certain and observable data at the end of the test period is preferable to alternatives that may rely on speculative projections. Therefore, we adopt the Hearing Examiner's finding on this issue.

Return on Equity

The Company initially requested a return on equity of 12 percent to 12.5 percent. In its response to the Hearing Examiner's Report, the Company asserts that the evidence supports a return on equity of at least 11.0 percent. AOBA recommended a return on equity not to exceed 9.70 percent. Fairfax County recommended a return on equity in the range of 10 to 11 percent with a midpoint of 10.5 percent, based on a discounted cash flow analysis for WGL Holdings and a group of comparable companies. Fairfax County witness Sinclair observed that since the Commission last established WGL's cost of equity at 11.5 percent in 1995, interest rates have declined significantly.

Staff conducted a discounted cash flow analysis that produced an equity return range of 9.47 percent to 10.37 percent for the Company's parent, WGL Holdings, and 9.85 percent to 10.71 percent for a group of comparable companies. Other risk premium analyses conducted by Staff produced cost of equity estimates within a range of 10.09 percent, 9.90 percent, 10 percent, and 9.37 percent. Staff supports a return on equity range of 9.5 percent to 10.5 percent, with a midpoint of 10.0 percent used to establish rates.

Witnesses for the Company, Fairfax County, and Staff each used discounted cash flow analyses for the Company's parent and comparable companies, in addition to other corroborative methods. In its rebuttal testimony, the Company criticized Staff's inclusion of Northwest Natural Gas ("NNG") in the group of comparable companies on grounds that NNG has been considered a takeover target.³ The Hearing Examiner noted that when Staff witness Owens' analysis of comparable companies is conducted without NNG, the resulting range increases to 10.2 percent to 11.05 percent. The Hearing Examiner also concluded that Company witness Dr. Olson failed to use a growth rate in dividends as part of his discounted cash flow analysis in estimating the cost of equity capital for the Company. Moreover, the Hearing Examiner observed that Dr. Olson's risk premium analysis overstates the level of risk that should be associated with the Company.

Based on these factors as well as the downgrading of the rating of the Company's senior debt securities by Moody's Investor Services from Aa3 to A2 in December 2002 and other analyses, the Hearing Examiner agreed with Fairfax County's conclusion in determining that the record supports a cost of equity in the range of 10.0 percent to 11.0 percent, and recommended that the revenue requirement be established based on the midpoint of the cost of equity range, or 10.5 percent. The midpoint of this range does not differ greatly from the range for comparable companies of 10.43 percent to 10.95 percent derived by Company witness Dr. Olson before considering other factors. We adopt the Hearing Examiner's recommendation on this issue.

Separate or Combined Revenue Requirement

The Company proposed a tariff, Va. S.C.C. No. 9, in order to merge the previously separate tariffs of WGL and Shenandoah. While the Company's request for rate relief is based on the combined cost of service of WGL and Shenandoah, it includes separate cost of service studies for the two entities. Staff observed that individual revenue shortfalls for the two entities do not match the combined revenue requirement requested by the Company. This discrepancy exists because the results of the two separate cost of service studies for WGL and Shenandoah do not match the results of the combined study.

Staff recommended that the prospective merger of WGL's and Shenandoah's books and accounting records be conditioned on the preparation of separate weather normalization studies and retention of the billing determinants for the formerly distinct companies. The Company urges this Commission to approve the merger of the books and accounting records of WGL and Shenandoah going forward for all AIFs and rate cases.

The Hearing Examiner found that it was reasonable to analyze the cost of service separately for WGL and Shenandoah. We adopt the Hearing Examiner's finding. To the extent that the matters are not within the scope of the Hearing Examiner's finding, we direct that in subsequent AIFs and expedited rate applications, the Company should prepare separate weather normalization studies, retain the billing determinants for the formerly distinct entities, include an initial column on its cost of service studies, rate of return statements and rate base statements, showing total Company operations, and include a separate column to exclude non-utility items.

Conservation Adjustment

The Company has proposed an adjustment to test year volumes to reflect a forecasted reduction in gas usage by current customers resulting from the use of increasingly efficient gas appliances. In its response to the Hearing Examiner's Report, the Company asserts that the conservation adjustment is no more speculative than weather-normalization usage data used in setting rates.⁴ The conservation adjustment would increase the Company's revenue requirement by nearly $2.3 million.

Staff contends that lower usage patterns, based on recent customer additions, are incorporated into Staff's customer growth adjustment. Consumer Counsel agrees with Staff that relying on the most recent known and certain information would be the more logical approach, because the adjustment may result in increased rates based on a projection of a future that may not develop as the Company predicts.

We will adopt the Hearing Examiner's finding that the conservation adjustment proposed by the Company should not be accepted. The proposed adjustment is duplicative, in part, of Staff's customer growth adjustment, which already captures customer conservation arising from the use of more energy efficient appliances. The Company's proposed adjustment also ignores any off-setting productivity gains. The Hearing Examiner's acceptance of Staff's adjustment is reasonable, and we adopt the Examiner's recommendation on this issue.

Insurance Expense

The Hearing Examiner accepted the Company's proposed approximately $1.5 million adjustment for insurance expense. The Company asserted that this increase was justified by increases in insurance premiums. In its original application, the Company sought an increase in going level insurance expense of approximately $1 million. The Company subsequently sought an increase of $0.5 million based on rebuttal testimony stating that the Company had been informed that it should expect Directors and Officers liability insurance premiums to increase by well over 100 percent from 2002 to 2003, and property insurance premiums to increase by 15 percent to 37 percent.

We do not accept this recommendation of the Hearing Examiner and agree with Staff that this adjustment does not satisfy the "known and certain" standard set out in § 56-235.2 of the Code of Virginia. Staff properly uses the latest actual insurance premiums from fiscal year 2002, which is based on known and certain information. We find that the going level adjustment to insurance expense should be $987,202 for WGL and $60,186 for Shenandoah.

Alexandria Manufactured Gas Plant Environmental Settlement Costs

The Hearing Examiner recommended denial of the Company's proposed going level adjustment to reflect expenses related to the settlement of issues relating to the investigation and remediation of environmental contamination at its Alexandria manufactured gas plant. The Company recorded the expense prior to the test year ending December 2001. These expenses have been incorporated into prior AIFs in Virginia and filings in Maryland and the District of Columbia. In short, the Company has recovered these expenses. We adopt the Hearing Examiner's recommendation on this issue.

Mercury Regulators Replacement Program Costs

The Company's proposal to increase expenditures on replacing mercury regulators by $1.0 million is based on the expectation that the regulators will be replaced ratably over a 10-year period, or 448 per month. Staff proposed an increase of $0.7 million based on the Company's actual pace of regulator replacement, or 333 per month. The Hearing Examiner accepted the Company's adjustment based on the replacement of 448 mercury regulators per month over the duration of the ten-year program. While we find that the Hearing Examiner's recommendation is reasonable, we further find that it is appropriate to monitor this program. We therefore direct Staff to monitor the Company's expenditures and rate of regulator replacement, and make adjustments accordingly.

Achieving Operational Excellence Program

Both Staff and the Company recognize merit in treating the cost of the Achieving Operational Excellence ("AOE") Program as a regulatory asset and amortizing it over future years. Staff recommends that 50 percent of the utility portion of the consulting contract be treated as a regulatory asset and amortized over a three year period. Staff's proposal estimates that the Company will benefit from savings equal to at least 50 percent of the study's cost. This is a conservative estimate of savings, considering the Company's statement that it "would not have embarked on such an effort had it not believed the benefits would outweigh [sic] the costs."⁵

The Company contends that the full amount of its expense on the AOE Program should be treated as regulatory asset and amortized over a three year period.

The Hearing Examiner recommended that the proposed adjustment to recover expenses for the AOE Program be rejected until the Company offers evidence of savings to net against the Program's cost.

We agree with the Hearing Examiner's finding that the costs associated with the AOE Program may be treated as a regulatory asset.⁶ However, we do not adopt the Hearing Examiner's recommendation that cost recovery of this item be denied in this case. We find that 50 percent of the utility portion of the consulting contract should be treated as regulatory asset and amortized over a three year period. Historically, when we have considered the treatment of management study costs we have allowed the costs to be recovered through the actual savings the utility realizes each year as a result of the study. Thus, the savings pay for the study and savings accrue to the ratepayers only after the utility recovers the costs of the study. Since the savings are realized over time, the costs of the study should be recovered, albeit over an extended period in some cases.

⁴ Response of Company at 47.

⁶ We note that amortization of a regulatory asset allows the return of the deferred amount, but does not allow a return on the unamortized balance.

This proceeding is distinguishable because the Company asserts that it is not able to quantify or track any savings as a result of the management study. The Company has, however, represented that the management study will produce significant savings. Staff assumed that the cost of the AOE Program would produce savings at least equal to 50 percent of its cost.

While such management studies should not be discouraged, the benefits resulting from such studies should not accrue only to the utility's shareholders. Until the next rate case, such would be the result if current ratepayers were required to bear all of the costs of the study and the savings are realized in future years.

In this instance, Staff has assumed that one half of the cost of the AOE Program would be covered by savings. We find that this assumption is reasonable.⁷ However, if the Company files information in a future AIF or rate case establishing that the savings are less than 50 percent of the study's cost, an appropriate adjustment may be in order in such proceeding. In order to establish grounds for such an adjustment, the Company must show that, after implementing the AOE Program, the savings, over time, will be less than 50 percent of the study's cost.

Depreciation Issues

The Company conducted depreciation studies based on depreciable plant balances as of December 31, 2000. Following Staff review, two adjustments to the studies were accepted by the Company with the understanding that the depreciation rates would be updated to reflect investments and depreciation reserves as of December 31, 2001. A 2002 technical update was submitted on May 5, 2002. The Company and Staff are in agreement regarding the rates and depreciation expense resulting from the study. However, the Company objected to two of Staff's recommendations regarding the implementation of the new depreciation rates. First, Staff proposes that the Company's rate base be reduced to eliminate the effect of the depreciation reserve imbalance. Second, Staff proposes that the Company begin recording depreciation expense using the new rates effective as of the January 1, 2002, technical update.

With respect to the first issue, the depreciation study revealed that the Company has a large depreciation reserve imbalance. This imbalance, which is the amount by which the theoretical reserve or Staff's calculated reserve exceeds the Company's per books depreciation reserve, results in an increase to rate base. Staff proposed a reduction to the Company's rate base to eliminate the effect of the Company's depreciation reserve imbalance.

The 2002 technical update includes a computation of the theoretical reserve based on plant in service as of December 31, 2001. Comparing the theoretical reserve to the Company's per books accumulated reserve for depreciation results in a reserve deficiency of approximately $40.5 million for WGL and $2.9 million for Shenandoah. The Company is proposing to make no adjustment to its rate base as a result of the deficiency. Accordingly, the Company would recover the reserve deficiency over more than thirty years and have the opportunity to earn a return on the unamortized balance of the deficiency during this period.

The discrepancy between the per books accumulated reserve for depreciation, when compared to either the theoretical reserve or Staff's calculated reserve, is described by the Hearing Examiner as "enormous."⁸ The per books accumulated reserve for depreciation was underaccrued by 14.67 percent. Staff witness Pate proposed that the lower of either the Staff's calculated reserve or the theoretical reserve be substituted for the per books recorded reserve. Using this approach, Staff recommended that WGL's rate base be adjusted by $39.9 million to increase the per books accumulated reserve for depreciation. Staff also increased Shenandoah's accumulated depreciation balance by $2.8 million based on the theoretical reserve. Staff characterized the accumulated reserve deficiency as a regulatory asset, and proposed that the Company be allowed to recover this deficiency through the approved depreciation rates. However, Staff recommends that the Company not receive a return on the amount of the accumulated reserve deficiency.

While early and late retirements of plant, changes in its useful lives, and use of estimates to accrue for net salvage mean that there will almost always be small reserve deficiencies or excesses, these variances should be minimized. Staff states that large reserve deficiencies, such as the one in this case, can and should be avoided by performing depreciation studies every few years. The Company had not performed a depreciation study for more than twenty years.

Staff explains that when depreciation rates are less than they should be, such as in this case, ratepayers are paying a return on capital for a longer period than they should. Staff adds that a large reserve deficiency can have the effect of ratepayers paying a return on assets that are no longer used and useful (because they have been retired) and also paying a return on the replacement for the retired plant component. The Company responded that this was incorrect. The Company correctly states that when plant is retired from service, the physical plant is removed from plant in service. The Company failed to discuss, however, that the full original cost of the retired plant is not only deducted from plant in service, it is also deducted from the depreciation reserve, thus bringing rate base up to the pre-retirement level. The value of the undepreciated plant is still in rate base; not in the plant account, but instead as a reduction to the depreciation reserve. If plant is removed from service at the moment it is fully depreciated, everything works perfectly. For example, if plant in service is reduced by $100, and depreciation reserve is also reduced by $100, there is no change in the total rate base for ratemaking. Then, when the cost of replacement plant is added to the plant in service, it is clear that ratepayers are providing a return only on the new replacement plant and not on the retired plant.

In the present case, there is a significant reserve deficiency, which means that the depreciation reserve is not as large as it should be. Using the same example, if the $100 plant is only $70 depreciated when the plant is retired, $100 is still deducted from plant in service and the depreciation reserve. If plant is reduced by $100 and the depreciation reserve of $70 is also reduced by $100, the result is a net of $30 on which the Company can earn a return. As a result, net rate base still includes, in effect, $30 of the cost of retired plant. When replacement plant valued at $110 is added to the $30 in rate base, ratepayers will pay rates that provide a return of and on the total of $140.

The failure to revise depreciation rates has two primary detrimental impacts. First, ratepayers are providing a return on invested funds for a longer period than they should. Second, the practical effect of substantial variations, such as presented here, is to require current and future ratepayers to support not only the plant needed to serve them, but also plant that was used to serve at an earlier time and is no longer in service. Optimal rates will reflect the cost of providing current service.

⁷ If a proper management study had not been able to identify any savings that the Company could achieve as a result of the study, the Company may be allowed to recover its expense without regard to matching up the costs with resulting savings. In this instance, the Company has stated that it expects to receive benefits that will outweigh the costs, but is unable to quantify these benefits at the present time.

The Company provides basically two responses. First, the expenditures for plant were prudently incurred and the Company is entitled to a return of and on the investment, regardless of its failure to perform timely depreciation studies. Second, Company witness White states that by far the most significant portion of the reserve deficiency is attributable to a change in only one of the 366 parameters that he estimated in performing the depreciation study. The Company asserts that Dr. White has demonstrated that the reserve imbalance is "not necessarily" attributable to any unreasonable delay by the Company in conducting a depreciation study, and that the magnitude of the reserve imbalance is "not necessarily" related to the length of time between depreciation studies.⁹ The term "not necessarily" is informative. Dr. White did not state, or even suggest, that a single, unexpected event caused the change in the depreciation rates in question. A depreciation study every few years would, of course, answer the question. While the Company may be correct that much of the reserve deficiency is attributable to a change in one parameter (future net salvage rate on services), the Company did not show that a timely depreciation study would not have mitigated most of the imbalance. The Company is responsible for having accurate and up-to-date depreciation studies. It might be argued whether a depreciation study should be performed every two, four, or even five years, but every 20 years is clearly unreasonable.

The Company's failure to perform timely depreciation studies appears to be an oversight rather than an attempt to game the ratemaking procedure. Nevertheless, the reserve deficiency is large, and the resulting problems noted earlier are real. At the same time, there has been no showing that the investments in plant were imprudent.

We will treat the reserve deficiency of approximately $42 million as a regulatory asset; it will be amortized over the remaining life of the plant. Like other regulatory assets, it will be subject to the earnings test and be subject to reduction by any earnings over the mid-point of the range of the allowed return on equity (10.5 percent). Unlike other regulatory assets, however, we will allow the Company an opportunity to earn a return on the unamortized balance of the asset. This allows the Company recovery of, and an opportunity to earn a return on, this plant while also attempting to protect ratepayers from providing an excess return. The Commission acknowledges that it is unusual to allow a utility to earn a return on the unamortized balance of a regulatory asset, but we find that the unique aspects of this proceeding warrant such result in this instance.

We further expect the Company and other utilities to file depreciation studies at least every five years, unless they are able to demonstrate a valid reason for not so doing. We direct Staff to monitor this expectation, in order to avoid the disturbances that can result from the failure to conduct timely depreciation studies. In addition, Staff should examine any reserve imbalance during the course of its review of these depreciation studies.

The second depreciation-related issue concerns the date that the Company should commence recording depreciation expense using the new rates. Staff recommends that the new rates be used effective as of the January 1, 2002, technical update. The Company proposed to begin using the new depreciation rates concurrent with the effective date of the interim rates established in this proceeding, November 12, 2002. The Hearing Examiner concluded that the implementation of new depreciation rates on January 1, 2002, would be unfair to either the ratepayers or the Company's shareholders, depending on whether new depreciation expense increases or decreases from current levels reflected in rates. Staff's proposal of using January 1, 2002, as the commencement date was also seen as creating practical problems for the Company's preparation of its financial statements in accordance with Financial Accounting Standard Board Statement No. 71, because the Company prepared and filed financial statements in 2002 prior to the approval of the new depreciation rates on October 2, 2002. The Company's financial statements included depreciation accruals based on rates that had been approved by this Commission.¹⁰ The Company also asserts that the "retroactive" implementation date proposed by Staff would increase the depreciation reserve and reduce rate base without allowing for the recovery of increased depreciation expense from January 1, 2002, through November 11, 2002. Such "retroactive" implementation would affect rate base and deprive the Company of a return of, and on, a portion of its investment in plant.

The Hearing Examiner adopted the Company's position. Staff's comments on the Hearing Examiner's Report assert that allowing the Company to delay the implementation of its new depreciation rates until the date it implemented its new tariff rates results in the application of inappropriate accounting recognition of costs by the Company. The delayed implementation of a change in depreciation rates until there is a change in base rates also offers the opportunity for abuse. Staff cites the fact that eight years have lapsed between WGL's two most recent rate cases, and the Company failed to file a depreciation study for nearly 20 years.¹¹

We find the Staff's arguments persuasive. New depreciation rates are calculated to commence correcting any imbalances in existing rates and prevent future positive or negative imbalances. Reserve balances are amortized over the remaining life of the depreciable plant, measured at the time the depreciation study is conducted. The Company's proposal would result in implementing depreciation rates almost two years beyond the original study, and nearly a year beyond the technical update. This is too long, and would allow distortions to develop and would create a new reserve deficiency. Moreover, the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners' manual on public utility depreciation practices states that rates should be implemented coincident with the depreciation study date.¹² Staff also observes that giving utilities latitude to commence new depreciation rates on a date other than the depreciation study date may allow a utility to manipulate earnings, and may cause intergenerational equity issues. Companies are free to schedule their depreciation studies and rate cases so that the impact of depreciation changes can be coordinated with rate changes. Further, implementing new depreciation rates as of the effective date of the study does not constitute retroactive implementation, but rather proper accounting and ratemaking. We find that the recommendations of the Hearing Examiner with regard to this issue should not be adopted, and we direct that the new depreciation rates be implemented effective with the January 1, 2002, technical update.

Installation of Energy Management Equipment

Two persons associated with members of AOBA, David C. Farmer and Alan F. Molleur, expressed concern at the hearing with WGL's charges for installing equipment that permits real-time monitoring of gas usage. They stated that the Company's charges exceed those of any competitor, but WGL no longer allows competitors to do such installations. The Company asserts that there is not a sufficient record to resolve this issue and advises that it will notify Staff and the parties of its final policy decision.

The Hearing Examiner recommended that Staff investigate this issue and initiate a proceeding if the issue of the Company's treatment and pricing of installing energy management equipment is not satisfactorily resolved. In its comments to the Hearing Examiner's Report, the Company states that it has discussed this matter with AOBA's counsel in connection with a rate case pending before the Washington, D.C. Public Service Commission. The Company states in its comments to the Report that it has submitted a proposed tariff provision in that proceeding and plans to file the same tariff provision in this proceeding, and consequently no further action is required by Staff or this Commission with respect to this issue.¹³

Staff has not had an opportunity to respond in this proceeding to the Company's comments regarding the tariff provision and notice of the tariff provision has not been provided to the public. The Commission finds that the Hearing Examiner's recommendation on this issue is proper but should be expanded. We direct the Commission's Division of Utility and Railroad Safety to participate in the Staff's investigation and address issues related to the installation of the equipment. If there is no approved tariff for this procedure, competitors should be given the option of doing such work. If safety issues make it appropriate for installations to be performed only by the Company, the charges related thereto should be subject to regulation by this Commission.

Asset Management Contract

The Company has proposed an incentive sharing arrangement, with a duration of five to fifteen years, whereby asset management revenues would be shared evenly by the Company's ratepayers and shareholders. The customer portion of the shared revenues would be passed through under the ACA of the Company's PGC provisions.

The Company asserts that this proposal is justified by six years of Company experience with asset management activities; the need to enhance the returns of its interstate contract assets in a challenging market; and this Commission's approval of an asset sharing mechanism for Virginia Natural Gas in Case No. PUA-2000-00085 ("VNG Case").¹⁴ The Company states that it is exploring ways to increase available capacity that on certain days is not otherwise needed to serve firm customers, and that active management may increase the amount of capacity available to generate revenues without negatively affecting its firm customers.

AOBA recommended that the asset management plan be rejected because it is not obvious that ratepayers would benefit from the proposal. The group also contends that it is not clear that providing asset management by the Company internally would not be more cost-effective than partnering with an outside firm.

Staff asserts that the Company's proposal is different from that approved in the VNG Case. Moreover, delivery service customers who are not subject to the PGC would pay for the facilities that would be involved in this arrangement through base rates, and the Company has not identified how these customers will receive a portion of the revenues.¹⁵ Staff suggests that if the Commission finds it appropriate to provide an incentive for the Company to enter into an asset management contract, the revenues should be shared so that 90 percent goes to the ratepayers through the PGC and 10 percent to the Company.

The Hearing Examiner determined that there did not appear to be a compelling reason to accept the Company's proposal. She observed that the asset management proposal approved in the VNG Case was distinguishable from the proposal made by the Company. In the VNG Case, a specific and known contract was presented to the Commission for review, the partner was known, the assets were known, the benefit to the ratepayer was shown, and the compensation parameters were clear. The Hearing Examiner noted that these elements are not present in this proceeding. She agreed with Staff witness Henderson's testimony that there does not appear to be a compelling reason to reward the Company for normal oversight of a contract. The Company has an obligation to manage its assets in a cost effective manner; not every contract or effort to fulfill this obligation should be entitled to a greater reward than the opportunity to earn the allowed return on equity. The Hearing Examiner accordingly rejected the Company's sharing proposal. We adopt the Hearing Examiner's recommendation in this regard. We further find that the Company's General Service Provisions should be revised to include the expenses and revenues associated with off-system sales, as recommended by Staff.¹⁶

Weather Data Collection

With regard to the weather normalization adjustment, Staff recommended that the Company maintain two separate measuring stations, at Reagan National Airport and the Cedar Creek Gate station. The Examiner agreed with Staff's observation that the Company could continue to prepare separate adjustments for the Virginia and Shenandoah operations based on the measuring locations now used to record degree-day data as rates continue to be merged. However, the Hearing Examiner did not specifically recommend that the Company continue to maintain and report the differences in weather from these two sites. Staff has proposed that the Company be directed to continue to maintain its present distinct measuring locations for degree days, with Shenandoah's actual volumes being weather-normalized based on actual and normal weather as measured in Shenandoah's service territory. We agree, and find it appropriate to require the Company to maintain their existing capability to conduct weather normalization studies for its WGL and Shenandoah operations.

Booking and Accounting Classification Changes

Staff recommended that the Company change its method for booking and classifying accumulated deferred income taxes and gas costs in order to conform to the Uniform System of Accounts and to permit ready identification of invoice costs of gas, deferred gas expense, and storage gas expense. A related recommendation to accounting practices addresses the booking of ground lease fees related to Maritime Plaza. The Company did not object to the Staff's recommendations, but advised the Hearing Examiner that it could not make the proposed accounting changes without the approval of regulatory bodies in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

The Hearing Examiner recommended that the Company should seek approval of the booking changes as recommended by Staff, as necessary, and advise Staff when completed. In its comments on the Hearing Examiner's Report, the Company reiterates its position that it cannot implement the recommended accounting changes until it has received approval from this Commission and other local regulatory commissions.

We agree that the Company should adopt the accounting changes recommended by Staff. While the Company may not want to keep the additional records that would be required if all jurisdictions do not agree to all of the accounting changes, the Company certainly can make the changes Staff proposes. Indeed the Company, like most utilities, already has differing accounting requirements for various jurisdictions. Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 71 specifically allows regulated utilities to record costs on a jurisdictional basis. These requirements should not be burdensome. We do not adopt the Hearing Examiner's recommendation that implementation of these changes should be conditioned upon the actions of other regulatory bodies. We find instead that the Company should complete its implementation of the Staff's recommendations no later than April 1, 2004, when the Company files its FERC Form 2 with the Commission's Division of Public Utility Accounting.

Staff also recommended that the Company be required to change the presentation of its rate of return and rate base schedules filed with the Commission. Non-utility operations are currently excluded from the schedules filed by the Company. Staff contends that non-utility operations should be included in the per books data and excluded as non-jurisdictional. While the Company did not assert that this change would require approval of other jurisdictions, the Company agreed to review the ramifications of the proposals to determine what impact they may have on the Company's resources. It appears that the Hearing Examiner agreed with the Company's request for an opportunity to assess the ramifications of this recommendation.¹⁷ We do not adopt the recommendation of the Hearing Examiner on this issue. We find that the Company should be required immediately to comply with this Commission's Rules Governing Utility Rate Increase Applications and Annual Informational Filings that require incorporation of non-utility operations in the initial column of future filings with the Commission, so that the exclusion of non-utility items in column 2 can be verified.¹⁸

Withdrawal of Incentive Rate Proposal

As previously noted, during the hearing the Company requested leave to withdraw its IRP as provided in the partial stipulation. The Hearing Examiner granted the company's request to withdraw the IRP proposal. We find that the stipulation is reasonable and should be approved. As provided in the terms of the partial stipulation, we direct Staff and interested parties to meet with representatives of the Company within six months following the date of this Order, provided that the Company has submitted an alternative incentive rate plan during such period, to discuss issues related to performance-based rate plans and service quality standards. If the Company has not submitted an alternative incentive rate plan during such period, Staff and interested parties are directed to meet with representatives of the Company for such purpose within a reasonable time after the submission of the alternative incentive rate plan. Our directing Staff and interested parties to meet and discuss these issues shall not be construed as obligating them to reach any agreement or to support any proposal for a performance-based rate plan that may be developed through the process.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner, as modified herein, are adopted.
- (2) The Company's application for a general increase in natural gas rates and charges docketed as Case No. PUE-2002-00364 is granted to the extent discussed in this Order and is otherwise denied.
- (3) The Company's request to withdraw its application for approval of an incentive rate plan is granted.
- (4) The Company shall comply with the directives embodied in the body of this Order.
- (5) The Company requires $10,795,695 in additional gross annual revenues to earn a reasonable return on rate base for WGL, and a reduction of $866,971 in gross annual revenues to earn a reasonable return on rate base for Shenandoah.
- (6) Consistent with the findings herein, on or before January 15, 2004, the Company shall forthwith file with the Commission's Division of Energy Regulation schedules of rates and charges, and terms and conditions of service incorporating all modifications directed by this Order. Revised rates and charges designed to produce the additional gross annual revenues authorized herein shall use the methodology for apportioning the increase among classes of customers proposed by the Company and agreed to by the Staff.
- (7) On or before March 1, 2004, the Company shall recalculate, using the rates and charges prescribed by ordering paragraph (6) of this Final Order, each bill it rendered to customers that used, in whole or in part, the rates and charges that took effect, on an interim basis and subject to refund, on November 12, 2002. Where application of the rates prescribed by this Final Order results in a reduced bill, the Company shall refund the difference with interest.
- (8) Interest upon the ordered refunds shall be computed from the date payments of monthly bills were due to the date refunds are made at the average prime rate for each calendar quarter, compounded quarterly. The average prime rate for each calendar quarter shall be the arithmetic mean, to the nearest one-hundredth of one percent, of the prime rate values published in the Federal Reserve Bulletin or in the Federal Reserve's Selected Interest Rates (Statistical Release H. 15) for the three months of the preceding calendar quarter.
- (9) The refunds directed in ordering paragraph (7) may be credited to current customers' accounts (each refund category shall be shown separately on each customer's bill). Refunds of $1 or more to former customers shall be made by check mailed to the last know address of such customers.

¹⁷ Report at 43.

¹⁸ See 5 VAC 5-20-10 et seq.

The Company may offset the credit or refund to the extent no dispute exists regarding the outstanding balance of a current or former customer. No offset shall be permitted for the disputed portion of an outstanding balance. The Company may retain refunds owed to former customers when such refund amount is less than $1. The Company shall maintain a record of former customers for which the refund is less than $1, and such refunds shall be made promptly upon request. All unclaimed refunds shall be subject to § 55-210.6:2 of the Code of Virginia.

(10) On or before May 20, 2004, the Company shall file with the Commission's Divisions of Public Utility Accounting and Energy Regulation a report showing refunds made pursuant to this final order and detailing the costs of the refund and accounts charged. Costs shall include, inter alia, computer costs, and the personnel hours, associated salaries, and costs for verifying and correcting the refunds directed in this Final Order. The Company shall bear all costs incurred in effecting the refunds ordered herein.

(11) There being nothing further to come before the Commission in this proceeding, this case shall be dismissed from the docket of active cases.

JANUARY 7, 2003

APPLICATION OF
ROANOKE GAS COMPANY

For a general increase in rates

FINAL ORDER

On June 17, 2002, Roanoke Gas Company ("Roanoke Gas" or the "Company") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for a general increase in rates. Roanoke Gas requested an increase in the Company's annual revenues of $1,276,206, with rates proposed to go into effect for service rendered on and after December 1, 2002.

On July 17, 2002, the Commission entered an Order for Notice and Hearing in this matter which docketed the application; directed the Company to publish notice of its proposed rate increase; scheduled a public hearing for December 10, 2002, to receive comments from public witnesses and evidence on the application; and established a procedural schedule for the filing of testimony and exhibits. The Commission authorized the Company to place its proposed rates into effect on an interim basis on December 1, 2002, subject to refund. The Commission appointed a Hearing Examiner to conduct all further proceedings in this matter.

On November 27, 2002, Roanoke Gas filed a Motion to Place Lower Rates into Effect ("Motion"). In its Motion, Roanoke Gas represented that the Company, Commission Staff and the Division of Consumer Counsel of the Office of the Attorney General ("Consumer Counsel") agreed to stipulate to an annual revenue increase of $989,741, as well as changes to the terms and conditions in the Company's tariff. The Motion stated that the proposed Revenue Stabilization Factor, renamed the Weather Normalization Adjustment ("WNA"), had been modified to reflect Commission Staff and Consumer Counsel recommendations. The Company included tariff sheets reflecting the change to the proposed increase in rates and requested that the new rates be effective for service rendered on and after December 1, 2002. Roanoke Gas also included a bond in the amount of $1,000,000 to secure the refund of any rates put into effect as of December 1, 2002, that the Commission later determines are not just and reasonable.

Hearing Examiner Michael D. Thomas granted the Motion in a Ruling entered on December 2, 2002. The Company's requested annual revenue increase of $989,741, and the requested changes in its tariff, including the WNA, were placed into effect on December 1, 2002. The bond securing any possible refunds was accepted for filing. Finally, Roanoke Gas was directed to keep accurate detailed accounts of all amounts received under the increased rates and was advised that the Company would bear the cost of making any Commission directed refund.

On December 10, 2002, the public hearing was convened with appearances by Richard D. Gary, Esquire, on behalf of Roanoke Gas, Katharine A. Hart, Esquire, on behalf of Commission Staff, and C. Meade Browder, Jr. Esquire, on behalf of Consumer Counsel. No public witnesses appeared. For the Commission's consideration, Roanoke Gas presented a Stipulation entered into between the Company, Commission Staff, and Consumer Counsel that resolves all of the issues in dispute between the parties.¹

The Hearing Examiner filed his Report on December 13, 2002. A copy of the Stipulation was attached to the Report. After considering the testimony and exhibits admitted into the record, as well as the Stipulation, the Hearing Examiner found that the Company's $989,741 annual increase in revenues is just and reasonable and should be approved by the Commission. Additionally, the Hearing Examiner found that the Company's tariff revisions, including the WNA, main extension policy, reconnection fee, credit card transaction fee, and specified rounding of billing units in each Rate Schedule, are reasonable and should be approved by the Commission. Finally, the Hearing Examiner found that the reporting requirements set forth in the Stipulation are reasonable. The Hearing Examiner recommended that the Commission enter an order adopting the findings of his Report and approving the proposed revenue increase and amendments to the Company's tariff as set forth in the Stipulation.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of the Company's application, the Hearing Examiner's Report, the Stipulation, and applicable statutes, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the Hearing Examiner's findings should be adopted, and that Roanoke Gas' proposed revenue increase and amendments to the Company's tariff as set forth in the Stipulation should be adopted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

(1) The findings of the Hearing Examiner contained in his December 13, 2002, Report are hereby adopted.

¹ The Stipulation addressed, among other things, a $989,741 revenue requirement, the WNA, certain filings to be made by Roanoke Gas, and changes in the Company's tariff.

- (2) The Stipulation entered into between Roanoke Gas, Commission Staff, and Consumer Counsel, is hereby approved and adopted.
- (3) Roanoke Gas' proposed revenue increase of $989,741 and amendments to its tariff as set forth in the Stipulation are hereby approved and adopted.
- (4) There being nothing further to come before the Commission in this proceeding, this case shall be removed from the docket and the papers transferred to the file for ended causes.

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00375
SEPTEMBER 3, 2003

APPLICATION OF
VIRGINIA-AMERICAN WATER COMPANY

For a general increase in rates

ORDER ON HEARING EXAMINER'S REPORT

On June 24, 2002, Virginia-American Water Company ("Virginia-American" or "Company") filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") an Application for a general increase in rates. In its application, Virginia-American sought to increase annual operating revenues for the Hopewell District by $872,320 and for the Alexandria District by $238,349. The Company did not seek an increase for the Prince William District. On July 8, 2002, Virginia-American filed several revised schedules to its application.

By order dated July 18, 2002, the Commission issued its Order for Notice and Hearing in which it directed the Company to publish notice and appointed a Hearing Examiner to conduct all further proceedings in this matter. The Commission's Order also permitted the proposed rates, which were designed to increase annual operating revenues by approximately 3.7%, to become effective November 22, 2002, subject to refund.

On December 18, 2002, a stipulation ("Stipulation") between the Company and Commission Staff ("Staff") was filed which provided for no change in the annual revenues for the Alexandria District.

The City of Hopewell ("City"), the Hopewell Committee for Fair Water Rates ("Committee"),¹ and Prince George County filed notices of participation as respondents. On November 14, 2002, the City filed a Motion for a Continuance, requesting that the evidentiary hearing scheduled for December 11, 2002, be rescheduled to December 20, 2002. On the same day, the Hearing Examiner granted the motion but retained the December 11, 2002, hearing date for the limited purpose of receiving testimony from public witnesses. No public witnesses appeared at the December 11, 2002, hearing.

The evidentiary hearing was convened on December 20, 2002. Richard D. Gary, Esquire, and Renata M. Manzo, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the Company. Edward L. Flippen, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the City. Cliona M. Robb, Esquire, appeared on behalf of the Committee. Wayne N. Smith, Esquire, and Joseph W. Lee, Esquire, appeared as counsel to the Staff. At the close of the evidentiary hearing, counsel for the City was granted permission to file a motion to dismiss the Application.

On January 24, 2003, the City filed its Motion to Dismiss, in which it alleged that the Company failed to comply with the Commission's Rules Governing Utility Rate Increase Applications and Annual Informational Filings ("Rate Case Rules")² because the Application was inaccurate and incomplete and its workpapers were misleading. The errors in the Application involved the Company's failure to note the impact of the closure of the Dominion Cogeneration facility in Hopewell. On January 27, 2003, the Hearing Examiner directed the parties to respond to the Motion to Dismiss.

On February 10, 2003, post-hearing briefs were filed by the Company, the Staff and the City. The Company's brief included a response to the City's Motion to Dismiss. It also contained a request for a waiver of the Rule 20 VAC 5-200-30 if that rule is deemed to have been violated by the Company.

On February 14, 2003, the City filed its Reply on its Motion to Dismiss. On the same day, the Company filed a Motion to Update the Record that sought to add to the record the actual audited costs of the Hopewell Regional Wastewater Treatment Facility expense. On February 18, 2003, the City filed its objection to the Motion to Update the Record. On February 25, 2003, the Company filed its response to the City's objection to its Motion to Update the Record.

On February 26, 2003, the Hearing Examiner denied the Company's Motion to Update the Record. Also on February 26, 2003, the City and Committee jointly filed a Motion to Reduce Rates and Order Refunds, which alleged that the revised schedules filed by the Company on July 8, 2002, showed that the Hopewell District required a total annual revenue increase of $853,458, rather than the $872,320 initially requested in the Application.

On March 3, 2003, the Company filed its Response to the joint Motion to Reduce Rates and Order Refunds and filed an Objection to the Hearing Examiner's ruling denying its Motion to Update the Record.

On May 14, 2003, Hearing Examiner Alexander F. Skirpan, Jr., entered a Report ("Report") summarizing the record and analyzing the evidence and issues in this proceeding. The Examiner made the following findings:

¹ The Hopewell Committee for Fair Water Rates is comprised of Goldschmidt Chemical Company, Hercules Incorporated, Honeywell, Hopewell Cogeneration Facility, James River Cogeneration, PraxAir, Inc., and Smurfit-Stone Container.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

- (1) The use of a test year ending December 31, 2001, is proper in this proceeding;
- (2) Virginia-American's test year operating revenues, after all adjustments, were $10,324,640 for the Alexandria District; $5,253,740 for the Prince William District; and $8,484,745 for the Hopewell District;
- (3) Virginia-American's test year operating revenue deductions, after all adjustments, were $8,052,612 for the Alexandria District; $3,909,159 for the Prince William District; and $6,808,550 for the Hopewell District;
- (4) Virginia-American's test year adjusted net operating income, after all adjustments were $2,265,285 for the Alexandria District; $1,342,841 for the Prince William District; and $1,672,885 for the Hopewell District;
- (5) Virginia-American's current rates produce a return on adjusted rate base of 8.407% for the Alexandria District; 7.785% for the Prince William District; and 6.013% for the Hopewell District;
- (6) Virginia-American's current rates produce a return on equity of 10.395% for the Alexandria District; 8.883% for the Prince William District; and 4.573% for the Hopewell District;
- (7) Virginia-American's current cost of equity is within a range of 9.3% - 10.3%, and Virginia-American's rates for the Hopewell District should be established based on the 9.8% midpoint of the equity range;
- (8) Virginia-American's overall cost of capital, using the midpoint of the equity range and the capital structure as proposed by Staff, is 8.162%;
- (9) Virginia-American's adjusted test year rate base is $26,944,433 for the Alexandria District; $17,248,475 for the Prince William District; and $27,821,627 for the Hopewell District;
- (10) Based on the record and the Stipulation, Virginia-American requires no additional gross annual revenues to earn a reasonable return on rate base for the Alexandria District and the Prince William District, and $950,444 in additional gross annual revenues for the Hopewell District;
- (11) Because the notice for the Hopewell District provided for an increase of $872,320 in additional gross annual revenues, the increase in annual revenues for the Hopewell District is limited to that amount;
- (12) In accordance with the Stipulation, the Company shall file a depreciation study for the Alexandria and Prince William Districts with Staff on or before December 31, 2004; and
- (13) The interim rates for the Hopewell District should continue and be designated as permanent rates.

The Hearing Examiner also declined to increase rates to levels in excess of the rates noticed by the Company, and did not adjust the rates for the Hopewell District to reflect the loss of billing determinants resulting from the closure of the Dominion Cogeneration facility.

The Hearing Examiner recommended that this Commission enter an order adopting the findings in his report and dismissing the case from the active docket. The Examiner further directed that comments on the Report were to be filed within twenty-one days from the date of the Report, or on or before June 4, 2003. Comments on the Report were filed by the Company, by the Staff, and jointly by the Committee and the City.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the pleadings, the Hearing Examiner's Report, the responses thereto, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that the analysis, findings, and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner's Report are reasonable, supported by the record, and should be adopted, except as stated below.

We are compelled to address three issues in this case: the calculation of the Company's cost of equity; affiliate costs; and the loss of Dominion Cogeneration as a significant customer of the Company's Hopewell District.³

Cost of Equity

Witnesses for the Company, the City, and Staff contend that their cost of equity recommendations satisfy the requirement that "the return to the equity owner should correspond with returns on investments in other businesses having corresponding risks, and the return 'should be sufficient to assure confidence in the financial integrity of the enterprise, so as to maintain its credit and attract capital.'"⁴ As the Hearing Examiner observed, the differences in the cost of equity recommendations advanced by the parties "generally are related to the exercise of professional judgment as to the technical development and interpretation of the various costs of equity models."⁵

The Company contends in its exceptions to the Report that the Hearing Examiner made two errors regarding the cost of capital. First, it asserts that the Hearing Examiner erred in failing to make an upward adjustment to the cost of capital because Virginia-American is a small company for which the market has demonstrated that investors demand a higher rate of return. The capital asset pricing model used by the Company's witness included an adjustment to reflect Virginia-American's small size. The Hearing Examiner states that "[i]t seems selective or inconsistent to treat Virginia-American as a small company, entitled to a premium, when it is a subsidiary of a large holding company."⁶ As City witness James R. Haltiner testified: "To impose a cost of equity premium to ratepayers in Virginia or any other jurisdiction, because each is a smaller part of the entire company is not only unfair, but it goes against financial theory.⁷ We concur, although in this case we do not find that the Company's adjustment would be required even if the Company was not affiliated with the holding company and was treated on a stand-alone basis.

Last year this Commission granted approval for Thames Aqua Holdings GmbH ("Thames Holdings") to acquire control of Virginia-American pursuant to a plan of merger involving American Water Works, Inc. (the Company's parent corporation), Thames Holdings, RWE Aktiengesellschaft (Thames Holdings' parent holding company), and Apollo Acquisition Company (a subsidiary of Thames Holdings). In the order approving the transaction under the Utility Transfers Act,⁸ the Commission observed that Staff concluded that benefits from the transaction include "the financial backing of a large company such as RWE."⁹ In that matter the petitioners stated that the transaction will provide the American Companies with an enhanced ability to raise capital necessary to enable them to meet the demands placed on them with increasingly stringent water quality and environmental standards while rehabilitating and replacing aging water infrastructure and maintaining a reasonable capital structure. The financial resources and backing of RWE/Thames should enhance the American Companies' access to capital markets.¹⁰

Second, Virginia-American alleges that the recommended reduction in the Company's authorized return on equity from 10.74% to 9.8% "is an abrupt and drastic reduction that clearly violates the Commission's policy of gradualism."¹¹ As noted in the Report, however, in an order entered by this Commission in the Company's prior case in February 2002, the benchmark return on equity for future earnings test was set at 10.0%.¹²

We agree with the Hearing Examiner that Virginia-American's current cost of equity is within a range of 9.3% and 10.3%, and Virginia-American's revenue requirement should be established based on the midpoint, 9.8%, of the equity range.

Affiliate Charges

The City and Committee contend that the Hearing Examiner erred in finding that the Company's claimed affiliate charges were reasonable.¹³ American Water Works Service Company ("Service Company"), which is affiliated with Virginia-American, billed $1,683,895.10 to Virginia-American for services. Company witness Patrick L. Baryenbruch prepared a report that sets out the results of his evaluation of the services provided by Service Company to Virginia-American. His study addresses the economic impact on the Company if it was to outsource all of the services it now receives from Service Company, and whether the services the Company receives from Service Company are necessary. His report concludes that: (i) the Service Company's hourly rates, on average, are 47% less than those of outside providers of similar services; (ii) if all of the Services performed by Service Company had been out-sourced during the test year period, the Company and its ratepayers would incur an additional $777,708 in annual expenses; (iii) Service Company costs do not include any profit mark-up; and (iv) Service Company costs that cannot be charged directly to operating companies are allocated on the basis of the number of customers.

The City asserts that this evidence fails to meet the standard of proof for the reasonableness of affiliate expenses by failing to provide the Service Company's costs and to explain how they are allocated to Virginia-American and ultimately to the Hopewell District. The City further alleges that the Company has failed to comply with the Rate Case Rules.¹⁴

We do not find that the Company's evidence as to affiliate charges violates the Rate Case Rules. The instructions for Schedule 25 provide:

Cost records and market analyses supporting all affiliated charges billed to or by the regulated entity/division shall be maintained and made readily available for commission staff review. This shall include supporting detail of costs (including the return component) incurred by the affiliated interest rendering the service and the allocation methodology. In situations when the pricing is required to be the higher (lower) of cost or market and market is unavailable, note each such transactions and have data supporting such a finding available for commission staff review.¹⁵

As the Hearing Examiner properly noted, the requirement that cost records and market analyses be maintained and made readily available for Staff review does not render the failure to introduce such information as evidence in the record a violation of Rate Case Rule 20 VAC 5-200-30. There is no showing in this case that the Company failed to maintain, or make readily available for Staff review, such information.

The City also contends that the Company has failed to provide evidence supporting the reasonableness of its affiliate charges, and that such failure should preclude its recovery of those expenses from Hopewell. As this Commission has stated:

Where it is most economical for the utility to purchase the product or service from the market it should do so. Where it can save money by purchasing from an affiliate at the affiliate's cost, including a reasonable return for the affiliate on the sale, it should do that. Where the Company proposes that the Commission set rates based upon charges from an affiliate, the charges must be based on the affiliate's cost, including a reasonable return, so long as this cost does not exceed the market price.¹⁶

Virginia Code § 56-78 provides that in a proceeding involving the rates or practices of a public service company:

the Commission may exclude in whole or in part from the accounts of such public service company any payment or compensation to an affiliated interest for any services rendered or property or service furnished, as described above, under existing contracts or arrangements with such affiliated interest, if it shall appear and be established upon investigation that such payment or compensation or such contract or arrangement is not consistent with the public interest. In such proceeding any payment or compensation may be disapproved or disallowed by the Commission, in whole or in part, unless satisfactory proof is submitted to the Commission of the cost to the affiliated interest rendering the service or furnishing the property or service above described. (Emphasis added.)

The Commission is therefore permitted, but is not required, to disapprove or disallow such payments. We do not agree with the assertion that this Commission is required to disallow the affiliate charges in this case.

Virginia Code § 56-79 provides:

No proof shall be satisfactory, within the meaning of [§§ 56-77 and 56-78], unless it includes the original (or verified copies) of the relevant cost records and other relevant accounts of the affiliated interest, or such abstract thereof or summary taken therefrom, as the Commission may deem adequate, properly identified and duly authenticated; provided, however, that the Commission may, where reasonable, approve or disapprove such contracts or arrangements without the submission of such cost records or accounts.

The Commission is again expressly authorized to approve such arrangements without the submission of the described records or accounts. In this case, we will allow the Company's affiliate charges. The methodology of the Baryenbruch study relied on by the Company has been accepted by this Commission in every rate case the Company has filed since 1995.¹⁷ This Commission has previously specifically approved the Service Company's methodology of allocating costs to operating companies based on direct assignment or on the number of customers.¹⁸

We realize that the Baryenbruch report does not put into evidence the amount of the total costs of the Service Company that are allocated among all affiliated entities, does not state how much of the cost is assigned directly and how much is assigned based on the number of customers, and does not state how the cost allocated to Virginia-American is sub-allocated among its operating districts. There is, however, no evidence this and other information was not available for review as required by our rules. As this Commission has found previously that the methodology of the Baryenbruch study is satisfactory, we decline today to find that the Company failed to meet its burden of proof regarding the reasonableness of the affiliate expenses. Virginia Code § 56-79 provides that we may approve such arrangements where reasonable, and we find that it is reasonable in this case to do so.

We find, however, that it would assist in our review of the reasonableness of the Service Company's charges in future cases if the Company provided additional information. Accordingly, we will require, in the future, that the Company provide information in its application itemizing: (i) the total cost to the Service Company of rendering service or furnishing property, and its return thereon; (ii) the total cost of the Service Company assigned to each of the Service Company's affiliated entities; (iii) a breakdown of Virginia-American's assigned cost sub-allocated to each of Virginia-American's operating districts; and (iv) supporting detail for allocation methodologies within Virginia-American.¹⁹

Also, we reiterate the standard with respect to costs incurred by a regulated utility for services. If the service is purchased from an affiliate, the utility may not collect through rates an amount that exceeds the least of three options: the utility's cost of providing the service in-house, the market price for the service, or the cost to the affiliate of providing the service, including a reasonable return.²⁰

Loss of Sales to Dominion Cogeneration

District: We find that the following facts are relevant to our consideration of the loss of Dominion Cogeneration as a customer of the Company's Hopewell District:

1. In December 2001, the operations manager for the Company's Hopewell District was notified that the Dominion Cogeneration facility would cease cogeneration operations around the end of January 2002.
2. On or about January 15, 2002, Roy L. Ferrell, Director of Rates and Planning for Service Company, working in Charleston, West Virginia, began preparing the Application.
3. As of January 19, 2002, the Dominion Cogeneration facility ceased operations and was placed into cold reserve.
4. On February 21, 2002, Dominion Cogeneration notified the Company that the facility workforce had been reduced and requested that one of its two meters be removed.
5. Commencing in February 2002, the Dominion Cogeneration facility's water usage dropped significantly.
5. Since March 2002, Dominion Cogeneration has been billed the minimum monthly charge of $1,000 per month.
7. The cessation of Dominion Cogeneration facility operations reduces net annual revenue for the Hopewell District by approximately $336,452, or 4% of the test year jurisdictional base rate revenues.
8. On June 24, 2002, the Company filed its Application, which did not disclose or address the effect of the closure of the Dominion Cogeneration facility.
9. On July 3, 2002, Staff filed in the Commission Clerk's Office its Memorandum of Completeness/Incompleteness, noting that the Application was complete.
10. On July 8, 2002, the Company filed revised schedules, additional workpapers to be included in a previously filed schedule, and revised pre-filed testimony pertaining to, among other issues, the loss of water sales to Prince George County, but which did not disclose or address the closure of the Dominion Cogeneration facility.
11. In July 2002, Mr. Ferrell learned that Dominion Cogeneration had curtailed its operations earlier in 2002, and some time that month Mr. Ferrell informed Staff by telephone that the Dominion Cogeneration facility had shut down.
12. On October 28, 2002, the City and the Committee prefiled the direct testimony of witnesses. The testimony of D. Wayne Trimble, witness for the City, states that he did not make a revenue adjustment to reflect the loss of sales due to the closing of the cogeneration facility,²¹ and acknowledges that the City was notified in November 2001 that the facility was expected to close by the end of March 2002.
13. On November 15, 2002, Staff filed testimony that included adjustments related to the lost sales to Dominion Cogeneration, including the elimination of $336,452 in revenues and reductions in chemical expenses of $15,997 and purchased power expenses of $14,414.
14. The City was advised of the Staff's adjustment for the Dominion Cogeneration facility shutdown at most four weeks before the Staff filed its testimony, and the details related to the shutdown were not made available to the City until the Staff's filing on November 15, 2002.
15. The noticed rates went into effect on an interim basis, subject to refund, on November 22, 2002.
16. At no time did the Company file amendments to the Application that reflect the loss of revenue attributable to the closure of the Dominion Cogeneration facility.

The parties agree that the Application failed to reflect the closing of the Dominion Cogeneration facility and that the Company knew or should have known of the facility's closure prior to filing the Application. However, they disagree as to the implications of the Company's failure to include relevant data in the Application or in any subsequent Company filing.

The City asserts in its Motion to Dismiss that the Company knowingly filed inaccurate and misleading exhibits and schedules, which action clearly violated the Rate Case Rules and arguably constitutes a fraud under Virginia law. The City contends that the Company had actual knowledge of the loss of Dominion Cogeneration as a customer prior to filing the Application. The City further alleges that the Company failed to "verify the accuracy" of its exhibits as required by the Rate Case Rules, and that the Rate Case Rules would be rendered meaningless if a utility can comply with the Rules by merely placing one telephone call to the Staff in order to rectify an application that is materially inaccurate.²²

The Company counters that its error does not constitute a violation of the Rate Case Rules because the only party harmed by the omission is the Company; the omission was inadvertent; the Company official responsible for preparing the Application attempted to verify its accuracy; and it is common practice for Staff to make adjustments to a utility's rate case application based on information Staff obtains after the filing of the application. The Company also states that the Commission has the discretion to correct errors made by rate case applicants, and in this case Staff's November 15, 2002, report makes public the data about the effect of the facility's closure. The Company notes that in 2000 the Commission amended its Rate Case Rules to provide that its "rules do not limit the commission staff or parties other than the applicant from raising issues not addressed by the applicant for commission consideration."²³ According to the Company, the Commission's discretion to decide and fix rates that are just and reasonable includes the ability to correct errors made by rate case applicants.

²¹ Pre-filed testimony of Trimble, Exhibit No. 20, at 6.

²² Reply of the City of Hopewell at 4, 7.

The Company's assertion that it is the only party harmed by the failure to reflect the loss due to the closure of Dominion Cogeneration deserves comment. This assertion is based on Staff's determination that, had information regarding the loss of the revenue from this customer been included in the Application, the actual revenue requirements for the Hopewell District would have exceeded the amount originally requested by $78,124.²⁴ If it had correctly excluded the revenue from the Dominion Cogeneration facility, it is urged, its annual revenue requirement and interim rates would be larger than were requested in the Application.

The City disputes the assertion that it is unharmed by the omission of this information in the Application. The City was advised of the Staff's adjustment for the Dominion Cogeneration shutdown at most four weeks before the Staff filed its testimony. However, details of the adjustment were not made available to the City until the Staff's filing on November 15, 2002. The City asserts that this delay prevented it from challenging the rates that went into effect on an interim basis on November 22, 2002.²⁵

In this case, the Company never formally notified the Commission or other parties that the facility had shut down and never amended its schedules to reflect the loss of revenue from the closure of the Dominion Cogeneration facility. More importantly, the Company never notified other parties that data to make an adjustment for the closure of the facility was being provided to Staff.

The Hearing Examiner found that, by failing to reflect the loss of Dominion Cogeneration in its Application, the Company violated the Rate Case Rules. However, the Hearing Examiner found that the Company has shown good cause for the Commission to waive its Rate Case Rules regarding the loss of Dominion Cogeneration in this case. The Hearing Examiner properly observed that the holding in Virginia Committee for Fair Utility Rates v. Virginia Electric & Power Co., 243 Va. 320 (1992), is not controlling in this case. In 2000, the Commission's Rate Case Rules were amended to allow the Commission to waive any portion of the Rate Case Rules for good cause shown.²⁶

Based on the Staff's report, the Hearing Examiner found that the Company would require $950,444 in additional gross annual revenues to earn a reasonable return on rate base for the Hopewell District. However, since the notice for the Hopewell District provided for $872,320 in additional gross annual revenue, he recommended that the increase in annual revenues for the Hopewell District be limited to the noticed amount.

The Company states that no party other than Virginia-American has been harmed by the initial omission of the revenue loss adjustment from its Application. The Company's argument is based on the assumption that it would have been able to recover an additional $78,124 through rates if it had not omitted the information from its Application.

We do not agree with the Company, the City and the Committee,²⁷ or the Hearing Examiner on this issue. First, this is not merely an oversight or a small adjustment that was overlooked and corrected when it was found. The adjustment to the requested increase amounts to more than $300,000 and would have raised the rate request by more than a third. Second, the Company did not notify all parties of the error (or the data needed to make the new adjustment) as soon as those involved in the rate case became aware of the mistake in July. As a result, the City did not have the actual data upon which it could base a response to this adjustment until after the Staff filed its testimony on November 15, 2002. One may conclude that either the Company did not take adequate steps to "verify the accuracy of all data and calculations contained in and pertaining to every exhibit submitted" or, being aware of the loss of the customer, chose neither to seek rate relief nor to make appropriate changes to its cost of service study related to the customer loss.

The result of granting a waiver of a violation of the Rate Case Rules, as recommended by the Hearing Examiner, is to allow the Company to convert what would have been an increase of less than $650,000²⁸ to an increase of the full $872,320 originally requested, exclusive of the lost customer issue.²⁹ As a result, the Company would recover part of the revenue lost because of the closure of the Dominion Cogeneration facility. This cannot be allowed. First, the Protestants did not have an adequate opportunity to respond to the adjustment.³⁰ Second, while corrections and adjustments may be made as a rate case proceeds through discovery and hearing, the Company cannot directly, or through Staff, inject a new issue such as this. To do so would allow the Company to present a string of additional adjustments that could be used to support its original request. Also, while the original omission of the loss of ²⁴ This is the difference between the amount of additional gross annual revenue for the Hopewell District originally requested in the Application ($872,320) and the amount that the Hearing Examiner found, based on the Staff's Report, would be required to earn a reasonable return on rate base ($950,444).

²⁸ This figure assumes that the original $872,320 revenue increase requested for the Hopewell District would be reduced to reflect the cost of equity and other adjustments recommended by the Hearing Examiner.

²⁹ The Hearing Examiner's recommendation did not provide for a decrease in the billing determinants to adjust for the shutdown of the Dominion Cogeneration facility. It should be noted that if the revenues for the Hopewell District before the closure of this facility are compared to the revenues that could be anticipated after implementing the $872,320 revenue increase recommended by the Hearing Examiner, its actual revenue would increase by less than the recommended $872,320 increase because the Company would not collect either (i) payments that would have been due from Dominion Cogeneration had it continued full operations or (ii) the portion of the $872,320 increase that was allocated to Dominion Cogeneration.

³⁰ It is not clear that granting a continuance in this case in November would have resolved the issue. As the parties had prepared their cases by that date, we cannot arbitrarily grant continuances in order to allow the Company to cure its own mistake, particularly where it failed to provide the necessary data when it became aware of the change.

most of the customer's consumption may well have been inadvertent, we must assume that the subsequent failure to provide detailed data to other parties in a timely fashion and to amend the application was deliberate. In short, on this issue, the Company will be held to its filing.

In addition, we note that even if this issue had been raised in the original filing, the rate increase related to the loss of a customer is far from automatic.³¹ For example, witness Trimble testified that the Company chose not to include a revenue adjustment to reflect the loss of sales due to the closing of the Dominion Cogeneration facility when they filed their case in June, 2002, and added that:

To include a sales adjustment of this magnitude would render most of the Company's Cost of Service Study, and the tariffs resulting from that Study, not only unreliable, but invalid. The Company's Cost of Service Study clearly identifies this facility . . . as a non-potable customer. As such, the loss in sales of non-potable water just as clearly has no effect to residential and commercial customers.³²

These issues certainly would need to be addressed. Also, evidence concerning the rate base devoted to the customer, the "benefits" the customer provided to the Company and to the various classes of customers, how long the entity had been a customer, and other facts and considerations should be provided to determine whether the risk of loss of a customer should all be borne by the remaining customers (and, if so, which classes of customers) or whether the stockholders should bear part or all of the risk.

The result in this case is not intended to preclude Staff from making adjustments in other cases where the troublesome facts in this case, including the applicant's knowledge of the customer loss long before it filed the Application, the magnitude of the loss, and the failure to provide relevant data to other parties, are not present.

We find that it is appropriate to limit the increase in gross annual revenues for the Hopewell District to the amount that would have been allowed if the Company's requested revenue requirement for the Hopewell District (including the revised schedules to its Application filed by the Company on July 8, 2002) had not been adjusted for the lost sales to Dominion Cogeneration, but otherwise had been adjusted to reflect the recommendations regarding the cost of equity and other adjustments in the Hearing Examiner's Report. We will remand this issue, and this issue only, to the Hearing Examiner in order that he determine such amount of additional gross annual revenues for the Hopewell District.

The rates required to recover this amount of additional gross annual revenue will need to be set based on billing determinates without excluding Dominion Cogeneration.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner, as modified herein, are accepted.
- (2) The matter of the amount of additional gross annual revenues for the Hopewell District is hereby remanded to the Hearing Examiner for determination, as discussed herein. In connection therewith, the Hearing Examiner shall determine the Company's: (i) test year operating revenue deductions, after all adjustments, (ii) test year adjusted net operating income, after all adjustments, (iii) the return produced on adjusted rate base by current rates, (iv) return on equity produced by current rates, and (v) adjusted test year rate base, for the Hopewell District.
- (3) In accordance with the Stipulation, the Company shall file a depreciation study for the Alexandria and Prince William Districts with Commission's Divisions of Public Utility Accounting and Energy Regulation on or before December 31, 2004. In addition, the Company shall file a depreciation study for the Hopewell District with the Commission's Divisions of Public Utility Accounting and Energy Regulation on or before December 31, 2004.
- (4) This matter will be continued generally pending the results of the remand ordered herein.

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00375
NOVEMBER 14, 2003

APPLICATION OF
VIRGINIA-AMERICAN WATER COMPANY

For a general increase in rates

FINAL ORDER

On June 24, 2002, Virginia-American Water Company ("Virginia-American" or "Company") filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") an Application for a general increase in rates ("Application"). In its Application, Virginia-American sought to increase annual operating revenues for the Hopewell District by $872,320 and for the Alexandria District by $238,349. The Company proposed no increase for the Prince William District.

By order dated July 18, 2002, the Commission issued its Order for Notice and Hearing in which it permitted the proposed rates, which were designed to increase annual operating revenues by $1,110,669, or approximately 3.7 percent, to become effective November 22, 2002, subject to refund. The City of Hopewell ("City"), the Hopewell Committee for Fair Water Rates ("Committee"),¹ and Prince George County protested the Application. The City and the Committee asked the Commission to dismiss the Application on grounds that the Company's failure to reflect the lost sales constituted a violation of the Commission's Rules Governing Utility Rate Increase Applications and Annual Information Filings.

Alexander F. Skirpan, Jr., Hearing Examiner, held an evidentiary hearing on December 20, 2002. The Hearing Examiner issued his report on May 14, 2003. The Hearing Examiner recommended no increase for the Alexandria and Prince William Districts, and found that the Hopewell District required $950,444 in additional gross annual revenues. However, because the notice for the Hopewell District provided for an increase of $872,320 in additional gross annual revenues, the Hearing Examiner recommended that the increase in annual revenues for the Hopewell District be limited to that amount. The Hearing Examiner recommended that the Commission adopt the adjustment made by Commission Staff ("Staff") to the revenue requirement for the Hopewell District to make up for the loss of sales to a large customer of the Hopewell District that the Company failed to reflect in its application. In establishing rates, however, the Hearing Examiner's recommendation did not provide for a decrease in the billing determinants to adjust for the loss of sales.

On September 3, 2003, the Commission entered its Order on Hearing Examiner's Report ("Order"). The Commission found that the calculation of the revenue requirement for the Hopewell District should not include the lost sales. The Commission found that the increase in rates charged by Virginia-American for its Hopewell District should be limited to the amount that would have been allowed if Virginia-American's requested revenue requirement for the Hopewell District (including the revised schedules to its Application filed by the Company on July 8, 2002) had not been adjusted for the lost sales, but otherwise had been adjusted to reflect the recommendations regarding the cost of equity and other adjustments in the Hearing Examiner's Report. The rates required to recover this amount of additional gross annual revenue were directed to be set based on billing determinants without excluding the customer to whom the lost sales were attributable. The Commission remanded the proceeding to the Hearing Examiner to determine, with respect to the amount of additional gross annual revenues for the Hopewell District, the Company's: (i) test year operating revenue deductions, after all adjustments, (ii) test year adjusted net operating income, after all adjustments, (iii) the return produced on adjusted rate base by current rates, (iv) return on equity produced by current rates, and (v) adjusted test year rate base.

On September 5, 2003, the Hearing Examiner entered a ruling that directed Staff to file the required information to reflect the findings of the Commission's Order.

On September 17, 2003, Staff filed its revised schedules, which show a revised annual revenue requirement increase for the Hopewell District of $646,989. This sum represents a decrease of $225,331 from the $872,320 revenue increase requested by Virginia-American.

On September 30, 2003, the Company and the Committee filed responses and comments on Staff's revised schedules. The Company concurred with the Staff's revised schedules and pledged to design rates on the basis of an annual revenue requirement for the Hopewell District of $646,989 and to submit the revised proposed tariffs to Staff for its review. The Company also requested that it be granted four billing months to complete the refund process.²

The Committee's response supported making the Staff's revised schedules part of the record in the case. The Committee urged the Commission to allocate the $225,331 revenue decrease between the residential/commercial classes and the industrial class in the same manner that the revenue increase was allocated by Virginia-American (32.7 percent of the decrease, or $73,683.24, being allocated to the residential/commercial classes and 67.3 percent, or $151,647.76, would be allocated to the industrial class.³ The City did not file comments.

On October 2, 2003, the Hearing Examiner issued a report recommending that the Staff's revised schedules be made a part of the record in this case, showing a revenue requirement for the Hopewell District of $646,989, or $225,331 less than the Company's request of $872,320. He also found that the $225,331 reduction should be apportioned consistent with Virginia-American's requested revenue apportionment, and the final rate design in this case should be comparable, but less, than Virginia-American's interim rate design.⁴

On October 23, 2003, the Committee filed comments to the Hearing Examiner's report. The Committee supports the basic approach to the apportionment of the refund adopted by the Hearing Examiner, and states that it is appropriate that rates be decreased in the same proportion to which they were increased when the increase is found to be inappropriate. The Committee agrees with the Hearing Examiner's recommendation that the reduction be apportioned so that it is consistent with Virginia-American's requested revenue apportionment, and that rates be comparable, but less, than Virginia-American's interim rate design.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the pleadings, the Hearing Examiner's Report of May 14, 2003, as modified by our September 3, 2003, Order on Hearing Examiner's Report, the Hearing Examiner's Report of October 2, 2003, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that the analysis, findings, and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner's October 2, 2003, Report are reasonable, supported by the record, and will be adopted. The Commission further finds as follows:

- (1) Virginia-American's test year operating revenues, after all adjustments, was $8,821,197 for the Hopewell District;
- (2) Virginia-American's test year operating revenue deductions, after all adjustments, was $6,953,568 for the Hopewell District;
- (3) Virginia-American's test year adjusted net operating income, after all adjustments, was $1,864,319 for the Hopewell District;

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

- (4) Virginia-American's current rates produce a return on adjusted rate base of 6.699% for the Hopewell District;
- (5) Virginia-American's current rates produce a return on equity of 6.243% for the Hopewell District;
- (6) Virginia-American's adjusted test year rate base is $27,828,151 for the Hopewell District;
- (7) Based on the record and the Order, Virginia-American requires $646,989 in additional gross annual revenues for the Hopewell District;
- (8) The Company should file permanent rates designed to produce the revenues found reasonable herein using the revenue apportionment methodology discussed herein; and
- (9) The Company shall refund, within four billing months, with interest, all revenues collected under its interim rates in excess of the amount found just and reasonable herein.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The findings and recommendations of the Hearing Examiner are adopted.
- (2) Consistent with the findings herein, and within 30 days following the entry of this order, the Company shall file with the Commission's Division of Energy Regulation a schedule of rates, charges, rules, and regulations designed to produce $646,989 of additional gross annual revenue for the Hopewell District, which schedule shall bear an effective date of the first day of the first month following the Company's filing of the schedule required by this paragraph. The final rate design shall be comparable, but less, than the Company's interim rate design.
- (3) The reduction of $225,331 in interim rates (which is the difference between the Company's request of $872,320 and the approved $646,989 in additional gross annual revenues) for the Hopewell District shall be apportioned consistent with the Company's proposed revenue apportionment for the Hopewell District and shall be apportioned between potable and non-potable service based upon the revenue responsibility proposed by the Company.

- (5) Interest upon the ordered refunds shall be computed from the date payments of monthly bills were due to the date refunds are made, at the average prime rate for each calendar quarter, compounded quarterly. The average prime rate for each calendar quarter shall be the arithmetic mean, to the nearest one-hundredth of one percent, of the prime rate values published in the Federal Reserve Bulletin or in the Federal Reserve's Selected Interest Rates (Statistical Release H.15) for the three months of the preceding calendar quarter.
- (6) The refunds ordered herein may be credited to current customers' accounts (each refund category shall be shown separately on each customer's bill). Refunds to former customers shall be made by check mailed to the last known address of such customers when the refund amount is $1 or more. The Company may offset the credit or refund to the extent no dispute exists regarding the outstanding balance of a current or former customer. No offset shall be permitted for the disputed portion of an outstanding balance. The Company may retain refunds owed to former customers when such refund amount is less than $1. The Company shall maintain a record of former customers for which the refund is less than $1, and such refunds shall be made promptly upon request. All unclaimed refunds shall be subject to § 55-210.6:2 of the Code of Virginia.
- (7) On or before the last day of the month following the month during which the Company is required to recalculate the bills for the Hopewell District as required by ordering paragraph (4) of this Order, the Company shall file with the Commission's Divisions of Public Utility Accounting and Energy Regulation a report showing refunds made pursuant to this final order and detailing the costs of the refund and accounts charged. Costs shall include, inter alia, computer costs, and the personnel hours, associated salaries, and costs for verifying and correcting the refunds directed in this Final Order.

MARCH 12, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
v.
COLUMBIA GAS OF VIRGINIA, INC.,
Defendant

ORDER OF SETTLEMENT

The Accountable Pipeline Safety and Partnership Act of 1996, 49 U.S.C. § 60101 et seq. ("Act"), formerly the Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act, requires the Secretary of Transportation ("Secretary") to establish minimum federal safety standards for the transportation of gas and pipeline facilities. The Secretary is further authorized to delegate to an appropriate state agency the authority to prescribe safety standards and enforce compliance with such standards over gas pipeline facilities used for intrastate transportation.

The Virginia State Corporation Commission ("Commission") has been designated as the appropriate state agency for the Commonwealth of Virginia to prescribe and enforce compliance with standards for gas pipeline facilities used for intrastate transportation. In Case No. PUE-1989-00052, the Commission adopted Parts 191, 192, 193, and 199 of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations to serve as minimum gas pipeline safety standards ("Safety Standards") in Virginia. The Commission is authorized to enforce the Safety Standards under § 56-5.1 of the Code of Virginia, which allows the Commission to impose the fines and penalties authorized therein.

The Commission's Division of Utility and Railroad Safety ("Division"),¹ charged with the investigation of each jurisdictional gas company's compliance with the Safety Standards, has conducted various inspections of construction, operation, and maintenance activities involving the Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc. ("CGV" or "Company"), the Defendant, and alleges that:

(1) CGV is a public service corporation as that term is defined in § 56-1 of the Code of Virginia and, specifically a natural gas company within the meaning of § 56-5.1 of the Code of Virginia; and

- a) 49 C.F.R. § 192.195 (a) – Failing to have a pressure relieving or pressure limiting device that meets the requirements of 49 C.F.R. §§ 192.199 and 192.201;
- b) 49 C.F.R. § 192.199 (g) – Failing on two occasions to install a regulator station such that a single incident would not affect the operation of both the overpressure protective device and the district regulator;
- c) 49 C.F.R. § 192.199 (h) – Failing to lock the regulator station bypass valve to prevent unauthorized operation;
- d) 49 C.F.R. § 192.303 – Failing to follow Company's Policy and Procedure Reference No. 644-3, Section 3, by not having a means to verify the temperature of a heating iron;
- e) 49 C.F.R. § 192.355 (b)(2) – Failing on several occasions to install service regulator vents away from openings into buildings;
- f) 49 C.F.R. § 192.605 (a) – Failing to follow Company's Policy and Procedure Reference No. 644-4, Section 1, General, by not installing a protective sleeve on the outlet of a service tee requiring socket fusion;
- g) 49 C.F.R. § 192.605 (a) – Failing to follow Company's Policy and Procedure Reference No. 654-4(38) 4, by not using trained personnel to inspect a regulator station;

Although we accept the offer of compromise and settlement, we have serious concerns regarding the severity, number, and nature of the alleged violations in this and prior proceedings. CASE NO. PUE-2002-00414
DECEMBER 4, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION
v.
COLUMBIA GAS OF VIRGINIA, INC.,
Defendant

ORDER SUSPENDING PAYMENT AND DISMISSING PROCEEDING

On March 12, 2003, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered an Order of Settlement that, among other things, fined Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc. ("Columbia" or the "Company") $162,650 for certain alleged violations of the Commission's minimum gas pipeline safety standards. In accordance with the March 12, 2003, Order, $152,650 was paid contemporaneously with the entry of the Order. Paragraph (1) of the Order provided that the remaining $10,000 would be due as outlined in Paragraph (2) of the Order, but could be suspended in whole, or part, provided the Company tendered the requisite certification that it had completed the specific remedial actions set forth in Paragraph (2) of the Order on or before the scheduled due date for the completion of said action.

On November 24, 2003, Columbia, by counsel, filed a Motion with the Commission wherein the Company represented that it had performed the remedial and corrective actions required by the March 12, 2003, Order in a timely manner. However, Columbia advised that it had submitted the second affidavit required by the March 12, 2003, Order within the time frame set forth in that Order to the Division of Utility and Railroad Safety ("Division") rather than the Clerk of the Commission. According to the Company, its affidavit was not timely filed with the Clerk of the Commission as a result of an administrative oversight on the Company's part. Columbia maintained that it had experienced a change in personnel during this time and had now implemented systems to ensure that such an oversight would not be repeated. Columbia affirmed that it had performed the remedial and corrective actions specified by the Settlement Order and reported its compliance to the Division in a timely manner. In its Motion, Columbia also requested that the Commission: (i) accept the late filing of the second affidavit, (ii) vacate the remaining $10,000 of the payment imposed by the Commission in its Settlement Order, and (iii) dismiss the case from its docket.

On November 25, 2003, the Staff filed its Response to the Company's Motion. The Staff noted in its Response that the Commission had the discretion and authority to direct payment of the remaining $10,000, but did not oppose Columbia's request because the Company performed the remedial actions set forth in the Commission's Order of Settlement in a timely manner.

NOW, UPON consideration of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that Columbia's November 24, 2003, Motion should be granted; that Columbia's Affidavit dated September 12, 2003, should be received out of time; that the remaining $10,000 payment provided for in the March 12, 2003, Order of Settlement should be vacated; and that this case should be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active cases.

We note that although we have the discretion to require the payment of the remaining $10,000, we have not exercised that discretion under the circumstances of this case. However, this Order should not be cited by Columbia or others as precedent in other cases. It is our expectation that the Company's new systems will prove effective in preventing the reoccurrence of such oversights.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The Company's November 24, 2003, Motion is hereby granted.
- (2) Columbia's Affidavit dated September 12, 2003, shall be accepted for filing out of time.
- (3) The remaining $10,000 payment provided for in the March 12, 2003, Order of Settlement shall be suspended.
- (4) The captioned case shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings, and the papers filed herein shall be filed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

NOVEMBER 26, 2003

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA, ex rel.
v.
VIRGINIA NATURAL GAS, INC.

ORDER SUSPENDING REMAINDER OF FINE AND DISMISSING PROCEEDING

On October 7, 2002, the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") entered an Order accepting an offer by Virginia Natural Gas, Inc. ("VNG" or the "Company") to settle certain alleged violations of the Commission's regulations, serving as minimum gas pipeline safety standards ("Safety Standards") adopted by the Commission in Case No. PUE-1989-00052.¹ Among other things, the October 7, 2002, Order of Settlement directed VNG to design a program to repair or replace all double cut services as needed by September 1, 2003. In addition, the Commission ordered VNG to tender an affidavit to be filed with the Clerk of the Commission on or before October 1, 2003, certifying that the Company had repaired or replaced all double cut services served by VNG and had submitted its inspection plan to the Division of Utility and Railroad Safety ("Division").

Paragraph (2) (A) (ii) of the October 7, 2002 Order provided that upon timely receipt of the affidavit, the Commission could suspend up to $54,500, of the fine amount specified in Paragraph (1) of the Order. The Order further directed that should VNG fail to tender the affidavit or take the remedial actions required by the Order by October 1, 2003, a payment of $54,500 "shall become due." The Order provided that the Company would immediately notify the Division of the reasons for the failure to accomplish the actions required by the Order, and upon investigation, if the Division determines that the reason for such failure justifies a payment lower than $54,500, the Division may recommend to the Commission a reduction in the amount due.

On October 2, 2003, the Division, but not the Clerk of the Commission, received the Company's affidavit asserting that VNG had repaired and replaced all double cut services. VNG also submitted a procedure for the on-going inspection of these double cut services at five year intervals.

On November 21, 2003, the Division filed a Report on VNG's technical noncompliance with the Commission's October 7, 2002 Order. The Division noted that VNG had submitted a letter responding to the Division's inquiry concerning its failure to comply with the Commission's directives. The Division advised that it reviewed the Company's response and found that the Company had otherwise completed its remedial actions in a timely fashion. The Division therefore recommended that the remaining amount of the fine, $54,500, be suspended, and the case dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings.

¹ See Commonwealth of Virginia, At the relation of the State Corporation Commission, Ex Parte: In the matter of adopting gas pipeline safety standards and reporting procedures for public service corporations providing gas service under Commission jurisdiction through transmission and distribution facilities located and operated within the Commonwealth of Virginia and granting other authorizations pertaining to the Gas Pipeline Safety Program, Case No. PUE-1989-00052, 1989 S.C.C. Ann. Rep. 312.

NOW, UPON consideration of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the Company is in technical noncompliance with Paragraphs (2)(A)(i) and (ii) of the October 7, 2002 Order of Settlement. We also find that the Company has completed the remedial actions required by our Order. Under these circumstances, we will exercise our discretion to suspend the remaining $54,500 fine provided for by the October 7, 2002 Order. However, the Company is exhorted to pay greater attention to the directives set forth in our Orders.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The remaining $54,500 balance of the $92,000 fine is hereby suspended.
- (2) There being nothing further to be done herein, this case shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings.

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00420
MARCH 14, 2003

APPLICATION OF
MARYLAND GAS & ELECTRIC, LTD., T/A OPERATORS ENERGY SERVICES, LLP

For a license to conduct business as a natural gas competitive service provider

DISMISSAL ORDER

On August 1, 2002, Maryland Gas & Electric, Ltd., t/a Operators Energy Services, LLP ("Maryland Gas" or the "Company"), filed an application with the Virginia State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for a license to provide competitive natural gas services. This application sought authority to serve residential, commercial, and industrial customers in the natural gas retail access program of Washington Gas Light Company ("WGL").

On September 6, 2002, Staff filed its Report concerning Maryland Gas' fitness to provide competitive natural gas service. In its report, the Staff summarized Maryland Gas' proposal and evaluated its financial condition and technical fitness. Maryland Gas does not have audited financial statements or a credit rating. Therefore, Staff recommended that Maryland Gas provide additional security such as a security bond or letter of credit. Staff recommended that a license be granted to Maryland Gas contingent upon the provision of such financial security.

Maryland Gas filed a response to the Staff Report on September 12, 2002. In its response, the Company agreed to provide additional financial security in the form of a $25,000 letter of credit. However, at that time the letter of credit had not been filed with the Commission.

By Order dated September 12, 2002, the Commission found that Maryland Gas was not a qualified applicant solely because of its financial status. The Commission deferred further action on the application until such time as it received the proposed $25,000 letter of credit.

By letter dated March 4, 2003 ("Letter"), Maryland Gas advised that it wished to terminate its application for a license to conduct business as a natural gas provider in the State of Virginia. In its Letter, Maryland Gas stated that it had discontinued all gas service effective March 1, 2003.

NOW UPON CONSIDERATION of Maryland Gas' Letter and having been advised by its Staff, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the Company's application should be dismissed.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) Maryland Gas' application is hereby dismissed without prejudice.
- (2) There being nothing further to come before the Commission in this proceeding, this case shall be removed from the docket and the papers transferred to the file for ended causes.

JANUARY 22, 2003

PETITION OF
NORTHERN VIRGINIA UTILITY PROTECTION SERVICE, INC.
and
VIRGINIA UNDERGROUND UTILITY PROTECTION SERVICE, INC.

For waiver and extension of time

APPLICATION OF
NORTHERN VIRGINIA UTILITY PROTECTION SERVICE, INC.
and
VIRGINIA UNDERGROUND UTILITY PROTECTION SERVICE, INC.

For approval of notification call center performance standards

ORDER ADOPTING NOTIFICATION CENTER PERFORMANCE STANDARDS AND DISMISSING PROCEEDING

On August 5, 2002, Northern Virginia Utility Protection Service, Inc. ("NVUPS"), and the Virginia Underground Utility Protection Service, Inc. ("VUUPS") (collectively, "Notification Centers" or the "Applicants") filed a Petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting a waiver of Rule 20 VAC 5-300-90 A 6 of the Commission's Rules governing certification, operation, and maintenance of notification center or centers ("Rules"). This Rule requires a center currently holding a certificate from the Commission to seek approval from the Commission of the center's proposed performance standards within 60 days of June 7, 2002; i.e., by August 6, 2002.

On August 14, 2002, the Commission issued its "Order on Waiver and Request for Extension of Time" in Case No. PUE-2002-00421. In that Order, among other things, the Commission directed NVUPS and VUUPS to file their proposed performance standards with the Commission by no later than September 5, 2002. Ordering Paragraph (2) of the August 14, 2002, Order provided that a separate docket be established for review of these performance standards when they were filed. The August 14, 2002, Order also directed that NVUPS file on or before September 5, 2002, the performance standards for its current vendor and itself for approval by the Commission.

On September 5, 2002, NVUPS and VUUPS filed their proposed performance standards with the Commission for approval. As part of their performance standards, the Applicants advised that they have recently created Virginia Utility Protection Service, LLC ("VUPS"), to provide primary notification center services for NVUPS and VUUPS. The documents filed in support of the performance standards advised that VUPS began providing primary notification services for VUUPS on July 1, 2002, and that it is anticipated the same center will provide primary notification center services for NVUPS beginning July 1, 2003.

The Applicants submitted three performance standards as a means of measuring their minimum standards of performance:

INDEX	PROPOSED PERFORMANCE STANDARD
Average Speed of Answer	45 seconds
Percent of Abandoned Calls	5% or less on calls with an average delay in queue greater than 60 seconds
Busy Signal Rate	Not to exceed more than 2% of total incoming call volumes

As explained by the Notification Centers, performance data will be accumulated and averaged over a calendar month and will apply only to incoming "live" calls for locate requests. Other calls will not be tracked for reporting purposes. The Applicants explained that the average speed of answer ("ASA") will be calculated from the time a caller completes an option from the initial automated attendant until a "live" operator is available to assist the caller. In the event an automated attendant is not utilized, the ASA will begin at the time the call arrives at the center's call switch. Any additional time required due to internal transfers of an incoming call, prior to determining the nature of the call, will be part of the calculation for the ASA. The ASA will be calculated during regular business hours 7:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on business days (which excludes weekends and state and federal holidays). The Applicants explained that their proposed performance standards were designed for normal center operations.

In addition to the foregoing indices, the Applicants proposed certain procedures relative to measuring customer satisfaction and also addressed the frequency and periods for which reports concerning the Notification Centers' performance would be filed with the Commission.

On October 23, 2002, the Commission issued its procedural Order, docketing the performance standards and accompanying cover letter as Case No. PUE-2002-00525. The October 23, 2002, Order prescribed the notice to be published by the Applicants; directed the Applicants to serve a copy of their proposed performance standards and the procedural Order on their respective current vendors providing primary notification center services and local officials; invited interested parties to file comments or requests for hearing on the proposed performance standards; and directed the Staff to file a report on the proposed standards. This Order also directed the Applicants to file proof of the publication and service required by the Order on or before December 30, 2002.

On November 8, 2002, the Applicants filed a joint "Motion to Amend Procedural Order" ("Motion"). In that Motion, the Notification Centers, by counsel, requested that the October 23, 2002, Order be amended to permit the publication of a "classified" version of the prescribed notice without graphics and asked that the time for filing responses to written interrogatories be lengthened.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

On November 13, 2002, the Commission entered its Order on the Applicants' Motion in Case No. PUE-2002-00525. In its Order, the Commission authorized the Notification Centers to cause the notice prescribed by Ordering Paragraph (9) of the October 23, 2002, Order to be published on or before November 19, 2002, as classified advertising without graphics on one occasion in major newspapers of general circulation throughout the Commonwealth. The Commission also amended Ordering Paragraph (10) of the October 23, 2002, Order to require that the Notification Centers serve copies of their proposed performance standards, the October 23, 2002, Order, and the Order on Motion on their current vendors providing primary notification center service and on local governmental officials. Further, the Commission extended the time for filing responses to written interrogatories from five (5) calendar days to fourteen (14) calendar days after the receipt of such interrogatories.

On December 30, 2002, NVUPS and VUUPS, by counsel, filed their proof of publication and service, as required by the Commission's October 23, 2002, and November 13, 2002, Orders.

On December 11, 2002, Columbia Gas of Virginia, Inc. ("Columbia"), filed its Notice of Participation in this matter. Columbia advised that it did not intend to submit comments and reserved its right to participate fully in the proceeding. Columbia did not request a hearing but reserved its right to participate if a hearing were convened. No comments or other notices of participation were filed.

On December 23, 2002, the Staff filed its Report in this matter. In its Report, the Staff noted that the Applicants request approval of an ASA of 45 seconds and that this ASA is higher than the 30 seconds or less recommended by the Common Ground Study of One-Call System and Damage Prevention Report issued in 1999, by the U.S. Department of Transportation ("Common Ground Report"). Staff did not object to a proposed ASA of 45 seconds as a short-term performance level that the centers should not exceed in light of the intentions of VUUPS and NVUPS to use VUPS to provide primary notification service to the entire State, beginning July 1, 2003. Even with its planned preparation, VUPS could not predict precisely how much the transition to serving NVUPS' geographic service territory will impact its performance. Staff recommended that the Commission approve an ASA performance standard not to exceed 45 seconds through October 31, 2003. According to Staff, beginning November 1, 2003, the Notification Centers should be directed to achieve an ASA of 30 seconds or less.

Staff also addressed the abandoned call rate measure of performance; i.e., a rate that identifies the number of calls abandoned and how long callers waited before they hung up. The Notification Centers proposed to adopt the Common Ground Report standard, which is an abandoned call rate of less than five percent by callers that waited more than 60 seconds. Staff did not object to adoption of the Common Ground Report standard for this index.

Additionally, Staff considered the Busy Signal Rate index proposed by the Applicants. This index measures how many of those who called the notification center received a busy signal. According to the Staff Report, the Common Ground Report recommends that the busy signals received by callers in a notification center not exceed one percent of the total incoming call volume. The Applicants proposed a busy signal rate of not more than two percent generally for the reasons discussed relative to their proposed ASA standard. Staff did not object to the use of a Busy Signal Rate performance index not to exceed two percent of total incoming call volumes through October 31, 2003. Effective November 1, 2003, Staff recommended that the Commission approve a Busy Signal Rate performance index not to exceed one percent of total incoming call volumes for the Notification Centers.

On the issue of customer satisfaction standards, the Staff noted that these standards measure how satisfied the users of the centers are with the service they receive. According to Staff, the Common Ground Report recommends a ninety-nine percent customer satisfaction rate. As Staff notes, the Notification Centers do not propose a specific customer satisfaction rate. Instead, they propose to attend damage prevention meetings and provide an opportunity for participants to identify and discuss their issues and needs with the Notification Centers. According to the Applicants, by attending and listening to the discussions and suggestions at these meetings, the centers can improve their performance. The Notification Centers also propose to conduct surveys at the Local Damage Prevention Committee meetings to critique call center performance. They propose to submit the survey results from attendees to the Commission on a quarterly basis.

In addition to the proposed actions by the Notification Centers to gauge customer satisfaction, Staff recommended that the Notification Centers prepare and follow a written complaint tracking and resolution procedure that will assist the centers in tracking issues, problems, and complaints received and the actions taken to resolve these matters. Staff also proposed that the Notification Centers design a survey form and provide it to the attendees of the damage prevention meetings; i.e., Local Damage Prevention Committees, Advisory Committee, and user group meetings, to allow attendees to bring issues and problems to the centers in a more formal and organized fashion.

Finally, Staff recommended that the centers conduct periodic surveys of callers to determine customer satisfaction. In order to determine the Customer Satisfaction Rate, the centers should be required to develop and follow a statistically valid sampling program acceptable to Staff for such periodic surveys. Staff recommended that the Notification Centers should be required to achieve at least a ninety-nine percent Customer Satisfaction Rate, as recommended by the Common Ground Report.

Staff commented on the frequency for the Notification Centers' submission of periodic reports to the Commission. It noted that Rule 20 VAC 5-300-90 C 18 requires a Notification Center to provide to the Commission periodic reports, no less frequently than once a quarter, detailing the various performance standards attained by the center. This Rule also requires the center to compare its performance to the standards found in the Common Ground Report in effect at the time of the report. VUUPS and NVUPS propose to submit written quarterly reports to the Commission detailing the respective Notification Center's performance for the following periods: (i) January 1 - March 31; (ii) April 1 - June 30; (iii) July 1 - September 30; and (iv) October 1 - December 31. According to the Applicants, these reports would be postmarked or e-mailed no later than the 15th of the month following the end of each quarter. Staff did not object to the proposed reporting frequency for periods of normal operation of the Notification Centers.

By letter dated January 10, 2003, NVUPS and VUUPS advised that they have received the Staff Report and were prepared to implement the performance standards as recommended by the Staff, including the additions recommended by the Staff to these standards. The Notification Centers also noted that they were authorized by counsel for Columbia to state that Columbia does not object to the recommendations set out in the Staff's Report.

NOW, UPON CONSIDERATION of the foregoing, the Commission is of the opinion and finds that the recommendations set out in the December 23, 2002, Staff Report should be adopted; and that there being nothing further to be done in Case No. PUE-2002-00421 and PUE-2002-00525, these dockets should be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The recommendations set out in the December 23, 2002, Staff Report are hereby adopted.
- (2) The Notification Centers' proposed ASA performance standard not to exceed 45 seconds shall be approved through October 31, 2003. An ASA performance standard not to exceed 30 seconds shall be approved as a performance measure for the Applicants, effective November 1, 2003.
- (3) The Notification Centers' proposed Abandoned Call Rate index of performance of five percent or less by callers that waited more than 60 seconds is hereby approved.
- (4) The Notification Centers' proposed Busy Signal Rate measure of performance not to exceed two percent of the total incoming call volumes shall be approved for performance through October 31, 2003. A Busy Signal Rate measurement of performance not to exceed one percent of total incoming call volumes shall be approved effective November 1, 2003.
- (5) The Customer Satisfaction Standards proposed by the Applicants are accepted with the following additions: (1) the Notification Centers shall develop a statistically valid sampling program acceptable to Staff, for periodic surveys of callers to determine their Customer Satisfaction Rate; (2) the Notification Centers shall prepare and follow a written complaint tracking and resolution procedure to assist the Notification Centers in tracking issues, problems, and complaints, and the actions taken to resolve the same; and (3) the Notification Centers shall design a survey form and provide the form to attendees of the various damage prevention meetings to allow attendees to bring issues and problems to the attention of the Notification Centers.
- (6) The Notification Centers shall achieve at least a ninety-nine percent Customer Satisfaction Rate, as recommended by the Common Ground Report.
- (7) Each Notification Center shall submit written reports to the Commission detailing the Notification Center's performance for the periods January 1 - March 31; April 1 - June 30; July 1 - September 30; and October 1 - December 31, for periods of normal operation. These reports shall be postmarked or e-mailed no later than the 15th of the month and shall be directed to the Director of the Division of Utility and Railroad Safety on behalf of the Commission.
- (8) There being nothing further to be done herein, Case Nos. PUE-2002-00421 and PUE-2002-00525 shall be dismissed from the Commission's docket of active proceedings, and the papers filed therein made a part of the Commission's files for ended causes.

ORDER OF DISMISSAL

On September 11, 2002, Adelphia Communications Corporation ("Adelphia") filed with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") the above-captioned Petition against Northern Virginia Electric Cooperative ("NOVEC"). Adelphia petitioned the Commission's intervention in failed pole attachment rate negotiations with NOVEC and requested the Commission to invoke its authority pursuant to § 56-6 of the Code of Virginia ("Code").¹

On November 7, 2002, the Commission issued an Order Establishing Proceeding in this case and assigned the matter to a Hearing Examiner, consistent with 5 VAC 5-20-120 and the directives of that order.

Following unopposed motions for extension of time granted by the Hearing Examiner to complete settlement negotiations, Adelphia filed a Motion for Dismissal of Action by Nonsuit ("Motion") on January 24, 2003. On January 28, 2003, the Report of Alexander J. Skirpan, Jr., Hearing Examiner, was filed ("Report"). The Hearing Examiner's Report finds that Adelphia's Motion should be granted, based upon the pleadings and upon § 8.01-380 A and B of the Code of Virginia, and recommends that the Commission dismiss this case upon adoption of this finding.

No party has filed any comments to the Hearing Examiner's Report, pursuant to 5 VAC 5-20-120 C. The Commission now finds that the Hearing Examiner's Report should be adopted and this case dismissed upon Adelphia's Motion.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00517
MARCH 24, 2003

APPLICATION OF
SOUTHWESTERN VIRGINIA GAS COMPANY

For an expedited increase in rates

FINAL ORDER

On September 23, 2002, Southwestern Virginia Gas Company ("SVGC" or the "Company") filed a rate application, supporting testimony and exhibits with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") for an expedited increase in rates. The Company sought to increase its annual revenues by $433,435, an increase of approximately 5%. The Company also proposed to increase its reconnection fee from $30 to $50, and requested that the increase in rates and the reconnection fee be allowed to go into effect for bills rendered on and after October 31, 2002.

The Company requested a waiver from reporting certain information for its parent, Southwestern Virginia Energy Industries, Ltd. ("Parent"), and the consolidated information of the Parent and the Company as required in the Commission's Rules Governing Utility Rate Increase Applications and Annual Informational Filings, 20 VAC 5-200-30, et seq., on Schedules 1, 2, 6, and 7. The Company contends that: (1) the Parent has historically never contributed to the raising of capital for the Company; (2) the Parent has historically never assisted the Company in raising capital either by guaranteeing debt or in any other manner securing the Company's obligations; (3) the Parent is a closely held corporation and not traded publicly; and (4) the Parent does not have financial statements prepared for public distribution.

The Company further requested a waiver of the requirement to prepare a jurisdictional cost of service study. In support of that request, SVGC stated that it serves very few governmental non-jurisdictional customers; in fact, the Company states that the only non-jurisdictional customers – government offices and schools – represent less than 1.1% of the Company's customers and 2.8% of its gas throughput. According to SVGC, these non-jurisdictional customers pay for service on the basis of Commission-approved rates; thus, there is virtually no impact on the per customer cost of service and no economics justification to expend the money, time and effort to create a non-jurisdictional cost study.

By Order dated October 11, 2002, as amended on October 18, 2002, the Commission authorized the Company to place its proposed rates into effect on an interim basis subject to refund. The Commission also established a procedural schedule for the case, and set a hearing date for February 11, 2003, to receive evidence on the Company's application.

The hearing was convened as scheduled on February 11, 2003. Richard D. Gary, Esquire, appeared as counsel for the Company. Allison L. Held, Esquire, and Katharine A. Hart, Esquire, appeared as counsel for the Staff. No public witnesses appeared to offer comments on the application.

The Company and Staff offered a Stipulation at the hearing in which they proposed to offer the prefiled testimony into the record without causing the witnesses to come forward and be subject to cross-examination. The Stipulation sets forth the Company's and Staff's agreement that the record supports a fair and reasonable annual increase in revenues of $339,052 based on the capital structure and cost of capital reflected in the Staff's testimony and exhibits. The increase is based on a return on equity of 10.3%, and a range of 9.8% to 10.80%.

At the hearing, the Company offered the prefiled testimony of Lance G. Heater, executive vice president-chief operating officer, and Bernadette J. Stowe, assistant treasurer. The Staff prefiled the testimony of John B. Barker, a senior public utility accountant with the Commission's

Division of Public Utility Accounting, John R. Ballsrud, a principal financial analyst in the Division of Economics and Finance, and David A. Roberts, a utilities analyst in the Division of Energy Regulation. Pursuant to the Stipulation, all of the prefiled testimony was marked and entered into evidence without subjecting the witnesses to cross-examination.

In the Stipulation and at the conclusion of the hearing, counsel for the Company requested that SVGC be permitted to place the lower rates into effect, since the revenue requirement in the Stipulation is lower than the revenue requirement that rates now in effect on an interim basis are designed to recover. Such action would decrease the Company's ultimate refund liability.

On February 26, 2003, Chief Hearing Examiner Deborah V. Ellenberg issued a Report in which the Examiner summarized the record, and reviewed and analyzed the evidence and issues in this proceeding. In the Report, the Examiner granted the Company's request to place lower rates into effect for bills rendered on and after February 28, 2003. The Examiner's Report also included the following findings and recommendations:

- (1) The use of a test year ending June 30, 2002, is proper in this proceeding;
- (2) SVGC's test year operating revenues, after all adjustments, were $8,633,532;
- (3) SVGC's test year operating deductions, after all adjustments, were $8,411,737;
- (4) SVGC's current rates produce a return on adjusted rate base of 4.115%;
- (5) A reasonable return on equity for SVGC is in the range of 9.80% to 10.80%, and the midpoint of 10.30% should be used to calculate rates;
- (6) SVGC's adjusted test year rate base is $5,232,579;
- (7) SVGC requires $339,052 in gross annual revenues to earn a return on rate base of 8.127%, and a return on common equity of 10.30%;
- (8) SVGC's proposed increase in its reconnection fee from $30 to $50 is reasonable;
- (9) The Company should be directed to prepare a depreciation study within one year of the Final Order in this case and every five years thereafter; and
- (10) The Company should be granted a waiver of the rules requiring the report of information for its Parent, the consolidated information of the Company and its Parent, and a jurisdictional cost of service study.

The Examiner recommended that the Commission adopt the Stipulation and the findings in her Report, grant the waivers requested by the Company, and grant an increase in annual gross revenues of $339,052, and an increase in the reconnection fee to $50. The Examiner also recommended that the Commission direct the Company to refund with interest any excess revenues that have been collected, and to perform a depreciation study within one year of this Order and every five years thereafter.

On March 4, 2003, counsel for SVGC filed a letter stating that it has reviewed the Report and takes no exception to it.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the record, the Stipulation, the Examiner's Report, and the applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that the recommendations of the Examiner should be adopted.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The findings and recommendations of the February 26, 2003, Hearing Examiner's Report are hereby adopted.
- (2) Rates reflecting the new revenue requirement will be billed to the Company's customers beginning with the February 2003 billing cycle.
- (3) On or before July 1, 2003, SVGC shall recalculate, using the rates and charges prescribed in Paragraph No. 2 above, each bill it rendered that used, in whole or in part, the rates and charges that took effect under bond and subject to refund on October 31, 2002. Where application of the new rates results in a reduced bill, SVGC shall refund the difference with interest as set out below.
- (4) Interest upon the ordered refunds shall be computed from the date payments of monthly bills were due to the date each refund is made at the average prime rate for each calendar quarter, compounded quarterly. The average prime rate for each calendar quarter shall be the arithmetic mean, to the nearest one-hundredth of one percent, of the prime rate values published in the Federal Reserve Bulletin or in the Federal Reserve's Selected Interest Rates (Statistical Release H.15) for the three months of the preceding calendar quarter.
- (5) The refunds ordered in Paragraph No. 3 above may be credited to current customers' accounts (each refund category shall be shown separately on each customer's bill). Refunds to former customers shall be made by check mailed to the last known address of such customers when the refund amount is $1 or more. SVGC may offset the credit or refund to the extent of any undisputed outstanding balance for the current or former customer. No offset shall be permitted against any disputed portion of an outstanding balance. SVGC may retain refunds owed to former customers when such refund is less than $1. SVGC shall maintain a record of former customers for which the refund is less than $1, and such refunds shall be promptly made upon request. All unclaimed refunds shall be subject to § 55-210.6:2 of the Code of Virginia.
- (6) On or before August 1, 2003, SVGC shall deliver to the Divisions of Public Utility Accounting and Energy Regulation a report showing that all refunds have been made pursuant to this Order and detailing the costs of the refund and the accounts charged.
- (7) SVGC shall bear all costs incurred in effecting the refund ordered herein.

(8) Since there is nothing further to come before the Commission, this case is hereby dismissed and the papers herein placed in the Commission's file for ended causes.

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00521
JANUARY 21, 2003

JOINT PETITION OF PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN CORPORATION
and AQUASOURCE, INC.

For approval under the Utility Transfers Act

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

On October 4, 2002, Philadelphia Suburban Corporation ("PSC") and AquaSource, Inc. ("AquaSource") (collectively, "Petitioners"), filed a joint petition with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") requesting approval, pursuant to § 56-88.1 of the Code of Virginia ("Code"), for the acquisition by PSC and the disposition by AquaSource of the stock of AquaSource Utility, Inc. ("Utility"). The Utility is a wholly owned subsidiary of AquaSource, and the proposed transaction will result in an indirect transfer of control of public utilities owned by Utility or its Virginia subsidiaries.¹

PSC, a corporation, organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is an investor-owned water utility holding company serving approximately 2,000,000 residents in six states. Pennsylvania Suburban Water Company, the largest subsidiary of PSC, furnishes water and wastewater service to the public throughout Pennsylvania. Other subsidiaries conduct water and/or wastewater operations in Illinois, Maine, New Jersey, Ohio, and North Carolina. PSC's corporate headquarters and PSW's principal business office are located in Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

AquaSource, a subsidiary of DQE, Inc. ("DQE"), is a Pennsylvania-based energy service company. Utility, a subsidiary of AquaSource, directly or indirectly through subsidiaries, owns and operates water and wastewater systems in 12 states, including Virginia. AquaSource's corporate headquarters is located in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

PSC, Aqua Acquisition Corporation ("Acquisition")², and DQE, Inc., the parent holding company of AquaSource, entered into a Purchase Agreement dated July 29, 2002. Pursuant to the Purchase Agreement, PSC will acquire all of the issued and outstanding shares of common stock; 90% of the outstanding shares of preferred stock of Utility; all issued and outstanding shares of common stock of AquaSource Development Company; and all of the issued and outstanding common stock shares of The Reynolds Group, Inc.³ In addition, Acquisition will purchase certain non-regulated assets, consisting largely of contract operating agreements with various water and wastewater service providers.⁴ As such, the Virginia Utilities will remain first and second tier subsidiaries of Utility and will become second and third tier subsidiaries of PSC.

The Purchase Agreement provides for a target cash purchase price of approximately $205 million. The final purchase price may be increased by up to $10 million or decreased by up to $25 million as various purchase price adjustments are applied. Such adjustments relate to the achievement of certain operating performance metrics, involving revenue, rate base, and projected customer connections. PSC and Acquisition intend to fund the purchase with cash from a combination of short-term debt, long-term debt, common stock, and/or securities convertible into common stock. The Petitioners represent that the ultimate funding decision will be driven by financial market conditions existing at the time the acquisition is consummated.

On October 23, 2002, the Commission issued its Order for Notice and Comment and Extending Time for Review wherein it extended the time for review from December 3, 2002, to February 1, 2003.

Pursuant to that Order, the Caroline County Department of Public works filed comments stating that it had no objection to the proposed transfer.

Staff filed its Report on December 19, 2002. Staff's inquiry of other jurisdictions where PSC acquired utilities revealed that such acquisitions have not resulted in rate increases, service deterioration, or changes in the regulated relationship of the companies acquired by PSC. Staff, therefore, found no indication that the proposed transaction would impair or jeopardize the provision of adequate service at just and reasonable rates and recommended approval of such transaction.

Staff concluded that there appeared to be some benefits that would result from such transaction. These include placing the water and wastewater operations of the Virginia Utilities in the hands of an experienced company whose focus is on the provision of high quality utility service at reasonable prices. The Virginia Utilities' customers will be served by a large, fiscally sound company that has the capability to finance necessary capital additions and has the capability for substantial economies of scale and scope through mass purchasing of certain goods and the provision of centralized services. The proposed acquisition also offers expanded opportunities to Virginia Utilities' employees for career advancement and professional growth. There was no indication that there are any financial problems that could filter down to Virginia Utilities.

¹ Utility owns, directly or indirectly, certificated utility companies regulated by the Commission and other companies that provide water and wastewater service in Virginia. Such companies are referenced herein as the "Virginia Utilities."

² Acquisition, a Pennsylvania corporation, is a wholly owned subsidiary of PSC, which was formed to effectuate the proposed transaction.

³ AquaSource Development Company and The Reynolds Group, Inc., are not incorporated in Virginia and do not transact business in Virginia. Approval to transfer their common stock is not required.

⁴ None of the contract operating agreements involves facilities or end-users located in Virginia, and, therefore, approval is not required.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION COMMISSION

Staff recommended approval of the proposed transaction but stated that such approval should not in any way be deemed to approve any acquisition adjustments associated with the transaction. Such adjustments should be addressed within the context of a future rate proceeding. Staff also recommended that a report be submitted to the Commission within 30 days of closing on the transaction wherein the Petitioners will provide certain detailed information referenced herein. Staff recommended that the Petitioners be required to track costs and savings associated with the merger and identify and quantify any portion of such costs and savings attributable to the Virginia Utilities' Virginia jurisdiction. Staff noted that there may be tax implications with respect to the proposed transaction that may be at issue in future rate making proceedings.

In a letter dated December 30, 2002, counsel for the Petitioners stated that the Petitioners do not object to the recommendations detailed in the Staff Report. In that letter, the Petitioners noted that Staff reserved some positions for decision in future proceedings. The Petitioners stated that they reserve their rights and the rights of AquaSource Utility, Inc., and its Virginia water company subsidiaries to assert, in future proceedings, any position on rate making issues or other regulatory matters as may be appropriate.

NOW THE COMMISSION, having considered the joint petition, representations of the Petitioners, Staff's Report, and applicable law, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described transfer of control will neither impair nor jeopardize the provision of adequate service to the public at just and reasonable rates and should, therefore, be approved. This approval for transfer of control extends to all utilities owned by Utility and its Virginia subsidiaries providing water and wastewater service in Virginia.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

1) Pursuant to §§ 56-88.1 and 56-90 of the Code, Philadelphia Suburban Corporation and AquaSource, Inc., are hereby granted approval for the proposed transfer of stock of AquaSource Utility, Inc. Such approval extends to the indirect transfer of control of Alpha Water Corporation, AquaSource SL, Inc., AquaSource Utility-Virginia, Inc., Blue Ridge Utility Company, Caroline Utilities, Inc., Earlysville Forest Water Company, Heritage Homes of Virginia, Inc., Indian River Water Company, James River Service Corporation, Lake Monticello Service Company, Land'Or Utility Company, Inc., Mountainview Water Co., Inc., Powhatan Water Works, Inc., Rainbow Forest Water Corporation, Reston/Lake Anne Air Condition Corp., Sydnor Water Corporation, Water Distributors, Inc., Sydnor Hydrodynamics, Inc., Ellerson Wells, Incorporated, and Mayfore Water Company, Inc.

2) The approval granted herein shall have no rate making implications.

3) The approval granted herein shall in no way be deemed to include approval of any acquisition adjustments related to the above-referenced acquisition.

CASE NO. PUE-2002-00570
JANUARY 15, 2003

APPLICATION OF
KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY, d/b/a OLD DOMINION POWER COMPANY

Application for authority to acquire interest in four 152-megawatt combustion turbine generating units pursuant to Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY

On October 23, 2002, Kentucky Utilities Company d/b/a Old Dominion Power Company ("KU/ODP," "Applicant") filed an application with the State Corporation Commission ("Commission") under the Public Utilities Affiliates Act requesting authority to acquire at cost a sixty-three percent (63%) interest in four 152-megawatt combustion turbine generating units ("CTs") to be constructed and located in Trimble County, Kentucky. The application requires that Commission approval be obtained under the provisions of Chapter 4 of Title 56 of the Code of Virginia.

LG&E Capital Corporation ("LCC"), an unregulated affiliate of KU/ODP, originally purchased the CTs from General Electric ("GE") as part of a ten (10) unit package in 2000. Subsequent to Commission approval, construction on the four CTs will begin at Louisville Gas and Electric Company's ("LG&E") Trimble County Generating Station in Trimble County, Kentucky, and the CTs are expected to be in operation by the summer of 2004. The total budgeted construction cost for the project is $227,392,000.

KU/ODP and LG&E (the "Utilities") jointly plan and provide for their capacity needs through the development of Joint Integrated Resource Plans ("IRP"). Their 2002 RE' shows that the Utilities will require between 701 and 849 MW of additional peaking capacity by 2007 to meet their service territories' growing demand while maintaining a target reserve margin of 14%. The Utilities assessed their capacity needs and alternatives through a Resource Assessment ("RA") issued October, 2002.

The Utilities sought and received 27 bids for purchased power contracts from 15 different energy marketers. The Utilities state that they did not seek bids from multiple CT vendors because only GE manufactures CTs with a NOx emissions rate guarantee that meets Kentucky's environmental standards without expensive modifications. The RA employed Monte Carlo simulation modeling and sensitivity analysis to compare the long-term costs of acquiring the four CTs against the costs of purchasing power from third party energy marketers. In every scenario, the Utilities found that the purchase of the four LCC CTs was the least cost alternative.

NOW THE COMMISSION, upon consideration of the application and representations of Applicant and having been advised by its Staff, is of the opinion and finds that the above-described transfer of interest in the CTs from LG&E Capital Corporation to KU/ODP at cost is in the public interest and should be approved.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- 1) Pursuant to § 56-77 of the Code of Virginia, KU/ODP is hereby granted approval for the transfer from LCC to KU/ODP of the sixty-three per cent (63%) interest in the four 152-megawatt combustion turbines to be constructed at LG&E's Trimble County Generating Station in Trimble County, Kentucky, at cost.
- 2) The approval granted herein shall have no ratemaking implications.
- 3) The approval granted herein shall not preclude the Commission from exercising the provisions of §§ 56-78 and 56-80 of the Code of Virginia.
- 4) The Commission reserves the authority to examine the books and records of any affiliate in connection with the approval granted herein whether or not the Commission regulates such affiliate.
- 5) Within 30 days of the transfer, subject to extension by the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting, KU/ODP shall file a report with the Commission, such report to include all information filed with the Kentucky Public Service Commission including, but not limited to, information detailing the final determination of the cost of the turbines.
- 6) KU/ODP shall include the transfer approved herein in its Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions filed with the Commission's Director of Public Utility Accounting.
- 7) If Annual Informational and/or General Rate Case Filings are not based on a calendar year, then KU/ODP shall include the affiliate information contained in the Annual Report of Affiliate Transactions in such filings.
- 8) There appearing nothing further to be done in this matter, it hereby is dismissed.
