

Disability Arising out of Childbirth § 38.2-3407.11:4 A

The Bureau has received questions regarding Senate Bill 567 which was passed in Virginia's 2020 legislation session and is effective July 1, 2021. This bill added § 38.2-3407.11:4 A which provides that each insurer proposing to issue individual or group accident and sickness insurance policies providing short-term disability income protection coverage whose policies provide coverage for short-term disability arising out of childbirth, shall provide coverage for a payable benefit of at least 12 weeks immediately following childbirth for such a disability.

The following is Bureau guidance based on questions received. Any questions should be directed to Elsie Andy at elsie.andy@scc.virginia.gov.

1. This section applies only to new policies issued on or after July 1, 2021.
2. This section only applies to policies providing short-term disability income coverage.
3. Carriers issuing new short-term disability policies covering childbirth may not use an elimination period to reduce the required payable benefit of 12 weeks immediately following childbirth.
4. A pre-existing conditions limitation period is not prohibited under Section 38.2-3407.11.4 of the Code in these policies.
5. The statute clearly imposes a minimum benefit period of 12 weeks of payable benefits immediately following childbirth, for short-term disability arising out of childbirth in any new short-term disability income policy covering childbirth. If the policy imposes a maximum benefit period per policy period, an insured may exhaust benefits and not be eligible for the full 12 weeks of payable benefits after childbirth. However, if the maximum benefit period is per disability, then such policy must provide 12 weeks of payable benefits immediately following childbirth.
6. Disability benefits are permitted for a disability if the insured qualifies, which may include any objective medical evidence and documentation required by the policy.
7. Any filings related to Section 38.2-3407.11.4 will be efficiently reviewed.
